

STATE REGULATION OF RATES ON RAILROADS AGAIN UPHELD; 2-CENT FARE LAWS SUSTAINED

MANY CASES DECIDED BY HIGH COURT

Arkansas, West Virginia and Oregon Win Complete Victories.

Missouri Orders Are Found Invalid for Some Companies.

Principle Laid Down in Minnesota Case Is Again Announced.

Washington, June 16.—State laws regulating the charges of railroads for the transportation of passengers and freight were again upheld in several instances today by the United States supreme court.

The West Virginia and Arkansas 2-cent fare laws were among those sustained. The Missouri rate cases were decided variously, according to the strength of the railroads concerned, but the principle of state regulation laid down a week ago in the decision of the Minnesota rate case was reiterated.

Arkansas Decision. In the Arkansas case, the maximum freight rate law and the 2-cent passenger fare law both were upheld as valid by the court.

West Virginia Court Affirmed. The West Virginia 2-cent passenger law was upheld as the supreme court affirming the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia.

SUGAR LOBBY BOOKS GONE

Oxnard Says Old Records Were Destroyed at His Orders.

Admits to Senators He Knows Much About Sugar Pamphlet.

Washington, June 16.—With one side of the story of the "sugar lobby" to be heard from the beginning, and the other side only partially completed, the senate lobby investigators today began the third week of hearings. Although the senate lobby is expected to put Henry T. Oxnard, the beet sugar raiser and anti-free sugar advocate, through a cross examination today, they hoped to finish the anti-free sugar side before night.

Senator Walsh questioned Oxnard about the American Beet Sugar association, an organization of beet sugar men, and predecessor of the United States beet sugar industry, which has been prominent in the present fight against free sugar. The witness did not know how much the old association had spent; its books were destroyed about two years ago by his authorization. Senator Walsh sought to learn whether Mr. Oxnard was in Washington (Continued on page 3, third column.)

WILSON WILL GO IN PERSON

Will Read His Currency Reform Message to Congress.

President Has Had No Intimation of Objections to Legislation.

Washington, June 16.—President Wilson probably will read his currency message, personally, to both branches of congress assembled in the hall of the house, as he did his tariff message. He finished writing the message today. It is about 1,200 words long and urges immediate revision of the banking and currency laws.

The president expects the currency bill to be launched this week. It represents the administration's views, and according to Mr. Wilson himself will be "no man's bill," but the results of common counsel among currency advocates whose suggestions were condensed and formulated by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department, chairman Owen and Glass of the senate and house banking and currency committees respectively, with the advice and assistance of the president.

No Advance Explanation. At the regular semi-weekly conference with the Washington correspondents today, the president was asked for an explanation of some of the principles of currency reform, but said that as much as the bill and his own message would be made public within a week, he would refrain from comment at this time.

GRADUATED TOBACCO TAX PLAN REJECTED

Senate Committee Favors Countervailing Duty on Grain.

Washington, June 16.—A graduated tax on tobacco as an amendment to the tariff bill was unanimously rejected by the majority members of the senate finance committee today, who voted down Senator Hitchcock's amendment, suggested by Attorney General McKee.

The committee approved placing live-stock and grains on the free list with a countervailing duty, except oats, which remain dutiable at 10 cents a bushel, and oatmeal at 35 cents per 100 pounds. Citrus fruits were unchanged.

PROGRESSIVES WILL DEMAND CONVENTION

Conciliationists Oppose Action by National Committee.

Washington, June 16.—Members of the "conciliation committee" of the Progressive Republicans who recently made demands upon the Republican national committee for a national convention this year have decided, as the result of meetings here Saturday and yesterday, to oppose any action by the national committee to effect proposed reforms without a party convention. Senators Crampton, Crampton of Michigan and Rogers of Massachusetts participated in the conference which will be renewed later this week.

MILL STRIKE BROKEN; ALL DULUTH MILLS ARE AGAIN IN OPERATION

Fully 900 of 1,200 Strikers Will Be Working By Night.

Union Pickets Make Feeble Effort to Hold Men Out.

No Disorder Is Reported, But Police Are in Readiness.

The strike of the sawmill employes is practically broken. Every mill in the city started operations this morning without a hitch, the crews ranging from 60 to 80 per cent of being the usual number employed in and about the industry.

It is expected that by night fully 900 of the 1,200 men who have been out of employment will be back in their places. Many of these were out of town but the rumor that the mills intended to operate brought most of them back yesterday afternoon and this morning.

Nearly a full crew showed up at the Lesieur mill of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company on Grassy Point, and about enough men were secured at the West Duluth Alger-Smith mill to run at about three-fourths capacity.

The West end mill of the latter company had about 65 per cent of its men at 7 o'clock and enough men to operate at full capacity were expected early this afternoon. The Muller-McDonald mill at Twenty-fourth avenue west, which has been operating during the strike at about half capacity, had a full crew this morning, and nearly all the men of the Scott-Graft mill showed up for work.

No disorders of any kind occurred although several of the strikers appeared and made a feeble attempt to keep the men from going to work. Some of these men realizing that they could not hold the men off the job longer went to work later in the forenoon.

A detail of police is kept in readiness in case of any disorders which may arise this evening when the companies will attempt to put to work the night shift. In case of trouble it is expected that the men going to work will forebly object to any interference from the strikers. The men belonging to the union are said to represent about 10 per cent of the entire number of employees.

CELEBRATES WITH KAISER

Whole German Empire Recognizes His Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

American Delegation Presents an Address to the Emperor.

Berlin, June 16.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of Emperor William to the imperial throne was celebrated today throughout the German empire as a general holiday. The commemoration, which had been deferred from its actual date out of respect to the memory of the emperor's father, Frederick, coincides with the forty-second anniversary of the triumphal return of his grandfather after the Franco-Prussian war, and was naturally marked by considerable military display.

Emphasized Peace Feature. Emphasis, however, was laid also on the peaceful aspect of the emperor's quarter century reign, industrial and civic developments and the material prosperity of the country.

The presentation of an address from the American Peace society, by Andrew Carnegie, it is reported, of St. Louis and J. G. Schindler, of Cincinnati, gave the emperor an opportunity to bring out this aspect of the occasion. He responded to Andrew Carnegie's congratulations on the completion of his twenty-five years of peaceful reign with an emphatic:

"I hope we shall have twenty-five years more of peace."

Carnegie Headed Delegation. One of the first delegations received by Emperor William was that headed by Andrew Carnegie. The Americans presented to the emperor a large number of their countrymen. The address was in part as follows:

"To His Imperial Majesty, the German Emperor, on behalf of the American citizens of every section, creed and race to advance the cause of civilization, we venture to express to your imperial majesty our countless ways, in none more so than in the peaceful reign of twenty-five years of unbroken peace between Germany and the world."

WILLIAM II.

TEN CENT ADVANCE ON GOAL ALLOWED

Old Routes Are to Be Kept Open By the Carriers.

Washington, June 16.—Freight tariffs cancelling through rates and routes on soft coal from West Virginia and Kentucky mines across the Great Lakes to Milwaukee and other Northwestern destinations, were ordered withdrawn today by the interstate commerce commission. Operation of the proposed tariffs would have resulted in the application of alleged prohibitive rates, closing routes which have been open for many years. Existing rates were held to be low and the carriers are permitted to increase them 10 cents a ton.

This decision has no effect on Duluth, but applies only on the all-rail haul with the use of the car ferry across Lake Michigan.

Stoppage of Distress Signals After Collision Causes Alarm.

Steamer William P. Snyder, Jr., at Anchor in Duluth Harbor.

ARRIVES AT SOO.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Jesse Spaulding, which was reported sunk on Lake Superior early Sunday morning in a dense fog, by the Snyder, Jr., arrived here this forenoon.

Carl L. A. Gars of the Spaulding said: "We had a narrow escape but after some difficulty we succeeded in putting a canvas jacket over the hole and stopping the leak. All damage is on the port bow just at the water line. Further repairs will be made here before proceeding."

After the collision nothing was seen of the Snyder, Jr., and identity was not certain for a time.

Fears that the steamer Jesse Spaulding had sunk in Lake Superior with all hands, following a collision early yesterday with the giant ore carrier the William P. Snyder, Jr., were dispelled today by the arrival of the steamer Charles Hebard. Capt. Frank reported that he had passed the Spaulding at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, hours after the crash occurred and that the vessel was not in great distress. The hole that had been jammed in the starboard bow had been patched up with a canvas jacket and the vessel was making pretty good time under her own power. The passengers on the Spaulding off Manitowish.

The Snyder, Jr., made port at 1:30 this morning and lay at anchor in the bay. The port bow of the Snyder was badly damaged. Fourteen new plates, all above the water line, will be needed.

Went Together in Fog. On Saturday the Spaulding cleared from Duluth with a cargo of ore. While the fog at this end of Lake Superior (Continued on page 3, third column.)

BRAZILIANS VISIT BETHLEHEM PLANT

Dr. Muller and Party See All Departments at Work.

South Bethlehem, Pa., June 16.—Dr. Lauro Muller, the minister of foreign affairs of Brazil, now in this country, came to South Bethlehem today to inspect the plant of the Bethlehem Steel company. Dr. Muller and his party, accompanied by officials of the state department at Washington, arrived here at 8:30 a. m. in private cars from the national capital. The private cars were detached from a regular train and run directly into the plant of the steel company.

In the absence of Charles M. Schwab, president of the company, who is in Europe, other officials of the company met the party at the offices in the yards. Dr. Muller appeared eager for the day's inspection. The hottest weather of the year greeted the Brazilian party.

Breakfast was served the party in the dining room of the steel company and a band played appropriate airs. After breakfast the South Americans were taken through the various departments of the steel works. They later left for New York.

MOROS ROUTED; SIX AMERICANS KILLED

Manila, June 16.—Complete rout of the rebellious Moros on Mount Baga was accomplished by the American forces during the night, with the loss of six men killed and seven wounded. Reports of the engagement reaching here by wireless from the island of Jolo are meager. All of the Americans killed were members of the several companies of Scouts. In the first advance upon the mountain last week, when the Moros were nearly dislodged from their position, six Americans were also then killed. The number of dead among the Moros is not known.

WILL BUILD LONG TRESTLE

Many Delays on All Roads to Superior Will Be Eliminated.

Indicates Growing Importance of Duluth to the Soo System.

Improvements costing nearly $1,000,000 will be made this summer by the Soo railway to facilitate the passenger traffic in and out of Duluth. The big outlay indicates the growing importance of Duluth to the Soo system.

A trestle approximately 1,300 feet in length will be constructed from the Interstate bridge to connect with the elevated tracks of the Duluth Terminal railway, controlled by the Great Northern. Another trestle over 600 feet in length will be built from the terminal tracks over the lines of the Northern Pacific to connect with the present tracks of the Soo, which run through the Michigan street tunnel to the depot at Sixth avenue west between Superior and Michigan streets. The concessions which have been received from the Great Northern by the Soo mean much to the traveling public. When the trestles have been completed not only will twenty-four double grade crossings have been eliminated, but the present irksome delays now incident to leaving the city will be a matter of history. The present arrangement holds up the passenger trains of the other railroads which enter and leave the city as well as those of the Soo.

Plans Made Public. The plans of the Soo became public this morning when Attorney H. B. Fryberger, of the law firm of Fryberger, Fulton & Spear, presented a petition to the city commission asking permission to cross Arthur avenue, Oak avenue and the alley between bluffs across 46 on Rice's Point library. He explained that in the past no (Continued on page 3, fourth column.)

WELCOME RAINS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Moisture Comes for Growing Crops at Opportune Time.

Fargo, N. D., June 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Light rains are falling in this section of the state. During the night there was a rainfall from Bismarck all the way to Fargo, 200 miles along the main line of the Northern Pacific. A slight fall is reported all over the southern and eastern counties. The rain is especially beneficial, following the torrid weather of the past week, and is regarded as especially opportune. Crops had not suffered from the drought in any way, but the high hot winds had blown some hardy wheat and barley. The wet weather gave corn a much needed start.

BUTTER PRICE IS TOO HIGH

Chicago Dispatch Says Market Is Subjected to Manipulation.

Duluth Man Declares Price Through Season Will Be Even.

Word comes from Chicago complaining that the price of butter is needlessly higher at this time because of the fact that almost twice as much butter has been stored than at the corresponding time last year.

B. M. Ruse, traffic manager of the Bridgman-Russell company of Duluth, and who is in charge of the buying of butter and eggs, says that such a complaint gives a false impression. Mr. Ruse says that this year, despite the quoted price of butter the price had to be increased because of its scarcity. This year it is different. We are getting a reasonable amount of butter for storage purposes so that the market will remain fairly even. At that we are paying only slightly more this year, in spite of the increased demand, than we were last year, and are sending more butter East for storage.

Mr. Ruse says that the price of butter is being guided wholly by our own trade. "Last year, at this period, butter was hard to get and the result is that storage butter was short. You will remember that when the time came for the selling of storage butter the price had to be increased because of its scarcity. This year it is different. We are getting a reasonable amount of butter for storage purposes so that the market will remain fairly even. At that we are paying only slightly more this year, in spite of the increased demand, than we were last year, and are sending more butter East for storage."

Price Should Be Low.

"According to well posted market authorities, butter should be available to the consumer now at the lowest cost recorded in recent years as a consequence of the tremendous crops of all grains and feed produced last year, the mild winter, and the comparatively early spring. Instead, prices on the Elgin board, which govern the cost of butter to most of the consumers east of the Mississippi, are 2 1/2 to 3 cents a pound higher than they were at this time last year, and consumers are paying proportionately higher than a year ago."

Production of butter this spring has been tremendous, but prices have been supported at an abnormally high level by holding back most of the butter produced and putting it into cold storage. During the month of May 2,222,773 pounds of butter were placed in cold storage. This brought holdings in Eastern warehouses, excluding those owned by meat packers, to 3,993,300 pounds, as contrasted with 4,769,000 pounds a year ago.

"Responsibility for the high prices and large stocks in cold storage is said to rest with members of the Elgin butter board. They are charged with operating in favor of manufacturers of butter who own a number of large creameries and produce millions of pounds of butter annually."

Consumer Gets Even.

"Most of the butter now in cold storage is owned by receivers at Chicago and other large market centers. These receivers in contracting for supplies agree to pay a premium of 1/2 cent over Elgin for butter. This year, because of the maintenance of the Elgin figure at a high level, the cost to receivers and consumers has been increased. The receiver, being under contract, had to pay, but the consumer retaliated by buying less butter or using lower priced substitutes. This, with the increased production, left millions of pounds of butter to be stored or thrown on the market to be sold at a loss to the receiver. Contrary to general belief, there has been a minimum amount of speculation in the butter market this year, speculators being afraid to take a chance at the high prices that have existed.

"As a consequence it is extremely probable that much cheaper butter will be available before another year. When speculators are heavily involved, many of them on borrowed capital, it frequently occurs that they become panic stricken, and receivers show more stamina and carry their property into another season if they are denied an opportunity to unload at a profit."

Packers Profit Both Ways.

"Packers also are credited with having large stocks of butter in their coolers, and they, too, will hold their product until the market is better. As they handle butterine and benefit directly when consumers turn to that product because of the high cost of butter."

"Conditions in the butter market are deplorable, said one dealer. 'Prices are out of reason, higher than they were a year ago, and they are depriving the farmers of a ready outlet for their product. The butter market is a mess, and tremendous stocks are being carried by receivers who cannot dispose of current receipts excepting at a loss.'

"Elgin creamery men, members of the Elgin butter board, are responsible. They are quoting butter at 2 1/2 and 2 3/4 a pound when it is only 2 1/4 at New York and 2 1/2 at Chicago. Their object is to cajole the farmer to believe that they are working in his interest, holding up the price of butter to make manufacturers pay more for their cream."

Farmers and Consumers Hurt.

"Instead, they are depriving the farmers of a ready outlet for their product. The butter market is a mess, and tremendous stocks are being carried by receivers who cannot dispose of current receipts excepting at a loss."

"The only ones benefited are the centralizers, who buy cream over a wide territory, and then sell it to a central point, and produce millions of pounds of butter. These people do not care how the butter is produced, so long as the price the better they like it."

SUNDAY IS HOTTEST DAY

Mercury Goes to 102 Deg. in Kiosk at Court-house.

Showers and Cooler Weather Are Predicted for Tuesday.

Sunday takes the palm for being the hottest day of the year in Duluth and it will probably hold it for some time. The extremely warm weather seems to have passed the day and showers and lower temperatures are predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the thermometer in the kiosk in the courthouse square registered 102 deg., the high mark for the day and for the year thus far. At the same hour, the thermometer at the weather bureau on the hill registered 98 deg., which is also the high point of the year for that thermometer.

The extremely warm weather struck Duluth about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. From 50 deg. in the thermometer in the courthouse kiosk, the mercury climbed to 80 deg. at 8 a. m., 90 deg. at 11 a. m. and 102 deg. at 3 p. m. It dropped again to 80 deg. during the night.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the thermometer on the hill registered 77 deg. at the same hour the thermometer at the kiosk was about 87 deg., but it had been up to 90 deg. during the morning.

DRAFT NEW U. S. CHILD LABOR BILL

Comprehensive Measure Is to Be Offered to Congress.

New York, June 16.—A comprehensive plan for Federal prohibition of child labor will be proposed in a bill to be introduced in the house of representatives in Washington tomorrow by Congressman Ira C. Copley of Illinois. It is announced by the Progressive party national service here.

The bill is based on the principles of former Senator Benjamin H. Hill, original proposer of child labor legislation, and by a provision similar to that of the pure food and drugs act, commerce remains free to goods stamped or labeled registered under the Federal child labor act. Shipments of goods having equivalent child labor laws are exempted from the operation of the proposed law.

Provisions of Bill.

"Section 2.—That the employment of a child under 14 years of age in any mill, factory, cannery, workshop, manufacturing or mechanical establishment, in any coal mine, coal breaker, coke oven, quarry or in any establishment where the use of machinery, power, or any other dangerous or injurious to the health or morals of such child is prohibited, and defined as anti-social child labor and as detrimental to the general welfare and debasing to commerce."

"The unusual phrase 'anti-social child labor' is used to express the motive of the proposed legislation, the protection of children from the stunting of future generations," says the party's statement.

HAIR TO THE "HITCHY-KOO"

New Combination of Tango and One-Step Includes a Kick, Which Results in Shower of Dancing Pumps When Amateurs Attempt It.

Turkey trotters, bunny huggers and all other devotees of the Danso d'Amal, attention! Are you here to the Hitchy-Koo? It's the very latest and inasmuch as the National Association of Dancing Masters placed its O. K. on this gliding, sliding, anti-law abiding terpsichorean triumph at its meeting in Atlantic City last week, Duluth is supposed to be in line. There'll be plenty of time to practice this summer so when the beautiful autumn comes every man, woman and child will be capable of showing off in company. The creation of the Hitchy-Koo came through a reversal of the general order of things. Usually the writer of the so-called popular song tears off his shirt to fit a certain dance, but many months ago one of the very best of our "take-this-home-and-try-it-on-your-plant" artists wrote a song which he called Hitchy-Koo. The fact that many persons went home talking about the "Hitchy-Koo" and that many months ago one of the very best of our "take-this-home-and-try-it-on-your-plant" artists wrote a song which he called Hitchy-Koo. The fact that many persons went home talking about the "Hitchy-Koo" and that many months ago one of the very best of our "take-this-home-and-try-it-on-your-plant" artists wrote a song which he called Hitchy-Koo.

Telegraph reports state that the dance with one that makes for the Tango. Now that summer is here, the Tango is the latest and the feature of resistance to this newest shuffle is a kick. It comes on the last count and, according to dancing experts, by their kicks ye shall know them.

If you're beyond middle age you won't lift your foot very high in the air. Prim women and men with short, fat legs and a perfect 48 waist line, may confine the pedal ascension to a very few inches.

This makes for grace and besides means little danger from falling. The younger folk and especially the debutantes will also ex- ercise a little care—but not too much. The Hitchy-Koo is a dance of the foot, may guide her quite as much as any set rules. Still time and place are likely to govern most after all. A 14-inch raise however is not considered extravagant.

"Theeving" Shoes.

Then there's the athletic maid, who's been out lately long enough to find her way around without a pilot in the form of a chaperon. She contends that everybody knows her and her father, too, and therefore anything she does is recorded as the frolic of some outburst of a buoyant spirit. If you ever dance the Hitchy-Koo with her be sure you have plenty of room. Also see that your own footwork is perfect or something is likely to happen when the kick and sometimes the patent leather pump, comes off. Six girls throw shoes in fifteen minutes at a recent party in New York.

While the dancing masters adopted the Hitchy-Koo which they will teach this winter it shouldn't be understood that they favor these modern dances. No not at all. They're "agin 'em" first, last and always. The public, however, simply will not be content with the waltz and the two-step. Before the teachers of the country suggested various dances with the most exciting names, Prof. Leo, who taught select classes here during the winter, had a list of these which were voted on. They made up a good-natured slam at persons who insist on the new dances. The list follows:

Chicken Flap, Kangaroo Flap, Camel Cramp, Angeworm Glide, Spinal Menitis Schottische, Wildcat Whirl, Hippopotamus Hitch, Delirium Tremens, Tarantula Twist, St. Vitus Slide, Salome Slide, and the Billy Goat Bump.

Prof. Leo is probably the oldest dancing teacher in the country in point of service and years. For fifty years he has been teaching the young and old how to move around the ballroom with grace and the grace of a young girl in the sophomore class of a big ballet.

Prof. Leo is one that doesn't bank strongly on these newest dances. As for the good old waltz that has done such valuable service for so many years, and the two-step being replaced by them, the very thought makes him laugh.

"The waltz and the two-step will never out of a school," he says. "During my many years of teaching I have seen many fads come and go but the waltz and two-step remained. As a matter of fact persons learning to dance now select these. However, I'm not so bitterly opposed to the tango, etc., as some of them. I don't criticize them for their vulgarity. One can dance the tango as gracefully and decently as any other dance."

"The position in these dances is everything. They can be danced as well as they can be vulgar. It's up to the dancers themselves. Only some insist on the worst forms. In the meantime 'All Aboard for the Hitchy-Koo.'"

PARK POINT IN DISTRESS

Suburb Calls Attention of City Commissioners to Its Grievances.

Depopulation Threatened Unless Improvement Is Made in Conditions.

Is Park Point to return to the place of a picnic place?

The all-the-year-around residents on the Point want to know.

They have long and faithfully established the status of the Point as a regular honest-to-goodness suburb of the city of Duluth.

They have bought homes there and made them permanent.

They have contracted for a sewer system in the shifting sands and after next year the sands of Minnesota avenue will shift no more.

They will be bound by city payment. The man who moves to Park Point for the summer is told of the glories of living on Park Point in winter, and a good many of them have succumbed to the arguments.

It has been a continual fight on the part of those who have faith in Park Point as a permanent residence place. They are still fighting—in fact, they are the last ditch.

"If relief is not forthcoming soon, this unique suburb, which is one of the special attractions of Duluth, will be depopulated," is the ultimatum issued to the city commissioners.

Park Point wants attention. It wants the Interstate Traction company to run its cars on something other than a hit-or-miss schedule.

It wants the city government to take the lead in the improvement of the sewer system.

SNAKE CAUSES CONSTERNATION

Reptile Believed to Have Escaped From Wild West Show, Sends Young Woman Into Hysterics.

The discovery of a pine snake, better known in many parts of the country as a bull snake, caused a great deal of excitement in West Duluth yesterday afternoon. The snake was discovered by a young woman who was frightened into hysterics near the corner of Fifty-ninth and Central streets. The woman, who is likely to be a native of the Eastern part of the United States and they are very common in New Jersey. Similar snakes more commonly called the "bull" snake, are found through the Central states and are said to be highly prized by the farmers because they greatly aid in the extermination of field mice, gophers and other small rodents. The snake is said to be non-poisonous.

ALUMNI FORM ORGANIZATION

Employment Bureau Will Be Conducted at Industrial High School.

Graduates of the Duluth Industrial high school completed the organization of an alumni association and laid plans for creating a free employment bureau for graduates of the school at a meeting held at the Irving school Saturday evening.

Peter Wick was elected president of the alumni. The other officers chosen were: Miss Edith Pollock, vice president; Miss Florence Salter, secretary; and Elmer Nelson, treasurer. It is expected that all graduates of the school will join the organization. They now number close to 100.

In outlining the plan to create the free employment bureau, S. A. Foster, principal of the school, who suggested the idea, suggested writing to each graduate, ascertaining what they are doing, name of employer and salary drawn. The plan is to keep a record by means of an index system. Information will also be secured as to the names of employers and the nature of the work they are doing. The employment bureau will begin doing business at once with its headquarters at the present at the Irving school.

NEW SWEDISH MISSION CHURCH TO BE BUILT.

Construction work on a new church building, to be erected on the south-west corner of Fifty-ninth and Central streets, will be started this week. The building will be a two-story structure on a stone foundation, with a full basement which will be used for meetings of the various church societies.

The building will be constructed by Erick Floyd. The new church will face Fifty-ninth avenue. The old church building, which will be used by the congregation during the process of erection of the new church, will be placed at the rear of the lot. This will be fitted up for Sunday school rooms and as additional rooms for club meetings.

It is estimated that the church will cost about $5,000. Most of this money has been raised by the congregation. Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom, pastor, heads the building committee.

W. C. T. U. TO HOLD FINAL MEETING.

The West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union will hold its final meeting for the summer at the home of Mrs. Samuel Houston, 532 North Fifty-sixth avenue, west, at 8 o'clock, Sunday evening, June 16. Mrs. W. C. F. Pond will assist the hostess.

The union will receive reports of the recent district convention and also many of the reports of its various branches for the past year. It is probable that the committee in charge of the schedule for the next year will be ready to report on the dates and places of meetings of the organization.

Two Poles Take Fire.

Crossed or poorly insulated wires gave Fire Department No. 8 two runs in quick succession last night. The first call was to Fifty-ninth and Central streets. Here it was said that a house was burning, but it turned out to be an electric light pole among some trees. The second call came about twenty minutes later from Central avenue and Eighth street. The top of this pole was also burning brightly.

Surprise Party.

Miss May Hanson, 313 North Fifty-ninth avenue, west, was pleasantly surprised at her home Saturday evening by a number of her friends. The evening was spent in games and music. Refreshments were served to the following guests:

Misses: Helen Hanson, Antonie Korones, Harriet McDonald, Edith Yorks, Florence Lee, Annie Finnigan, Zoe E. Yorks, Ethel Hanson, Helen Winness, Ella Woods, May Hanson, Messes: Herbert Nelson, Arthur Myre, Carl Hanson, William Gray, Lawrence Thorpe, Clarence Siddall, Leonard Hedman.

The exercises were given by the children of the regular morning service being dispensed with. At both churches the seating capacity was taxed.

Be "Doped."

A new method has been found to get around the "Hicken Lid."

At least such was the case with Harold Berg, 24 years, who last evening about 9:30 o'clock had one of those jags which made him want to hug and kiss passersby, causing him to stumble into the way of automobiles and street cars and resulted in his being thrown out of the Grand Avenue theater.

His "jag" had every indication of being genuine, with the exception of the small, that was very different from the usual one found on staggering men. It was immediately recognized by Officer Charles Stahl. When searched at the West Duluth station after having been taken there by two citizens, three ounces bottle with a few drops of naphtha remaining in it was found on Berg. He incidentally admitted that he had drunk the stuff. The bottle bore the label of Emil Peterson's drug store.

The naphtha is purchased principally by Scandinavians for colds, a few drops being taken on sugar. A West Duluth druggist said this morning that many men purchase the stuff, some of them using it to put the "finishing touch" to a good drink.

"The stuff will give a man a cheap, happy jag in quick time," said the druggist. "Those who use it steadily drink it much the same as whiskey and it has nearly the same effects only instead of making a man ugly it usually results in making him feel real joyful. The naphtha is a mild form of ether. If the man had used it for smelling purposes it might have put him to sleep from which he would fail to wake up."

Tools Are Stolen.

Burglars broke into the shop of the Diamond Calk Horseshoe company at Forty-seventh avenue west and Third street some time last night, carrying away $30 worth of tools and material used in the manufacture of the company's product. The burglars first searched the office for valuables and not finding any carried away the tools and material. Most of the tools belong to the employees of the concern. Lieut. Wilcox of the West Duluth station was notified this morning and is conducting an investigation. The men broke through a shop through a window.

Tenants of Alworth Building
Get Benefit of Torrey Chimney.

Attorney Asks Commission
Nuisance.

Declaring that the smoke nuisance of the Torrey building has caused many well-founded complaints from the tenants of the Alworth building, Attorney J. L. Washburn, as vice president of the Oneida Realty company, has written Mayor W. Prince asking that the city invoke any available ordinances to secure an abatement.

"Such regard ought to be had by the owners of property in cities like this that it would not be necessary to invoke the machinery of the law in any form to prevent the maintenance of such a nuisance," says Mr. Washburn.

The sentiment is heartily endorsed by Mayor Prince. "The owners and agents of buildings should take some of the burden of abating such nuisances on their premises," said the mayor this morning. "The entire load should not be placed upon the shoulders of public officials. Not that many citizens are not endeavoring to co-operate with the city officials, but that the municipal progress would be effected with surprising rapidity and the city would force ahead at a gait which would exceed the expectations of the most optimistic booster in our midst."

Mr. Washburn states that the chimney of the Torrey building comes but slightly above the roof of the building. "I understand that the owner is not only heating and lighting his own building," he writes, "but is furnishing oil or both to other buildings; that his plant is overtaxed, and that they use a cheap quality of coal, resulting in vast quantities of black smoke and soot being poured forth out of their chimney and against the side of this building to the great annoyance of all tenants of this building on that side."

Tenants Complain. "Various of these tenants have complained both to this company and to the operators of the Torrey building, and the matter has been brought to the attention of the managing agent of the Torrey building by the agents of this building. Thus far no beneficial result has been obtained. There are others who complain besides the tenants of this building, and the vast volume of black smoke that pours out of this building is conspicuous, being subject to comment by people all about here."

"If there is any machinery in the city government that can be invoked to stop this nuisance, I would most respectfully ask that action be taken. If there is no such machinery, then for nothing except to try to resort to the slow process of a court of equity."

For the last six weeks the city has had a deputy collecting data relative to the smoke nuisance. The ordinances of other cities and the steps which they have taken to stop the smoke nuisance have been obtained and submitted. The Commercial club has also had a special committee investigating the subject. When all available material has been secured it will be turned over to the city attorney, who will draft an ordinance to replace the smoke ordinance which now forms part of the city's regulations.

DULUTH GIRL SCORES HIT IN VAUDEVILLE

MISS EDNA MUNSEY.

MISS EDNA MUNSEY, a Duluth girl who has recently entered vaudeville is receiving high praise for her work. She was at Buffalo last week and most flattering press reports of her success have been received by her friends here. The criticism reads in part: "Miss Edna Munsey, who is the feature of an excellent vaudeville bill this week at Shea's theater, is a remarkable young woman, who, in two years, has gained a high place on the American stage. She is a beautiful girl, gifted with a sweet voice of great power and range and through an earnest effort, has made herself a vaudeville star after three weeks' stay in the 'Twodays' field. Her act is the applause winner of this week's bill and from the enthusiastic manner in which the singing turn is received, additional triumphs await the talented artist."

The cafe opened at the Oatka branch yesterday for luncheon served cafeteria style, and the Spirit Lake branch will open June 21.

There were several dinner parties Saturday and yesterday at the main house for six and eight. The ladies are taking advantage of the opportunities at the Oatka branch to have out-of-door meals in comfortable style.

HAITIAN NAVY HAS BEEN SOLD

To Be Torn Asunder or Cut Down for Barge Purposes.

New York, June 16.—At last the Haitian navy is destined to serve some practical purpose. Either it will be torn asunder and sold to a junk dealer or it will be cut down to the requirements of freight barge purposes. After holding the gunboat-yacht Ferrier for sale before the whole world for more than a year, the dusky West Indian republic has sold the vessel to a New York firm.

The only person interested who is at all useful is "Capt. Bill" Watt, who two years ago became the Haitian minister of naval affairs, admiral of the Haitian navy, and as such commander and 10 per cent of the crew of the Ferrier.

About a year ago the Haitian cabinet decided on "a greater navy" policy, and "Capt. Bill" drew up the plan. He declared that the navy needed a new rudder, an engine that would work, a new blade on the propeller and at least one breech-loading gun.

"Capt. Bill" and his nine men took the Ferrier to Philadelphia navy yard, where the crew deserted, and the United States government was asked to estimate on repairs. The government wired to Haiti that it would cost $50,000.

"You can have her and the crew, too," wired back the Haitian congress, after it had recovered from the shock.

"Who pays now?" demanded "Capt. Bill." Silence followed and for six long months Capt. Bill sat on the bridge awaiting a reply. Then he sought a new job where he could be sure of eating with some regularity.

LEGAL WAR OVER RED BULL CALF

Animal Worth Only $10 But May Cost Several Thousands.

Muskogee, Okla., June 16.—The battle for the red bull calf of Brushy Mountain has been on in a local justice court for several months, and the indications are it will continue until one or both of the litigants are dead or bankrupt.

When the row began the calf was 8 months old and worth $10. It is now 7 months old, its rightful ownership is still a matter of dispute, and the cost of the suit has run to $1,000.

C. C. Rucker, a farmer, charged his neighbor, L. P. Hatley, with the theft of the calf and had him arrested. Hatley was acquitted and sued Rucker for $5,000 damages. Rucker undertook to repay the calf, but Hatley retained possession by giving a redelivery bond.

The hearing of the replevin proceedings before Justice Matt Thompson is what brought the witnesses practically every farmer in Brushy Mountain township to Muskogee. The litigants employed the ablest lawyers in Muskogee.

The calf—or, perhaps, a calf—also came to town. It rode in a prairie schooner with a Brushy Mountain native on the bow and another on the stern, both armed with a six-shooter. The calf wore two pairs of gunny-sack trousers, a coat of the same material and a kind of peek-a-boo calico hat.

All this sartorial adornment was for the purpose of concealing its exterior appearance. It had been intended that the calf be exhibited in the courtroom. But it had grown to a size that made this undesirable.

The lawyers raved and roared their level best. Jim Cosgrove, for Rucker, stung with his sarcasm until even the calf belched.

"This bovine," shouted Cosgrove, "has been exalted to a throne. It has been elevated and decorated like a man of royalty, placed in purple robes (poetic license) and cloth of gleaming gold. And it has been hidden as if it were too precious to be seen by common eyes."

Farmer Rucker took the stand and described the calf in detail. Then the court, the litigants, the lawyers and the onlookers moved in solemn procession into the street to inspect it.

At the word of command the gun wranglers aboard the schooner began discharging the calf. It kicked and butted against the indignity, but without avail.

Farmer Rucker stepped forward then, fell back, gnashed his teeth. His description as given in the courtroom did not synchronize with the physical marks of the calf. Farmer Rucker thereupon shouted that he was the victim of hocus-pocus; in other words, another animal had been switched onto him.

Search is being made for the original calf. Rucker swears it is somewhere in the Brushy Mountain country. The lawyers on both sides are happy. Continuance means more fees.

COON'S INSTINCT IS CERTAINLY PERVERTED

Monessen, Pa., June 16.—Smoke, a pet coon belonging to Franklin Sauter of this place, has cast aside his hereditary instinct of enmity towards birds and fowl of all kinds and adopted a brood of young guinea hens that had been hatched in the oven of Mr. Sauter's stove.

Naturalists and woodmen in this section declare it is the only instance on record where a coon is known to have overcome his natural instincts to kill all feathered creatures.

Several months ago Mr. Sauter, on a hunt, captured a young coon that had been pulled down and injured by the dog. Taking the animal home, it soon became domesticated and became a great pet around the house.

Not having an incubator for his guinea hens' eggs, Sauter placed the eggs in a box back of his stove. He was considerably astonished to find the coon in the box with young guinea hens mothering them. Since that time the animal has refused to leave the guinea chicks and keeps them well covered.

PRISON TERM FOR WOMEN

Day of Jail Sentences for Conducting Immoral Houses Passes.

Prosecutions in Future Will Be Brought Under State Law.

The day of getting off easy with a fine or light jail sentence following conviction on the charge of conducting a house of ill-fame has passed.

It has taken its place with the more serious offenses in the eyes of the city and county authorities and hereafter a conviction on this charge will probably mean a penitentiary sentence.

Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, this morning stated that from now on there will be no prosecution under the ordinance of the city. All future actions will be brought under the statute.

The city ordinance imposes a maximum sentence of ninety days. For the same offense, the statute provides a punishment of from one to seven years in state's prison.

In the one case it is a misdemeanor and in the other a felony. In future raids, the police will co-operate with the county attorney's office and bring their charges under the state law instead of the city ordinance.

"DOC" ARNOLD GOES TO ASYLUM

Drug Fiend Will Be Treated at Hospital for Criminal Insane.

Joseph F. G. Arnold, known as "Doc" Arnold and by a string of aliases, was today committed to the hospital for the criminal insane at St. Peter by Judge H. A. Dancer of the district court. The court acted upon the report of Dr. D. D. Murray, who examined the prisoner and who recommended that he be sent to St. Peter for treatment at once.

Arnold is a notorious "cock" fiend and is a physical and mental wreck. In court this morning he trembled like a leaf, and while in the custody of an officer begged like a child for cocaine and other drugs.

He recently pleaded guilty to grand larceny, but the court did not sentence him under the statute. Judge Dancer had the prisoner examined, and with the suggestion of his attorney and with the consent of the county attorney, he was committed to St. Peter instead of Stillwater.

LOVER GONE; TAKES POISON

Evelyn Dunkle of Ames, Iowa, Attempts Suicide in Duluth Hotel.

Takes Bichloride of Mercury, But Is Expected to Recover.

Coming from a farm near Ames, Iowa, to meet her sweetheart here in Duluth, only to find that he had gone, caused Evelyn Dunkle, 22 years old, to attempt suicide in her room at the Frederic hotel late Saturday evening.

She is at St. Luke's hospital, where her recovery is expected.

From what can be learned the young woman came to Duluth some time Saturday and obtained a room at the Frederic that evening. Shortly after 10 o'clock, the night clerk, Michael Larkin, received a call from her room and upon entering found her in great pain. She asked a doctor, telling him that she took two tablets of bichloride of mercury. The fact that she immediately vomited the poison saved her life, according to City Physician I. J. Murphy, who attended the case.

Dr. A. A. Destauriers was called at first by the clerk, but he refused to handle the case. Dr. Murphy was then called. He had the young woman removed to the hospital, where her condition is now reported improved.

She refuses to talk and it is impossible to obtain any information whatever.

Letter Reveals Name.

A letter found yesterday morning by a chambermaid of the hotel disclosed the young woman's right name. She had registered at the hotel as Mary Anderson.

According to the letter the young woman had been keeping company with a man named Jack, who, it appears, was rather downcast at the thought of losing her. It is believed that this letter brought the young woman to Duluth and that since her arrival here, she had been unable to find the man.

The letter was written from the St. Louis hotel and merely signed Jack.

The report that she was a prostitute and had come here for work is utterly without foundation, as she has no appearance of being a woman of that class. It is believed she came from a farm near Ames and that her people do not even now know of her whereabouts.

At the hospital, the young woman has been attended by Mrs. Evelyn McDonald and all she tells the attendants is that she comes from the West and that she has not seen her parents for four years.

SALE OF STATE LAND WEDNESDAY

Spirited Bidding Expected on Tracts on Lake Vermilion.

Theodore Nelson, manager of the state land department in the office of Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor, will be in Duluth Wednesday to conduct another of the series of state land sales.

It is expected that the sale will attract prospective purchasers from all over the county and that the bidding will be spirited.

A great deal of interest is expected from people who are eager to buy on Lake Vermilion. The state is offering all of its lots in section 16, 62-14, which is all of the land in that section except that part of an island which the state sold at a recent sale.

If this property sells for the former high prices paid for lake frontage it will bring $4 an acre, without taking into consideration the value of the timber on the land.

FARMERS UNITE AT BROOKSTON.

Brookston, Minn., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers in this vicinity have organized a strong farmers' organization to be known as the Farmers' Club of Brookston. The officers are: President, John N. Boland; vice president, Joseph Richardson; secretary, William Epperson; treasurer, C. A. Tester. The agricultural prospects for this territory are excellent and they will work out completely if all hands, farmers and town dwellers, work together.

CHIPPENWAS CELEBRATE.

G. G. Hartley of Duluth Among the Speakers at Big Indian Pow-Wow.

Mahnomen, Minn., June 16.—The forty-ninth anniversary of the settlement of the White Earth Indian reservation and the twentieth anniversary of the Chippewa-Sioux peace pact have just been celebrated.

Two celebrations were held Saturday, owing to a split among the Chippewas, which resulted when the mixed-bloods, under Omakahkake, secured control of the committee on arrangements. The latter held the celebration at White Earth, while the mixed-bloods, under Chief Kahgandah, established their camp at the old trading post.

Edward Rogers, former star of the University of Minnesota football squad, recently elected chief of the tribe, addressed the Chippewas "don't" spoke in English, and his address was intelligible to the red men by an interpreter.

Musie was furnished by the boarding school band. Other addresses were delivered by D. E. Henderson, Rev. Father Aloysius, Chief Gharrette, Rev. H. F. Parrish and G. G. Hartley of Duluth. John Carl presided over the program.

TWIN CITY ROAD IN BAD SHAPE

Duluth Motorist Says It Is Almost Impassable in Places.

W. J. North took his auto to the Twin Cities on Saturday, as his family is spending the summer at one of the lakes there. Mr. North says that his advice to motorists who contemplate the trip between Duluth and the Twin Cities is "don't."

"One cannot conceive of a more deplorable condition of roads than is found along the route. It took me almost three hours between the Duluth city limits and Carlton, for the road is a nightmare. The worst part of it is the Duluth end. I have no desire to knock the city commission or the county commissioners or anybody else, but the truth might as well be known—the road is awful and its neglect seems like a crime."

Further down the line, all the way from Finlayson to Sandstone and in too many other places to enumerate, there are stretches of road that should be attended to at once. In these stretches the sides of the road have been plowed up and the large clods of earth have been piled in the center and autos and teams are expected to pound them down. An auto simply drags the road with its pan and does not dare to get away from straddling the hump for it will skid into the ditch on either side. Talk about having a highway between here and the Rogers, Ark., June 16.—Albert Graham of Monte, Neb., related a remarkable escape of a young woman from being bitten by a large rattlesnake.

In company with another friend she was going to a pasture to milk. Near a stump of bushes she stumbled over a stone and fell headlong to the ground. Her face struck only a short space from the rattler, with its mouth wide open, ready to sink its deadly fangs into her cheeks.

The young woman was chewing a large wad of gum, and the fall caused the gum to fall out of her mouth, striking the snake squarely in its mouth. The snake quickly closed down on it and while the reptile was in this position the young woman sprang to her feet and killed it.

The snake had sixteen rattles and a button, and as each rattle counts one year to the age of that species of snake, it was 16 years old. A visitor at Monte, Neb., gave the girl $1.25 for the rattles and a doctor paid $4.25 for the snake's carcass. The snake was six feet long and its skin is now on display at a museum at Vinola.

VERSATILE GENIUS AT THE EMPRESS

James Morrison, who is at the Empress this week in a sketch, "The Call of Justice," can put it over anybody seen in that playhouse in many moons in at least one respect. He is versatile to the last degree of versatility. In the course of the play he enacts six roles—a detective, a sailor, a laundress, a vendor, a handily and an invalid. Each role demands special qualifications, and Mr. Morrison has them all. There are two other people in the sketch, which deals with the old theme of the wages of sin. The play is a powerful sermon and an entertaining sketch. The Themas Brothers play the accordion and honky and sing. They played three large audiences yesterday and will undoubtedly continue to please Empress patrons for the remainder of the four days' engagement. They play and sing classical numbers as well as popular airs. Whittier and Crossman are entertainers of the talking and singing sort. They put over their talk in good shape yesterday and their singing is excellent. A dog that swings on the slack wire

TRYING OUT THE NEW LAW

Injunction Proceedings Are Begun Against St. Croix Alley Property.

Temporary Injunction, Good Until September Term, Is Sought.

Injunction proceedings against the house at 233 St. Croix alley, which was raided by the police last week, were formally instituted in district court this morning by Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney.

The proceedings are the first to be brought under the new nuisance abatement act, passed by the state legislature at its last session. There is no precedent to go by and the procedure will be entirely new.

Judge Cant this morning signed a restraining order, which was posted on the door of the house, forbidding the removal or sale of the property or furniture of the house until the court has passed upon the question of granting a temporary injunction, which has been asked for.

The temporary injunction, if granted, will close the house for all purposes until the September term of the district court, when the matter of granting a permanent injunction will be taken up and disposed of.

The proceeding is brought under the title of State of Minnesota vs. W. A. Hicken, plaintiff vs. Marion A. Scarborough, alias Belle Stanley, alias Mrs. George I. Lewis and Maud Grant and all other persons unknown claiming ownership, title and interest in the property affected in the action.

The papers in the case were prepared by First Assistant County Attorney Forbes. County Attorney Warren E. Greene is taking his annual vacation and is out of the city this week.

Qual Criminal Action. The action is a quasi-criminal proceeding. It is primarily of a civil action but also carries with it the right of the court to impose a fine or penalty.

Under the statute, the proceedings must be brought in the name of the state by the county attorney or any citizen of the county. In this instance, W. A. Hicken, commissioner of public safety, appears as the relator.

The complaint which was served upon Maud Grant, one of the defendants, and the county jail today and served by publication on Belle Stanley, owner of the building, who lives in Detroit, alleges that the house at 233 St. Croix alley was used for immoral purposes on June 11 and 12 last.

An injunction asking that the use of the premises and the use of the furniture, fixtures and personal instruments be restrained for the period of one year and for abating the nuisance for one year for any purpose whatever is asked for.

Mr. Forbes stated this morning that the report which had been circulated in the morning paper to the effect that the proceedings had not been started owing to delays at the court, was without truth or foundation.

Up to Saturday, no application was made by the state to the court for an injunction, said Mr. Forbes. "The papers were drawn Saturday afternoon and were served and filed this morning."

"Cleopatra" at Lyceum. Miss Helen Gardner, in a complete performance of "Cleopatra," in moving pictures, opened a four-day engagement at the Lyceum yesterday.

In the adaptation of "Cleopatra," Miss Gardner has used the Victorian Sardou version of the life and character of the greatest of all Cleopatras who ruled Europe.

The poetry of coquetry shines in the work of Miss Gardner and this production is a romantic idealization of the character of Cleopatra, a production that will appeal to cultured men and women. Special music is a feature of the engagement.

NEW PRESIDENT OF HONDURAN REPUBLIC Julius Rosenwald and Booker Washington Make Addresses.

Chicago, June 16.—The new $200,000 Chicago negro Y. M. C. A., the first of its kind here, was dedicated Sunday with addresses by Booker T. Washington and Julius Rosenwald. The building is in the heart of Chicago's black belt, and nearly 3,000 negroes jammed in to hear the addresses.

"I started me when I, a Jew, was asked for money to promote the Christian religion," said Mr. Rosenwald, whose gift of $25,000 was the nucleus of the building fund, "but I thought as long as I was going to give money to Africa I would give it here where we have millions of negro citizens instead of to foreign nations."

Mr. Washington repeatedly addressed his audience as "black men" and "negroes."

"That's what they call us down 'yonder' where I was raised," he said, "and I see no objection to it. I notice other speakers here hesitate to apply the proper appellation. You are black men and negroes, and there is no reason to be ashamed of it."

Mr. Washington said there were 50,000 "black men" citizens of Chicago.

CLAIMS HE HAS NEW AUTOMOBILE FUEL

NICHOLAS M. LETTUNICH.

Nicholas M. Lettunich, a student at the University of Santa Clara in California, thinks he has solved the question of cheaper fuel for automobiles.

Ever since the Standard Oil company began to hike the price of gasoline, experiments have been under way with kerosene, alcohol and other fuels to try to reduce the cost of living.

Lettunich has applied for patents on two chemical mixtures. One is a compound which he claims will replace gasoline and prove 20 per cent more efficient.

The materials for this cost 10 cents per gallon. It ran a light car eighteen miles on the gallon. The mixture contains no acid, ether or glycerine. It is used with the ordinary carburetor. The other mixture is a decarbonizer.

He is running to a refuge when death overtook them.

TELLS PEOPLE HOW TO SAVE THE BABIES Federal Children's Bureau Issues Bulletin on Infant Welfare.

Washington, June 16.—Warning every community in the nation that the great death rate of babies is today preventable, the children's bureau of the department of labor has prepared a compilation of the steps which various states are taking to protect and improve the health of the infant.

The bulletin, which will be an annual feature of the children's bureau, was issued today. It contains a list of the steps which various states are taking to protect and improve the health of the infant.

Many towns, in wards of such cities as New York and Philadelphia, where systematic summer baby-saving campaigns were undertaken, the death rate of babies has been reduced 50 per cent.

A baby nursed by its mother, the bureau declares, has approximately ten times the chance to live than a fed baby has. Such welfare workers are urged by the bureau to encourage mothers to make every effort to carry out this maternal duty.

The bulletin describes other municipal and philanthropic activities in the direction of child welfare, such as inspecting day nurseries, municipal milk dispensing stations, baby clinics; visiting nursing of children; and the destruction of the death-distributing fly.

Failure on the part of Nels Erickson to return to his home after he had gone out for a short walk along the lake shore Saturday morning, caused a search that resulted in the discovery of his body on the rocks at Ninth avenue last late in the afternoon.

COLT SAYS HE NEVER HEARD OF ANY LOBBY

Rhode Island Senator Testifies Before Senate Committee.

Smith of Michigan Says He Voted Against His Own Interests.

Montana Man Blamed for Editorial About Senator Gronna.

Washington, June 17.—Senator Colt of Rhode Island and Senator Smith of Michigan testified today before the senate lobby investigating committee. Only two other senators—Cullbertson of Texas and Burleigh of Maine—remained to be heard. The testimony of lobby witnesses was interrupted today with the idea of finally disposing of all senators.

Senator Colt said he had no interest in any concern interested in the tariff bill. No person, he said, had attempted improperly to influence him, and he knew nothing of any lobby working in Washington.

Senator Smith testified that as a newspaper owner, he bought probably $25,000 worth of paper a year.

Voted Against His Interests.
"When it was sought to put paper on the free list," he said, "I voted against it. I'm a protectionist and believe in the policy and would not vote to serve my own interest."

He added that the paper men had maintained a lobby here, but he never had seen in the capital any improper attempt to influence legislation.

Senator Smith said he was in favor of the annexation of Cuba, and if it were annexed he would be willing to let Cuban sugar and other products come in free.

Hon. Montana Man.

TELEPHONE GIRLS IN ST. LOUIS STRIKE

St. Louis, Mo., June 17.—Girl telephone operators in the employ of the Southwestern Telephone company (Bell) struck here shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. About 900 girls were employed. ANGORA GOAT HAR IS FREE

Senate Committee Changes the Underwood Bill Some More.

Agricultural Schedule Is Upset Again By the Senators.

Washington, June 17.—The angora goat no longer can lord it over the pastoral sheep and proclaim its aristocracy, for the Democrats of the senate finance committee have put both on a level.

By striking off the Underwood tariff rate of 20 per cent ad valorem on the hair of the angora goat and transferring it to the free list with raw wool, the committee ran counter to the ways and means committee of the house and decided a much disputed point in the woolen schedule.

The committee met again today to go over the schedule, repeating it every two days. Thirty-seven per cent of the children recovered in less than three weeks, whereas under ordinary treatment the mildest attacks lasted two months.

Dr. Roux, while declaring that the experiments thus far were on too small a scale to make a definite pronouncement, said he believed an effective cure for whooping cough was in sight.

PAGE TOO HOT FOR EMPRESS

Kaiserin Has to Give Up Part in German Celebrations.

Dr. Paasche Writes Article Criticizing Policy of Emperor.

Berlin, June 17.—Empress Augusta Victoria was too tired to participate in today's celebration of the completion of the twenty-fifth year of her husband's reign. The gala events of the last few days, following the wedding of her only daughter, proved too much for her strength, and she was forced to leave the imperial box at the opera in the middle of last evening's performance. The crown princess will represent her majesty at tonight's state dinner.

Today's celebration was again favored by splendid weather. It opened with a parade organized by the trades unions. The streets appeared to be even more crowded today than yesterday, the spectators taking great interest in the workers' parade, the state procession of the German rulers to the castle, and tonight's torchlight procession of students of Berlin university.

Discordant Note.
The National Liberal privy councilor, Dr. Hermann S. Paasche, first president of the reichstag, in an article in the Weekly Salonblatt strikes a discordant note in the array of laudatory articles. After paying tribute to the emperor's character and asserting that monarchs are loyal monarchs, he continues:

"The folk, however, regret deeply that the people and emperor do not come closer together. A military and pompous emperor who is emperor only as an emperor in a glittering uniform, an environment mostly military, an environment in which the people feel does not let them see the real emperor, hinders the bridging-over of this chasm."

"Yet another thing. We live in a constitutional land, but the representatives of the German folk who consider that they decide upon the laws, stand far from the emperor as do the mass of the people."

"Twenty years ago, the emperor said: 'My door stands open to every one of you.'"

It is expected the number to be transferred by other states will exceed 25,000.

CLAIM TO HAVE CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Doctors Experimenting at Tunis Send Report to Paris.

Paris, June 17.—The discovery soon of a cure for whooping cough was predicted today at the academy of science by Dr. Emile Roux, director of the Pasteur Institute. Dr. Roux merely transmitted the report of Dr. Alfred Conor, bacteriologist at the state military hospital at Tunis, where, with the collaboration of Dr. Nicolle, he had prepared a solution containing living whooping cough bacilli which they injected into 122 children suffering from the disease, repeating it every two days. Thirty-seven per cent of the children recovered in less than three weeks, whereas under ordinary treatment the mildest attacks lasted two months.

Dr. Roux, while declaring that the experiments thus far were on too small a scale to make a definite pronouncement, said he believed an effective cure for whooping cough was in sight.

Annie Kenney Makes an Impassioned Address in Court.

Tells Judge She Is Willing to Die for the Cause.

 ALL FOUND GUILTY. *****

London, June 17.—Six of the most prominent leaders of the militant suffragettes' organization and one of their male supporters today were found guilty of conspiracy to commit malicious damage to property. The jury recommended mercy for Misses Lake, Lennox and Barrett, and Justice Phillimore passed sentence as follows:

Miss Kenney, 18 months; Mrs. Saunders, 15 months; Miss Kerr, 12 months; Miss Barrett, 9 months; Miss Lake and Miss Lennox, 6 months each; Mr. Clayton, 21 months.

All were committed to the third division, which entails hard labor. Each defendant was ordered to pay one-seventh of the cost of the prosecution and was bound over to keep the peace for a year after the period of imprisonment.

With the exception of Mrs. Saunders, all the women professed their intention of going on a "hunger strike."

London, June 17.—An impassioned speech in defense of the outrages committed by militant suffragettes was delivered today in the central criminal court by Miss Annie Kenney, who was on trial for conspiracy.

Her address served to enliven the proceedings and her concluding words created a great impression.

"If I have got to die to get the vote," she said, "I will die willingly, whatever the verdict of the jury to-day."

The entrance of the accused—Miss Harriet Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Mrs. Beatrice Sanders, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Laura Lennox and Edwy Clayton, chemical adviser to the suffragettes—found the court crowded. Women formed the majority of the audience, among them being Mrs. Winston Spencer Churchill, wife of the first lord of the admiralty, and Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the premier.

Declares Acts Justified.
Miss Annie Kenney in her speech asserted that it opened the door to the suffragettes and the speeches of cabinet ministers, who she said had asserted that the unfranchised were justified in rebelling in order to get their grievances remedied, furnished ample warrant for the course pursued by the militant suffragettes.

"If further justification were necessary," she said, "the trickery and treachery of cabinet ministers, who have shamed and hounded the women from pillar to post, supplied it. The present government had a blacker record on the question of woman suffrage than any other. It has treated the plights of the women more abominably than any British government since."

"As for myself, I belong to the working class. At the age of 17 I was a half-timer in a factory. I joined the suffrage movement because of the terrible cruel conditions under which women worked in the British Isles. 'I am a rebel, and a rebel I shall remain until women receive the vote. If, like Miss Davidson, it should be necessary for me to sacrifice my life, then I shall gladly die.'"

"Yet another thing. We live in a constitutional land, but the representatives of the German folk who consider that they decide upon the laws, stand far from the emperor as do the mass of the people."

"Twenty years ago, the emperor said: 'My door stands open to every one of you.'"

GET MESSAGE NEXT FRIDAY

Congress Will Then Also Receive Currency Reform Bill.

System of Regional Reserve Associations to Be Proposed.

Washington, June 17.—The currency reform plan will be presented to the house in an administration bill by Representative Glass of Virginia, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, on Friday. Mr. Glass planned to confer again today with President Wilson, though the bill is now for all purposes complete.

President Wilson's message is to be presented to the house Friday, and the delay in the introduction of the bill is to permit precedence to the message.

The house met today with Democratic leaders Underwood absent for the first time in many months, but he will be back in time to handle the situation Friday.

Meanwhile those opposed to currency legislation at this session are conferring over the course to pursue, their particular desire being to avoid any move that would tend to break party harmony. Representative Henry of Kansas are urging upon colleagues the appointment of another special committee to inquire into the workings of the so-called money trust.

Regional Associations.
The bill in its present form embraces a system of regional reserve associations with local governing boards, all under control of a Federal reserve board of nine members at Washington. Elasticity of the currency is to be secured through the issuance of United States notes to these reserve associations, and by them to the local banks on equivalent security, including commercial paper of a qualified class.

The local banks making up each reserve association will be required to keep a specific amount of their reserves in association vaults, but the bill would require the gradual retirement of all national bank notes within a maximum period of twenty years. The new currency system would become operative July 1, 1914.

The framers of the bill have made public no authoritative version of the bill.

BOY FIGHTS RISING TIDE FOR FOUR HOURS

Breathes Through Rubber Tube When Head Is Immersed.

New Haven, Conn., June 17.—John Goglik, aged 16, started death in the face for four hours last night in an unequal battle with the swift incoming tide in West River. While swimming, his leg caught in one of the great gates that prevented the water from overflowing the meadow, and efforts to free him were fruitless. The fire and police departments were called out and a large crowd gathered.

While the tide was rising in the boy's mouth as the water passed over his head so that he might breathe. A trolley wrecker succeeded in smashing one of the tide gates, allowing the water to rush over the meadow, so that the boy's head was again out of water. Then the gate was forced enough to release the boy, who collapsed after being rescued.

Dr. Wallace Blanchard of Chicago, in his address, declared that the susceptibility of different nationalities to different deformities is remarkable. The speaker stated that in the free hospitals of Chicago half the tubercular joint cases, two-thirds of the spinal curvature cases and a large proportion of deformities due to rickets affect new immigrants. Huddling in small houses and rooms and early labor of women in factories were among the causes, he said.

RUSHING COAL FIELD PROBE

Senate Committee Is in a Hurry to Return to Washington.

Operators Call Witnesses to Tell Their Side of Troubles.

Charleston, W. Va., June 17.—With scores of witnesses called to tell the mine operators' side of the labor controversy in the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek districts, the senate hearings here will end tomorrow night. Senator Swanson, chairman of the committee, declared the situation in Washington demanded the presence of the committee, and that it would be necessary to leave Charleston at the earliest possible moment.

The operators proceeded today with the witnesses they had called, calling that the most important ones in order that the record may be as full as possible before the committee leaves. Those witnesses who are not given an opportunity to appear here will be taken to Washington.

News of critical conditions in the hills continued to come to Charleston today, although union officials declared they were doing their best to keep the men on Paint Creek and Cabin Creek at work.

KEEP ANNIVERSARY OF BUNKER HILL

People of Boston Celebrate Battle Fought 138 Years Ago.

Boston, June 17.—The biggest "night before" in the history of the Charlestown district preceded the booming of cannon and the ringing of bells in beginning today the celebration of the 138th anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill. Midnight speeches were made by Former President Theodore Roosevelt, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels and United States Treasurer John Burke, former governor of North Dakota.

Col. Roosevelt favored a peace policy combined with a big navy. "I will never," said the colonel, "consent to arbitrate national questions of vital honor and national interests. What is more, I know my countrymen will not consent. Uncle Sam will never arbitrate a ship in the flux and in the last resort the navy in Uncle Sam's punch; it is not necessary for us to appeal to the supreme arbitrament of war, but it is necessary to show in times of peace the qualities which men showed who won our independence for us and founded this government."

STEFANSSON SHIP STARTS FOR ARCTIC

Whaler Karluk With Scientific Party Will Be Gone Three Years.

Explorers Will Make Special Study of the White Eskimos.

Capt. Bartlett, Who Was With Peary, Is With the Party.

Victoria, B. C., June 17.—Adjustment of her compasses as a that remained to be done aboard the whaler Karluk this morning before she left to carry Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson's scientific and exploring expedition into the Arctic for a three years' stay. Capt. Robert Bartlett, who commanded Peary's ship Roosevelt, master of the Karluk, said that before night the boat would be headed for Unimak pass.

The Karluk's first port of call will be Nome, Alaska, where she is expected to arrive about July 7 and wait the coming of Dr. Stefansson and Dr. R. M. Anderson, who will travel from Seattle by mail steamer.

Objects Are Commercial.
The Stefansson Arctic expedition, whose expenses are paid entirely by the Canadian government, differs from most of the other polar undertakings in that its objects are practical and commercial. Its purposes are to learn whether a polar continent exists; to map the islands already discovered east of the mouth of the Mackenzie river; to make a collection of the Arctic flora and fauna; to survey the channels among the islands in the hope of establishing trade routes; to make a geological survey of the islands which are believed to contain copper and silver, and to study the Eskimos of Coronation Gulf, on the mainland south of Victoria Land.

No effort will be made to reach the North Pole. That will be left to Amundsen, who will sail into the Arctic next summer. No attempt will be made to bring back any of the Eskimos to open up the country to civilization, which Stefansson says would destroy them.

Return in 1916.
The expedition expects to return to Nome in September, 1916, but may be carried to Greenland, crossing the North Pole on the way.

MANY STATES SUFFER HEAT

Weather Bureau Promises No Relief for Two Days.

Six Are Killed in Philadelphia By the High Temperature.

Washington, June 17.—The heat wave prevailing from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic coast promises to continue for the next forty-eight hours. The only parts of the heat-stricken territory where any relief may be expected are the Middle Atlantic states, Southern New England, the Upper Ohio valley and the south portion of the lake region. Slightly lower temperatures tonight and Wednesday are forecasted for them. Today promised high temperatures almost everywhere east of Denver.

Six Dead in Philadelphia.
Philadelphia, June 17.—Six deaths and numerous prostrations occurred here yesterday as the result of the excessive heat. The temperature reached within a fraction of 96 deg., the highest point in two years. Last night a thunder storm caused it to fall 13 deg. in five minutes.

One Death in Columbus.
Columbus, Ohio, June 17.—A death and three prostrations traceable to the extreme heat were reported in Columbus. The mercury in the mercuro thermometer at the street level reached 96 deg. at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. All records for June 16 were broken.

All Indiana Sweetering.
Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—All of Indiana is suffering from the effects of the hottest weather of the year. In Indianapolis the mercury yesterday reached 105 on the street level and 96 in the government thermometer. It was the hottest June day here for twenty-one years.

MERCURY SLIDES DOWN THE TUBE

Drop of 32 Deg. in Twenty-four Hours Accompanied By High Wind.

The weather man is putting on his usual summer sudden change act. Yesterday at 1 p. m. the temperature on the hill was about 80 deg. Today at the same hour, the temperature was 48 deg., the low mark for the last forty-eight hours, at least.

Duluth people retired last night secure in the knowledge that the nights in Duluth are always cool. They didn't count on such pronounced coolness, however. A wind came up during the night, blew in through the windows and doors and fresh air finds awoke to find themselves shivering under thin covers.

The wind has been doing thirty to thirty-two miles an hour all morning, combined with the low temperatures, has made straw hats and other articles of wearing apparel peculiar to summer seem strangely out of place.

The weather man predicts showers for tonight or tomorrow, and the cool weather will continue.

Suffered Twenty-One Years -- Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours, MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Avoyelles Par., Marksville, La.

Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

COURT WILL BE LIBERAL

Will Not Throw Out Votes Because of Mere Technicalities.

Where Good Faith Is Shown Votes Will Be Counted.

That a liberal interpretation of the statute in cases of alleged irregularities and technical departures from the letter of the law which have arisen in the mayoralty election contest case between William E. McEwen and Mayor W. I. Prince will be given by Judge W. A. Cant, who is presiding at the trial, was indicated today in the rulings of the court.

Judge Cant declared that the general rule followed in the Minnesota courts was that an elector should not be deprived of his right to vote through a mere technicality of the statute or some slight omission on his part, or on the part of the election officials, where it was shown that he was entitled to vote and was making a good faith attempt to do so.

The question was raised on the testimony of W. O. Falk, who was called to the stand by the contestant, Falk, it appeared, was "sworn in" on election day in the Third precinct of the Third ward, where he was entitled to vote. The affidavit was signed by two free holders but through an omission on the part of the election judge it was not signed by the judge.

Walter E. Dacey and Warner E. Whipple, attorneys for the contestant, Mr. McEwen, contended that the affidavit was insufficient on the face and that it did not qualify Mr. Falk to vote. O. J. Larson and Neal Boston, attorneys for Mayor Prince, took the other side. Mr. Larson argued that Falk had actually been sworn in and that because there was no record evidence of this on the face of the ballot should not disqualify the voter.

The court sustained the contention of Mr. Larson after listening to a half hour of argument on the question. In ruling on the question, Judge Cant called attention to the fact that the Minnesota courts, unlike the courts in some other states where there have been election frauds and where there is danger of a recurrence, have not insisted upon a letter interpretation of the statute.

Falk is the only witness who has been called so far who has stated for the contestant. He has ruled in each case that witnesses need not answer such a question unless they so desire. Falk stated that he voted for Prince, first choice and for W. B. Gabel, second choice.

Hans Hontigman, also a voter in the First precinct of the Third ward, whose affidavit of qualification was not attested to by the judge of election, and whose ballot declined to answer as to how he voted.

Through the ingenuity of Attorney Dacey, who brought out, however, and got into the record, Attorney Dacey asked Hontigman if he had told anyone who he had voted for. The witness replied in the affirmative. He then inquired as to whether what he had told others was true or not. Hontigman stated that it was true.

Mr. Dacey then took the stand himself and testified that Hontigman had stated outside of the court room that he had voted for Prince, first choice. Mr. Dacey was not sure as to what was said about the other choices.

After fifteen more witnesses are expected to be called this afternoon by the contestant.

PLEADS HIS OWN CASE

William Lawvre Gets Three Months in the County Jail.

Girl Prefers Going to Jail to Losing Her "Affinity."

Pleading his own case, William Lawvre was found guilty in police court this morning on a charge of living with Marie McDonald and was given a straight sentence of three months in the county jail by Judge Cutting. The girl, who was with him on the same charge, will be tried this afternoon.

Lawvre and Marie were arrested Saturday afternoon at 355 Third street, where they had been living together as man and wife. The young woman stands by her lover, refusing to leave him, declaring that she would rather go to jail than to lose her "only friend in the world."

It developed during the trial this morning that the McDonald girl had been living in the former's home on Duluth Heights and that they were compelled to move by the neighbors. About three weeks ago they moved to 355 East Third street, where they were arrested Saturday.

Marie has given up her home and friends for Lawvre, according to the testimony. When she first began keeping company with the latter, her parents objected and threatened to put her out. Shortly after this was done and she came to Lawvre, who immediately took her in.

Defends Himself.
Lawvre acted as his own attorney and managed to get along very well. On the stand he told the jury that he was 29 years old and that he had married about nineteen years ago in Albert Lea, Minn. He is a dentist, he said, being a graduate of the Keokuk Dental college, Keokuk, Iowa. His wife left him several years ago and Lawvre at that time began suit for divorce. His wife brought counter suit and an agreement was made that Lawvre pay her $300 in settlement in full and that the divorce would then be granted. Lawvre has failed to pay the amount and the divorce office is still married. Mrs. Lawvre is now in Wheeling, West Virginia, only child, a daughter, 18 years old, still living with her mother.

Lawvre and on the stand this morning told that he had promised to some day marry her. As soon as he had made complete settlement, she said, they were to be married. She said she had the trials together, so that they could be sentenced together, if the court so decided, and the prosecution objected. Her trial was set for 2 p. m. today.

WOMAN GIVES HUSBAND SCARE

Hysterics Mistaken for Carbolic Acid Poisoning and Physician Called.

Jealous because her husband was going to spend the evening in Superior, Mrs. S. Bryan, a colored woman, went into hysterics at her home, 104 First avenue west, last evening, causing her husband and a policeman to believe she had taken carbolic acid.

Bryan is employed as a day waiter at the Spaulding hotel and upon returning home at 3 o'clock informed his wife that he was going to Superior for the evening. She remonstrated with him for several minutes and then became hysterical. In a few minutes he heard her enter her room and the policeman called.

Thinking that his wife had attempted suicide, as she had threatened to do, Bryan ran out of the house and called a policeman. The policeman answered the call and, also believing that the woman had taken carbolic acid, telephoned for City Physician Murphy.

Murphy arrived after a few minutes and soon had the woman calmed. She was then learned that she had taken no poison.

YOUNG WOMAN GIVES THE VARSITY ORATION

Belle Fligelman Talks on "Freedom" at Wisconsin Commencement.

Madison, Wis., June 17.—For the first time in ten years a young woman was chosen to represent the outgoing class as commencement orator at the University of Wisconsin, which this morning sent forth its sixtieth class. Miss Belle Fligelman of Helena, Mont., was the young woman thus honored. She recently was voted the most prominent girl student at the university. For her commencement oration Miss Fligelman made the unusual and better interpretation of the word "freedom."

"In this country, where liberty means a freedom of industry that allows half a million-lives to be sacrificed every year to a freedom of capital to take advantage of labor, and of labor to take what it can from capital, a freedom to squander the nation's resources and a freedom of man and women to look only to the present and refuse to look ahead and to conserve for the future—in this country, freedom has been looked upon only as a glorious abstraction. And every Fourth of July we have a splendid massacre of the children to prove to ourselves that we enjoy our liberty," declared Miss Fligelman.

in this ory of unrestrained freedom, the real significance of our liberty has been overlooked. While we have been viewing freedom in the light of an abstract proposition, we have failed to appreciate that liberty no sooner grants a privilege than she imposes a duty to use this privilege to its best advantage. Every citizen should realize that not only has he the liberty, but the obligation, to raise what it can from capital, a freedom to a standard of living in his community, morally, intellectually and physically."

MRS. MORRISON DIES IN IOWA
Three of Her Sons Have Lived in Duluth.

John L. Morrison received word today that his mother died this morning at Tabor, Iowa. While her condition was serious, her case showed much improvement when Mr. Morrison left there last week, and so quick an end was hardly expected.

Martha Gardner was born in Ashtabula county, Ohio, nearly sixty years ago. In early girlhood she resided in Ashtabula, Ohio, and later in Illinois, and came to southwestern Iowa, when about 12 years of age. She was married to Joshua L. Morrison in 1862. Last November they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Morrison came of old Puritan stock. Her father, Benjamin F. Gardner, born at Great Barrington, Mass., was a conductor on the "Underground railroad" in Ohio, Illinois and Iowa. Mrs. Morrison possessed many interesting reminiscences of those thrilling times. She remembered John Brown, exceedingly well. He made the Gardner home at Tabor his headquarters at one time and impressed upon her his sincerity and kindness of heart.

Mrs. Morrison was the mother of four sons and one daughter, all of whom survive her. John L., Duane D. and Bert H. all have lived in Duluth. Ben G. resides on the old Morrison farm in Iowa. Mattie W. is a teacher in one of the Iowa schools.

Mrs. Morrison lived in Duluth frequently and was well known to a wide circle of friends. Her funeral arrangements have not been decided upon but will be at Tabor, Iowa.

PLANS GREAT MAP OF CITY

Assessor Will Make Valuable Information More Readily Available.

Map Will Be of Service to All Departments of City Government.

City Assessor J. Allyn Scott is planning to get out the largest and most nearly complete map of Duluth which has yet been attempted. When it has been finished it will be one of the most valuable pieces of work in the city, not only for the assessor, but for other departments as well.

The proposed map will be approximately forty-two feet in length, with the width in proportion. It will show every division in the city, from one end to the other. All streets and avenues will be indicated, together with the location of the water, gas and sewer mains. The condition of the street will be marked, as to whether it is unpaved, and if improved, the nature of the improvement, whether gravelled or paved, and the kind of pavement.

The topography will be plainly shown, so that from a glance at the map one can tell how any lots in the city are located, whether they are in a ravine, on a hill, above or below the street grade, or have any other marked physical characteristics. In short, the map will show everything which enters into the valuation of lots in Duluth, as far as that can possibly be done on paper.

The assessor plans to have the valuations of lots of all parts of the city shown. At least the center lot of each block will be marked, and in certain sections the values of several lots will be indicated.

May Show Underground Work.
For years past a complete underground survey of the city has been proposed, but thus far this has never been done. When the assessor has his blueprint out, the engineering department may secure a copy of it and make it more valuable by adding to it the locations of all underground conduits, storm sewers, sewer outlets, reservoirs and any other features which would be considered of value. The same map may be used for showing the locations of all poles and all overhead wires, in furtherance of the plans of Mayor Prince for having a complete survey made of all poles and wires in the city.

Getting out such a map as proposed by the assessor will entail a vast amount of work and detail. He will start to work on it as soon as the personal property assessment has been closed and the books forwarded to the county auditor. Many months will be required to do the work, but when it is over he will have furnished the city with a map which will prove almost invaluable and one which can be used on the basis of a great amount of additional work, much of which should have been instituted years ago.

ENDEAVORERS TO MEET.

Executive Committee Will Select Delegate to Los Angeles Convention.

The executive committee meeting of the Christian Endeavor union of the city will be held at the Y. M. C. A. this evening to transact regular business. The selection of a delegate to the Los Angeles convention in July will be one of the items of business.

The delegates to the state convention at Glenwood are also expected to be present at this evening's meeting to receive final instructions. Among those who expected to attend the Glenwood gathering are Mrs. E. H. McAllister of the Union church, Edward Johnson of the First Presbyterian and Francis of the Lakeland society, while most of the societies will send delegates whose names have not been announced as yet. The quarterly rally which comes Friday, June 27, at Glenwood church, will also be planned for.

DISPUTE IS PUT UP TO A JURY

Each Party to Sawmill Contract Has Claim for Damages.

A dispute over the operation of a sawmill near Grand Lake is being argued in district court today before Judge Dancer and a jury in a lawsuit brought by Dorford Castonguay against John Bonesack, in which the plaintiff is seeking to recover $2,088 for alleged breach of contract, and the defendant is asking for $379 on a cross bill.

Castonguay claims that during the period between Sept. 16, 1912, and April 1, 1913, he agreed to operate a sawmill for Bonesack near Grand Lake provided he was furnished with as much timber as he could use in the manufacture of laths. He was to pay $1 a cord for laths, for long logs 50 cents for short laths. In his complaint, he alleges that the timber was not furnished according to the contract and that power to run the mill was not at his disposal as agreed.

Bonesack, defendant, denies the facts in the complaint and sets up a counter claim of $125 for boarding plaintiff's men, $144 for making repairs to a boiler which was broken by the plaintiff, $28 for hauling timber and $72 for cordwood sold to plaintiff. He asks the court for a judgment of $379.

DISPUTE IS PUT UP TO A JURY

Each Party to Sawmill Contract Has Claim for Damages.

A dispute over the operation of a sawmill near Grand Lake is being argued in district court today before Judge Dancer and a jury in a lawsuit brought by Dorford Castonguay against John Bonesack, in which the plaintiff is seeking to recover $2,088 for alleged breach of contract, and the defendant is asking for $379 on a cross bill.

Castonguay claims that during the period between Sept. 16, 1912, and April 1, 1913, he agreed to operate a sawmill for Bonesack near Grand Lake provided he was furnished with as much timber as he could use in the manufacture of laths. He was to pay $1 a cord for laths, for long logs 50 cents for short laths. In his complaint, he alleges that the timber was not furnished according to the contract and that power to run the mill was not at his disposal as agreed.

Bonesack, defendant, denies the facts in the complaint and sets up a counter claim of $125 for boarding plaintiff's men, $144 for making repairs to a boiler which was broken by the plaintiff, $28 for hauling timber and $72 for cordwood sold to plaintiff. He asks the court for a judgment of $379.

PUBLIC COMFORT STATION PLANNED

Government Will Erect a Building Near the Aerial Bridge.

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt stated this morning that the government is planning to erect and maintain a public comfort station adjacent to the aerial bridge.

The plans were gotten out some years ago by the city engineering department but the work was never done. The estimated cost of the improvement is $1,500 and that of maintenance is placed at $200 a year. Hundreds of people frequent the canal piers as well as use the aerial bridge during the summer months and the comfort station would fill a long-felt want. The property on which it is proposed to erect it is controlled by the city.

MOTOR BOAT RACES FOR THE FOURTH

Western Boat Club Is Now Planning Its First Regatta.

The Western Boat club will hold a meeting this evening at the West Duluth Commercial club for the purpose of making plans for races to be held on July 1st and 2nd. The club is expected to have direct charge of the races and the boats will be lined up for the affair as possible.

Plans will also be made to lay out the course, which will probably be very similar to the one used in former years, and a total distance of about six miles. The course will start from a point in the river in front of the blast furnace and run down to Devil's Elbow and around Zeeland island, west of the way of the regular river channel.

It is proposed to have races in three classes if possible. One class will be for boats of thirty-horse power or over. Class B for boats between twenty and thirty-horse power and class C for boats of ten-horse power and under.

WILL NOT RUN TO WEST DULUTH

Business Men Fear Soo Road Will Not Live Up to Franchise.

West Duluth business men believe that this end of the city is going to be forgotten as far as passenger service of the Soo line is concerned. They base this belief on the action of the railroad in securing a right-of-way for an overhead trestle for its passenger traffic and taking it to the bridge to the mouth of its tunnel under Michigan street.

They are of the opinion that this action will mean that no passenger trains will be run from the south over the West Duluth tracks and that the securing of a right-of-way to connect the Northern Pacific's bridge from its Superior station was not for the passenger service.

It is proposed to take the matter up at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. A committee will be appointed to inquire of the railroad officials just what action the railroad is taking in living up to the franchise acquired when it took over the Wisconsin Central railroad. The part of this franchise which is of vital interest to the West Duluth business men is the one which provides that the railroad shall build and maintain a freight and passenger station in West Duluth, west of Forty-eighth avenue.

On the result of this interview, say the business men, will depend the action of the club. It is proposed to ask the railroad to build a station at the end of the city and also live up to its other franchise terms. The president of the club, Fred Fisher, stated that this service was to have been established within two years of the granting of the instrument.

SESSION FOR WORKINGMEN

City Board of Review Will Hold One Evening Meeting.

The city board of review, which starts its sessions at the office of City Assessor Scott next Monday morning, will hold one night meeting. This is scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 25. It will afford those who cannot get off during the day an opportunity to appear before the city equalization board to lay before its members any complaint which they may have to offer. Many men would be obliged to lose a day's wages if compelled to attend a day session, while some could so ill afford the monetary loss that they would not come before the board at all. Friday morning, June 27, has been set aside for reviewing the valuations which have been placed on real estate during the year. No valuation of real estate is made in the odd numbered years, but the new buildings and additions which have been made since last year's assessment are added to the rolls. The assessor completed the personal property assessment some time ago, but there is still a great deal of work to be done on the books. The official totals of the various classes of property and the total valuation will not be ascertained for some time. Notices of the board of review meetings are being mailed today. The cards state the amount of the assessment and those who have any grievance are requested to appear before the board during the coming week. Two sets of cards, one of the personal property assessment and another of the motor vehicles and credits, are being sent out. Both will show large gains over last year in the aggregate amounts.

GRAIN BELT GETS RAINS

Northwestern Minnesota Is Getting Moisture Just at Right Time.

North Dakota Also Reports Much "Million Dollar Rain."

Crookston, Minn., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A soaking rain is falling throughout the Minnesota side of the Red River valley. The crops needed rain and there is great rejoicing over the general downpour. Reports were received this morning from Warren, Hallock, Argyle, Stephen and all points on the Great Northern St. Vincent line to the Canadian boundary, through Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties, south throughout Norman and Clay counties and west in Pennington, Lake, Mahanomen and Becker counties, and Kossau county is also getting rain. This is the first general good rain and means everything to the grain and stock raiser.

Helps North Dakota. Fargo, N. D., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A magnificent rain fell early today over practically every section of North Dakota. The extreme western edge of the state had copious showers and more or less precipitation is reported in all sections. In some localities there was a heavy downpour. In practically all parts of the state showers were accompanied by electric disturbances, some wind and hail, but little damage is reported. Locally showers were very heavy and were regarded as typical of "million dollar" rains that farmers have been praying for. Conditions of the state are now of most satisfactory nature. Western and central counties, where most rain was needed, seem to have gotten heavy precipitation.

Northern Section Benefited. Grand Forks, N. D., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many points in North Dakota had heavy rains this morning, there being a five-hour fall in the immediate vicinity of Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Rugby, Lakota and Larimore. Each had exceptionally heavy downpour most of the forenoon, while points not of Lakota, Park River, Cavalier, Grafton and others also had good rains. It brightens crop prospects materially.

OBJECTED TO FOREMAN.

Omaha Road Section Italians Strike and Get New Man.

Coudersport, Wis., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An extra gang of fifty Italians working on the Omaha road near here went on a strike on account of the refusal of the foreman to employ several of the laborers who were only 14 years old. The men refused to resume work until the company made a change of foremen, which they did.

MISSOURI ROADS MUST REFUND.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 17.—The fifteen miles of railroad of Missouri will have to refund the excess freight and passenger rates collected since the 3-cent passenger fare law and the maximum freight rate act of 1907, in instances where parties have proof of the overcharge, declared Governor Todd. W. H. H. informed the decision of the United States supreme court upholding these laws. It was Governor Major, then attorney general, who appealed the case to the supreme court.

CATCHES HUGE TROUT.

Soo Municipal Judge Lands Twenty-four in t. ays.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—So far as catching big fish is concerned, Judge Herbert Rundo of the municipal court stands an excellent chance of winning the season's championship in Upper Michigan. Using a hook and line in the rapids of St. Mary's river, he successfully weighed twenty-four pounds. The fish was thirty-eight inches long and weighed twenty-four pounds. It gave the judge a mighty battle lasting more than half an hour. The fish was much the largest reported taken with hook and line in Upper Michigan to date this season.

I. Everest, woods superintendent of the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company. The arrest is a sequel to the tragic death of Robert Milne, an employee of the corporation. for use at the ranch and he, himself, had, it is said, purchased a bottle of whisky at the same establishment.

Milne drank the acid in mistake for the whisky and died in agony within twenty minutes. A state law forbids poisons of any kind being sold in bottles not provided with serrated stoppers. It is charged that the acid purchased by Everest was not so equipped and, in fact, it is averred, the poison and the whisky were put up in identically the same kind of receptacles and with similar wrappers. NEW STATE ADVOCATED

Thomas H. Fairfax Speaks
Before Duluth Rotary Club.

Wants State of New Scandia or Scandiana on Lake Superior.

The organization of a New State league on the lines of the Irish Land league was advocated by Thomas H. Fairfax of Superior, at a meeting of the Duluth Rotary club last evening. Mr. Fairfax made an able argument for the organization of a new state to be known as New Scandiana or Scandiana and to consist of the northern portions of Minnesota and Wisconsin. He gave a history of the new state movement from 1852 down to the present, and declared that the serious situation given the movement in the past and at present robs it of the breakers. Mr. Fairfax declared that the northern parts of Wisconsin and Minnesota are held back by being tied to more settled communities having little common interest with them. He said that the organization of a new state would raise land values and bring a development that would more than offset the public funds that would have to be raised to build and maintain new public buildings. Mr. Fairfax would have the New State league become active in politics and have its representatives work continually for the legislation making possible a new state, even to the point of obstruction of other legislation. The Rotary club adjourned after Mr. Fairfax's suggestions to the civic committee with instructions to report at the next meeting. C. D. Folke of the Burroughs Adding Machine company and W. J. Pettling of the M. J. Stewart Printing company gave talks on business lines.

The Duluth delegates to the convention of the International Association of Rotary clubs at Buffalo, August 1-5, will be supplied with Duluth literature and will industriously boost the city during their stay at the convention. Efforts are still being made to have the Rotarians of the West make the trip to Buffalo via Duluth, going on a lake steamer from here.

DOCTORS GET DOWN TO WORK

Dr. Keller, several divisions, including the executive, a division of vital statistics, a division of health inspection, a division of child welfare and a division of public health and instruction.

Talks of City Health.
A plan for a city health officer who will devote his whole time to the work of Rochester, Minn. A practicing physician can be a health officer, he said, for very brief and regular intervals. While attending his private practice his failure to perform public health service may result in public damage and great public expense. The health of any community should not be entrusted to farmers, plumbers or carpenters, but to those who have a special training and are expert in disease, health and life. They should realize that health of smaller cities should have jurisdiction over that territory which furnishes the water, milk and food supplies. Rural health officers are needed.

Wants State Appointment.
The division of states into health districts, with officers appointed by the state board of health, is advisable, he declared. The public, he said, should report cases of contagious diseases to the proper authorities, as they now report burglaries and fires. They should realize that mumps, measles and whooping cough are serious diseases, and should assist in preventing their spread.

Walking in Shoe Test.
St. Paul, Minn., June 17.—Sergeant John Walsh, a retired army officer, who left the war department office in Washington on May 4 on a 4,000-mile jaunt which will take him to all the army posts of the country, reached here Monday after covering 1,500 miles of his journey in forty days. Sergeant duty. The proposal now is to strike out the provision for a countervailing duty and leave cattle, sheep and hogs and wheat on the free list unrestricted. Members of the committee said that this probably would be done by the majority. No reason for the change was announced.

Problem of Long Schedules.
For weeks the equalization of the agricultural raw products and finished products, which were differentiated in the Underwood bill, have been a problem for the Democratic senators, in which President Wilson has taken an active interest.

The house put meats and flour on the free list, leaving livestock and the grains dutiable at 10 per cent and vegetables and 10 cents a bushel respectively. The senate committee, soon after receiving the schedule, agreed to equalize the rates, and eventually voted to make the raw materials and the finished products all dutiable.

No sooner had this conclusion been reached than Senator Simmons, another Democratic member of the finance committee declared that the problem would not be settled right off. If left that way, they were of the opinion that all products should go to the free list, and President Wilson agreed with them. The committee communicated this information to the sub-committee and it reconsidered its position. It decided to place on the free list the schedule, and eventually voted to make the raw materials and the finished products all dutiable.

Later it was announced that the committee would adopt a countervailing duty class, which would make the duties on the only countries which did not make them dutiable from this country. This would be a class with free entry for livestock from such countries as Canada and Argentina.

Enlarge Free List.
The committee has further enlarged the free list by voting to take flax, hemp and ramie from the dutiable list. The Underwood bill rates on flax from 1 to 1 1/2 cents per pound, and on hemp and ramie from 1/2 to 1 cent per pound. It was argued that these products should be classed with other products of the farm, that by free listing them, the cost of living might be beneficially affected.

No change was made in the liquor schedule, but it was left open for the committee to hear Pomerehne having asked to be heard on the matter.

my subjects. But one may search the reports of the press for decades, but he will never read of an audience granted in the imperial castle to any leading representative of the German folk. The people justifiably feel this to be slight.

"Day of Allied Sovereignty."
The "day of the people" yesterday in the celebration was succeeded today by that of the allied sovereigns of the federated states of the empire. These rulers—including the mayors of the three city republics, Hamburg, Bremen and Lübeck—presented their congratulations to their colleague and leader at the castle.

Most of the royalties gathered at noon in the Pillar hall of the castle and tonight will be present at a state banquet presided over by the emperor. The Pillar hall was chosen to enable the empress, though indisposed, to participate with the emperor in the reception of the German rulers. The prince regent of Bavaria acted as spokesman at the noon meeting. He said that the emperor, as director of the foreign policy of the German empire, had shown himself to be an upholder of the empire's might. The prince regent spoke of the economic progress made during the twenty-five years' reign of the emperor, and praised his majesty as "the patron of every moral, noble and beautiful impulse in the empire."

The emperor was then presented with a table centerpiece in the shape of a ship in massive silver, as an emblem of unity of the German rulers.

A. Y. More, owner of the Fargo, N. D., Courier-News, and A. M. Baker, general manager of that paper, gave their testimony about an editorial recently printed in the News, which Senator Gromna thought was a reflection upon him, and which led to their being subpoenaed.

Both men made the long trip to Washington in answer to the subpoena, and then declared under oath that they knew nothing of the editorial.

until they saw it in print. It was written, they said, by James A. Metcalfe of Glendive, Mont., temporarily employed while Baker was away from Fargo.

More and Baker said that they had no reason to doubt Senator Gromna's political and private integrity and honesty, and More said that a retraction might be printed. Metcalfe had written the editorial, they thought, merely in a slipshod way.

Harry A. Austin, employed by Truman G. Palmer, the Washington representative of the United States beef industry, was questioned and the committee spent nearly two hours in an attempt to find out just what happened to "Sugar at a Glance" after the senate ordered much of the material in it for its actual appearance in pamphlet form. They endeavored to find out what he knew about an alleged order of the senate regarding the printing of the pamphlet which does not appear in the senate records, but is printed on the title page of "Sugar at a Glance."

The best information Austin could give was that this alleged order, which has aroused the indignation of the committee, must have appeared in proofs received at Palmer's office from a government printing office. Officials of that office have already explained to the committee that they knew nothing about this order, but they have not been put upon the stand. They probably will be heard later.

leaves Nome, Alaska, on July 26, will be composed of the old barkentine-rigged wooden whaler Karluk, 247 tons, and the gasoline screw tug Algonquin, thirty tons, which is already in the North and will meet the Karluk at Nome. Both vessels will proceed north through Bering strait into the Arctic ocean during the brief period of open water, and head east to Beaufort sea. It is reported that a contingent of Eskimo hunters will accompany the Karluk, and that the Karluk will return to Bering strait for the winter.

The ice in Beaufort sea may lay hold of the Karluk and carry it toward Greenland, or it may crush the ship into bits. The explorers are prepared for either event. If the Karluk is able to make its way north through the supposed location of the continent, no land is found it will, if possible, make its way east to Prince Patrick island, and will winter there with the purpose of making winter sledging journeys north and east.

With Stefansson on the Karluk.
In the northern party, will be Capt. Robert Bartlett, Peary's old sailing master, and a picked crew of Britishers. James Murray, oceanographer; W. I. McKinley, meteorologist; W. I. Glasgow, geologist, and a specialist in stadiography.

Most of the scientists will join the Stefansson party on the Karluk, and will be accompanied by a Canadian geologist, a specialist in stadiography, and a specialist in stadiography.

A thorough scientific exploration will be made of Victoriana, which is supposed to contain great copper deposits. Visits will also be paid to the Eskimos on the mainland, and to the Eskimos on the continental Eskimo that Victoriana, about which little is known, is inhabited by Eskimo tribes.

Have Been There Before.
Stefansson and Anderson are thoroughly familiar with the country between Point Barrow, Alaska, and a point far to the east of the Mackenzie river, that having been the scene of their earlier explorations. In their former journeys they were separated most of the time, and each man lived alone, except as they fell in with bands of Eskimos. Stefansson says there is no fear of starvation, for there is plenty of fish and game in the North.

Except for some dainties, which the ship will carry, the party will subsist as the Eskimos do, on flesh of wild animals, with a few berries in the summer.

Both Stefansson and Anderson speak the Eskimo tongue. They know all the Eskimo names of a long stretch of coast, and will obtain dogs from them.

Montana Sued for $25,000.
Butte, Mont., June 17.—P. B. Moss, former wealthy banker of Billings, Mont., and one of the men credited with the growth of that city, is defendant in suits brought here on promissory notes aggregating approximately $25,000.

Four actions in all have been started. The largest is the suit in which the Interstate Consolidated Telephone company is the plaintiff.

EXHIBIT OF GUERNSEYS

Great Display Is Planned for Duluth Agricultural Exposition.

Neighboring Counties in Minnesota and Wisconsin to Participate.

A Guernsey exhibit that will surpass anything of the kind ever seen in Minnesota is being planned for the agricultural exposition to be held in connection with the industrial exposition at the Duluth Curling club next fall. The agricultural committee of the Commercial club, in session yesterday, talked over the plans for the agricultural show. An effort will be made to have the Guernsey breeders of North-eastern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin enter their best animals for the show, and if all comply with the request the plans for an unusual exhibit will be carried out.

The country around Duluth is becoming the greatest Guernsey center in the United States. Almost every big farm in the vicinity of the city has a herd of Guernseys and they are among the best of the breed in the United States. Many are direct importations from the Isle of Guernsey, and others are prize winners from herds in this country.

The agricultural committee will invite farmers, club members and others in the neighboring counties, including the northern counties of Wisconsin, to make displays in the agricultural exposition. It will come later than the Minnesota and Wisconsin state fairs and will be a more favorable time for good exhibits of products of the North country. In a measure, the Duluth exposition will take the place of the Northern Minnesota fair, which has been talked of recently.

SPLIT FEES NOT COMMON HERE

Custom Is Severely Condemned By American Medical Association Members.

According to several Duluth doctors, there is very little fee splitting in this city.

At the meeting of the American Medical association in Minneapolis this practice has been severely condemned and threats of expulsion from the association have been made against any doctors detected in this practice.

A Duluth doctor stated today that often it requires the service of more than one physician for a case and that often a doctor will call in a surgeon when he believes that the case requires an operation, but this same medical man was of the firm opinion that here there are few, if any, cases where one doctor sends a patient to a surgeon on the understanding that the fee is split, thus making the surgeon liable to charge a very heavy fee.

Fourteen Licenses to Wed Are Issued in One Day.

Yesterday was a big day for the little blind god.

June—the month of buds, brides and blossoms—is usually a banner one with Dan Cupid and will be this year if Daniel keeps up his present batting average.

Not less than fourteen grooms who were ready to swear eternal allegiance to many blushing brides stepped up to the marriage license counter yesterday and secured permits to wed.

Today's change in weather seemed to put a damper on the matrimonial market and up to noon the clerk of court's records showed but two licenses taken out.

From present indications, however, Dan Cupid will establish a record for the month.

DULUTH EDITION OF HARPER'S WEEKLY

Zenith City Given Unusual Prominence in Current Magazine.

The issue of Harper's Weekly for June 14 is a Duluth number. Duluth and Duluth activities are the subjects of several articles, all well illustrated with views of Duluth.

The front cover of the magazine shows a picture of the Thomson dam of the Great Northern Power company. The main article on Duluth is entitled "Duluth's Successful Story—A Mining Town That Made Itself an Agricultural Object Lesson." It was written by Herbert Stockton, who spent some time in Duluth obtaining the material.

"The Queen of the Inland Waterway" is the title of an article by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the traffic commission of the Commercial club, and Charles F. Macdonald, secretary of the Duluth board of trade, contributed an article on "The Work of the Grain Exchange." "The New Lake Superior Cleveland" is an article by Frank N. Harding. There is also an article on the activities of the Duluth board of trade.

The edition is good advertising for Duluth and the Commercial club expects another flood of inquiries such as follows each magazine article on the progress of Duluth.

BUSHEL OF SPUDS WITH EACH PURCHASE.

Kansas City, Mo., June 17.—Potatoes of last year's crop sold as low as 10 cents a bushel in carload lots here yesterday. With several large shipments to adjoining smaller cities, the biggest potato "glut" ever known here was relieved slightly.

It is estimated that eighty cars of old potatoes were offered at from 10 to 20 cents in every yard. The yards were turned into auction pits. Several growers bought carloads and began offering their customers a bushel of potatoes as a premium with every grocery order of a certain size.

The "glut" was caused by growers holding their supply too long until the influx of new potatoes came. The old potatoes were sold at less than freight charges to bring them here from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Idaho and Montana in an endeavor by the railroads to recoup their losses.

IRON MILL MEN AGREE ON WAGES.

Youngstown, Ohio, June 17.—After a conference lasting nearly a week at West Baden, Ind., the wage committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and representatives of the Western Bar Iron association reached an agreement on the wage scale for the year which begins on July 1.

The result was in the nature of a compromise, the present scale to govern up to a 1.30 card which calls for $6.15 per ton for puddling. After that figure is reached, increased advances will be allowed mill workers on a point advance in the setting price of bar iron. The present advance per point is at the rate of 15 cents. This amount is considerably increased. Nearly 15,000 mill workers are interested in the outcome of the settlement.

Must Prove Oil Is Poor.
Blomark, N. D., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ability of the owner of an automobile to recover damages occasioned to his car by the use of poor gasoline depends wholly upon the question of whether he can prove that damages were directly due to the poor oil allowances being made for the natural wear on an engine. That decision is made by the supreme court in the case of S. F. Knight vs. the Marshall Oil company.

PRETTY LAME STATE FINANCING.

The state of Minnesota, which is building new plants at the penitentiary, is trying to borrow two hundred thousand dollars at four and a half per cent and sixty-five thousand dollars at five per cent, on certificates of indebtedness.

When it offered these securities yesterday there were no bids. Nobody appeared to want them.

It is not that the state's credit is bad. It is exceptionally good. The trouble is that bonds are hard to sell now.

The state itself is one of the largest investors in public securities. Its permanent funds, now amounting to nearly twenty millions, are all invested in such securities. Most of this money is drawing lower interest than the state is now seeking to pay. More than five millions of it is invested in the bonds of other states at less than four per cent. More than half of it is drawing but three per cent.

Why not invest this money in the state's own securities at higher rates of interest? Because the money is all loaned out. The other day the state treasury ran low and it was necessary to borrow from the banks at good stiff rates of interest. It wasn't possible, then, to borrow from the state's own funds because they are tied up in the bonds of Virginia and Massachusetts and Alabama at three and three and one-half per cent.

If you, gentle reader, had a manager for your business and found him lending money at three per cent and borrowing at five, what would you do to him? How long could you stand it?

The state can stand it a long time, because its resources through taxation are practically inexhaustible. That's why it can do things that would bankrupt any ordinary business.

But that's no reason why it should. It seems to us that the state is engaged in a mighty foolish system of finance.

The Stillwater Gazette says that city "was visited" the other afternoon "by an unexpected thunder storm." Now who would ever think the weather would do any such underhanded trick as that?

FREEING THE PHILIPPINES.

We have received a pamphlet containing a piece written by Frank L. Strong, president of a manufacturing company in Manila, protesting against the passage of the Jones bill, which would set the Philippines free in 1921.

Mr. Strong's piece is frankly an argument for permanent occupation. He does not believe we should ever part with the islands.

In so far as his arguments reach that objective, they are wasted. No commercial advantage, however great, can justify that policy. This nation is bound by its word of honor, to the Philippines and the world, to give freedom to the Philippine islands as soon as in its honest judgment it believes it safe to do so.

The only question which it is honorable to discuss, then, is whether the Philippines can now be trusted with self-government, and, if they are not, how soon they can be.

Some of Mr. Strong's arguments may lend force to the belief that the time is not yet ripe, and that it may not be ripe so soon as July 4, 1921. To that end, and to that end alone, his article has value.

From it we gather that the Philippines are taking a considerable part in the government now, though it is dominated by American officials. Qualified native voters elect their own provincial and municipal officers and members of the assembly or lower house of the congress. The upper house is the commission, appointed from Washington, with five Americans and four Filipinos. The last census shows a population of 7,635,246, of which only 647,740 are wild and uncivilized tribes. Of the civilized inhabitants only 20 per cent can read or write. There is no common language except English, and there are about fifty languages and dialects. People in one province often are unable to understand those in an adjoining one. The mass of the people are densely ignorant, superstitious and easily imposed upon. They are docile and to a great extent industrious, and gladly embrace the opportunities given by Americans for the education of their children.

They fully realize the betterment of their condition under American rule, and are most friendly to us." These are very hopeful signs as to the ultimate capacity of the Filipinos to govern themselves.

The schools are very successful. The leaven of education is working rapidly. There are about a thousand American teachers, scattered through the islands, and they have instructed many thousands of native teachers. There are half a million pupils in the public schools.

Mr. Strong is very certain that the Filipinos are not yet ready to be left alone. He thinks they never will be. He uses many statistics and descriptions of the richness of the islands to prove that we ought to keep them and make money out of them. That argument blinks the fact that we are pledged to give them up, no matter how rich they are and how profitable it would be to keep them.

Mr. Strong fears that if we abandon the islands Japan will gobble them and oppress the natives. We should never permit that, of course. We would not give them up without binding Japan and other nations, by treaty, to leave them alone. And we should not cut loose until the Filipinos have learned the lesson of free government so thoroughly that they can walk alone.

Maybe 1921 is too soon. Argument on that question would be more to the point than argument for permanent occupation. From a moral viewpoint we are barred from permanent occupation. From a political and economic viewpoint it is folly to retain territory in the Far East, exposing the nation to the necessity of an expensive armament and to the perpetual peril of entanglement with the awakened Eastern nations.

The enormous size of his personal estate didn't help John Jacob Astor a single bit when he needed help the most. Maybe there isn't so much in this being rich business after all.

PUNISHING THE RAILROADS.

A letter from a friend of The Herald's in another town contains this: "Your suggestion that, in the use of the power confirmed in the states by the rate decision, the state should be reasonable and just and not merely vindictive, is honest, and all right, I suppose."

"But don't the railroads deserve some retaliation for their brazen effrontery in putting up their rates July 1, 1911, without waiting for the final decision?"

Very likely. We all felt that way at the time, to be sure.

But unquestionably the railroads of Minnesota have already had fairly adequate punishment.

The increase in their gross earnings tax rate from four per cent to five, which was proposed by the legislature at an extra session a year ago and ratified by the people last November, probably would not have come about had the sentiment for it not been fostered by public indignation over the arbitrary restoration of the old freight and passenger rates.

The increase in taxation was just, and it will not be withdrawn. Under it the railroads are now paying the state a million dollars a year more than they otherwise would. They will continue paying the increase for an indefinite period. They may, beyond question, charge that additional expense up to their indecent haste in restoring the old rates without waiting for the final court decision.

But so far as punishment is concerned, probably that's enough. The state has power to fix intrastate rates, and it should fix them always on a business basis—on a basis of fairness both to the shipper and the railroad.

It's almost time for the writers of those stories about the grasshoppers to begin to tell about the pests eating the telephone wires.

MUCH ABOUT A LITTLE.

Ever since Attorney General McReynolds proposed to abate the tobacco trust by a graduated tax designed to put large concerns out of business, his hapless little suggestion has been the butt of ridicule and indignation. Nearly every newspaper has taken occasion to tear a section out of his hide, so there can't be much left of it.

The New York World, in double-leaded fury, denounces it as a scheme to license corporation joy-riding. It recalls that President Wilson, in his peculiarly felicitous way, said that the trouble in the country seemed to be "that some men are taking joy rides in their corporations," and that he suggested that the wise thing to do was to stop firing the automobiles and begin punishing the joy riders.

"But now," exclaims the World, "comes President Wilson's attorney general with a scheme to license joy-riding. That is what his tobacco trust proposals as embodied in the Hitchcock bill amount to. The joy rider is not to be punished, but on the payment of certain sums of money he is to be privileged to go as fast as he pleases. The more he pays the faster he may go, and if he happens to be so rich that money is no consideration there need be no limit to his speed." This is killing a gnat with a trip hammer.

The McReynolds plan has been taken too seriously. It is rather absurd, of course, and will fall to pieces of its own weight. If we mistake not, that already has happened. Newspapers seeking to serve the public good will be wise to divert their energies to attacking things that are really dangerous. The McReynolds plan, mischievous as it might be if applied, is not dangerous at all because it has commanded respect nowhere.

Mary Garden is said to have lost her voice. But there is nothing on record to show that Mary's voice was her particularly strong suit anyway.

EVERY TRUNK COMES UNDER MOVING LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to know if Mr. Hickson's new moving ordinance applies to the individual goods of a single man or woman, or to the household goods of married people only. As there is a sentence connected with the violation of the law, I think it terms should be made plain.

Duluth, June 16.

The new moving ordinance applies to every transfer of household or individual effects. The burden of reporting transfers rests on the driver of the wagon, who must make a return to the police station on every trunk or load of household goods moved from one place to another in the city. The Editor.

KILL THE CROWS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Tourists are remarking on the scarcity of birds in Duluth, especially the robins. In the parks in other large cities the birds are a great feature and are well protected. Our park commissioners have started in the right direction by going after the small boys and now Mr. Cleveland is after the crows.

So destructive have they been this year that crows around Condon park hundreds of eggs and young birds have been eaten from the robins' nests, the robins driven away, the nests left desolate and the crows are content to sit where once the robins' song was heard on all sides. Destroy the crows! Kill the crows! Kill the crows! Kill the crows! BIRD LOVER.

DELAYING CARS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly permit me a little space in your valuable paper to express my opinion on what is a very serious matter to the part of some people, what may be called actions of safety by others. In general, it is a matter of common sense. I have reference to the method which some people use and the time they consume in getting off street cars.

It is not an unusual custom for people, many of whom are healthy youngsters, to press the button that will stop the car as it comes to a dead standstill before making any attempt to get out of their seats. This is a very foolish thing to do. It is a waste of time and it is a waste of the car's length of the car while the other passengers are waiting. It is a waste of the car's length of the car while the other passengers are waiting.

The National Honor

By Sanford.

Washington, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a heap of families where there are several children we find fond parents who make a favorite of one of their offspring. When a cake is to be cut and distributed this chap raises the devil if he don't get the biggest slice. It is the same with a melon. At table he must be helped first and his plate heaped with the choicest morsels. He gets the lion's share, the sunny side of the peach, and so on and so on. That fellow becomes a general favorite, a thoroughly worthless member of society, a parasite, and he is fortunate if he escapes the poorhouse when the time comes for him to root pig or die.

That is all a protective tariff is. One fellow is given favors that his fellow citizens are denied. He gets the lion's share, the sunny side of the peach, and so on and so on. That is all a protective tariff is. One fellow is given favors that his fellow citizens are denied. He gets the lion's share, the sunny side of the peach, and so on and so on. That fellow becomes a general favorite, a thoroughly worthless member of society, a parasite, and he is fortunate if he escapes the poorhouse when the time comes for him to root pig or die.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Underwood walked into his office the other day, talking with collected calm, a small legislative job at hand, and remarked, "It's going to be a devil of a hard thing to do."

The moment he said it everybody about the office dropped his or her work and gazed. For it was the heard-of approach of a tariff bill, anybody ever heard coming from Oscar Underwood. He is so calm and unruffled all the day long that swear words are entirely needless luxuries. You can cross-examine men who have been closely associated with the Democratic leader for years and years, and not one of them can recall hearing him use language that would not be perfectly proper in a well-regulated finishing school—excepting only the astonishing lapse cited above. Underwood hasn't even a by-word with which to let off steam. Never so much as a "cheer" escapes his lips.

When the tariff bill passed the house a few weeks ago one would have thought that Oscar, after the many months he has been occupied on the measure, would have let out a few exclamations of joy that the thing was disposed of for a while. He hasn't. He is back in Arizona. He has an idea that he will be able to get a few more members of the ways and means committee thought it would be no more than right to take a vacation of a couple of weeks before entering on that job of making out committee. Some favored a respite of even longer than that. They put the proposition up to Chairman Underwood. He followed by a right hand, but no other member, those who wanted a good little vacation thought he would be able to get a few more members of the ways and means committee thought it would be no more than right to take a vacation of a couple of weeks before entering on that job of making out committee. CERTIFICATES NOT IN DEMAND

State May Be Hard Put to Complete Harvester Machinery Plant.

St. Paul, Minn., June 17.—For the first time in the history of the state no bids for its securities were received when the board of control met yesterday to consider tenders for $200,000 worth of 4 1/2 per cent prison certificates and $45,000 of 5 per cent building certificates. As a result the board may follow the example of the Northwestern Trust company by selling the certificates in small denominations over the counter.

The board is facing a serious problem. With work under way on the harvester machinery factory at Stillwater prison, money must be had at once. The only way to obtain the money from the permanent fund is by selling the certificates. This cannot be done until the fund is exhausted. The state investment board would have to pass on the matter, but the board of control met yesterday to consider tenders for $200,000 worth of 4 1/2 per cent prison certificates and $45,000 of 5 per cent building certificates. ECZEMA BROKE OUT IN PIMPLES

On Face, Arms and Parts of Body. Itching and Burning Intense. Scratching Disfigured Face. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

326 30th Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.—"I was cured of eczema by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. My face and arms and other parts of my body were affected. The way it broke out was in pimples, then it became a rash. The itching and burning were so intense that they made me scratch and disfigure my face. My clothing was very irritating. It kept me from getting my sleep."

"I used several remedies which were of no success. I suffered a year or more with eczema, then I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It was several times I used them and then they relieved that itching. I continued my treatment and now I have no trouble whatever. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me completely." (Signed) Miss Alice Martens, Aug. 3, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently wash the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on itching and redness. WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Marquette.—The Ahnapee & Western railroad has an apparently unfillable hole in a cranberry marsh near Sturgeon Bay. For years the road has been dumping trainloads of gravel and all the old ties and timbers of the road in the bog in an effort to get a solid foundation, but to no avail.

Frairie du Chien.—Albert Butler, wife and baby, and Patrick Calahan and wife, all of Waukon Junction, nearly lost their lives Saturday afternoon when their gasoline launch overturned in a heavy wind storm near the pontoon bridge over the Mississippi river at Prairie du Chien. Had it not been for the heroic work of Godfrey Cardine, bridge tender, who, at the risk of his own life, came to their aid in a light skiff, the entire party would have probably drowned.

Fond du Lac.—A 24-year-old salesman was drowned, and Arthur Marcoe, 20 years old, narrowly escaped a similar fate while swimming in Lake Winnebago, a mile from Foxchead on Saturday. The men had dived out of a row boat. Albert was seized with cramps. Arthur tried to rescue him, and was rescued by E. J. Breitman just as he was going down.

Marquette.—What is known as the inner harbor of the ports of Marquette and Menominee is being deepened by the government at an expense of $25,000. Several years ago the government abandoned the Menominee river channel above the drawbridge at the mouth of the river. A 200-foot channel to Marquette municipal dock and a 60-foot turning basin will be dredged.

Hudson.—On the porch of the St. Croix, Ted Schultz of Lakeland found a pearl in the chest of a bushel of claims he had ever dug. Within two days he had sold the gem to the highest bidder for $12,000.

Eau Claire.—Axel Johnson, formerly an employee of The Daily Telegram and one of the local typographical union, is rapidly gaining in strength at the Union Printers' home at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he has been for six or eight weeks for treatment for tuberculosis.

Crystal Falls.—Rev. Victor Kolivmaki of Ely, Minn., was here last week the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hurla. Rev. Kolivmaki was on his way to the Finnish synodical school at Bessemer. A contract for building the first section of four miles of the trunk road east of Watersmeet was awarded to A. D. McRae, of Palatka, Iron county, by the road commissioners for $12,320.

St. Paul, Minn., June 17.—Application of a local produce company for a permanent injunction against the enforcement of the legislature prohibiting the shipment of cream more than sixty miles unless it is pasteurized or shipped in refrigerated cars, was denied yesterday in the Federal district court. Building of Fargo Army Assures Keeping of Company.

Fargo, N. D., June 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fear that the local militia company will be mustered out by the state National Guard officials is not strong now that an armory is insured. At the last state encampment the attendance was so good that the general armory made all kinds of the company's equipment. The state encampment this year began at Devils Lake June 8 and ends July 2. The local company is arranging for the encampment and a despatch effort will be made to have a sufficient number of men for a creditable showing.

WITH the hectic heat of fair June, the month when young poets perspire and inspire and jeweler is asked to give the financially hard pressed young housewife credit to pass along the wedding present, comes the settling down of the teams engaged in the great races in the major league. She is a desperate drive, this chase for the gonfalon and the honor and glory, not to mention the oodles of kale that come of playing in the world's series. Game lost in April and May somehow is not taken so seriously as one dropped in June or July, strange as this may seem. But now every team with the pennant prospect burning at full flame is in the midst of the stern work of the thing, battling desperately from day to day.

One evidence of the keenness of the various managers to gain the least advantage, is the news of the large offer that has been made to the St. Louis Cardinals for the sale of Konetchy to the New York Nationals.

All along the New York critics, the most provincial in the world, by the way, have been claiming that Merkle is a grand baseball player. This ardent desire upon the part of the man riding through this world under the nom de guerre of the little Napoleon of baseball, does not make it look as if Merkle ranked precisely in the class of McInnis and Jake Dahlert, this too despite the ardent admiration of friend Garry for the Giant.

There is Fred Clarke, too. Reams of green stuff he would give for Barney Dreyfuss give, for the first sacker of the Cardinals—but, Bill, blimey 'im, 'e cawn't be 'ad, 'e cawn't. Chubby Charles Murphy would give real money and lots of it, and you must understand constant wonder that when this man Murphy is willing to let loose the cause is indeed a great one, for Nap Rucker or Hub Perdue, or in fact any first class twirler that would strengthen the staff that some days looks not unlike a lemon crop that has been suffering extensively from lack of nourishment and an attack of frost.

From this time on the race in both of the majors promises to be one run with desperate endeavor. It looks as if the Phillies were going to give them a real race of it. So far the big three of the older league—New York, Chicago and Pittsburg are grimly fighting to haul down the lead of Doolin's demons, and to date the efforts of these teams have not been olive crowned with the thing called success.

McGraw wants one of the greatest first basemen in the world, so that his team will stand the better chance of winning out in the driving months ahead. Murphy would like to get perhaps the greatest southpaw in the world, likewise, that the Cubs, but still facing the lances of the foe with that grim love of battle that in the old days made this team one of the greatest in the long roll of baseball years, may rally and gather themselves for the drive that settles and forces the pace.

And there are others. It is a big battle and a grand one, and it is no small wonder that the eyes of most of this part of the world that we live in are concentrated on the spectacle of six or eight baseball teams fighting for the lead in the two big leagues of the country.

A DOWN state writer in discussing ball players and the knock, comes to the front and states that the performers of the dear old pastime should get theirs when it is due. There is no use in arguing or disputing with this fellow, as he is an expert in the knowledge of the science of knock. But we will dispute about his implied inference of personal friendship. When several baseball players try by taint to gain reasonable excuse to knock the very end was a thorough and firm believer in the application of the knock when it wasn't always necessary, at least according to the belief those who were the raw recipients of the knocks.

JOEY JACKSON of the Cleveland gang is kicking because the pitchers of the American league follow the law of least resistance and pass the Carolina clout when there happens to be anyone between first and third base. There are some weak and timid hitters teetotally tickled to death with being thus accidentally passed along to first. But not so this bold batsman from south of the Mason and Dixon thing; Lawdy massy, for Joey considers rather frivolous anything less than a two base clout and is mildly tickled only when he merrily triples. A staunch young player, even if upon one historical occasion he grew homesick and was smitten with fear lest the tall buildings fall upon him.

DULUTH is new to this amateur running game. Therefore the aftermath of the sanctioned meet of Sunday is interesting, if not altogether instructive.

People are asking how an amateur can run where money is charged. That isn't the rub, though. Amateurs since the days of the early intercollegiate meets of this young and tender plant of a country have competed where the gaping populace was taxed to get by the ticket taker.

That's not the precise point that is worrying some of those who per chance attended the meet where Koehmainen ran. They ask—"Did Koehmainen get any of the money?" No, he didn't. He is just as 99 per cent pure as the other amateurs of the East. He got a nice trip out in this country, rode on the Pullmans, slept well, let us hope, and when the meet was over was never even shown a financial statement.

Koehmainen works down East somewhere and runs under the colors of one of the big athletic clubs of that effete and particular part of our great country. He is living well, though some of us believe there can be but small joy in life when doesn't eat steaks occasionally, and maybe draws down 100 bones per month from the place of business where he reports.

There is nothing to this, so don't get it wrong—Hannes Koehmainen never received a cent for running, and he is the zippiest little runner that this mundane sphere ever produced, dating from Lot, who never looked over his shoulder, and all of the rest of them.

DOOKS DROP THIRD GAME

Rhodes Is Wild and Minneapolis Wins By Score of 5 to 1.

Smith Gets Three of the Four Hits Garnered By the Dooks.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 17.—The old weakness of Peggy Rhodes, wildness, figured in the defeat of the White Sox yesterday, the Bronchos winning the third game of the present series by the count of 5 to 1.

Handschu was in rare form and allowed the visitors but four hits. Rhodes started chucking the sphere wildly in the opening inning and with the bases full loaded, McKibben and Unglaub came through with timely singles and four runs were piled up in the opening inning. After this the visiting twirler settled down and the game was well contested. Minneapolis gathered but one more run, that in the second inning, but as the Dooks could do nothing with the breakers of Handschu, two runs proved quite enough for the Unglaub workers.

This season was the one bright particular star for the Duluth team. Elmer Smith, the visitor got three right field hits, that in the second inning, a double and a triple being among the collection.

The game was fast and snappy and took less time than any game played here this season.

Johnson and Morse both pitched good baseball, the two home runs of Jarnigan being the deciding factors in the defeat of the locals.

DULUTH'S PENNANT WILL BE RAISED ON JUNE 28

Virginia Will Be Opposing Team and "Rube" Waddell Will Pitch.

Race in Northern League Is Growing More Close and Exciting.

At a meeting of several of the baseball directors of the Duluth Baseball association, held yesterday, pennant day was fixed for June 28.

Flag raising day will be one of the White Sox on the day the gonfalon is unfurled from the big staff out in center field, and it is planned to have Rube Waddell pitch. This will mark the first appearance of the famous Waddell, and possibly also the last.

Flag raising day will be one of the big events of the entire baseball season. As the day set aside for the lifting of the gonfalon is the day of the national comes upon Saturday, when the city is closed for the afternoon, it is believed that all of the regulars of the city will not be compelled to miss the imposing ceremonies that have been planned.

It is planned to have every amateur baseball team in the city at the park that day to assist in the flag raising. Mayor Prince and the other commissioners will also be asked to lend their presence to the event. Dr. J. A. Moen, former president of the Duluth Baseball association, will be given the honor of hoisting the flag that was won by the Duluth Dooks while the general doctor was at the head of the club. All of the teams of the grade school league will be asked to participate in the big demonstration. The day will be made one of the most important baseball occasions in the history of the city and one that will linger long in the memory of the kids.

Superior Still Leading.
According to the official figures sent out from the office of President John Burmeister, Winona is not in the lead of the pennant race of the Northern. Superior is still doing the desperate clinging act, holding onto the lead with the tenacity exhibited by the handsome hero in the July best seller. Believe us, believe us, the fans of the Northern circuit are getting some race. The first four teams of the league are now traveling so close that a blanket would cover them. The great rush of Winona has been the feature of the race for the past ten days, and if the Pirates continue the great playing streak they will be out in the lead before Davis and his cohorts leave for the road.

Duluth is playing its final game of the Minneapolis series this afternoon. Tomorrow night a three games engagement with the Davis Corsairs and there is going to be some tough going. If the Dooks, carrying the lead of the race, win the last of the three games, this evening the record of the Red Sox, the fans hereabouts should be abundantly satisfied.

After we get through with the City Beautiful game, for they act through with us, there will come the two final games of the invasion, the last stand of the tour being made at St. Paul. And speaking of the Saints it might be mentioned that the Apostles are playing some baseball at the present time.

Charleston, W. The coal operators, who are presenting their side of the case, had on hand a score or more of witnesses whose testimony was brief and whom they wished to examine in quick succession. The attitude of Senator Martine of New Jersey, who yesterday clashed with Quinn Morton, one of the operators on Point creek, and the attorneys for the mine men, became a matter of concern today.

FRIEDMANN "CURE" HASTENS DISEASE

German Doctors Report on Post Mortem on His Patients.

Berlin, June 18.—The last meeting of the Berlin Medical society showed that the drift of opinion of Berlin physicians was strongly against Dr. Friedmann, the Berlin physician who claims he has discovered a cure for tuberculosis. Prof. Max Westenhoefer of the University of Berlin reported that a post-mortem examination of one of Dr. Friedmann's patients who had been young and strong showed a marked acceleration of the tuberculosis process after treatment. Although Dr. Friedmann had assured a cure, tuberculosis showed plainly at the point of injection. Other physicians advanced similar testimony.

MAYO CLAIMS CANCER CURE

Rochester Surgeon Says Disease of Stomach Is Not Hopeless.

Makes Address at Meeting of Doctors in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—That cancer of the stomach is a curable disease, was the declaration of Dr. William D. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., today before the American Medical association. "A favorable diagnosis can be established by simple methods," he asserted. "A history of gastric disturbance precedes cancer of the stomach, and if not the majority of cases. Operations for cancer of the stomach should begin as an exploration. Moderate incision of the pancreas does not necessarily preclude operation. Palliative operations have a field of usefulness."

TRAMP SHOTS WOMAN AND KILLS HIMSELF

Is Pursued By Posse of Farmers Near Fowler, Ill.

Quincy, Ill., June 18.—Mrs. Hanna Erke received a wound through the shoulder which penetrated the right lung, when an unknown man fired a bullet through the door at her home near Fowler, eleven miles from Quincy, yesterday afternoon. A posse was formed and the would-be assassin was found in a wheat field two and a half miles northwest of Fowler. Rather than be taken by fifty enraged farmers, armed with shotguns, rifles and revolvers, the tramp either shot himself through the head or was killed by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Frank May.

Charlottesville, Va., June 18.—A plea for conservation in politics, a "stop, look, listen" policy to guard against hasty adoption of ill-considered proposals, was the keynote of an address on "The Tendency of Our Times," delivered at the University of Virginia by Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama. Democratic leader of the house of representatives. It was a notable occasion at Charlottesville, with many of those who have gone forth from the university in the past reassembled to pay tribute to their alma mater. Mr. Underwood is president of the alumni and his son was among the graduates.

PLANNING TWO CLUB HOUSES

Western Boat Club Wants One on Bay and One on River.

Plans for the construction of two clubhouses, one to be located in the bayou at Sixty-first avenue west and the other on the Wisconsin shore near the mouth of the Red River, and discussion of proposed celebration of the Fourth of July were the features of the meeting of the Western Boat club held at the West Duluth Commercial club, last evening.

The plans of the boat club made for Sixty-third avenue will be abandoned and a site selected in the bayou, the latter being considered preferable because of the smooth waters. New plans for the clubhouse will be drawn and a site selected. The club has options of two or three different locations on this little bay.

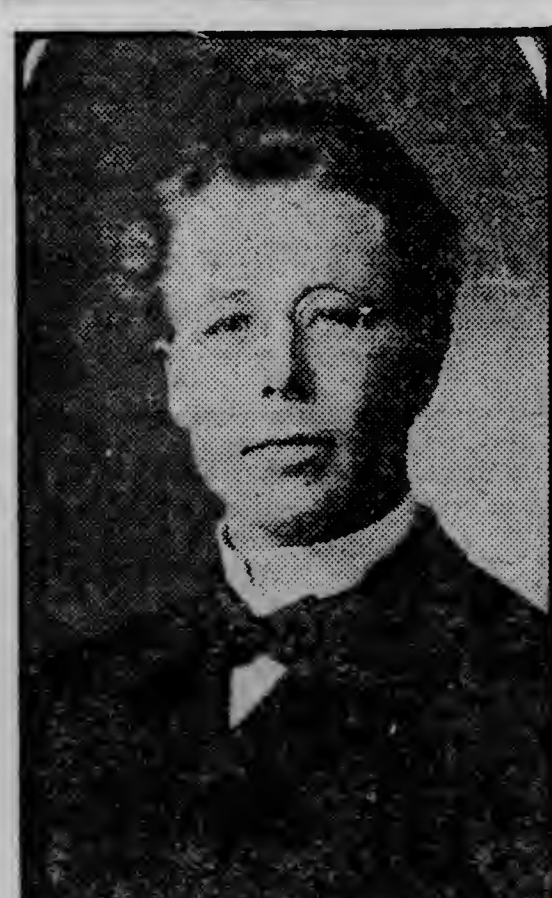

The up-river clubhouse will be built later near the mouth of the Red river. This is located a short distance above New Duluth and is said to afford an ideal place for such a resort. Options have already been secured at this place also and it is probable that the site here will be selected within the next month.

The races planned for the national holiday will be featured with many specialties. In addition to three motor boat races it is proposed to have canoe and rowboat races and specialty races, such as the picking up of corks on the water and other stunts. A number of prizes, many of which will be cash will be presented to the winners.

A general committee to have charge of this affair was appointed. The members are P. H. Wade, M. H. Murray, Goodwin Olson, Emil Swanson and Charles Dahl. Mr. Wade will have charge of listing the entries.

FORMER PASTOR WILL PREACH HERE

REV. J. A. BJERKE.

Rev. J. A. Bjerke, former pastor of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, now located at Park River, N. D., will be in the city to spend the week end. He will preach at both services to members of his former congregation on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Bjerke has been attending the annual conference of the church which has been held in Minneapolis during the past week and the early part of this week. He is expected to arrive in West Duluth on Friday.

Rev. Mr. Bjerke was pastor of the West Duluth church for six years. He left here two years ago to accept a call to the North Dakota congregation.

West Duluth People Say Seventy-First Avenue Span Is Not Safe.

The city commissioners will be asked to pass on the condition of the Grand avenue bridge just west of Seventy-first avenue, over which it is proposed to have the rails of the Street railway company laid when it makes its extension to New Duluth. Business men of West Duluth who have occasion to use this bridge claim that it is not any too safe, and that it will have to be considerably strengthened before heavier traffic is run over it.

The bridge was built about twenty-

WILCOX BATHS WILL OPEN SATURDAY

If the weather is favorable on Saturday the Wilcox free bathing grounds will be officially opened. The place is rapidly being put in condition and it is expected to become one of the most popular spots in this end of the city for the boys.

The small building on the beach has been cleaned and will be used as a dressing room by the boys. A stretch of the beach 400 feet wide reaching out into the river for a distance of 400 feet has been roped off as the bathing place. At its greatest depth it is but four feet, making it safe for the youngsters to play anywhere within the enclosed beach.

Springboards and other apparatus are being installed at the water's edge. The place will be under the charge of a caretaker this year, provided for the man having been made by the city commission.

Mrs. Saunders Dies.

Mrs. Bertha Saunders, 30 years old, died this morning following a long illness of tuberculosis. The deceased was the wife of S. W. Saunders of 605 North Twenty-third avenue west. The body was taken to Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms where funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of the woman's parents from Minneapolis.

Hold Final Meeting.

The final meeting for the summer of Euclid chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was held at the West Duluth Masonic hall last evening. Plans were made to take part in a joint picnic to be held with the Masonic lodges of West Duluth to be held next month. A committee was appointed to act with the committee of the other lodges.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The West Duluth W. C. T. U. will hold its final meeting for the summer tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel Houston, 522 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. Mrs. T. F. Jones and Mrs. W. A. GIRL IS GIVEN HER FREEDOM

On her promise to go back home and live with her parents and to never have anything to do with William Lawver, Judge Cutting yesterday afternoon dismissed the case against Marie McDonald.

GET $10,000 FOR SCHAUER

Superior Star-Pitcher Has Been Sold to New York.

Will Not Report to the Giants Until Aug. 15.

Rube Schauer was sold to the New York Nationals this afternoon at a figure reported to be $10,000. As the delivery is not to be made until August, according to the dispatch announcing the sale, the great young pitcher will be used by the Superior club during the greater part of the season and will also prove one of the greatest drawing cards that could possibly be possessed by the club across the bay.

Schauer has made a wonderful record for one who is serving his first year in professional baseball. His natural ability was shown in a series of the scouts who have looked him over, and when he learns more of the fine points of the game it is believed that he will prove a wonder in the "big show."

Here is the message sent out from Superior announcing the deal for Schauer:

"Rube" Schauer, the sensational pitcher of the Superior club of the Northern League, today was sold to the New York Nationals for $10,000. Dick Kinsella made the deal for the Giants after watching Schauer on the present road trip. Schauer led the league in strike-outs, has pitched three one-hit games this year, and was robbed of a no-hit performance by a scratch with two out in the ninth inning. He is playing his first season in professional baseball, joining the Superior team as a recruit this spring.

PAL BROWN GETS A REAL BATTLE

Is Booked to Meet Bud Anderson on Labor Day.

Pal Brown and Bud Anderson have practically been matched for a boxing contest at Los Angeles on Labor day, according to Jack Dougherty, the Milwaukee instructor, who was in Superior today on his way to Hibbing, Minn., to complete negotiations with the American Athletic Union, handled by Tom Andrews of Milwaukee. The last of the American Athletic Union, which is to match the winner for the lightweight championship.

CONDITIONS OF RACE FOR AMERICA'S CUP.

Belfast, Ireland, June 18.—The full conditions of the approaching races for America's cup have reached the Royal Ulster Yacht club from New York, but they are not to be made public until St. Thomas Lipton, the challenger, has had an opportunity to discuss them.

The conditions with some slight alterations are similar to those of the last races in 1903. They are agreeable to the committee of the Royal Ulster Yacht club, which does not anticipate any hitch in the arrangements.

FOR SHOOTING AT NEIGHBOR

George C. Chambers Arrested But Pleads Self Defense.

George C. Chambers of Homestead park was arrested this afternoon by Sergeant Rogers on the charge of shooting at his neighbor, Fred Miller.

The shooting took place yesterday afternoon. Chambers claims that he fired in self-defense, as Miller was threatening to attack him following a quarrel. Miller was not injured and appeared in person to swear out the warrant.

GOOD PRICES FOR STATE LAND

Theodore Nelson, manager of the state land department, this afternoon disposed of 2,300 acres of state land at an average price of $7 at the regular monthly sale of state lands held at the courthouse.

The prices ranged from $5 to $15 an acre. With the exception of one section, 36, 53-17, which was sold to Minneapolis people, all of the descriptions went to St. Louis county purchasers. Lydia and Martin Kierfman made the largest individual purchases. They bought an entire section northwest of Hibbing, section 16, 58-21.

According to Mr. Nelson, the St. Louis county sale is the best one for the month throughout the state.

DEATH LAID TO I. W. W. LEADERS.

Ipswich, Mass., June 18.—Declared by the court to be morally responsible for the death of the woman shot during the strike riot at the Ipswich hosiery mill last week, Carroll L. Pin-gree and Nathaniel Hermann, leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, were held in $1,200 bail each for the grand jury on a charge of rioting by Judge Sayward. Mrs. Pin-gree was freed on this charge.

A more serious charge, that of murder, still is pending against the three defendants. On that charge they were held without bail for a further hearing.

Eleven other defendants were held for the grand jury on charges of rioting, while five were discharged.

ONE HOUSE

ADVOCATED

One Legislative Body Urged in Speech to Labor Federation.

Resolution Aimed at Commission Form of Government Rejected.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abolition of one house of the Minnesota legislature when the people of the state were given the initiative and referendum was advocated today by Representative W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis in a speech before the Minnesota Federation of Labor. Mr. Campbell, who was chairman of the labor committee at the last legislative session, declared that with only one house in the legislature the rights of the people would not be obstructed and that measures would go through with but few amendments.

The Federation rejected a resolution aimed at the commission form of government.

Socialists Defeated. A near-climax came at the convention last evening when Charles Fischer, a Socialist delegate from Minneapolis, offered on the floor of the hall a resolution in which it was intimated that the organization should co-operate with the political party which had the interests of the federation most at heart.

While the word socialism was not written in the resolution, several delegates instantly were on their feet and momentarily pandemonium reigned. Several delegates wanted to be heard, many insisting that they be heard. The matter was left to the chair and order soon was restored.

It then was asked that Fischer be given five minutes in which to speak on the resolution, and after considerable parliamentary rule had been expounded and votes taken on several motions, Fischer's resolution was lost.

Several short addresses were delivered at the session, one of these by a woman who was laughingly termed a suffragette by a few delegates.

A special committee, to which was referred the protest of Charles H. Berger of the Minneapolis Painters' union against the seating of S. J. Spencer, a member of the same union, as a delegate from the Building Trades' council, reporting in the afternoon, recommending that Mr. Spencer be seated. At the same time the committee reported on the protest against the seating of Philip Carlin, who is here as a delegate from the Minneapolis Building Trades' council. Both were seated by a big vote.

Corresponding delegates from the St. Paul Trades and Labor assembly, the only delegate present who took part in the organization of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, presented a telegram of sympathy for Samuel Gompers, which was ordered sent.

Will McEwen Retire? Talk of candidates for president and other officers has begun in earnest. President Hall's re-election seems assured, and Secretary McEwen can be re-elected if he desires. Despite his statement that he will retire, his friends steadfastly refuse to believe he will sever his connection with the state labor body. A paragraph in his annual report, which is a candidate for Mr. McEwen's withdrawal, and Axel Peterson, a St. Paul plumber delegate, is announced as willing to take up the duties.

One of the pleasant social events was a banquet at the Fifth Avenue hotel for the visiting printers and other printing craft delegates. About thirty-five sat down to a feast, which was furnished by the Granite City printers. O. F. Weinberger, the new president of the Federated Printing trades organization, was toastmaster, and Labor Commissioner W. F. Houk, N. C. O'Connor of Minneapolis, J. E. Corcoran of St. Paul and others spoke.

BULL FIGHTER AND JOURNALIST HERE

"Hec" McLean Returns to Duluth to Get Cooled Off.

Hector A. McLean, a former Duluth newspaper man who now holds an important executive position on the Chicago Examiner, arrived in Duluth today for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Margaret McLean of 1215 East Third street. Mr. McLean sprang into fame some years ago when the dispatches carried a story from El Paso to the effect that when the regular paid-by-the-week picador failed to appear at a bull fight machine, the former Duluthian volunteered and took his place. "Hec" insists it was a true recital of facts—he wrote it himself.

THREATENS TO CLOSE THE DULUTH UNION STATION

Dr. H. E. Webster, health director, threatens to close the doors of the union station unless the sanitary conditions are improved and the nuisances abated.

The health director wrote to the superintendent at St. Paul, who has charge of the station, some time ago, but thus far has received no response, while no steps have been taken toward bettering the conditions.

"The train sheds are little better than a rookery," says the health director. "They are infested by hundreds upon hundreds of pigeons, which constitute an almost intolerable nuisance. Going through the station is like traveling through a gigantic hen-henry with the disagreeable features incident to such a roost. The station contains the offices of two express companies. They are not equipped with any of the proper facilities. The twenty-five men employed in them have no place to wash and are without necessary lavatory conveniences.

"The main station is insanitary throughout. The ventilation is so poor as to be of little account and the odors are decidedly unpleasant. The plumbing is poor and the sewers do not perform their functions as they should. We would prefer to avoid trouble, but will not dodge it. The conditions must be bettered, even though the station has to be closed to get action."

"BLIND PIG" IS RAIDED BY POLICE

Owner Given Straight Jail Sentence of Sixty Days.

A blind pig on West First street near Sixth avenue was raided late last evening and Andrew Homi, the owner, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license, while his wife and five men found drinking were taken in custody.

In police court this morning Homi pleaded not guilty and his hearing was held shortly before noon. He was found guilty and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. Ten bottles of beer were found in the house, and the five men were dropped, they all having appeared as witnesses for the state.

According to the testimony, Homi conducts a rooming house and has been in the habit of buying cases of beer from saloons and selling it at 25 cents a bottle. The men who were arrested last evening, and who testified that they bought liquor there from time to time, are Oscar Hill, Nick Wilda, Alfred Sald, Isaac Maki and Gust Norland.

The raid was made by Detective Bradley and Patrolmen Youngstrom and Dinkel, who found the entire party drinking and having a very gay time. Several bottles of beer were found in a hole in the wall, where Homi was in the habit of hiding it. Ten bottles of the beer taken by the police in the raid were exhibited in court this morning.

Judge Cutting told Homi before pronouncing sentence that he was going to be severe with all liquor violators in the future. He gave him no option of a fine, sending him over the road for two months.

FATHER WANTS DEED BACK

Richard Naddy Says Sons Have Not Fulfilled Contract.

Deeded Property to Insure Home for His Old Age.

With a view to insuring a comfortable home for himself during the winter of his life, Richard Naddy, widower, now 63, deeded over his home to his sons, John and Edward Naddy, two years ago.

The same idea prompted him to start legal proceedings to recover the property. This morning, he filed suit against his two sons for the recovery of the deed, claiming that they had not performed the conditions of the agreement entered into and have proved unfaithful to their trust.

The home of the Naddys, which is the property involved in the lawsuit, is located on the rear of two lots at 2127 Fifty-eighth avenue east. Richard Naddy, widower, resides there with his three children, John and Edward, grown-up sons, and Kathleen, 12-year-old daughter.

On April 5, 1911, the father, desirous of securing himself against the infirmities of old age, entered into a contract with his sons, in which he deeded over to them the property on which they were living and which had been his home for some time past. The deed was deposited in escrow with Judge of Probate S. W. Gilpin, who is made a joint defendant in the pending lawsuit with the two sons. The agreement was that the dees were to be delivered to the sons upon the death of the father on the condition that certain obligations be assumed by the sons.

Requirements of Contract. One of the requirements of the contract between Naddy and his sons was that a mortgage of $2000 be encumberance on the property, must be paid when full due. Another was that the daughter, Kathleen, be provided with a good living and home until she reaches the age of majority. At the age of 16, she was to be provided with a sewing machine, the contract reads.

In his suit to recover the deed, Naddy declares that his sons have wilfully disregarded the terms of the contract in every respect. He asserts that they have not even paid the mortgage and that a foreclosure is now threatened by the mortgagee. He also claims that the taxes were not paid, and that they have neglected their sister.

The complaint also sets forth that Judge Gilpin of the probate court, who holds the deed in escrow, is unable to deliver it back to him except through an order of the district court.

John and Edward Naddy, sons and defendants, were served with the complaint in the early part of the week, but have not filed any answer in the case. An affidavit of no answer, claiming that the statutory time allowed for the defendants to come into court has elapsed, was also filed today.

Judge S. F. White is attorney for Naddy in the matter.

CONDEMNNS A VEAL CARCASS

Meat Inspector Tracing It in Order to Test Herd.

Meat Inspector Leo Bernhard found and condemned a veal at one of the depots this morning. It was tubercular, a condition said by veterinarians to be very rare in the city. The veal came from Rush City, where two shipments of milk into Duluth are located. The shipment is being traced back in an effort to locate its origin. If it came from either of the herds owned by the men shipping to Duluth, the health director states that the incident illustrates the value of having a meat inspector, as it is practical and competent, as such discoveries are important to the preservation of public health.

TWO HELD FOR NON-SUPPORT

Husbands Claimed to Have Failed to Provide for Wives.

Two non-support cases came up in police court this morning. Andrew Sandstrom, who lives at Hermantown, where he owns a farm, is charged by his wife with desertion and failure to support his family of seven children. The children range in age from 1½ years to 17 years and all live on the farm. Sandstrom pleaded not guilty and his case was set for 10 o'clock Friday morning.

William Zuck was arraigned this morning on a non-support charge brought by his wife. They have two children, 5 and 3 years of age. Zuck pleaded not guilty and his case was set for this afternoon.

PITIFUL CASE OF DESTITUTION

An outcast, and refused admission at the county poor farm, William Knox was arrested yesterday on a vagrancy charge. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned, and his case was set for this afternoon.

Knox's case is most pitiful, as he is suffering from a serious illness. He recently ran away from the poor farm, where he gave those in charge considerable trouble. Yesterday morning he applied there again for admission, but this time was refused. Police Surgeon Murphy examined the man and sent him to the farm.

Knox will be examined this afternoon, and it is probable that some disposition will be made of him.

WANTS DIX SENT TO PHILIPPINES.

Washington, June 18.—Senator O'Gorman today recommended Governor John A. Dix of New York for governor general of the Philippines.

The bureau of chemistry, who spoke here today before the Association of American Food, Dairy and Drug Officials.

"The food and drug act," Dr. Alsberg asserted, "not only does not give the department of agriculture power to act in many vitally important matters, but actually prohibits its intervention in many things that call for immediate remedy. Frequently we are disgusted at our inability to do things that we are more than anxious, but helpless legally, to undertake."

Dr. Alsberg explained that the word "guaranteed" on food packages did not mean that the bureau of chemistry had seen and analyzed the contents, but that the manufacturers put it on simply with the idea of protecting the jobber or retailer.

parched by the heat of the last few days. The storm spent its fury within a radius of seventy miles, reports indicate, although the rain seems to have been general in southern Saskatchewan. Several buildings were destroyed at Bengough, and at Ernfold a restaurant was demolished and other buildings razed.

NO MONEY FOR CONVENTION LABORATORY OF THE DEAF

Duluth Branch May Be Discontinued After First of August.

Legislature Neglected to Make Any Appropriation for It.

There is still a question as to whether the branch laboratory of the Minnesota state board of health can be maintained in Duluth for the next year.

Although the water and light department has introduced an ordinance for the appropriation of $300 for the laboratory, which will bring the local aid to $1,500, the officers of the state board still face a problem in financing the laboratory at Duluth for the next year.

The health department of the city has been paying $500 a year and the county $500 a year for the maintenance of the branch laboratory. The total cost is about $1,000 a year, so the local aid has amounted to only about one-third of the total. If the water and light department ordinance goes through the local aid will be extended to $1,000 or nearly one-half of the total cost.

The officers of the state board are endeavoring to figure out a way in which the laboratory can be maintained. City officials are also keenly interested for the laboratory has been making two tests daily of city water, and about 300 tests each month for the milk inspector of the health department.

A laboratory of some kind is necessary for the city to equip and operate its own laboratory if the state branch is closed.

Dr. T. R. Martin, bacteriologist in charge of the state branch, said today that he has no information on the course to be followed by the officers of the board.

ACCUSED ESCAPES.

Held at Cusson, Minn., for Ashland Officers, Gets Away.

Ashland, Wis., June 18.—When Under Sheriff Donnelly arrived at Cusson, Minn., after Fred Allen, wanted for forgery, he found his bird had flown. There is no jail at Cusson and Allen was released on his own recognizance. The house of the Rainy Lake Lumber company, his clothes were taken from him to prevent his escaping, but he managed to get hold of another suit by robbing one of the boarders' rooms and escaped in the night time. As Cusson is nearly on the border line between the United States and Canada it is probable that he is enjoying his freedom out of the state.

Allen was wanted at Ashland for forging a check for $10 and getting it cashed at the St. Joseph hospital, where he was a patient.

Program for Unique Gathering Next Month Is Announced.

Sessions Open to Public and Interpreter Will Be Present.

One of the most interesting conventions in the history of Duluth will be held July 2 to 5, when the twelfth biennial convention of the Minnesota Association of the Deaf, an incorporated association whose object is to assist the deaf of the state in times of adversity, will be held here.

The object of the convention is to promote the general welfare of the deaf of this state and it is expected that there will be a large attendance of delegates.

At the meeting to be held on the evening of July 2 Mayor Prince and others will speak, the mayor delivering the address of welcome. There will be a number of "speeches" by the deaf delegates, interpreters being present to make the "talk" clear to the public. The mayor's address will also be interpreted to the delegates. Every citizen is extended a cordial invitation to be present.

On July 3 there will be a business meeting in the morning followed by an auto trip over the boulevard and a reception and lawn party at the home of J. Cook Howard.

On July 4 there will be a trip to Fond du Lac and around the horn. Tickets to the Lark or the Lake entertainment will be furnished free to the visiting delegates. On the following day there will be a business meeting and the day will be followed by a banquet in the evening. One of the unique features of this unique convention will be the giving of a college "yell" by the alumni of Gallaudet college, which is a school for the deaf.

The yell will be given in the sign language, by about forty graduates of the school.

Cloquet People Will Make Road to Duluth Better.

Cloquet, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday was "Good Roads day" and Cloquet did its share in observing it. It was at first planned to gather as many motorists, farmers and others interested in good roads and hold a "bee" at some particular place or places where repairs were necessary, but later local automobile enthusiasts decided to raise a fund and have the work done by more efficient labor.

Two hundred and fifty dollars was contributed by local men, $500 by the county and a certain amount by the town of Thomson and work was begun yesterday in putting the "north road" to Duluth in shape. This road runs north from this city about a mile and then directly east to Duluth, and after one large hill is cut down and other repairs made the road will be in fine shape.

PATHFINDER EN ROUTE.

Reaches Crookston After Being Delayed by Storm and Goes On.

Crookston, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. J. Steadman, official pathfinder for the ninth annual reliability run of the American Automobile association, arrived here last night after a 6 o'clock start from here, with W. S. Forman, press representative, and a driver, and a five-passenger stock car furnished by F. B. Murphy of Minneapolis. The pathfinders ran into a storm of wind and rain near Barnesville, and had some heavy roads to hitting the storm belt south of Crookston, but by evening on arrival here the roads had dried off and the pathfinders were on their way to the Hotel Crookston, where the car was piloted to past the Northwest Experiment station by W. S. Lyeon, W. E. McKenzie and party in the Lyeon car.

Fosston, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Katie Allison, aged 71, a farmer residing ten miles from here, who had been acting queerly, drank an iodine solution when the rest of the family was away, and was found dead in the house by his children. He was a widower with seven children and well-to-do.

BIDS FAR APART.

Quite Disparity in Tenders for Building Fosston School.

Fosston, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Jackson of Bemidji was awarded the contract for the new Fosston high school, his bid being $34,000 in round numbers. He was $2,500 below the next low bidder and there was a difference of $5,000 between the high and low bid. The school is to be thoroughly modern and equipped with strictly up-to-date buildings in the Northern part of the state, though there will be some larger.

HEAT WAVE GIVES AWAY TO COOLNESS.

St. Paul, Minn., June 18.—The heat wave in the Twin Cities was broken late yesterday when a thirty-mile wind accompanied by a downpour of rain struck the towns. Only a small amount of damage was done. Several other towns in the state were visited by the storm and in some places telephone and telegraph wires were demoralized, according to reports.

Cooler at La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., June 18.—The three days' hot spell with the thermometer hovering between 88 and 98 was broken last night when a cool breeze sprang up. Two prostrations were caused by the heat. Outside work was abandoned by many contractors.

YOUNG MURDERER TO GET LIFE SENTENCE.

Rochester, Minn., June 18.—Murder in the second degree, with a life sentence was the verdict of the jury yesterday in the trial of Henry Schmidt, the youth who was accused of the killing of Mrs. Mary Hietel of Douglas, Minn., on April 1.

The jury was out nearly five hours. Upon hearing the verdict and learning the sentence that would be imposed, Schmidt declared "Good. I'm satisfied" and returning to the jail announced to the county prisoners, "It's all over. I'm going home."

The crime aroused an intense feeling. Schmidt has always maintained that he had no motive, was glad he did it, and cared not what happened to him. Throughout the trial and since his incarceration, he has maintained a most cool and indifferent attitude, taking little heed of the proceedings. The defense was based upon insanity.

PHONE CHARGES ARE BEING INVESTIGATED.

Mitchell, S. D., June 18.—With 125 men, representing as many telephone companies of the state present, the state railway commission has begun an investigation of charges that many companies were discriminating in that free telephone service was given stockholders while regular patrons must pay the regular rates. The investigation is being conducted to enable the railway commission to formulate a more uniform system for telephone lines.

SMOKE INSPECTOR PRESENTS REPORT ON CONDITIONS IN DULUTH---BUILDING OWNERS READY TO CO-OPERATE

CHEMICAL COMPANY AT 14 EAST MICHIGAN STREET.

COMMERCIAL CLUB BUILDING.

SCENE IN THE YARDS.

A general desire to co-operate with the city officials and public organizations interested in the abatement of the smoke nuisance has been expressed by the owners or agents of practically all buildings visited by Smoke Inspector I. E. Patterson, according to his report made today to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

The smoke inspector states that he has visited fifty steam plants since he assumed his duties with the health department. He has compiled a card index system giving facts in detail relative to each of them, including the amount and kind of fuel used, the style and make of the boiler, the setting, the method of firing and the general conditions.

He states that the method of firing is an important factor in reducing or eliminating the volume of black smoke which has been pouring from many of the stacks throughout the city, while the kind of fuel and the mixture are important factors. It is pointed out that much can be accomplished if the boilers are fired lightly and frequently. Considerable of the smoke is due to the laziness or carelessness of the firemen, who shovel large quantities of coal on their fires at long and irregular intervals. The inspector asserts that where the firemen have been following directions as to firing, good results have been obtained, demonstrating that it is many plants human smokers can be as satisfactory as the mechanical smokers.

Good Firemen Scarce. One problem has been to keep good firemen on the job. In several instances one man has hardly been instructed in the correct methods of firing before another would take his place. The plant has had at least seven men in thirty days while another has had four different men in the same period. Inspector Patterson states that this makes it difficult for the engineer, who has other duties besides educating firemen every few days. He says the only way to meet such situations is the installation of mechanical stokers, which feed the coal automatically.

The inspector explains that many of the steam plants used for heating purposes are now shut down and will remain so until again called into commission by the arrival of cold weather. He says that something should be done with them in the meantime so that they will not become nuisances when put into operation. The report refers to the railroad situation briefly, stating that the matter of abatement has been taken up with the officials of the various roads entering the city. Some have responded and have begun to show results, according to the report, while others are still to be heard from.

Small Plants. Small plants, particularly laundries, are mentioned as being among the chief offenders. This is said to be partially due to the fact that they have an engineer or fireman who has other duties of more importance to the employer than attending to the proper firing of their boilers. In such cases the inspector believes smokeless fuel to be the proper remedy.

Inspector Patterson makes direct reference to the situation complained of at the Torrey building, although the name of the building is not mentioned. He says that the problem presented there is not easy of solution, but that he is convinced that a remedy will be applied even though the expense be heavy. He adds that the man in charge of the building is an expert on fuel combustion and that he is assured that he would be more than pleased to cut out the smoke nuisance. Data has been collected from Cleveland, Washington, Indianapolis and Minneapolis. This will be considered with statistics of the Commercial club and other sources and embodied in an ordinance to regulate the discharge of smoke and soot from the chimneys of the city. Duluth now has what has been called a smoke ordinance, but as far as value is concerned, it isn't worth the paper on which it was written.

WILL SPEAK ON STREET CORNERS

Rev. M. S. Rice Plans Series of Open Air Meetings.

Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church, is planning another series of addresses on street corners for the Saturday evenings of this summer, similar to those which he held last summer with much success. Dr. Rice has intended to begin the meetings a week from next Saturday evening, but is having considerable trouble with his throat owing to the excessive demands he has been making on his voice in numerous addresses. He is planned to announce definitely as yet, just when the meetings will begin. If his throat is better a week from Saturday he will begin at that time.

Last summer the meetings were held from an auto at the corner of Third avenue west and Superior street. This year he will speak from a portable platform, and will not confine the meetings to one location, but will change each evening, working more Boveyward. The first meeting, however, will be at Third avenue west and Superior street.

WOMAN TAKES POISON; AUTO WRECK FOLLOWS

One Man Is Killed and Another Dying of Injuries.

Sacramento, Cal., June 18.—Racing for a hospital to save the life of a young woman who had swallowed poison with suicidal intent, an automobile driven by Guy E. Pearce of this city was wrecked. Pearce was instantly killed, Miss Van Beuson, who had taken the poison, was fatally mangled, dying later, and Herbert Woodall, the chauffeur, may succumb to his injuries. Jealousy is said to have prompted the woman to take poison.

POWDER MILL BLOWS UP; TWO KILLED.

Uniontown, Pa., June 18.—Two men dead and property damage of $30,000 was the result of an explosion in the plant of the E. I. De Nemours Du Pont Powder company at Fairchance, near here. Jess Wilson and William Hart, the victims, were the only persons in the mill when it blew up. The accident was caused, it is believed, through the failure of Hart to oil properly a machine which he was operating.

WOULD COMPEL ALL STEEL CARS.

Washington, June 18.—Representative Roberts of Massachusetts has introduced a bill designed to safeguard railroad passengers from death and injury. He was moved to introduce it by the recent wreck on the New Haven near Stamford, Conn. It would require that within four years every interstate railroad shall be completely equipped with cars of steel construction, "practically fireproof and indestructible."

RELIC OF 1812 IS TO BE RESTORED.

Newport, R. I., June 18.—The old privateer, Constellation, a relic of the war of 1812, which for years has served as a training ship at the Narragansett bay naval station, will be taken to the New York navy yard shortly. Rear Admiral William Caperton, commandant of the station, has received orders to that effect from the navy department. It is planned to restore the Constellation to her original appearance as a war vessel.

LA TRASSE BACK IN KANSAS CITY.

Kansas City, Mo., June 18.—William La Trasse, convicted on a charge of robbing a Missouri Pacific passenger train near Leavenworth on Christmas night, 1910, was returned last night from Chester, Ill., where he was serving a sentence for burglary. La Trasse escaped from the Kansas City, Kan., jail while awaiting sentence. He went to Murphysboro, Ill., where he was convicted of burglary and sent to the Southern Illinois prison at Chester. There he was recognized as La Trasse.

FINAL DECREE ON ORIENT IS ASKED.

Kansas City, Mo., June 18.—Application for a final decree in the receivership of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway to make possible the sale of the railway has been filed before Judge Pollock in the Federal court in Kansas City, Kan., by attorneys for the United States & Mexican Trust company and the bondholders of the road.

About $24,000,000 of bonds are outstanding against the road. It was expected the road will be sold to the highest bidder. A new company to buy the Orient properties has been in process of organization for several weeks.

The new action was expected to hasten the formation of this company. At the time the Orient went into receivership, its officials attributed a large share of their difficulties to money conditions—especially in the matter of being unable to get loans.

Judge Pollock, upon receipt of the application, announced that a final decree in the receivership would be recorded at once.

Washington, June 18.—Exports from the United States last month were greater by $20,000,000 than in any previous May, totaling $195,000,000 against the previous high record of $175,000,000. Imports on the other hand, showed a decrease, being $22,000,000 below the record. They amounted last month to $133,000,000 against $155,000,000 in May 1912. In the first eleven months of the present fiscal year exports totaled $2,392,000,000 against $2,065,000,000 in the same period last year. Imports were $1,651,000,000 against $1,522,000,000.

New York, June 18.—Detectives who visited a tenement apartment house to investigate the death of a man whose name was given as William Alonzo, identified the body as that of William Alonzo, known as "Dutch" Alonzo, who was to have been placed on trial next Monday as an alleged wire-tapper.

THE BROWN BOTTLE JOKE

The brown bottle fallacy has been so completely exploded that little is left to be said in defense of that side of the question which advocated the use of dark bottles to the absolute exclusion of light bottles. It is admitted that common beer comes in dark bottles and that beer of a high degree of stability is preferably bottled in light bottles.

Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology (America's greatest authorities on brewing) are in accord with this view. Here is their statement in relation to the bottling of high-grade beer:

"FOR SUCH BEERS THE LIGHT BOTTLE IS PREFERABLY EMPLOYED because it can more readily be inspected before filling to insure thorough cleanliness, and because the finished package reveals at a glance whether the contents meet the requirements of the consumer as to color, clarity and freedom from sedimentation."

A COMIC CONCERT.

The chief argument for large armies and navies and plenty of guns and forts and ammunition—aside from the obvious fact that they are very profitable for those who manufacture the materials entering into these things—is that the surest guaranty of peace is ample preparedness for war.

In fact, that's about the last leg the war cause has to rest upon.

The powers of Europe have loaded the continent down with a heavy burden of taxes and debt to carry out this idea.

And now—
The powers of Europe, in concert, insist that the little nations of the Balkans must disband their armies and send their soldiers back home to the useful pursuits of peace, keeping only enough of them in uniform to preserve the peace.

Why?
Oh, simply because the European concert fears that—in the Balkans—preparedness for war is a constant threat of war!

This incident throws new light on the grim humor of the hugest joke in Christendom—the spectacle of nations straining the financial resources of the world and taxing their people into poverty to maintain great armaments in response to an instinct that is a survival from barbarism.

Maybe when those owners of big buildings meet in Duluth next year we could sell them the plot of rocks for foundation material.

THERE'S A WORK TO DO.

The editors of Northern Minnesota, in convention assembled at beautiful Bemidji, passed very public-spirited resolutions, including this one:

We commend and heartily endorse the action of the legislature at its last regular session in providing for submitting to a vote of the people an amendment to the state constitution, providing for a revolving fund of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to be used in reclaiming and developing for agricultural purposes the state lands, of which the state holds about three million acres. We believe that every voter in the state should cast his vote in favor of this proposed amendment. It will not increase his taxes one cent. The actual cost of improvement will be added to the price of the land and paid by the purchaser to the state. The money will be used again for a similar purpose as a revolving fund until all of the state lands have been improved or disposed of by the state. Every cent of this money will ultimately find its way back into the school fund after it has enhanced the value of these lands and made them more comfortable homes.

That puts pretty convincingly the case for this amendment, and no voter, in whatever part of the state he lives, should fail to vote in favor of it or will if he grasps its importance.

The state has large permanent funds, most of which are invested in securities drawing profits of but three per cent a year.

The small sum proposed to be set apart out of these permanent funds will return not three per cent but something more like three thousand per cent, when all the results are computed.

The proposal is so business-like, so surely profitable, that there ought not to be a vote against it.

But the editors who subscribed to these resolutions should remember that it is a difficult thing to adopt constitutional amendments; that not more than one has been ratified at any election since the Constitution required a majority of those voting at the election; that there are an unusually large number of amendments to be voted upon in November, 1914, and that this decreases the chances of any one amendment; that in Southern Minnesota, where there are no state lands, comparatively little is known of the need for such work and until they are better informed there will be many who are indifferent or

PASS A CURRENCY BILL AND PASS IT NOW!

The duty of congress at the extra session will not be completed with the passage of a tariff law.

While the time is ripe, the measure drawn and the country in a mood to accept it, congress should forthwith consider and pass an up-to-date currency law.

We have the worst tariff law on earth. But that is about to be corrected.

We have also the worst financial system on earth. That should be corrected also, and the sooner the better.

This country has a system of finance that breaks' down at every test, that constantly invites peril, and that is most useless when it is most needed and most menacing when protection against peril is most essential.

It is as foolish to retain such a system as it would be to refuse to move out of the crater of a volcano when an eruption was likely to occur at any minute.

Of the details and methods of the currency bill that has been prepared the country as yet knows little.

But it does know that it could hardly be worse than the present system, and that there is but one thing that could make it worse: the fact that it centered too much power in the hands of a few who are concerned more in profiting themselves than in serving the nation and its people.

And as to that, the country has little fear; for it knows that Woodrow Wilson and his councilors have given to the study of this vital subject their best thought, their best public spirit and their best patriotism. The country has confidence both in the will of President Wilson to do the right thing by the public interest and in his ability to make good. The chief among his financial advisers, Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, already has vigorously demonstrated his unerring conception of the rights of the public in financial matters.

This country needs a currency system that will keep a steady and comfortable pace with the needs of commerce and industry—that will expand with these needs and contract with them.

It has a currency system that never expands, no matter how great the need, and that is likely—nay, certain—to shrivel up at the moment of greatest need.

We need a currency system that will avert panic and financial collapse. We have a currency system that invites both.

We need a currency system that will respond automatically to the call of emergency. We have one that invariably fails to respond in time of need, and that invariably complicates and multiplies the elements that make for disaster in times of financial alarm.

There can be no question whatever of the need. There will not be a single voice raised in all the land to deny it.

There can be no question whatever of the public demand for a new currency system. In importance it is second only to tariff revision.

With a new tariff law that will lift a needless cruel burden from the bent back of the consumer without injuring a single legitimate industry, and a new currency law that will be its handmaiden in ministering to the national need, the Sixty-second congress will make a record second to none in the history of the nation, and the country will enter upon an era of boundless prosperity which all, not the few alone, will share.

President Wilson voices faithfully the national need and the national demand when he urges the prompt passage of an adequate currency bill, and congress should by all means respond promptly to his appeal.

even actively opposed because they will look upon this as a drain on the permanent school funds for the benefit of Northern Minnesota, instead of as a richly paying investment that will profit the whole state.

In short, there is need of a campaign of education that will make that amendment known and understood in every part of the state; and it will be the newspapers of Northern Minnesota that will have to conduct that campaign, or at least lead it.

So it is not enough merely to adopt that resolution. It will be necessary for every newspaper in Northern Minnesota to talk about this amendment continuously from now till November, 1914, and to ask the public-spirited and fairminded newspapers of Southern Minnesota to explain to their readers why it should be adopted and how it will profit the whole state.

And there will be some indifference at home to be overcome as well. The newspapers of Northern Minnesota will do a big thing for Northern Minnesota and the whole state if they conduct a winning campaign for this amendment. To make it a winning one it must be a persistent one, for it will prove a harder task than it will seem to those who merely see the extreme practicality, reasonableness and profit of the proposal.

A Wisconsin farmer is accused of driving his son hitched in double harness with a mule. It's a wonder the boy didn't kick, whether the mule did or not.

BLAMING THE PEOPLE.

The crusade for social justice is being blamed by the retainers of Special Privilege for a good many things of which it is guiltless.

It is blamed for stock market slumps which are due to European war scares, to a world-wide exhaustion of credit, to the silly panics of speculators, and to the destructive campaigns of bear operators.

And now comes H. S. Priest, attorney for the receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, which blew up the other day, with the charge that the necessity for the receivership was created by "confiscatory legislation." But for bad laws and nagging governments, he intimates, the St. Louis & San Francisco would still be solvent.

When you build a home, with only part of its cost in hand, about the best you can do is to borrow as much as you put in. You are in great luck tile. And the reclaimed swamp lands of Northern Minnesota are marvelously fertile.

So far, all the government has done in Minnesota is to pay its share of the assessments when state or county drainage proceedings have benefited government land. Most of its swamp land was given to the state.

Submerged land, however valuable potentially, is worthless so long as it is under water.

The expense of drainage per acre is small.

And the reclaimed land is worth many times its original value plus the cost of drainage.

The profit in the operation is obvious.

If it's a fact that girls can be bought for 10 cents apiece in India, it begins to look as if there might eventually be a solution of the domestic servant problem.

YOUR BABY, PERHAPS.

To the Editor of The Herald:
In America today there is a great sense of justice and the love of God in their hearts are striving to uplift every fellow man who is down and out.

All these things are possible even for the girl who has overstepped the border line of conventions. For in all our God-given rights, with his all-mighty powers awaiting the touch of the truth-seeking soul to reveal unending possibilities.

Into thousands of American homes tiny babies are coming every day. Mother kisses the tiny feet, and moves into what paths those tiny helpless feet will stray. Far better the sword of Herod would destroy those who would bring into the world a child who should be forced through unjust conditions and unlovely surroundings into lives of poverty.

Another, broken by work, nervous for the want of nourishing food, loses day by day her interest in life, and sees the thousands of neuritic patients who haunt the public hospitals. Baby grows and develops amid unwholesome surroundings, goes into the world with the ignorance and credulity of childhood. We know what the world today is like for those born and bred in such environment.

Why not try to do something now for that mother? For that baby? Why not try to do something now for that mother? For that baby? Why not try to do something now for that mother? For that baby?

Good men and women are trying all the world over to insure better conditions for the thousands of neuritic patients who haunt the public hospitals. GRATEFUL FOR HELP.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Please allow me space in your valuable paper with reference to the Flag and the Red, White and Blue Society.

I am exceedingly grateful for the splendid support given by the citizens of Duluth, in buying our entire supply of 4,900 flags. But first of all, our citizens are due to the city committee who gave us the privilege to designate Flag day as tag day. We particularly thank the committee for their genuine interest in the good cause, shown by editorial and society news. We also thank the Duluth Paper Box factory, which furnished the tasty boxes at less than cost. The manager of E. W. Woodworth Co., who gave us the flags, surprised us by charging 55 less than contracted for. Our receipts were $2,000.00. A WISE PLAN.

Secretary Lane of the department of interior has recommended to congress the enactment of a law providing for the systematic reclamation by drainage of submerged lands owned by the nation.

The scheme proposed provides that lands owned by the state and by individuals can come in under it and get its benefits by paying their share of the cost.

This is practical and statesmanlike. It will do a lot of good and make a lot of new wealth. Congress ought by all means to adopt Secretary Lane's plan.

The government is spending a great deal of money irrigating dry land, some of it, if reports be true, on experiments of doubtful value.

It ought also to spend money on draining wet lands, wherever it is found that the reclaimed land is fer-

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Burton of Ohio, most solemn of senators—with the sole exception of his colleague, Senator Pomeroy—was strolling along a Washington thoroughfare the other morning past a musical conservatory where some well-intentioned young woman, whose folks have money, was evidently endeavoring to learn to sing. Burton listened to the world sounds emanating from the place, and then with a sad shake of his head, observed, sympathetically:

"There is, indeed, a lot of trouble in this old world, isn't there?"

When the committee were made up for the newly-opened house of representatives here recently, there were two that were more sought after than all the rest. Every other member thought he had just the qualifications to make him a valuable member of the committee on industrial arts and exhibitions, or else the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. And why is it that everybody wants to be on those committees? Oh, simply because that's what it is. When a man is a member of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, he is expected to sail on a free trip to Panama every little while, to make sure that the work on the canal is being done properly. Every now and then there is a congressman who at some time in his life has had a dwelling house built, and has supervised the work of erecting a big building. Such a member can stand on the brink of the canal and tell at a glance if everything is proceeding regularly.

Then the other committee referred to, the one on industrial arts and exhibitions, will have the right to the big Frisco exposition in celebration of the opening of the canal. Members of that committee will ride back and forth across the continent on free trips of inspection, and will view millions of dollars' worth of lovely scenery, besides the big Frisco exposition. It is no wonder so many members wish to be on those committees. They simply desire to get on the choo choos or a steamboat in a while and see something of the big, wide world in which we live. They are prompted by the same impulse that leads a man to forsake home and friends on a hot Sunday in August and ride for hours on a dollar excursion.

Joe Cannon, visiting in Washington recently, bumped into John Burke, treasurer of the United States. "Well, I got the knife," remarked Uncle Joe.

"And I've got mine, too," replied Burke. That was all that was said. They parted on.

The brief dialogue requires some explanation, without which the reader might be justified in muttering: "Well, what of it?"

Uncle Joe and Burke traded knives a year or so ago.

The occasion was a little semi-public gathering at which Burke, then governor of North Dakota, made a speech. He mentioned the fact that the newspapers had been printing pictures of a former Governor Burke of his state, and labeling it as his own. "I've been carrying that knife for twenty years," said Uncle Joe, "waiting to give it to a man homelier than the one who has been printing pictures of me."

"Very well," said Burke, "and I've got a knife here that I have long carried with a similar purpose in view. Won't you accept it?"

So they traded.

One hastens to add that Burke isn't so homely when seen face to face. It is just in his pictures that he puts his worst looks forward.

Representative Richard Austin, of Tennessee, comedian, sat in the private secretary's office at the White House the other morning, waiting to engage the president in brief conversation.

"I've been thinking of you, Mr. Austin," said the president, "and I want to make an address. Austin told a colleague, who also was there waiting around.

"Think he'll accept?" asked the other man.

"Well, of course, I don't know," replied Austin, solemnly, "but he's better. If he doesn't, I simply won't have anything more to do with him. I'll cut him dead."

Secretary of War Garrison has a friend who is constantly on guard against being a spendthrift. The man at expenditures is ever on his mind. Not long ago he took up golf and made a mistake. One day Garrison asked him how he was getting along at the game.

"Oh, just fair," the man replied, sadly. "I've almost lost three balls."

Later particulars—The same man went out to golf one afternoon and became so impatient with himself for his mediocre playing that he picked up one of his clubs and started to break it across his knee to show his disgust. Then he tried again, and controlled his temper fairly well until he made an error in social relations. Once more he started to break up one or more of his clubs, but exerted his will power and held himself back as he exclaimed:

"I'll never play this confounded game again! I'll take my gosh-blamed clubs and bid 'em—BYE!"

It couldn't be done. Somebody said that it couldn't be done. But he, with a chuckle, replied:

"That 'couldn't' couldn't, but he would be one."

What wouldn't say so till he tried. So he buckled right in, with the trace of a grin.

On his face. If he worried he hid it. He started to sing as he tackled the thing.

That couldn't be done, and he did it! Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that."

At least no one ever has done it. But he took off his coat and he took off his hat.

And the first thing we knew he'd begun it. With the lift of his chin, and a bit of a grin.

Without any doubting or quibbling. He started to sing as he tackled the thing. That couldn't be done, and he did it! There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done.

There are thousands to prophesy failure.

There are thousands to point out to you, one by one, the dangers that await for assailants. But just buckle in with a bit of a grin. Then take off your coat and go to it. Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing.

That "cannot be done" and you'll do it! —Author Unknown.

Model Town.

Manhomet Pioneer:—model manufacturing town is to be built upon the site of the new steel plant near Duluth. The promoters are the owners of the plant. An Old Story.

Stillwater Gazette: The present winter this summer is about equal to the average weather in Duluth.

Appreciates Duluth.

Farmer Ben in Austin Transcript: I believe Duluth is going to become the biggest ship port in this country. If it ain't already. My paper says that a Michigan senator is 'urging' to make the Great Lakes accessible to the largest of ocean going ships. That would allow the biggest gunboats to dock their passenger and freight lists right at the Duluth docks. Ships drawn in only fourteen feet can now go from Duluth to Liverpool and the whole ocean world. All that is needed is to clean out all the channels and locks deeper and wider. It looks like it would be a paying prop, too. The Panama canal is going to make a new deal on trade with foreign countries, but the great interior of the United States is going to make a new deal on trade with the world. It looks like it would be a paying prop, too. The Panama canal is going to make a new deal on trade with foreign countries, but the great interior of the United States is going to make a new deal on trade with the world.

A Suggestion.

Crosby Crucible: Duluth policemen raided a shack where they had a strong suspicion that gambling was going on, but they were not quick enough. A crowd of men were playing cards on the "growler," and when they saw the cunning cops coming they chuckled the cards into the air. If the cops had been a little quicker they would have caught the gamblers. The cops were so keen to earn their feathers we would like to suggest that they go up on the hill and raid some of the "swell" homes where the gamblers are played for money every day and every night. They'd have better luck catching the criminals, because the up-town people would never dream that the police would swoop down on them, and the capture could be easily covered up. But the simple reason that "possession" counts for just as much in Duluth as it does elsewhere, and the chap without the money is the one that has to be the goat.

New Faces on the Range.

Coleraine Iron News: It is now probable that we shall see a lot of new faces on the range since the printers in Duluth have been busy printing the "To Let" signs which are now going up in the "red light" district. Duluth is having a house cleaning time, and it will be up to us to get a sneeze from their dust. That new state law relating to real estate and others of their ilk is getting in its work. The law seems to be more for one full of the wanderlust instead of the desire for change of heart. Reformation comes seemingly in travel. "Move on there" is the theme of the enactment rather than "here's a native sister."

The Cost of Living as Others Do

YOUTH'S COMPANION: Every one agrees that it costs more to live than it did twenty years ago, but opinions differ as to the cause. There are many causes, but one of the most important is that our expenses have increased. Our needs, invention has supplied all sorts of new facilities for living that have become necessities to most of us, and they all cost money.

Moreover, in a democratic society, where all are supposed to be equal, we do not like to be outdone by our neighbors; and urged by this feeling, we all push up our expenditures so as to be sure that we have what others have. The trouble begins at the bottom. The young man entering business, with his living to earn and his way to make, should save every penny, live narrowly, and avoid display. If he wishes to succeed, yet the fashions of expenditure about him—in dress, in music, in social relations—are such that it takes exceptional strength of character to refuse to comply with them.

The difficulty is even greater when a man marries and has a family. It is not always easy to deny yourself; but to deny those dear to you is almost impossible. A man does not like to see his wife dress less handsomely than the wives of his associates. He even tells himself that her good appearance helps his business reputation. Still harder is it to refuse things that seem to be necessary for the welfare of your children.

"Really," says mother, "living the way we live, I cannot see why Jane should not have all the opportunities the Smith children have." Thereupon Jane gets them, and father wonders how he is to pay. The pity of it is that usually not one of them—father or mother or child—really cares. They simply "must do as others do." And so the dance goes on.

What remedy? There is no general remedy. You must apply reason and common sense to each individual case. At least keep a little behind the rush, instead of a little in front of it. Then, when a bad day comes, others will wish they had done as you did. If your neighbor gets an automobile, and your children clamor for the like, get a run-around instead of a touring car. If your daughter has fewer frocks and cheaper music lessons than their friends round the corner, that is better, ending with no frocks and no lessons at all.

Let us keep our heads in this matter. The man who does not is infatigably driven sooner or later to the terrible question that men are asking all over the country today: "With my income, how can I live as I am living?" To this question there can be only two final and fatal answers: live differently or steal.

Which shall it be?

The Real Spirit of Travel.

YOUTH'S COMPANION: Too many people think of travel as something in which one is only a favored few can indulge themselves. Most persons assume that it means spending a great deal of time and money. But travel that crosses the frontier—if only for a day or two. To do so, at least once in every year, should be the aim of every man and woman who is truly alive. That does not mean that you should cultivate idleness, but that you should get a broader interest and sympathy with those of your fellow men who live beyond the range of your daily vision and intercourse.

We read occasionally of some man or woman who has lived within a score of miles of the railway without ever having seen a locomotive or a train of cars. Such a life—if the person is in good health—is a cause for regret rather than for boasting.

The farmer needs to break away from his routine at least once in a while, if only for a day or two. He need not journey several hundred miles to some city at considerable expense. In the very next county, although he will see no people wearing nose rings or eating with chopsticks, or living in old stories above the ground, he may see a new cattle station or a novel method of road building and he

BEING TRIED ON MURDER CHARGE

Buhl Shift Boss Is Facing Jury in Hibbing District Court.

Hibbing, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Dominick Gilberti, on the charge of murder, began in district court this morning. Gilberti is accused by the grand jury of killing Peter Saratori at Buhl on the night of April 30. He is also under indictment for assault in the second degree on one Dominick Papalotti on the same date.

Gilberti is a shift boss employed by Buhl Bros. on their striping operations at the Grant mine at Buhl. Peter Saratori and Dominick Papalotti came to Buhl April 30 to meet two countrymen whom they expected to have work with them.

Visiting Friends. Saratori and all five visited various saloons during the day and evening. Gilberti during the evening attempted to persuade the newcomers to take employment with him at the Buhl mine. Saratori and Papalotti wanted their friends to go with them to the White Pine mine. The men arrived at the mine at 10 o'clock and were met by Saratori and Papalotti. The men were taken to the mine and were being taken to the mine when Saratori suddenly drew a revolver and began to shoot. Saratori was so seriously wounded that he died the next day in the Shaw hospital at Buhl. Papalotti was not seriously wounded.

Following the shooting, Gilberti made an attempt to escape, but was caught within a half hour.

TWO ACCUSED MEN ARE HELD

Pair Alleged to Have Robbed Embarrass Man Are Bound Over.

Moore Lake, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Schmidt and Stanley Schnovitch, the two Minneapolis young men arrested here last evening on the charge of having beaten and robbed John Nelmark of Embarrass, Minn., a few hours previously on the road a few miles from town, had a preliminary hearing before Judge H. D. Cooper yesterday afternoon and were held to the grand jury in $1,000 bonds each. Meanwhile in default of bail they are in the county jail at Carlton.

Witnesses of Lynching. Feeling ran pretty high against the accused here because of the brutal attack upon an innocent man. In these parts, who was on his way to visit a relative when attacked, and there were mutterings of lynching being pretty good in cases of this sort, but cooler judgment and a more liberal law will be allowed to take its course.

Nelmark, bearing evidence of the assault, was in court yesterday and identified the two as his assailants and the property for which they were held. He said he was carrying a watch valued at $11, as his property.

Mr. Nelmark's very broken English, in fact can hardly be understood. He was taken in by the two men, who were in the county jail at Carlton. County Attorney Lord appeared for the state. The accused men, when confronted by their victim, gave no evidence by appearance that they had ever seen him and were unconcerned throughout the entire court proceedings.

Nelmark on Stand Monday. While on the stand Mr. Nelmark said that he came to Moore Lake from Duluth and arrived here about Monday afternoon. He being his first trip here he inquired the way to the farm of the brother-in-law of the owner of the farm. While near the Soo depot he saw the two men and they started upon the highway. He followed them and they were people living in the country he saw no attention to them, but as they seemed to be following him he grew suspicious and slowed down for them. This they refused to do. He then started walking faster and they did likewise. As he neared the farm of his brother-in-law and in a lonely place in the road with heavy timber, struck him on the head from the rear, knocking him down, and then they came upon him and he immediately after going through his pockets, returning to town.

As near as can be ascertained he must have been there for an hour in the hot sun. About 7 William Wesley came along the road and saw the man and cared for him, taking him to a nearby farmer and telephoned the police in Moore Lake.

When Marshal Madsen was examined by the county attorney and produced the stolen automobile and the prisoners, Schmidt hung his head and became very nervous, while Schnovitch sat bold, upright, and insisted that he knew nothing about it. Both are young men, Science advised, and to have been willing to confess, but is undoubtedly buoyed up by the declaration of innocence of his partner. The prisoners were given an opportunity to plead guilty to the grand jury by Judge H. D. Cooper and their bond fixed at $1,000, in default of which they were placed in the jail at Carlton to await the next term of court.

ALICE COUNCIL TO CONSIDER MATTER

Question of Joining With Village of Hibbing Comes Up Tonight.

Hibbing, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council of Alice meets tonight for what may be its last meeting to consider the resolution passed by Hibbing council last week for the consolidation of the two towns. There are some things in the resolution which are not entirely agreeable to the council of Alice, but they are believed to be minor matters and it is expected that a council meeting at Alice tonight will accept the resolution and thus provide for the consolidation of Alice with Hibbing at an early date.

It is a matter of importance for the people of either Hibbing or Alice, or both, to hold elections upon the project, but there is thus far no public sentiment for an election in either town and it is not thought that an election will be petitioned for.

Provisions of Resolution. The resolution adopted by the local village council provides that all debts of Alice shall be assumed by Hibbing, that Hibbing shall collect all taxes now due Alice, etc., and that the village incorporate with Hibbing. It is also required by the resolution to secure within ten days a dismissal of the present action in the courts against the village of Alice and the written consent of the Hibbing village council to pay any taxes which may now be levied by Alice upon its property in the present village of Alice.

This is the close of the first year in the domestic science department at Otlett's school and results shown at the recent exhibit and today prove the efficiency of the work done under Miss McCoy's direction.

Hibbing Police Chief Makes War Upon Fast Motorists.

Hibbing, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archie McFadyen, chief of police, intends to put a stop to the practice of autoing through the streets of Hibbing at the rate of 25 to 30 miles an hour. In pursuance of this policy, during the past two days, five prominent citizens have been arrested, and are being held in the county jail at Carlton.

Nashauk, Minn., June 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Nashauk and Taconite teams played the second game at Taconite Sunday afternoon, which broke up in the seventh inning with the score tied 2 and 2, owing to a disputed decision by the umpire, who was a Taconite man. The game was a first class exhibition in all respects up to the seventh inning when the umpire pulled off an unfair decision on the part of the Nashauk team and the game was called by their manager. The Nashauk club will play the Stevenson team on the local diamond next Sunday. Nelson Selon who plays the mound for the local club last Sunday and struck out five men, will also perform Sunday.

DULUTH BUSINESS MEN FAVOR PROMPT ACTION ON THE CURRENCY BILL

Bankers Say Reform Is Needed and Needed at Once.

Congress Never in Better Position to Act Than Now.

Can't Get Much Worse System Than Present, Says
A. L. Ordean.

Do bankers and men engaged in other business wish for currency legislation at this time?

That is the question which The Herald asked last night, and today the leading bankers and business men of the city answer it. Taken as a whole the answer is very decidedly:

"Yes!"

Also, the collective opinion of the leading financial men of the city is that not only does the country need a new and improved currency system, but that it needs it so badly that Congress cannot deal with the question too soon; that now is the proper time to take such action as will result in a better time for Congress has at its command the most complete compilation of data on the subject that this country, and probably the world, has ever had prepared with the question in view of revising a financial system.

Another opinion heard expressed on every side when The Herald sent its representatives among the business men to sound them on the subject, was that a new currency system could not well be worse than the present, and that the chances for success are far in excess of those for failure in the quest of betterment.

That the substituting of a new system would not be embarrassing to financial interests or dangerous to business in general, was almost unanimously the opinion of those interviewed. Only one thought that it might be well to put the matter over until the next regular session of Congress in order to have the movement of the group out of the way, and he offered that merely as a suggestion.

In connection with such a proposed change, radical as it may be, the views of bankers, usually the most conservative when it comes to looking at innovations in financial systems, are of Friedrichshafen, Germany, June 19.—Count Zeppelin today declared that he was pledged not to accept any foreign orders for dirigible airships. He denied the report published in Vienna that he had agreed to build six airships for the Austrian army.

New York, June 19.—Twenty-seven attaches of Harlem hospital, three physicians, twelve graduate nurses and twelve men and women employees, attendants and orderlies, were ill in bed in the hospital today, all suffering from plomium poisoning. Each case was treated so quickly after discovery that it was not believed that the results in any case are likely to prove serious.

SENATORS BACK FROM WEST VIRGINIA TASK

More Testimony Is to Be Taken at the Capital.

Washington, June 19.—Three tired United States senators came back to Washington today after a week of strenuous investigation in the coal strike district of West Virginia. Senators Swanson, Kenyon and Martine, who concluded for a time their examination of witnesses at Charleston yesterday, returned to the senate to take up their legislative duties.

During a week in Charleston the committee examined nearly a hundred witnesses, worked ten or twelve hours a day, often sitting until after midnight and took 1,000,000 words of testimony.

The committee will resume hearings in Washington in a few weeks and will take up the charge of the West Virginia coal operators that the miners' union is in league with the United States competitive fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to ruin the West Virginia industry.

When the committee resumes, the

SUCCEEDS LEPIE AS HEAD OF PARIS POLICE

M. HENION.

Paris, June 19.—M. Henion has succeeded M. Lepie as prefect of police of Paris. Lepie became a world character and Henion is a worthy successor to him. The prefect of Paris has to keep order in the city, and his most important duty is to safeguard the visiting royalty. When the king of Spain visited Paris recently, Prefect Henion took remarkable precautions for his safety. In recognition of his services, King Alfonso gave the prefect a portrait of himself in a silver frame, with a dedication. The king's initials are outlined on the frame in diamonds and rubies.

Judge McPherson Sends Views to National Press Meeting.

Hodges of Sleepy Eye Is Slated for Treasurer of Society.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 19.—Election of officers and the selection of a meeting place for 1914 were the important matters unfinished before the National Press association convention at its closing session here this morning. There appeared to be no opposition to these nominees:

President—J. Clyde Oswald, New York.

Vice president—George E. Hamer, Fort Morgan, Colo.

Secretary—George Schkesser, Sioux Falls, S. D.

Treasurer—W. R. Hodges, Sleepy Eye, Minn.

An informal poll of delegates favored New Orleans for the 1914 convention city, with San Francisco almost a sure winner for 1915.

"Liberty of the Press."

One of the features of the morning session was the reading of a paper on the "Liberty of the Press," by Judge Smith McPherson of the United States district court of Iowa, by a delegate.

No judge has ever yet maintained his dignity and never will, by bringing an editor before the court and punishing him for abuse of animalistic instincts made through the columns of the newspaper.

It would be helpful to the courts if editors of learning and character would in a dignified and intelligent manner discuss the rulings of the courts, whether by commendation or whether by adverse criticism.

These statements were made in the paper by Judge McPherson, who discussed in a general way the relations that should exist between the courts and newspapers.

DOUBLE SUICIDE DUE TO LOSS OF FORTUNE

Letter Explains Fate of Childless Swiss Couple.

Zurich, Switzerland, June 19.—The mystery surrounding the suicide last Thursday of Eugene Maggi, reputed one of the wealthiest men in Switzerland, and his wife, has been cleared up by the discovery among Maggi's papers of a letter to his family saying that he had been irrevocably ruined financially and had decided to kill himself.

Underneath the letter was the following: "I believed myself rich and I was happy. My wife has just revealed to me that we are ruined, and announced his determination to die. My duty is to follow him in death. Adieu."

An investigation has confirmed the fact that M. Maggi had lost his fortune. When Maggi and his wife were found dead as a result of gas asphyxiation in their villa here, it was believed that the suicide had been prompted by the fact that Maggi's fortune, which was estimated at $10,000,000, they were greatly disappointed because they were childless.

Maggi was the owner of extensive

Administration Leaders at Washington Near End of Task.

Federal Reserve Banks
Constitute Feature of Measure.

Washington, June 19.—Administration leaders today began an earnest effort to whip the currency bill into shape and get into accord on every detail. With fundamentals and essentials agreed upon by President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo and Chairman Owen and Glass of the senate and house banking and currency committee, the leaders today and tomorrow will attempt to perfect it as an administration measure.

President Wilson now plans to read his currency message to Congress next Monday and the Owen-Glass bill will be introduced soon thereafter. By postponing presentation of the bill a few days the president hopes to secure absolute harmony.

Denies There Is Friction.

The president yesterday took occasion to deny specifically that Secretary Bryan had interjected a note of opposition to the currency bill. Mr. Wilson declared there was no disagreement in the cabinet and "not a shred of truth" in any reports of friction elsewhere.

The measure would revolutionize the financial system, especially the issue of currency, under the control of the government.

As now agreed upon, the country would be divided into not less than twelve regional reserve associations, and all national banks would be compelled to become members of the reserve association in their respective districts. State banks will be eligible to membership.

Federal Reserve Banks.

The reserve associations will organize Federal reserve banks in each district with a minimum capital of $5,000,000, which will be supplied by the membership banks at the rate of 20 per cent of their capital. These reserve banks will receive the deposits of the Federal government and thus prevent the treasury department from locking up great quantities of money from circulation.

The reserve banks will be a bank of banks, with the privilege of rediscounting commercial paper.

In the place of national bank notes.

MALE SUFFRAGIST IMITATES ACT OF EMILY W. DAVISON

Ascot, Eng., June 19.—Fired by the recent example of the late Miss Emily Wilding Davison during the race for the Derby, a male suffragist today committed suicide by flinging himself in front of August Belmont's 4-year-old Frater during the race for the valuable Ascot cup. His act deprived the American sportsman of a game chance of winning the trophy.

London, June 19.—The parish church at Bowley Regis, near Dudley, was destroyed by fire last night with a loss of $30,000. The fire is attributed to suffragettes.

MANY CUTS IN TARIFFS MADE

Senate Committee Still Has Added $5,000,000 to Revenue.

Joker in Sugar Schedule Is Discovered and Remedied.

Washington, June 19.—Democratic members of the senate finance committee who have completed their revision of the rate schedules in the Underwood tariff bill, making many reductions in nearly every schedule and additions to the free list, declare that the total of their alterations will increase the estimated revenue to be derived from the bill as it passed the house by more than $5,000,000.

The bulk of this increase has been provided by taking bananas from the free list and making them dutiable at 5 cents a bunch, on the ground that they are controlled absolutely by a monopoly and by the repeal of an act which exempted brandies used in fortifying wines from the full internal revenue tax of $1.10 a gallon. These two changes, the committee estimates, will bring an annual revenue of about $3,000,000.

Caucus Is Called.

Senator Kern, the majority leader, sent out today a call for all Democratic senators to attend the party caucus tomorrow, when there will be a final consideration of the tariff measures before it is reported to the senate for general debate.

The majority of the finance committee continued work today on the administrative section of the bill. An effort will be made to have those features conform to a tariff designed to foster competition. Some of the more drastic provisions of the Underwood bill will be revised.

Joker Is Hoisted Out.

An eleven-hour discovery that the sugar schedule of the Underwood bill had a "joker" in it which would have operated to make all refined sugars dutiable at 2 cents a pound and nullify the provision for free sugar after the Payne-Adair bill relating to conference with the finance committee.

Senator Underwood, who had been the duties on standard of color, which has been tariff bills for many years. It was discovered, made applicable to all refined sugar a paragraph from the Payne-Adair bill relating to conference with the finance committee.

CLAIM TESTATRIX DEMANDED MURDER

Relatives of Georgia Woman Will Contest Her Will.

Atlanta, Ga., June 19.—Relatives of Mrs. Barbara Dodd, a wealthy Atlanta society woman who died recently leaving $100,000 to Mercer university and large sums to charity, will attempt to prove in superior court that they were cut off by Mrs. Dodd because certain of them had refused to kill or maim Dr. J. H. Garner, Mrs. Dodd's divorced husband. These charges are made in an appeal from the ruling of the Fulton county ordinary, who recently upheld the will.

Mrs. Dodd was the widow of Philip Dodd, a merchant of Atlanta, Ga. After his death she married Dr. Garner, from whom she was divorced.

In gaining the right to carry the case to the superior court, Mrs. Dodd's relatives attacking the will charge that she attempted to get certain of them to kill the doctor or injure him by throwing vitriol in his face.

KANSAS CITY WAGES AIRED

Department Store Girls
Often Are Paid Only
$4.50 a Week.

Glove and Biscuit Concerns' Employees Talk to Legislators.

Kansas City, Mo., June 19.—Clerks from practically every department store in the city were on hand to testify before the senate committee investigating the wages of women in Kansas City when the session opened today. The committee had invited all the heads of the department stores to appear without subpoenas, and a number of employees appeared after the session was well begun.

Testimony showed that the salaries commonly paid in department stores run generally from $5 to $6.50. In many instances, though, clerks are paid only $4.50.

Testimony offered by employees of the Ross Glove Manufacturing company before the senate committee investigating glove wages, probably will lead to the establishment before the committee. The manager will be asked to explain why girls are not paid salaries due them for the first week of their employment at the end of that week, and other methods pertaining to the system of paying employees.

Half a dozen witnesses in the employ of the company testified that the method of holding back their first week's salary often threw them into

EIGHTY WOMEN ARE BURNED TO DEATH BY RUSSIAN VILLAGERS

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Eighty women were burned to death by villagers engaged in the liquidation of cheap girl laborers to work on a sugar estate in the district of Pskov, in the province of Pskov, Southern Russia, according to the Kiev newspaper Litsl.

The excited villagers first secured entrance all the means of exit from a wooden barn in which the girls were housed. The flames were kindled by the villagers who were still asleep, and all were burned to death without a chance to escape.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MANAGER TELLS HIS STAR LOBBY STORY

WROTE FINDING DOCK CONTROL CASE

M. E. STONE, General Manager of the Associated Press.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner.

DOCKS COME UNDER LAW

Interstate Commerce Commission Defines Its Powers in Pensacola Case.

Orders Abatement of Discrimination at Railroad Owned Wharves.

Washington, June 19.—"Wharves and the tracks leading there, owned by a rail carrier engaged in interstate commerce and used for receiving and delivering property moving by rail in interstate and foreign commerce, are subject to the act to regulate commerce; and the regulations and practices affecting their use must be reasonable and nondiscriminatory."

This broad principle was laid down today by the interstate commerce commission in its report of investigation into the use of wharfage facilities at Pensacola, Fla.

The report contains general conclusions applicable to all interstate railroads, which own or control wharves at any port in the United States.

The commission held that the regulations and practices of the Louisville & Nashville railroad in the administration of its wharves were unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory, and that it was ordered by Aug. 15 to cease such practices as the commission found discriminatory.

No Discrimination in Duluth.

No discrimination is practiced at railroad-owned docks in Duluth, freight being received from and delivered to any boat line applying, and the docks being opened on the same terms to all lines.

The principle laid down in the Pensacola decision follows very close to the opinion in the Flour City case and the decision in the administration of its wharves were unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory, and that it was ordered by Aug. 15 to cease such practices as the commission found discriminatory.

The situation undoubtedly comes under the interstate commerce act," said Mr. Hamlin, who was shot yesterday.

Mr. Hamlin, who was shot yesterday, is now well settled that the interstate commerce commission has jurisdiction over everything having to do with interstate commerce.

M. E. Stone Testifies Before Senate Committee at Washington.

Produces Letters From Hamlin and Others on Subject.

Arbuckle Statement the Beginning of the Whole Affair.

Washington, June 19.—Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, testified at his own request today before the senate committee regarding the claims contained in some of the correspondence of Clarence C. Hamlin as to publicity the sugar men had hoped to obtain through the Associated Press. Hamlin's letters had been read into the committee's record two days ago after having been subpoenaed from the files of the United States Beet Sugar industry.

Before Mr. Stone testified, Senator Newlands took a witness chair to make a brief statement concerning the use of his name in some of the correspondence introduced yesterday.

Presented His Letters.

Mr. Stone produced his letters and records bearing on the demands of the beet sugar interests for publicity through the news association. He testified that on Oct. 12, 1911, John Arbuckle, a sugar refiner, when leaving for Europe, had given out an interview favoring free raw sugar.

That interview was carried by the Associated Press, he said. On Oct. 18 a short interview given out by Clarence C. Hamlin at Colorado Springs, answering the Arbuckle interview, was also carried by the Associated Press. The Arbuckle statement he said, was about 1,000 words long; the Hamlin statement about 140 words.

Mr. Hamlin then wrote Mr. Stone asking that the beet sugar interests be given "as good treatment as the sugar refiners."

One From Hamlin.

Mr. Hamlin's letter was:

"I am writing you as chairman of the United States Beet Sugar industry, an organization which includes practically all of the beet sugar interests of this country, and if anything further is needed to give that which I have to say credit, I would refer you to any of the papers in Denver as well as to Senator Guernsey and Senators Clark and Warren of Wyoming, also to Senator S. Morley of Denver, president of the Great Western Sugar company, with whom you are personally acquainted."

"Publicity is the last thing I wish to seek personally, but in the case of the great industry which I represent,

Surgeon General of the United States Addresses Doctors.

Socialization of Medicine Advocated at Minneapolis Meeting.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third day of the American medical association's annual convention opened this morning in fifteen sessions in the various buildings at the University of Minnesota.

While most of the doctors were absorbed in the discussions before the convention, the political bee was working overtime. The election of officers will be held late this afternoon, and the city for the next meeting will be selected. Louisville, New Orleans, Washington and Atlantic City are all making bids.

The house of delegates at its morning session adopted a resolution presented by the committee on constitution and bylaws, extending the terms of the secretaries of the various sections from one year to two.

Leprosy is steadily increasing in the United States, according to Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon-general of the United States public health service. Dr. Blue's address told of the continued propagation of the disease.

HERALD BRANCH:

MAY ASK CITY TO TAKE INITIATIVE

Long Delay in Improvement of Thoroughfare Irrksome to Business Men.

Residents of the West end are beginning to be of the opinion that there will be nothing done this year toward having a thoroughfare between West end and West Duluth. They want to know how long it will be before the city commission will take steps to have either Grand avenue or West Superior and Onota streets paved.

"I have seen logging roads in the back woods which were much better than the drive over," said a merchant, who some years ago was in the lumbering business. "It is a shame that something is not done to give Duluth at least one good highway between the West end and West Duluth." It is claimed that more than half of the small property owners on Superior and Onota streets are willing to sign a petition for the improvement. The only drawback to this half of the property owners is that the improvement is less than one-fourth of the property.

It is said that over three-fourths of the property between Twenty-fifth and Forty-sixth avenues which requires the payment of a tax on the improvement, some of which are willing to pay their share of the cost, but will not sign petitions for the improvement. The heaviest holder is the 800 Line railroad, which owns over two-thirds of the property on the lower side of the street. The other corporations owning a large share of property are the D. M. & N. Northern Pacific, Duluth Street Railway company, R. A. Patrick & Co., Duluth Branch, E. C. Malling company.

It is proposed that the majority of the property owners to ask the city commission to exercise the initiative in ordering this paving and then put up to the opponents of the improvement to get out the adverse petition. This they believe will not be accomplished while they are of the opinion that it may be attempted.

An estimate of the cost of the improvement has been placed at between $175,000 and $200,000.

WANT RAILROAD STREET EXTENDED

West End Business Men Object to Loss of Time in Freight Hauls.

Business men of the West end will present a request to have an extension of Railroad street made so that it may be accessible from this end of the city. The subject will be taken up at the next meeting of the West End Commercial club, which will be held next week.

The merchants point out that at present it is necessary for teamsters to go to Fifth or Sixth avenue west in order to get the subject on cars at Tenth or Eleventh avenue west or at the 800 docks. They claim that by opening the street so that teamsters can have access to the thoroughfare from Garfield avenue a great deal of time will be saved, as well as the cost of moving the stuff made cheaper.

The matter will be taken up with both the railroad and the city commission and the two will be asked to work together in accomplishing the opening of the street.

ROMANCE LEADS TO POOR HOUSE

Mine Owner From Far West Claims "Mother" Elizabeth.

Kansas City Mo., June 19.—Out at the Wyandotte county farm at Horonoff a little, quiet, sad-faced woman with white hair was the one always called upon to nurse the sick. She was so patient and her touch so soothing, she always knew when and how to do the right thing, seemed so motherly about it. No one knew more about her than that her name was Elizabeth, her age 62.

William P. Johns, farmer, Leavenworth county, Mo., who was taken to the asylum sixteen years ago, he rented the farm and went West. Yes, there was a silver mine in the story and it had made good—good enough for two old folks. He heard from a friend that the little wife had left the asylum cured, but no one knew where she had gone. But it was all right now.

All the properties are vacant, most of them having been stripped down to the window shades. The law-enforcement commissioner was thoroughly satisfied that there is "nothing doing" below the old dead line.

BUILDING IN WEST DULUTH

Lines of Construction Work.

Building activity in Duluth will center in West Duluth this summer. A great many dwellings in various parts of this end of the city are springing up and many new business blocks and churches are being erected.

It is estimated that the cost of new business blocks to be erected and now under construction will exceed $100-000, while a similar amount will easily be expended in the construction of new homes. Church buildings, of which seven will be started and some completed this year, will exceed $100-

MORE MEN THAN JOBS IN MILLS

With more men applying for positions than there were jobs to fill, the Alger-Smith sawmill started working night shifts last evening. The starting of the night shift at the Virginia, Rainy Lake mill on Grassy Point was postponed until Monday owing to the bad weather last night.

Superintendents of both mills say that there has been a shortage of men in the mill formerly employed while a few are on outside of the city. The reference is given the local men in getting the work, said the superintendent at the Virginia, Rainy Lake mill.

A few of the strikers intend attempting to continue the strike. The strike of the recently formed union started this morning that the majority of the union men are on outside of the city.

the seventh and eighth grades of the school. Last year this party went to Pike Lake and spent nearly a week at the place, and the year before they went to Fond du Lac for the outing.

BOYS HIKING TO LAKE NEBAGAMON

Harold G. House, principal of the Six school, left this morning with a crowd of twelve boys for a short outing at Lake Nebagamon. The party will return home Saturday evening.

This is the third annual outing of the boys under the charge of Mr.
House. The boys are hiking to the place and carrying with them full camping outfits, many expect to arrive at the lake late this afternoon.

TOO FEARED OF CHICKENS

But They Were Innocent
Feathered Kind, the Judge Learned.

Asked by Judge Cutting in police court this morning why she and her husband were unable to get along together, Mrs. Mary Snell, plaintiff in the assault case brought against Joseph J. Snell, declared that Snell is more fond of chickens than he is of her.

Even a slight hinting was compelled to laugh at the answer and when he told
Mrs. Snell to explain what she meant, she enlightened the court with the information that her husband runs a small chicken farm and that he constantly works among the chickens.

THE ENORMOUS BENEFITS OF TRUST-BUSTING.

There are vast benefits in "busting" the trusts.

Only it is the trusts that get the benefits, apparently, and not the people.

The oil trust, for instance, has been "busted" most thoroughly. It was charged with violating the anti-trust law, convicted, sentenced to capital punishment and the sentence has been executed.

Is oil lower? Not yet, and there is no sign of it.

Has competition been restored? Before the oil trust was split up into many fragments by court decree there was a single Standard Oil selling office in Duluth. The same selling office is here now, and there are no more.

But the benefits—they are very tangible. Only the people didn't get them.

The decree dissolving the oil trust went into effect in December, 1911, a year and a half ago.

Since then the regular dividends of the several companies formerly constituting the oil trust have amounted to $86,500,000.

In addition there have been extra distributions amounting to $306,000,000 more.

Bonuses arising from the privilege of buying new stock at less than its market value have amounted to $27,500,000.

The total distributed to stockholders in the oil trust since it was officially executed and officially declared to be dead amounts to the impressive sum of $420,000,000.

Who says that there are no benefits in trust-busting?

Ask any oil trust stockholder, if you don't believe there are any benefits in it.

Tokio agitators are posting placards bearing a quotation from Patrick Henry. Is this an attempt to get back at us for the Japanese schoolboy stuff?

THE CURSE OF THE PORK BARREL.

The most disgraceful and most expensive institution connected with the government of this nation is the "pork barrel." By a system of mutual exchange of courtesies out of the public treasury at public expense but for private political profit, the nation's money is squandered yearly in enormous amounts.

The New York Sun has had Charles Edward Russell prepare an elaborate article covering the subject, from which a few striking facts setting forth the situation are gathered.

For instance, one custom house is maintained at an annual cost of $4,418, and last year it collected one lone dollar. Another, at a cost of $362,40, collected nothing at all. Another, for $977, collected twenty-three dollars. Still another, costing $1,127, collected nothing, and one at a cost of $1,070 also collected nothing.

Obviously these custom houses are not worth maintaining. They are maintained simply to provide jobs for local retainers of United States senators.

The rivers and harbors bill is a notorious pork barrel. As a specimen of its workings, take Trinity river, in Texas. The government has spent on this project $1,952,265. In order to make a navigable stream it will be necessary, besides digging a channel, to fill it with water from artesian wells, and to build thirty-five dams. Two of these dams are built, and it will take ten millions to do the rest. And it does not appear even that the artesian water to fill the channel when completed is to be forthcoming.

If the pork barrel is this easy, why not a canal from Duluth to the Mississippi? The water could easily be pumped up to Virginia out of Lake Superior, and allowed to run back through the canal.

The government has poured $6,317,500 into the improvement of the Kentucky river; and last year's traffic on that stream cost the nation thirty dollars a ton.

The government has spent $3,191,000 on the Tennessee river, and for maintenance alone, in 1910, the cost was five dollars for every ton of freight handled.

The traffic on the Red river is costing at the rate of $1.95 per ton.

Pretty dear freights? Oh, the government pays it! These are merely evidences of what it means to spend money on wateryway improvements without reckoning the element of commercial practicability.

Another pork barrel prolific in abuse is the public building bill. Here are a few samples of public buildings recently authorized:

Town.	Population.	Cost of Building.
Arkadelphia, Ark.	2,745	$100,000
Jasper, Ala.	2,500	100,000
Glenwood Springs, Colo.	2,000	100,000
Hellefouche, S. D.	1,300	75,000
Willows, Cal.	1,100	75,000
Norton, Va.	57,438	1,250,000
Buffalo, Wyo.	1,368	62,500

These seven villages, with a total of 12,813 people, are to have $87,500 for public buildings, or at the rate of $45 for every man, woman and child.

At that rate the government ought to allow Duluth $3,600,000 for its new postoffice building.

New York, at the same rate, would be entitled to a public building costing $24,500,735.

Useless navy yards, maintained for political reasons, are absorbing a great deal of money. There are eleven navy yards, and the following are admittedly valueless:

Portsmouth.	Cost.	Maintenance.	Annual.
Portsmouth.	$18,838,001	$428,593	$428,593
Boston.	20,384,227	915,535	915,535
New York.	57,438,378	1,250,000	1,250,000
Charleston.	4,740,768	142,952	142,952

Thirty years ago a secretary of the navy said the Portsmouth and Boston navy yards were useless, and urged their abandonment. They are still draining up the treasury.

Truly, the taxpayer is an easy horse to ride.

The dog-days would seem like an appropriate time for the revival of the houn' dawg song.

THEY CAN HELP A LOT.

The smoke inspector appointed by the city government reports that the owners of buildings generally are eager to co-operate in abating the smoke nuisance.

That helps a great deal.

Besides, consumers of coal, through the saving in heat cost brought about by burning the smoke instead of pouring it out the chimneys, will be the chief gainers by the reform.

Only the laundries, the clothes cleaners and the coal men profit by neglect of this important work.

A Michigan judge claims to have caught a twenty-pound trout, of course, though, this is an argument for the recall, unless possibly of judicial opinions.

HE IS "SUNNY JIM" NOW.

James J. Hill, though sometimes given to pessimism, and never prone to over-enthusiasm about the prospect for prosperity, is too wise a head to be deceived by the little things that have scared the Wall Street speculators.

In a New York interview, while admitting that money is hard to get, he said:

Half the people in Wall Street do not know what they are as blue as indigo about.

The man who is selling "short," which means that he thinks things are going to smash, is going to suffer for it.

Such speculations as we have had are troublesome, but foolish to think about in view of the fact that we shall get ten billions of new wealth out of the ground this year.

It is nonsense to suppose that the government is bent on upsetting things.

This is the time to keep a clear head, and not to get rattled.

In the face of the decision of the supreme court in the Minnesota rate cases, this is cheerful conversation, and highly becoming to Mr. Hill.

Moreover, it's all true, every word of it.

The senators have decided to put agoras goat hair on the freed list, they've changed that list so often that the country will think that even in this they are only kidding.

ANOTHER TWILIGHT ZONE DISAPPEARANCE.

Secretaries Houston, McAdoo and Redfield of the Wilson cabinet have ruled that meat and meat products in interstate commerce must come under the provisions of the pure food law.

The surprising thing about this to most people will be that such food products were not already subject to the wholesome regulations of the food and drug act.

But the fact is that in October, 1906, four months after the passage of the pure food law, the government adopted a regulation which prevented the department of agriculture from prosecuting manufacturers of meat foods under that law, or from ordering seizures for misbranding or adulteration of meat and meat products.

Theodore Roosevelt was then president and James Wilson was secretary of agriculture.

The only regulation to which meat products were subject, after that, was that of the meat inspection law, which reached only meat carcasses and portions of carcasses in the hands of packers and wholesalers. Whatever happened to these food products after that was utterly untouched by law. They might spoil, and be doctored up and offered for sale, or they might be misbranded or adulterated freely.

The law had nothing to say about it. Under the new ruling meat and meat products in interstate commerce will be subject to wholesome regulation at all stages. If it is not reached by the meat inspection law it will be by the pure food law.

Why this gap should have existed for seven years is hard to understand. The government under President Wilson is to be congratulated for having closed it.

Senator Colt says he never heard of any lobby, and Senator Smith says he has been surrounded by them. Washington must be a most all-fired big place.

WHEN THE TELEGRAPH DISPATCHES ERRED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your last night's paper—also in others—it is stated that the new Norwegian immigrant ship Kristianstad, just arrived in New York from Christiania, Norway, marks a new era in the maritime history of Norway—that there has not heretofore been any direct communication between the United States and Norway.

This is not correct. There were five boats which had direct connection, bringing freight, passengers and emigrants to New York until the hard times, which set in in the United States from the year 1873. These boats went afterwards in the Oriental freight trade. They hailed from the city of Bergen, Norway. There are also at present direct lines from Christiania touching United States and Mexican ports, besides lines to the Orient, and a lot of short route lines. Yours respectfully,

Duluth, June 18. ODIN EBBESSEN.

THAT MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PLANT

To the Editor of The Herald:

As a plaintiff in your Open Court I wish to present to the jury—the electors of Duluth—the very simple question: "Why am I, as a citizen and taxpayer of Duluth, robbed of the benefit of cheaper service from a municipal electric lighting plant?"

More than two years have passed since the legislature of Minnesota authorized the city of Duluth to issue $700,000 electric light bonds for the purpose of building a municipal electric light plant, when the people should have voted such bonds. At the city election held in February, 1912, the people of Duluth did vote such bonds by a majority—5,374 votes against only 3,829 nays.

At this same election in February, 1912, the principal issue was a municipal electric lighting plant, and the aldermen were elected on that issue.

More than a year passed, and the council of aldermen did absolutely nothing to carry out the demands of the people for a municipal electric lighting plant, as expressed at the election of Feb. 6, 1912.

In the election of commissioners in April last, one of the chief questions put to the candidates was this same question: "Do you believe in and will you vote for municipal ownership of public utilities and especially an electric lighting plant?" A majority of the candidates declared for such ownership. And if my memory does not fail me, the majority of the commissioners elected declared for such ownership. The fifth one, the mayor, gave a qualified answer.

I submit to the jury—the electors of Duluth—that I have made out my case: The legislature authorized the bonds for a municipal electric lighting plant; the electors of Duluth voted the bonds; our commissioners elected declared for municipal ownership of public utilities and especially of a municipal electric lighting plant; and yet nothing has been done to give the people what they demanded.

Citizen and taxpayer of Duluth I ask at the hands of the jury a verdict that will give me cheaper municipal electric light. Our commissioners' efforts to clean up Duluth physically and morally are deserving of praise; let them "light up" as well as clean up. Respectfully, 101 South Twentieth avenue east. Duluth, June 18.

Self-Dependence.

Weariness of myself and sick of asking "What I am, and what I ought to be." At this vessel's prow I stand, which bears me Forward, forward, o'er the starlit sea.

And a look of passionate desire O'er the sea and to the stars I send; "Ye whippersnappers! child hood you have calmed me, Calm me, ah, compose me to the end!"

On my heart your mighty charm renew: Still, still let me, as I gaze upon you, Feel my soul becoming vast like you!

From the intense, clear, starry dawn Over the sea's unquiet wave, In the rustling night air came the answer:

"Wouldst thou be as these are? Live as they."

"Unafraid by the silence round them, Undistracted by the sights they see, These demand not that the things without them Yield them love, amusement, sympathy."

"And with joy the stars perform their shining, And the sea its long moon-silvered roll: For self-poise they live, nor pine with nothing."

All the fever of some differing soul.

"Bounded by themselves and unregardful In what state God's other works may be, In their own tasks all their powers pouring, These attain the mighty life you see."

O air-born voices! long since, severely clear, A cry like thine in mine own heart I hear—"Resolve to be thyself, and know that he Who finds himself loses his misery!"

Washington, June 19.—(Special to The Herald).—The most wonderful exploit of human virility and physical energy, in peaceful walk, is the construction of the Panama canal. It is a stupendous undertaking and the fruit of a matchless genius for adventurous enterprise. Again the deeds of the opposing forces at Gettysburg, fifty years ago, discovered to the world that the American is the equal of any son of Mars, ancient or modern. With a soil and climate and material resources undreamed of by the most intelligent and the most self-reliant in the world, with a railroad mileage of 244,175 against 177,385 miles for all Europe with steam power, perhaps, equal to the rest of the world, on land, with law and liberty, churches and schools, the employment of laboring machinery to beat the rest of mankind.

With all these, the Hon. Penrose, Billy Alden Smith, Eldon Smith of the Mormon college, Francis E. Warren of the Sheep Walk, Theodore Roosevelt of the Great Bear, and the Hon. Victor Murdock of Wichita, Bill Chandler of New England, and Bill Bradley of Kentucky, to name a few, are the most intelligent and the most self-reliant in the world, with a railroad mileage of 244,175 against 177,385 miles for all Europe with steam power, perhaps, equal to the rest of the world, on land, with law and liberty, churches and schools, the employment of laboring machinery to beat the rest of mankind.

MINNEAPOLIS sport writers have fallen heir to the habit of making the iron range the goat of location and the scene of civic righteousness and police power.

Every once in a while when they want to pull one of these gentle sources and desire devotedly to let the thing, also not to tip the iron mitt to those who hold that a rigid and stern rule should frown upon the frolics with the padded mitt, these writers advertise the affair as one going to be held before one of the "Minnesota Iron Range fight clubs."

We don't mind the implication so much as we do the idea that the hale and hearty sports of this section of the country would fall for some of the stunts they are pulling. Old war horse Lefe Sauro was one of the headlines down in that country until his game was blown by a boxer from this neck of the woods, and they have never pulled a show with anyone that anyone else has ever heard of. That is the rub of the thing and the real reason why we at this time wish to register the complaint in regard to making the Northern part of the state the fall guy.

For one we hope the news in yesterday's Herald concerning the sale of Rube Schauer is true—also the price. For years and years, during the lapse of which young men have grown gray of beard and tottering of step and fair maids have passed from the light and fantastic tread stage to the dotting age of the crazy quilt occupation, Superior has vainly sought to draw the attention of this big world. Just the other day one of the citizens of the little city across the bay proposed a new state, in order that those searching for Superior would be confronted with less difficulty. But it has remained for a green recruit from the mesquite to make the mere black dot on the Rand & McNally fraught with interest and significant of meaning.

In the future, let us hope, those tourists passing through Superior on their way to Duluth, will nudge each other and stop reading one of the latest Bob Chambers' effusions regarding love and heroics, and will gaze upon the sun baked streets of the little city that gave forth to the baseball world the famous Rube Schauer, the star twirler of the New York Nationals, the Christy Mathewson of 1918.

Also there will be something for Mickey McDonald to write about. Goodness knows the boy has been grievously handicapped in the long and irksome search for material. He has written often regarding "hundreds of fans who are arriving in the city from all parts of the Northwest," and then the fans, unappreciative of this kindly mention, failed to come.

But now the case is different. There is a real pitcher who has been sold for real money, and to behold the time is ripe to reel off reams of copy. It is not in the mood of poignant pique, because of not having a $10,000 beauty upon this side of the bay, that we write thusly; on the other hand it is in real and genuine joy for Superior to see the fans who have been sold for real money, and to behold the time is ripe to reel off reams of copy. Taking this sale of Schauer altogether, it is a splendid thing and one that can't help but make the average citizen a bigger and better booster for his little city, and make the enthusiasm of that slogan, "50,000 people in 2,000 A. D." genuine and even boisterous at times.

We stand on the bridge of time and watch 'em pass. Artie Hoffman, once the greatest utility man of the age, has been given the sack by Pittsburgh and is going down to the minors. Two short years ago there would have been few bold enough to predict the fall of the unquenchable Cub. But time is the leveller of all lofty opinions; the humbler of spirit, the gravest and greatest teacher of the age, and she has decreed in the case of Hoffman.

Slagle, small and dashing, passed on to the minors and the world wondered for the day. Steinfield felt the burden of the years and again the busy world turned aside for the moment and gravely regarded the passing of one of the stellar lights of the national pastime. Lundgren, Cole, Heister, and others of the old machine have bowed to the exactions of the wear of the years and moved on to make room for the grim intolerance of youth. And now Hoffman goes, and we note it, this passing of a great player, for, Bill, tomorrow the world will have forgotten.

BILL, just listen to this—the combined wealth of the eight members of the Harvard crew who nabbed the money they are hopeful of nabbing—is just $45,000,000. Woo! Woo! There are some, no doubt dusted and begrimed with the dust of honest toil, perspiration and a profuse discontent, mayhap with the hours between the bellowing of the whistle, who have labored in the pessimistic belief that those afflicted with the wealth habit were as a rule delicate creatures, raised as the tender plant is carefully nurtured in the greenhouse and anemic to the point of the milk diet.

But after considering the facts in the case of dear Harvard's crew, we are forced to come to the conclusion that some of the noble scions of wealthy houses are surely upon friendly speaking terms with the red corpuscle and are quite able to look a rare and juicy steak in the face without blanching and yelling hysterically for James to come and remove the hideous cause of indignation and those other maladies of the beef eaters. Oh heavens no—nothing like in the case of these eight presumptive heirs to the grand old kick-aboo kale stuff.

DOOKS LOSE FIRST GAME

Winona Takes Series Opener By Beating Blanche 3 to 2.

Pirates Score All Their Runs in First With Two Out.

Winona, Minn., June 19.—Duluth lost the first game of the series here yesterday to the Winona Pirates by the score of 3 to 2. In the first inning, with two down, the locals hit for three doubles behind a pass and all three of the runs were counted. After this Blanche settled down and pitched grand baseball and was given some great support. The Sox never came up and kept coming all through the game, but the one run that would have tied up the game could not be secured, so effectively was young Snow going against the visitors.

The White Sox had the regular lineup for the first time since leaving home and the team looks like a real winner. There was not an error charged to the visitors and some glittering stunts were pulled off in the field.

The result:
Duluth..... 0
Winona..... 3
Blanche..... 2

Schauer kept up the sensational work he has been doing since he broke into professional company, and yesterday defeated the Rangers with the help of his teammates by the score of 3 to 2.

Rube Waddell was on the mound for the home club and he showed some of the traits of his wonderful past. The big fellow had his fast ball working nicely and his curves were breaking well, striking out seven of the visitors and holding them in the pinches. Three of the visitors' runs were scored off the pitching of Tony Faeth.

BRONKS WIN FIRST FROM THE FORKERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—Minneapolis took the opening game of the Grand Forks series by the score of 6 to 3. The game was a close one, but the home team was effective throughout. Myers wasn't hard to solve and was succeeded by Nevitt, an Indian, whom Bill Carney singled yesterday. The Indians showed a good assortment of stuff.

The score:

St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—St. Paul lost the game of yesterday by the score of 11 to 3. Winnipeg finding Le Clair and Wiggin very easy picking. Six of the visitors' runs were scored in the opening round and nearly all the game was over before the Saints started to lambast his curves.

National Commission May Decide Dispute Over Notre Dame Star.

Chicago, June 19.—The national commission probably will be called upon to decide between the Chicago Cubs and the Chicago Americans and the New York Nationals for the services of Pitcher Lathrop, the Notre Dame star. "Bobby" Lynch of the Notre Dame coach, induced Lathrop to sign an agreement to join the White Sox last fall, but "Dick" Kinsella, scout for the Giants, persuaded Lathrop to join the Giants. The fact that Lynch was not an authorized agent of the Chicago team when he signed Lathrop is said to make the New York case strong.

MINNEAPOLIS TO HOLD MEET
Weston and Several Famous Athletes Will Feature the Program.

On Aug. 2, at Northrop field, the Minneapolis Athletic club will treat the people of the Twin Cities to the greatest athletic exhibition that has ever been given in the Northwest.

The program will consist of the regular track events, a Marathon race and a walking match between Edward Weston and two men who are over 65 years of age.

The one who equals or breaks this record in the meet Aug. 2, will be the winner of the $10,000 prize. The men are already in strict training for the different relay races to be run between teams from high schools, grade schools, preparatory colleges, universities and various companies of the state militia.

The time for the Marathon should be fast since the course will be ideal, and with six weeks left yet to get into condition for it, many men should be in shape to stay with the leaders the whole way and fight it out for first place in the last two miles on the Northrop field.

REGATTA DATE CHANGED AGAIN

Secretary Jack Macgregor of the Duluth Boat club yesterday scolded the answer of the local club to the query of the officials of the Minnesota Boat club regarding the postponement of the date of the regatta.

It was stated that the date of the regatta had been changed from July 18 and 19 to July 25 and 26. Because of the fact that the oarsmen of the Winnipeg club had been competing in the Canadian Henley at St. Catharines, it was later decided to change the date back to the original date.

As all of the clubs of the Northwest International Rowing club had agreed to the date with the exception of the local club, it was decided yesterday that the Duluth club would stand alone in the way of the change. It has not been decided definitely whether the regatta will be held at the Duluth club or at the St. Paul club.

St. Louis Mo., June 19.—Eddie Meekins, the light heavyweight, last night was awarded the popular decision over Harry Trendall of St. Louis in an eight-round bout.

COLLEGE MEN AWAIT OUTCOME OF BIG RACES

Yale Meets Harvard at New London Friday Afternoon.

Big College Crews to Race at Poughkeepsie Course Saturday.

(BY BRUCE.)
Duluth's Yale and Harvard men are today earnestly and keenly speculating upon the chances of the crew of their respective schools in the big eight oared race of tomorrow which will be rowed over the historic course at Gales Ferry, which is the famous course of New London.

For the first time in the past six years the critics of the East accord Yale something like a chance to defeat the Crimson and thus wrest back some of the honor that has been lost during the somewhat disastrous defeats of the past years.

Utterly disheartened, with the Yale system of rowing because of the successive defeats at the hands of Harvard, athletic authorities of New Haven under the direction of W. Averill Harriman, son of the late railroad magnate, have sought to utterly revise the methods formerly employed. The contest of tomorrow will give the public an inkling as to whether this radical revision has been crowned with success.

Alister Kirby and Harcourt Gold, said to be two of the greatest oarsmen who ever sat in an Oxford shell, have been assisting the young Yale millionaire in working out the change in the rowing system of the school that used to be supreme upon the water under the direction of Bob Cook, whose track teams of the blue were invincible upon the cinder track under the skilled direction and iron-willed discipline of Mike Murphy.

Stroke Is Low.
Yale's stroke is low, according to the statement of the experts, and these are those who believe that most of the stroke will be rowed by the blues at stroke around the 30 mark, with the exception of the first and last parts of the contest, when the Elis will probably hit the stroke up to 32.

On the whole, the opinion is expected to row 32 or 34 for most of the distance, which will mean that the stroke will be brought up to around 36 at the finish.

While the Yale stroke is low, lower, in fact, than a vast number of the critics and followers of rowing fancy, it is nevertheless the opinion of some very well informed authorities of the sport that the drive is exceptionally powerful and the stroke very long and possessing a beautiful catch.

France has won the cup twice and the French cavalry officers will make a desperate effort to win it for the third time and take it with them across the channel as their permanent property. Russia and Belgium have won the cup once each. England does not want the $2,500 trophy to become the property of a foreign power, and 100 British cavalry officers have been training for its defense at various army posts for several months.

The trophy is competed for by officers of the various nations. They have to go twice round the course, jumping obstacles of various sorts ranging in height from three feet, six inches to five feet six inches.

Fewer American Exhibitors.
In the other competitions American horses are not quite so numerous as in former years. Judge W. H. Moore of Philadelphia is one of the biggest exhibitors with about forty carriages and coaching horses. One of his closest rivals is Miss Mona Dunn, the 16-year-old daughter of a prominent member of the Canadian colony, who has entered a string of thirty-five horses.

A new American competitor is Edward B. McLean of Washington with a stable of eight horses which have been insured for $100,000. J. Sumner Draper of Boston, Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Walter Winans are other American exhibitors.

Some valuable prizes have been offered by Americans, including the Newport cup given by Alfred G. Vanderbilt for the best single harness horse; the two cups given by Col. Lawrence Jones of Louisville, Ky., for the best harness horse exceeding

HORSE SHOW IN LONDON

Feature Is Riding and Jumping Competition for Army Officers.

American Exhibitors Are Not So Numerous as in Former Years.

London, June 19.—The outstanding feature of this year's international horse show at Olympia, which opened today with over 4,000 entries and 111 classes, is the riding and jumping competition for the King Edward VII gold cup for teams of three officers representing the armies of the various nations. The American army is unrepresented on this occasion, but the keenest rivalry exists among the seven other entries—France, Great Britain, Canada, Belgium, Italy, Russia and Sweden.

PEACEABLE FOLKS.
Indiana's News: Inhabitants of the Balkan provinces are not the warlike, ferocious people that popular imagination is apt to picture them. The Servians, for example, are a genuine simple peasant folk. The Servians practice the art of co-operation. Every little homestead in Servia is a family commune, while in some of the mountain districts exists the zadruga, or communal village, where everything is held in common and where the oldest man is the guide and commander and final authority as to the mating of the people in his district.

THE FAMILY COW.
Farm and Fireside: To the man who has never kept a cow and to the city resident smitten with Backtothelanditis this little article is especially written. You should know of course the right side on which to milk the cow, and that the wrong side is the left side. Also, that petting, singing and other affectionate demonstrations are very soothing to bovine nerves, and stimulate the flow of milk, especially in a mercurial, hysterical Jersey cow of stubborn inclination.

If you give her a bunch of hay to nibble at, she will stand contentedly to be milked, if you trim your finger nails on which to milk the cow, and that the wrong side is the left side. Also, that petting, singing and other affectionate demonstrations are very soothing to bovine nerves, and stimulate the flow of milk, especially in a mercurial, hysterical Jersey cow of stubborn inclination.

After she is milked, which should be before breakfast, leave her in peace to finish her hay, and go to your own meal.

Build the fences of her pasture to include a part of some running stream and a crook in the fence. Three times per week put a pint of salt in some of the water where she can help herself when she wants it. Never turn her pasture when she is wet, lest you invite blot and death.

When you want to milk, don't send a big long-legged cur to chase the cow home. Bosny won't get over the fright and excitement for a long time. A cow could be quietly driven or coaxed by mechanical action of the valves. A cow could be quietly driven or coaxed by mechanical action of the valves. If you give her a feed of some dainty like she likes, as apples or turnips, she will come when you call her, nips, she will come when you call her, nips, she will come when you call her.

BROTHERS SHRIEK AT LIFE SENTENCE

Exciting Time in Hibbing Court When Murderer Hears Doom.

Hibbing, Minn., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was an exciting scene in district court this morning when Judge Hughes pronounced a life sentence upon Dominick Gilbert, convicted of first degree murder yesterday in killing Peter Straton at Duluth April 3 last. Two of the convicted man's brothers who were in the courtroom jumped to their feet and yelled in Italian, while Gilbert joined in the shrieking and jumping to his feet shook his fist.

Lone Deputy Has Hands Full.
Deputy Sheriff Handers is the only deputy in the room, had some trouble in keeping him from the courtroom and outside aid had to be secured to quell the two Gilbert brothers, who seemed crazed with grief and rage.

Quiet was finally restored and the trial adjourned at once. His trial and conviction lasted only one day, a jury being secured yesterday morning and the verdict of guilty of first degree murder was returned just about long enough to take one breath. Gilbert is about 30 and unmarried. This ended the criminal cases and the jurors were excused until tomorrow, when the civil calendar will be taken up.

Chisholm, Minn., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—La Follette, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Austin, who has been hovering between life and death with paralysis of the bowels since Saturday last is reported slightly improved with a fair promise of recovery. The child was stricken Friday after having eaten a liberal sized dish of ice cream. His condition rapidly grew worse and Sunday Dr. Rowe, a specialist from Duluth, was rushed here in an automobile. Stringent remedies were resorted to without results until Tuesday when a slight change for the better occurred.

The fact that a 3-year-old girl in Hibbing died on Sunday evening from the effects of eating ice cream kept the parents of La Follette in constant fear.

THE REPUBLIC IRON AND STEEL COMPANY HAS INAUGURATED FIRST AID IN ITS MINES

Gilbert, Minn., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Republic Iron and Steel company is installing first aid service among its mines on the Mesaba range under Capt. Walter M. Webb of the Pettit mine, recently appointed safety inspector for the northern ore properties of the company. Capt. Webb has returned from Northern Michigan, where he studied first aid work as exemplified by officials in charge of the bureau of mines car, and states that the car will visit the Mesaba range some time in September. Each day's work is rated upon the degree of efficiency with which it may be accomplished and to be eligible for the issuance of a certificate to make an average of 80 per cent. Each day's work is given definite weights which are used in arriving at such average. Knowing How to Rescue.
Work in first aid is given by first instructing the classes in the things to do and not to do in caring for an injured person. The proper thing to do first and how to do it. Demonstrations are given and each squad of four men is given a practical course in first aid. The government based on points of efficiency. The government rescue car under the direction of the bureau of mines to two and one-half hours' duration. The method of instruction followed in rescue work consisted of a period each day in the construction, use, repairing, testing and care of the apparatus, and a period of from one to two hours duration wearing the apparatus and doing actual work in a room filled with fumes and smoke.

The bureau of mines with the cooperation of the mining companies and men in their employ are lessening the risk of injury and property loss from fires and minimizing accidents by careful and safer methods of mining. The work of the bureau of mines up to the past year has been confined to the coal fields, the greatest number of fires having taken place and the greatest loss of life and accidents occurring in coal mines, but the government has seen fit to send out a car to give instructions to men employed in the metal mines. The work is receiving the cooperation of the mining companies and all the men employed, and the company physicians are giving first aid their hearty support.

The Mines in Movement.
The Republic Iron and Steel company, with the assistance of Dr. C. W. More of Eveleth has been among the first to start a rescue car. The car is now in first aid work on the Mesaba range and has been carrying on its work to some extent for the past five or six years. Within the last two and one-half years the work has been taken up more extensively and systematically. The rescue car has been looked after by the engineering department under direction of Chief Engineer Theodore J. Webb and his assistant, E. W. R. Butcher. During this time rescue apparatus has been installed and squads have been drilled at the various mines in mine rescue work, fighting fires, and first aid work. First aid boxes have been placed at various points and instructions given in this class of work. The machinery has been protected with the latest form of safety devices and conditions have been bettered for safety, both surface and underground. A book of rules and regulations covering the means of performing all classes of work has been prepared and will be used for carrying on the work in the safest manner possible.

The mines of the company up to the first of the year have been looked after by a safety car which made monthly trips of inspection. Capt. Webb has been a member of the committee for a considerable time, so that when it was decided to work on the first aid work, he was experienced in that line and his general knowledge of surface and underground work was of great value. The duties of the inspector require him to visit the surface plants and underground operations and note and rectify any infractions of the rules and regulations. The citizens of Gilbert take great interest in the work of the Republic Iron and Steel company, as it contributes very largely to the support of the city and have always been operated actively.

CONGRESSMEN BEGIN TO STUDY CURRENCY BILL IN EARLY FORM

Measure Will Be Presented Some Time Next Week.

Liberal Amending Expected Even By Its Framers.

Operation of the Regional Reserve Plan Is Explained.

Washington, June 20.—Congress turned its eyes away from the tariff today and scrutinized the administration's currency bill.

While the measure will not be introduced in both houses until next week, the tentative draft brought about informal discussion generally, by which President Wilson and the Democratic leaders hoped to develop complete harmony when the bill is launched for debate and amendment.

Look to Control.
While it has been known for some time that the framework of the measure—Secretary McAdoo, Senator Owen, Representative Glass and the president—contemplated a system of twelve regional reserve banks in districts whose areas were not necessarily equal geographically, but followed the lines of trade and domestic commerce, interest centered today in the powers of supervision to be exercised by the Federal reserve board, nine members over the reserve banks.

Though originally it was planned to give the banks representation on the Federal reserve board, it was argued that the banks would practically handle the entire management of the Federal reserve banks, and that by placing the board entirely in government control, a check on the operations of the reserve banks might be assured.

Need Easy Change.
The underlying idea of the bill, in the minds of the framers, has been to effect an easy and unobtrusive change from the banking system.

TEN PEOPLE SHOT BY MADMAN IN SCHOOL

One Teacher and Two Children Are Killed in Germany.

Bremen, Germany, June 20.—A school teacher and two children were shot dead, another teacher and three children fatally wounded, and three other children less seriously hurt today by a former teacher of the name of Schmidt, who, armed with six loaded cartridges, entered a Catholic school and started a fusillade among the pupils.

The man, who was apparently deranged, was overcome and arrested by a police patrol. He was taken to a hospital, where he was being treated.

MAN WHO STOPPED RACE HORSE MAY LIVE

Identified as Harold Hewett—Has Fracture of Skull.

Ascot, Eng., June 20.—There was a slight improvement today in the condition of Harold Hewett, who was injured yesterday when he interfered with the race for the Ascot gold cup.

He partly recovered consciousness today, and after a short period slept calmly.

According to the Ascot police, Hewett was not allied with the suffragettes, but was a man of a type peculiarly liable to be carried away by the initiative impulse. He received the same quantity for his temerity as did Miss Davidson—a fracture at the base of the skull.

King George and Queen Mary.—King Manuel of Portugal, the crown prince and crown princess of Sweden, the duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada and Princess Patricia and a number of lesser royalties were watching the race from the royal stand.

Were in the Stretch.—Coming down the stretch, August Belmont's famous colt, Tracery, son of Rocks, shot into the lead. Seemingly Tracery was assured of an easy victory.

Suddenly a man jumped from the rails, waving a red flag with his hand, and with the other pointing a revolver at Jockey Whalley, who had the mount on Tracery.

"Full up! Pull up or I'll shoot you!" the man shouted.

Whalley did his best to divert the horse's course, but failed. Tracery, striking the man full in the chest with his shoulder, sent him flying several yards, and came down on the saddle, but being an adept at taking a toss, fell on his back and rolled to safety under the rails.

UNVEIL SHAFT TO GEN. BRAGG.
Fond du Lac, Wis., June 20.—A beautiful shaft of Rhode Island granite erected over the grave of Gen. Edward S. Bragg, former commander of the "Iron Brigade," was unveiled here today, the first anniversary of his death.

A medallion portrait of the general in bas-relief faces the roadway, and the badge of the "Iron Brigade" appears on the side.

The program was informal, brief tributes being paid by Col. J. A. Watrous and Col. Cornelius Wheeler of Milwaukee, and Col. M. Woodward of La Crosse, all officers of the "Iron Brigade."

HE IS GOING IN SEARCH OF RARE KIND OF WHALE

ROY C. ANDREWS.
Chicago, June 20.—Roy C. Andrews is a noted whale hunter. He has captured many specimens which are in the whale hall of the American museum of natural history. And he has been invited to join the expedition of John C. Borden of Chicago, who will sail from San Francisco about July 1 on the schooner yacht Adventures for a voyage to the Arctic. His particular object in going is to obtain a specimen of the bowhead whale, which is very rare. There are no bowhead skeletons in this country and little is known about the anatomy. The Adventures will be under command of an old whaler from Provincetown, Mass., (Capt. Sparke), and will carry a bomb gun and a fully equipped New England whaleboat.

WILSON'S FRIEND'S SON LOSES APPEAL

Daniel Dugan's Conviction for Killing Boy With Auto Is Affirmed.

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—The supreme court today affirmed the conviction of Daniel A. Dugan, Jr., for manslaughter in Essex county. While driving his automobile on Christmas day, 1911, Dugan ran down and killed Leo Francis McDermott, a boy who was crossing the street. Dugan's sentence of imprisonment at hard labor for five years stands unless there is an appeal to the court of errors and appeals and the latter releases him.

Dugan is a son of Judge Daniel A. Dugan, who was a prominent lawyer and personal friend of President Wilson, who appointed him to a judgeship about a year ago.

CINCINNATI SUPPLIES ICE TO NEEDY PEOPLE

City Gives Relief in Face of Strike of Wagon Drivers.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 20.—The city of Cincinnati went into the ice business today when it established depots at all of the fire engine houses of the city, where families were supplied who could not obtain ice from their regular dealers because of the strike of ice wagon drivers, their helpers and engineers of ice plants.

The action of the engineers in going on strike resulted in the closing down of a number of plants and a further curtailment of the ice supply. To alleviate the suffering, Mayor Hunt called the city council in special session today to act upon an appropriation of $5,000 to be used by Health Officer Landis, who is handling the ice business for the city.

Owing to the excessive heat there is much suffering.

LAST MEMBER OF THE HOUSE IN '61 IS DEAD

Maj. Sydenham W. Ancona Dies at the Age of 89 Years.

Reading, Pa., June 20.—Maj. Sydenham W. Ancona, 89 years old, believed to have been the last surviving member who served in the national house of representatives in 1861, died here today. He was a Democrat and served in the Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth congresses, and had a personal acquaintance with notable men of the Civil War period.

On the occasion of his last visit to Washington a year ago the house of representatives took a recess for fifteen minutes in his honor, during which he was accorded a reception.

URGE BROADENING OF ERDMAN ACT.
Washington, June 20.—Seth Low of the National Civic Federation, and Martin A. Knapp of the commerce court, and representatives of the railroad and shipbuilding industries urged the proposed amendment to broaden the Erdman arbitration act at a hearing today by a joint congressional committee.

"Unless the law is revised in the near future," said Mr. Low, "this country is all probability will face the most serious railroad labor difficulties in its history."

DOCTORS HEAR ABOUT MILK

Officers Are Elected and Session Is Near Its Close.

Remarkable Operation on Spine Performed at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—With only three sections in session, the sixty-fourth annual convention of the American Medical Association practically came to a close today.

Late yesterday afternoon the convention elected the following officers: President, Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, Ann Arbor, Mich.; dean of the medical school of the University of Michigan; vice presidents, Dr. Walter Conway, Atlantic City, N. J.; Dr. Frank C. Todd, Minneapolis; Dr. Julian South, Bowling Green, Ky.; Dr. S. G. Kahn, Salt Lake City, Utah; secretary, Dr. Alexander Craig, Chicago; treasurer, Dr. William Allen Pusey, Chicago.

Board of trustees for five years.—Dr. W. Grant, Denver; Dr. Frank Lutz, St. Paul; Oscar Dowling, Baton Rouge, La.; Atlantic City was chosen for the next convention of the association.

Talk of Pure Milk.
At a joint session today the section on diseases of children with the American Association of Medical Milk Commissioners, plans were made for pure milk, especially for children.

Dr. T. C. McCleave of Berkeley, Cal., discussed the common misconception of certified milk, and the origin and development of the movement. He gave especial credit to the American Association of Medical Milk Commissioners for the work that is being carried on to obtain for the consumer a pure supply.

Should Educate Public.
The problem of introducing certified milk into new communities was discussed by Dr. George C. Mosher of Kansas City. The great need, he said, is to educate the public. It is no trouble, Dr. Mosher declared, to induce the consumer to purchase cream

MURDERED AND LEFT ON RAILROAD TRACK

Unknown Man's Body Is Found Near Cumberland, Wis.

Cumberland, Wis., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of an unknown man was found on the Omaha railroad tracks between here and Shell Lake and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict that the man had been murdered by some unknown parties. His pockets had been rifled and no means of identification left.

He had been seen in Shell Lake the preceding day with two men who have disappeared. It is presumed they murdered the man for money and left him on the track to be run over by the train, but his body was found before a train passed. He was battered as if by a blunt instrument. There is no clue to his identity or his murderers.

ITALIANS SURPRISE AND DEFEAT ARABS

Lose One Officer and Nineteen Men in Ettangi Fight.

Rome, June 20.—In a severe battle fought between the Italian troops and the Tripolitan Arabs at Ettangi yesterday, one Italian officer and nineteen soldiers were killed and five officers and 217 men wounded.

According to an official dispatch from Derna, Gen. Salas surprised a native camp and had fighting ensued, lasting an hour. The Arabs, he reports, were completely routed. Their losses are unknown.

Dr. Frederick D. Owsley's Claim of $1,000,000 Upheld By Supreme Court.

Refused Legacy of $35,000 and an Annual Income of $10,000.

Decision of Lower Court in Favor of Detroit Physician Confirmed.

Dr. Frederick D. Owsley of Detroit, who renounced the provisions of the will of his late wife, Marie M. Owsley, electing to take his one-third statutory share in the $3,000,000 fortune which she left, has won his point after a fight in the Minnesota courts which lasted two years.

G. W. PERKINS MUCH PUT OUT

Financier Complains Bitterly of Government's Treatment.

Proves Testy Witness in Suit Against the Harvester Trust.

Chicago, June 20.—After a forenoon of peevish exchanges between Attorney Grosvenor, representing the government in the anti-trust suit against the International Harvester company, and George W. Perkins, chairman of the finance committee of the company, who was a witness, the latter complained bitterly to reporters of the attitude of the government representatives toward him and the company.

The financier and former partner of the late J. P. Morgan had been under cross-examination all forenoon and had been dismissed without redirect examination when he was surrounded by newspaper men and others.

"What has been a matter of constant amazement to me has been the discourteous attitude the government has maintained toward me since the beginning of the trial," he declared. "From the first I expected that the government would call me as a witness, and I never was so surprised in my life as when the government closed its case without calling me. The only course then left to me was to go on the stand of my own volition, and the moment I take the stand the prosecutor warns me that anything I may say may be used against me."

KIDNAPERS GIVEN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Illinois Man Says He Took Girl Away for Five Dollars.

Salem, Ill., June 20.—Frank Sullen and Ernest Harrison were found guilty here today of kidnapping Dorothy Holt last March. The jury fixed the penalty of each at twenty-five years in the penitentiary. The state had asked the death penalty.

Important evidence in the case was a confession by Sullen that he had kidnapped the girl while she was on her way home and had taken her to an abandoned mine, where he was to turn her over to Harrison. For this, he said, Harrison was to give him $5.

The girl was found in a critical condition, tested from Nov. 15, 1908, until the Sanborn decision July 1, 1911, and the commodity freight rate, enacted by the legislature but never put into effect because of the injunction proceedings. The railroad agreement today ended discussion of further litigation.

Those at Meeting.
Among those attending the meeting were President Carl Gra, the Great Northern, Vice President J. N. Jackson of the Great Northern, Attorney Donnelly of the Northern Pacific, Shadash of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, and Clark of the Minneapolis & St. Louis.

President Gray assured the state officials that there would be no further delay in establishing the state rates, and that refunds due shippers for overcharges during the period of the injunction would be paid at once.

Orders Him Freed From Bail and Indictment Dismissed.

New York, June 20.—The conviction of Charles H. Hyde, former city chamberlain, of bribery by a jury in the supreme court, has been overruled by the appellate division of the supreme court. In a decision Hyde's conviction is declared to have been due to an erroneous ruling of the trial court, and the district attorney was directed to have him discharged from custody and the indictment against him dismissed. Hyde is out on bail.

DEMOCRATS CAUCUS ON TARIFF BILL—FEW CHANGES EXPECTED

Income Tax Clause Is Only Part Not Completed.

Exemption Is Reduced to $3,000 for Unmarried People.

President Given Power to Proclaim Special Rates.

Washington, June 20.—Democratic senators caucused today on the tariff bill as revised by the majority of the finance committee. All schedules and administrative sections were submitted. Only the income tax feature was held back for revision. The committee expects to meet Sunday to complete that work.

Amend Income Tax.
At last night's session the committee determined to change the basic exemption of the income tax from $4,000, as in the house bill, to $3,000. This, however, would apply only to single men or women. An additional provision would give to the married man with a dependent wife or to the married woman with a dependent husband $1,000 more exemption, or a total of $4,000. Further exemption is provided for the family at the rate of $500 for each minor child, but in no case would this apply to more than two children. This would make the exemption for the family with two or more children $5,000.

Power for President.
The amendment permitting the president to proclaim special rates when foreign nations discriminate against the United States, provides that he shall exercise this authority on certain articles, as follows:

Fish, fresh, smoked and dried, pickled or otherwise prepared, 1 cent per pound; on wheat, 10 cents per bushel; on wheat flour, 45 cents per barrel; on coffee, 3 cents per pound; on tea, 10 cents per pound.

On the following articles a duty not to exceed one and one-fourth times that specified on earthen, stone, china, ware, lemons, cheese, wines of all kinds, malt liquors, knitted goods, silk dresses and pieces, goods, leather gloves, laces and embroidery, articles of whatever value, which are composed and articles made wholly or part of same, toys, jewelry, and precious semi-precious and imitation precious stones, suitable for use in the manufacture of jewelry.

On the following in addition to the duties as provided: Sugars, tank bottoms, slugs of cane juice, imitation pressed molasses, testing by the polarimeter, above 75 degrees, 5 cents per hundredth of a cent per pound, and for every additional degree by the polarimeter, 1 cent additional; molasses, 2 cents per hundredth of a cent per pound.

The amendment is appended to the clause giving the president authority to negotiate reciprocity agreements with other nations, and in some respects resembles the amendment to the minimum clause of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, eliminated in the house bill. Besides adding this amendment, the majority members stripped the administrative provisions of the bill of many of its new features, including the inequitable clause, which gave American agents the right to examine foreign books in cases of disputed import valuations.

VAN VLISSINGEN SAYS HE SHIELDED WIFE

Opposes Divorce Action on Basis That God Joined Them.

Chicago, June 20.—In the Van Vliissingen divorce suit today, Peter Van Vliissingen, whose mortgage foreclosures aggregated over $500,000, testified that he shielded his wife from prosecution when his misdeeds were discovered.

Mr. Van Vliissingen asks divorce because her husband is a felon. The latter testifies declaring that the court cannot sever "what God hath joined together," bases his defense on the allegation that his wife, when she married him, was cognizant of his torments.

Witness stated that Mrs. Bland, his wife's mother, after his marriage and before his prosecution, suggested that he provide a fund of $30,000 for Mrs. Van Vliissingen, in case her arrest should result in the loss of the law.

WILL WATCH TRIAL OF PORTER CHARLTON

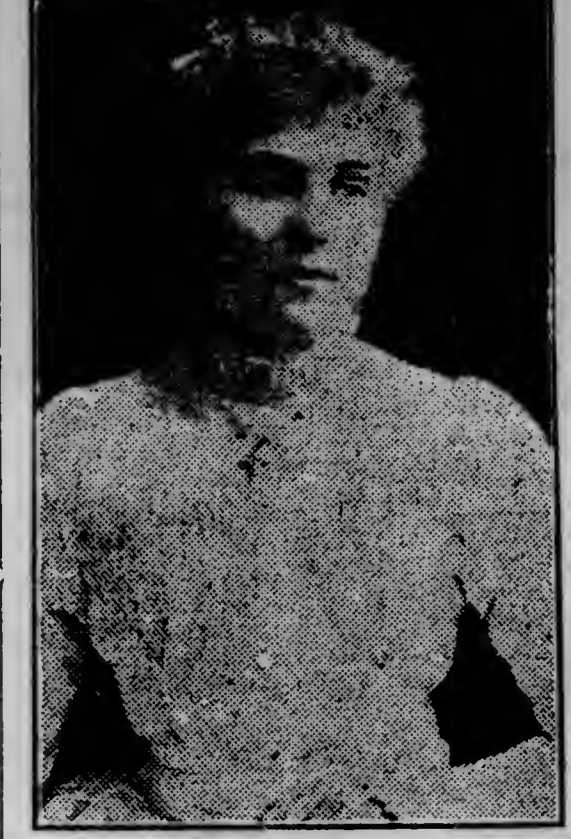

Washington Will Have Representative in Court in Italy.

Washington, June 20.—Secretary Bryan today assured Paul Charlton that the United States would use its offices to insure a fair trial for his son, Porter Charlton, awaiting extradition to Italy to answer the charge of having murdered his wife at Lake Como in 1910. An official of the United States will be designated to attend court.

LAWYER OUTLINES CASE FOR COX.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 20.—The opening statement to the jury on behalf of the defense in the trial of George A. Cox, former political leader and banker, who is charged with the misapplication of $150,000 belonging to the Cincinnati Trust company, was resumed by Attorney Frank Dinwiddie in the common pleas court today. Taking of testimony was to begin this afternoon.

QUEEN VICTORIA OF SPAIN

Madrid, June 20.—Queen Victoria of Spain gave birth to a son last night. This is the sixth child born to Queen Victoria, the fourth being still born. King Alfonso and Victoria Ena, princess of Battenberg, were married May 31, 1908.

ROADS AGREE TO NEW RATES

Will Not Start Further Litigation in Minnesota.

Passenger, Commodity and Distance Tariff Not to Be Fought.

St. Paul, Minn., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a conference with members of the state railroad and warehouse commission, held behind locked doors today, representatives of the railways affected by the decision of the United States supreme court in Minnesota rate cases agreed to put into effect as soon as possible the state rates declared valid by the supreme court.

These include the 2-cent passenger rates, the merchandise freight schedule, tested from Nov. 15, 1908, until the Sanborn decision July 1, 1911, and the commodity freight rate, enacted by the legislature but never put into effect because of the injunction proceedings. The railroad agreement today ended discussion of further litigation.

Those at Meeting.

HOT WEATHER HEALTH HINTS

Monthly Health Bulletin Warns Against Impure Ice Cream, Dirty Milk and Fly-Fouled Foods.

Every time you patronize a street soda fountain you consume street filth. So says the monthly bulletin of the health department, issued today.

The bulletin states that street soda fountains are always dangerous because they can't be kept clean. Whether or not Duluth has any "street" soda fountains is not specified by the bulletin, but the inference is that there are some or attention would not have been called to the fact that persons who patronize them consume street filth. The bulletin calls attention to the necessity of pure milk, clean foods, good ice cream, the dangers incident to the consumption of too much ice water and the use of impure drinking water. The public is advised to buy its fruits and foodstuffs from stores which guard against contamination of flies.

Under the caption of "Dirt, Dust and Flies," the bulletin says:

"Poison to babies; kills hundreds every summer. As much milk is dirty, safety demands that most of it be pasteurized. Keep it in a clean, cool place, away from flies and dust. Summer temperature favors rapid development of germs in milk.

Dirty Foods. Dust-covered and fly-fouled foods are dangerous. Buy your foodstuffs from groceries and markets that protect their stocks from dust and flies. Fruits and vegetables which are to be eaten uncooked should be thoroughly washed. Vegetables are usually grown in fertilized soil, and therefore are quite likely to harbor serious contamination. Both fruits and vegetables are subject to unclean handling and are commonly exposed for sale without protection against dust or fly contamination.

Dirty Ice Cream. Is a big factor in summer diseases. Clean ice cream is a good food, but clean ice cream is the exception rather than the rule. You can't exercise too much care in buying ice cream—find out where it comes from and then learn the sanitary status of the factory where made. Caution the children against hokey-pokey ice cream.

Ice water. Taken in excessive quantities is an American weakness and a bad one. Water can be cooled without putting ice into it. Put the water in a clean bottle and stand it upon ice. Pure water is not uncommonly contaminated with impure ice.

Impure Water. A drinking supply derived from a shallow-dug well which is located near an outhouse, barn or open drain is always dangerous. This one of the health menaces of an outing in country districts, as also is a supply derived from a river or lake into which sewage or other filth is deposited. To be safe, boil the water when away from home.

Fargo, N. D., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Nordland Lag, the largest of Norwegian organizations, will meet in Fargo three days, June 24 to 26. It is expected that from 800 to 1,000 delegates will be in attendance. The president is A. Johansen of Spicer, N. D., vice president, H. B. Burgen, Duluth, secretary, J. Bauman, Carlton, Minn.; treasurer, Mrs. J. Klostad, St. Paul.

OSTERDALS LAG ELECT.

Norwegian Society to Meet Next Year in St. Paul. Fargo, N. D., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the business meeting this forenoon of the Osterdal Lag it was decided to meet at St. Paul in 1914. The session will be held May 17. Last year's leading officers were elected: President, Judge N. Moon, Fergus Falls; vice president, K. Brandvold, Dalton, Minn.; E. E. Loe, St. Paul, Minn.; Th. Eggen, Minneapolis; secretary-treasurer, Ole Holberg, Kathryn, N. D.

RESERVOIR ACT STANDS.

Wisconsin Senate Refuses to Reject Wolf River Measure. Madison, Wis., June 20.—The senate devoted most of Thursday morning to an ineffectual discussion of the question of what to do with the Wolf River, granting the Wolf River Improvement company the right to build reservoirs on the Wolf. Motion to refer it to the conservation committee, to take up over until Wednesday and to take it up at once were up later with a recommendation for passage. The Bishop bill, designed to validate saloon licenses held in excess of the legal number, was reported for passage by the committee on state affairs.

SCHOOL NOW ASSURED.

Walsh County Institution's Construction to Be Pushed. Park River, N. D., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The difficulties that for awhile threatened the construction of suitable buildings for the county agricultural school, have been overcome. The county originally donated through a popular vote, $15,000. The citizens, in addition to donating the site, increased their subscriptions to $15,000, making a total of $30,000 in cash for the building, and insuring the school. The contract has been awarded and work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

HOOKING HERRING.

Favorite Summer Pastime of Boys Along Lake Superior. Pequaing, Mich., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hooking herring is a favorite pastime of boys and men at Pequaing and other Lake Superior ports these days. A peculiarity of these fish is that they will not bite at bait. They can be caught only in nets or by hooking. In the latter, as in the former, the mode of operation is simple. One procures a bamboo pole, attaches a combination of hooks to his line and takes a position on a dock. As a school of herring approaches, the wiggler line is dropped and the fish are hooked. A haul of two or three fish at a time is not unusual.

RAZING HOTEL WHERE JAMES HILL "BUNKED."

Grand Forks, N. D., June 20.—A log cabin hotel of two rooms, where James J. Hill in 1873 "bunked" with thirteen other men, is being razed here. It served as the first hotel in Grand Forks, and sheltered Hill when he was prospecting through this district for the location of the Great Northern railroad. Night after night this pioneer hotel was "filled to the gills" with bunk arrangements along the walls, the men were compelled to sleep in pairs.

NEEDLE WOUND FATAL.

North Dakota Young Woman Dies at Fergus Falls From Injury. Fergus Falls, Minn., June 20.—The body of Miss Emma Lindblom of Wyndmere, N. D., who died here Tuesday, was taken home for interment. Miss Lindblom ran a needle into her hand some little time ago, and blood poison and other complications developed, which resulted in her death. She was 18 years, 7 months and 14 days old, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Lindblom of Wyndmere.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Poundmaster Seizes Mother-in-Law's Bossie.

Crystal Falls, Mich., June 20.—(Special to The Herald).—All cattle look alike to Joe Babichrud, Crystal Falls newly appointed poundmaster. The first cow he saw wandering about the streets happened to be his mother-in-law's and he lassoed the animal and led it to the pound. The redemption of the cow cost the lady owner $1. This incident, together with the fact that other cattle browsing about the streets were summarily yanked to the pound, has convinced the citizens in general that Joe means business. The only cows now seen are those being led to and from pastures. Joe will be continued on the payroll, however. The anti-cow ordinance was only recently enacted.

BANK WINS $6,000 CASE

City National Does Not Owe Fred H. Merritt That Sum.

Bank Has a Counter Claim of $19,000 Against Plaintiff.

The City National bank of this city is not indebted to Fred H. Merritt in the sum of $6,000 or in any other sum, according to the verdict of a jury which returned a sealed verdict in Judge Ensign's court this morning. Merritt sued the bank for $6,000, claiming that this amount had been withheld from his deposits. The bank, in answer to his claim, asserted that Merritt had given it $4,000 as part payment on a note for about $19,000. The transaction grew out of a deal for the purchase and resale of 100,000 shares of Shattuck-Arizona stock in which the bank gave him assistance and engineered the deal. Merritt claimed that the $6,000 was not given to the bank in payment on the note, asserting that the obligations with reference to the note had been disposed of at the time of his discharge from bankruptcy a few months before. The jury which reviewed the evidence was out for about twelve hours, reaching an agreement at 10 o'clock last evening. As the court was not in session, the verdict was sealed and delivered to Judge Ensign at 2:30 o'clock this morning. The court granted a sixty-day stay.

ANDREW TUTLOFF FAMOUS AS GUIDE

Iowa Man Specifies Andrew's Services as Condition of Vacation Trip.

Andrew Tutloff is only a guide, a French Canadian, and you probably never heard of him, but his fame has extended into Iowa. Last summer J. H. Krumm, a coal dealer of Sioux City, Iowa, brought his wife and a party of friends to Duluth on a fishing trip. They were sent to Ely on a fishing trip and Tutloff was their guide. Tutloff proved that he not only knew the richest fishing waters, but that as a cook he was in a class by himself. The women of the party were immensely pleased and one thing that appealed was the fact that Andrew was so immaculate. "Just imagine that fellow taking such care to have things clean," they said. "Why before he cooked a meal he would bathe his hands three times and then finish by manicuring his nails. And the baking powder biscuits he made on a campfire tasted better than any we ever had turned out in our own kitchens." This morning Hanna, the "information man" received a letter from Mr. Krumm stating that the party was going back to Ely on the same trip again this summer. But one of the provisions was that Andrew be on hand again to guide and to cook.

MOTION PICTURES OF AUTO ROUTE

Duluth's Interest Enlisted for Reliability Tour to Glacier Park.

G. Roy Hill, secretary of the Automobile Club of Minnesota, is in Duluth today to assist H. J. Mullin, secretary of the Duluth Automobile club, in advertising the motion picture show to be given at the Commercial club tonight under the auspices of the Duluth club. H. J. Clark, president of the Automobile Club of Minnesota, and Ada Palmer, both members of the automobile association touring board, will arrive this evening, bringing with them motion pictures of scenes along the route of the A. A. A. national reliability tour from the Twin Cities to Glacier park, starting at Minneapolis, July 11.

The pictures to be shown tonight are principally those used by the Great Northern railway in advertising the wonders and beauties of the new park. The tour this year will be accompanied by a fully equipped Great Northern hotel train. The train will follow the tour and wait for the contestants at each control. Every meal may be eaten on the train and the berths may be reserved all the way through.

St. Cloud will be represented by a team of three entries, Minneapolis and St. Paul will each have several teams and Duluth may have at least two teams in the tour. Alexandria, Moorhead and Fargo have signified their intention of being represented. Several of the large Eastern cities have sent in entries and the touring party will be a large one. A daily paper to be printed on the train will keep the country at touch with the progress of the tour.

Germany's exports in February this year totaled $211,945,000, against $178,320,000 in 1912.

CONSUMERS NOT SUCCESS

Health Department Bulletin
Discusses Abatement of Smoke Nuisance.

Advocates Education of Firemen as Most Effective Remedy.

Smoke consumers have not proven successful as means of abating the smoke nuisance, according to the monthly bulletin of the health department, edited by Dr. I. J. Murphy, assistant health director.

He states that much may be accomplished by proper education of firemen and the installation of furnaces and boilers in such a manner that they may be handled to produce minimum amounts of smoke and soot. Discussing the subject the bulletin states:

"The question has often been asked here in Duluth: 'Is it not possible to abate the smoke?'"

"We believe it is not only possible but imperative that it be abated. We are at this time collecting data upon which to formulate an ordinance which we hope will be broad enough to cover all sorts and conditions of smoking chimneys."

"We do not think smoke consuming contrivances have proven successful. They are expensive to install and short lived. So that we will not give them any further consideration. The very first thing to consider is 'Are we as a community going to have an abatement of this nuisance?'"

"If we are it is one of the strongest factors in producing results. In fact we are convinced that a strong public sentiment along these lines is essential to a proper enforcement of any ordinance we may enact."

"In addition to this any 'ordinance' must look to future prevention rather than to immediate prohibition, according to Mr. Flagg, who has been investigating the question for the Federal government. He goes on to say that 'Furnace construction offers greater hope than the hasty imposition of severe penalties on the escape of dense or black smoke.'"

"We are convinced much may be done in the way of abatement by a suitable ordinance enforced by a judicious inspector who is capable of instructing firemen as to the proper method of stoking the furnace."

Superior KONKEL IS ASSAULTED

Mayor and Socialist Leader
Come to Blows in Barber Shop.

E. B. Harris Under Arrest
as Result of Altercation.

Ellis B. Harris, recent Socialist candidate for congress from Douglas county and Mayor Konkeli of Superior came to blows in a Superior barber shop late yesterday afternoon, following an attempt of the latter to place Harris under arrest for using abusive and obscene language. The mayor is said to have been struck several blows by Harris.

Mayor Konkeli had gone into the barber shop to inquire of the proprietor, Charles Swanson, who is a prominent leader in the Socialist party, the extent of the party's movement regarding the proposed recall petition. While there Harris entered.

Harris asked the mayor if the latter had been quoted rightly in the paper when he is said to have stated that "All Harris had been doing for twenty years was shooting off his mouth" and Mr. Konkeli replied in the affirmative. An exchange of hot words followed in which Harris is said to have called the mayor several abusive names.

A threat of arrest failed to cause Harris to stop and depart. The mayor took hold of him for the purpose of carrying the threat out. Harris is then said to have struck the mayor several times. Patrolman Angus Ransom appeared and took Harris to the station.

Harris was allowed his freedom last night to appear in court this morning. When he appeared this morning he was charged with assault and battery, and the case adjourned until next Thursday afternoon.

Draymen Warned.

If Superior draymen do not get their yearly licenses before Monday they will be haled into court, according to an edict issued this morning. It is said that only eleven of the thirty-five draymen doing business in the city have renewed their licenses since their expiration on May 1.

Held for Counterfeiting.

James Kontagas, a section foreman for the Great Northern railway, faces a charge of counterfeiting. He was arrested late yesterday by Detective McDonald on a warrant charging him with making spurious Great Northern orders. According to the complaint, he is alleged to have issued a counterfeit order for $23 in favor of a dummy supposed to be working for the road. The order was cashed in a local store.

Midsummer Day.

Swedish organizations of Superior will celebrate Midsummer day Monday at Billings park. A program of music, speaking and sports has been planned for the affair. The entertainment will wind up with dancing in the evening.

Railroads

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR CANADIAN CROP

Railroad Man Says Money Stringency Does Not Restrict Business.

Robert Creelman, general passenger agent of the Canadian Northern railway, at the Spalding today, predicted that the immigration record for the dominion would surpass last year's figures by 40 per cent. Mr. Creelman stated that it is estimated that 75 per cent of the immigration would go to the Western provinces.

"From the present outlook Canada will have a splendid wheat crop," said Dr. Creelman. "The railroads are making extensive preparations for the handling of one of the largest, if not the very largest, crop in the history of Canada."

"There is a slight money stringency in Canada, but don't confuse this with a slump or business depression. Winnipec will have a population of some 500,000 people within the next six years."

Mr. Creelman left this afternoon for St. Paul.

Company Settles.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 20.—The case of Gustave A. Lofte vs. the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad has been settled by stipulation in the circuit court. Lofte sued for damages resulting from the railroad company using his land for a fill for a new track.

ASSAULT VICTIM GIVEN DAMAGES

More Trouble for Saloon Keeper Whose License Was Revoked.

John Nystrom, who appeared as the principal witness before the council when the license of George Dunlap's saloon at 519 West Superior street was revoked two weeks ago, was yesterday afternoon awarded judgment in his suit for damages brought against Dunlap.

The case was heard by Judge Cutting in municipal court and in his testimony Nystrom reiterated his story, telling how he had been struck by Dunlap following his refusal to buy drinks for all the men in the saloon. Dunlap was arrested the following day on an assault charge and fined $25 and costs. The day after the commission revoked Dunlap's license and the suit for $499 damages was then brought by Nystrom.

CASE DISMISSED AFTER JURY IS DRAWN.

After nearly all of the plaintiff's evidence had been placed before the jury, Lathers & Hoag, attorneys for Josephine Rothschild, in a personal injury suit against the Canadian Northern railroad, decided that they would take their chances for a recovery with another jury at another term of court and moved the court to dismiss the case.

Mrs. Rothschild wanted $15,775 damages, alleging she was permanently injured by falling over a piece of baggage which had been left in the aisle of a dimly lighted passenger coach in which she was riding from Duluth to Winnipeg.

World's Gathering of Sunday School Workers at Zurich.

Will Be Notable Event in Contemporaneous Religious History.

Boston, Mass., June 20.—Two thousand Americans, some of them now on the seas and some hastening to Switzerland via Asia and the others scheduled to sail this month, are delegates to the world's seventh Sunday school convention to be held in Zurich, Switzerland, on July 8 to 13.

Visitors from all parts of the known world will foregather at Zurich upon this occasion, so many nationalities being represented that alongside of it the polyglot crowd at Pentecost will seem provincial. In addition to the European delegates, there will be Sunday school workers in attendance from all the leading countries of Asia and Africa. The mission fields always send a large contingent of missionaries to these conventions.

From the beginning, Sunday school work has been dominated by Americans, although the organization was founded by Robert Raikes, an Englishman, more than 100 years ago. Today it has greater strength in North America than in all other lands combined, and a Philadelphian, Dr. George W. Bailey, is world's president. The management of the Zurich convention has been in this country.

An enormous movement. There is no other organization on the planet except the Christian church itself, which approaches the magnitude of the world's Sunday school union. The figures are fairly staggering. At the Washington convention three years ago the total enrollment was more than 25,000,000, the figures having been gathered from 125 of the 192 countries and groups of islands into which the world is divided. This was an increase of approximately 3,000,000 in the triennial following the preceding convention. Since the three years now ending have been the most vigorous in the Sunday school history, it is expected that at Zurich the world membership will be reported as considerably larger than 30,000,000.

Of the total enrollment at Washington, more than 15,000,000 was credited to North America and 10,000,000 to Europe. In this country the organization has been perfected to a remarkable degree of efficiency in states, counties and districts. Only at times of presidential elections do the political parties approach anything like the degree of completeness of organization which exists in the Sunday school, enabling the general officers to select the most earnest, crossroads school with their plans and ideals.

More important than the size of the Sunday school is the fact that the bulk of its membership is made up of children and young people, although there are 2,500,000 reported as officers and teachers. This means that a very considerable section of the world's population in its plastic period is having its ideals shaped for religion. Presidents and kings and statesmen have repeatedly testified to the civic influence which the Sunday school is exerting upon the civilization of our day.

International Lessons. The greatest co-ordinating factor in the Sunday school, greater than the form of organization itself, is the international series of lessons which have been provided for the Sunday schools of all lands and denominations for forty-one years. These lessons are formulated in six-year courses, one lesson a week, by an international committee representing the leading denominations and chosen by the international convention.

The lessons are the basis of an unmeasured amount of literature in the form of books and Sunday school officials. Thousands of tons of printed matter are issued every month the world around, devoted to these lessons. No other subject is considered simultaneously by so many persons as the international lesson, which is used in remote communities in Asia as well as in the metropolises of Europe and America.

The strengthening of the spirit of unity in the various denominations has been in good part attributable to this course of international lessons. The forty-one years of its history has shown a steady decrease in the opposition to it. Of late there has grown up a desire for graded lessons which with certain ages take the place of uniform lessons. These are issued more particularly under denominational supervision.

The recent convention of Southern Baptists took action looking toward an increase of denominational control and of doctrinal teaching, but the press dispatches reported that the denomination had withdrawn from the international lessons. This was a mistake. Last week there met in Indianapolis a committee of conference looking toward the next cycle of international lessons, and expressing the opinions of the denominational leaders upon this point.

The present tendency is for a better grading of the Sunday school lessons to suit the different ages, and clearer stressing of distinctly doctrinal teaching. But the international lessons are here to stay.

Japan Wants Convention. Among the delegates to the Zurich convention at present wandering over the globe, the most notable is a commission of twenty-nine, led by H. J. Heinz of Pittsburgh, which has been for several weeks in the Orient, holding Sunday school conventions and propagating the Sunday school idea. The commission has been feasted and feted everywhere, having been received by the president of China and showered with honors in other lands. It had a meeting in one of the old palaces in Seoul, with 14,000 Koreans in attendance.

So aroused were the Japanese by the commission's message, that the Tokyo business men have subscribed a fund of $35,000 as an earnest of their eagerness to have the world's convention of 1913 meet in Japan.

Led by Ericson, Rexford of Canada, party of twenty-two Sunday school workers has been touring Egypt and Palestine, holding meetings and investigating conditions, while another contingent of British workers has been in India for the same purpose.

There will be two official languages for the Zurich convention, English and German. In addition there will be sectional gatherings using the tongues of various nationalities represented.

A Swiss chorus, organized and directed by a Zurich man whose home is in Cincinnati, will be a feature of the convention, and one night there will be a concert by Swiss singers and yodlers from the mountains. The speakers include leaders in Sunday school work from all parts of the world.

That the boys and girls of the churches are being brought up in a world-wide organization with the theme of internationalism frequently presented to them augurs well for the world citizenship of tomorrow.

QUIT DRUG BUSINESS.

Enforcement of Law Against Selling Liquor Having Effect.

Fargo, N. D., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are only seven applicants taking the examination before the state board of pharmacy, the smallest class in some years. The drug business is getting on a more professional basis, as a result of the practical elimination of permits the number of stores is greatly reduced by the withdrawal of people who engaged in the drug business as a cloak under which they could sell liquor. Another factor is that with the state board requiring at least one year's training in some recognized pharmaceutical school, fewer boys are endeavoring to break into the ranks than formerly. After next year no one not graduated from some regular school of pharmacy.

MEAT IMPORTATION MAY BE PARALYZED

Inspection Order Is Serious Blow to San Francisco Trade.

San Francisco, Cal., June 19.—A blow that may paralyze the new Australian meat industry has come from the department of agriculture at Washington in the shape of an order which requires that every piece of meat in cargo from Australia must be examined by the local inspectors.

Heretofore, shipments have been judged by the inspection of a few pieces selected at random. The order means it is stated, that the work of unloading a cargo, formerly a matter of about twelve hours, will now take from three to five days, and that the cost of handling also will be affected.

Approximately 200 tons of frozen Australian beef and mutton have been landed here recently and sold by retailers at from 1 to 2 cents a pound below the price of native beef. Another cargo of 1,200 packages of the meat is due.

PORTUGAL CHANGES DIPLOMATIC CORPS.

Lisbon, Portugal, June 19.—The Portuguese senate, in accord with the chamber of deputies, today decided to suppress the Portuguese legation in Rome and the Portuguese consulates in Berlin, Madrid and Rome.

At the same time it was determined to raise the Portuguese legation at Rio de Janeiro to the rank of an embassy and the consulate at Guatemala to a legation; to create a legation in the republic of Panama, and to send military and naval attaches to Madrid.

COUNTY SEAT FIGHT.

Crosby and Ambrose, N. D., Scrapping Over Coveted Honor.

Crosby, N. D., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the effort to secure the removal of the county seat from Crosby to Ambrose, everything possible is being done to strengthen the claims of the Crosby people. Recently charges have been made as to the manner in which the present and former county officials conducted the work. Two representatives from the state examiner's department have been here going over the records. No announcement was made of their findings, which will be reported to the proper officials at Bismarck.

TAYLOR, N. D., BANK IS TAKEN BY SYNDICATE.

Taylor, N. D., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A syndicate operating fifteen banks in Minnesota and the two Dakotas has secured the controlling stock of the Farmers & Merchants bank here, formerly owned by Julius Williams.

The new purchasers are: John Swenson and Samuel Lewison of Canby, Minn.; A. J. Peterson of Dawson, Minn.; Arthur Orrum of St. Paul and J. M. Moos of Gary, S. D. They are planning the purchase of other banks in this state.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS MOTOR.

Oxford, Neb., June 19.—Thomas Arkey, 35 years old, and his brother, Roy, 21, were killed and Frank Morris, 20, suffered a broken arm and leg here last night when the automobile they occupied was struck by a passenger train. Two other men in the car were slightly hurt.

BOTHERS CONTRACTORS.

Sliding Earth in Cherry Creek, N. D., Cut Puzzler.

Schafer, N. D., June 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sliding earth is making trouble for the railroad contractors on the Great Northern between New Rockford and Lewistown, Mont. They are constructing a cut here near the mouth of Cherry Creek. As fast as excavations are made the pressure from the incline cause the bottom of the cut to cup up.

The engineers find that at least twice more excavation work must be done than originally planned and it may be necessary to remove the entire face of the hill in order to get a safe and secure roadbed.

The average output of coal to each person employed in the industry in the United States is a little more than six hundred tons, in the United Kingdom 260 tons, in Germany 240 tons, in France 188 tons, and in Belgium 164 tons.

CHERRIES ON THE MARKET

Time for Housewife to Begin Preserving Fruit for Winter.

Slight Changes in Prices in Produce Market This Week.

Do your Christmas shopping early! Most everybody needs preserved fruit along about Christmas time, and to have it, must needs get busy during the golden summer time. Well, the first of the preserving fruit is on the market right now, and the price is the lowest in this particular line that it will be. So once again the admonition:

"To your Christmas shopping early!" This preserving delicacy is none other than the tart, appetite-creating sour cherry, for which Iowa is famous. It makes great preserves and just too sweet jellies. The Iowa cherry is at hand, breaking into the market today for the first time this season, and, it is announced, will be selling at the best prices by the first of next week. The Iowa brand is claimed to be the best grown, and it is recommended that purchasing be done now. Later there will be another brand for home use, but usually most housewives who wait for it are beaten out of the chance to get them, and gain no advantage in the matter of cost.

There is not a great deal of change in prices in the produce market this week. This is the height of the season in all lines, and prices have reached a steady level. For instance in fruits, most of them, such as peaches, apricots, plums and the like, there has been the usual midsummer decline in prices, and at the same time, the best shipments have been received. Gooseberries are now in the market and at a reasonable price considering that they are the first to arrive, and with them comes the season for gooseberry pie, steam pudding and other things like that, that open up vistas of day dreams. Then again the Wisconsin strawberries are in the market at last, augmenting the supply of Hood River berries, and all are of fair quality. The prices at present are high but a decline is looked for at the first of the week. Raspberries of the most delicious flavor are obtainable. They are of excellent quality and reasonable in price and the boxes are not "stingy."

Marked changes have been made in the prices of new cabbage and cantaloupe. Cabbage, of fine quality, by the way, is quoted at $4 a crate, and cantaloupes are $4.50 for large and $3.75 a crate for small sizes.

All of the melon family are well, thank you. The watermelons are of good, palate-tempting quality, and are not very expensive. The cantaloupes are great eating and are being devoured in the market with relish and widespread activity.

Surplus of Potatoes. The price of new potatoes has been lowered but stocks are being cleaned up, and it is hoped that the market will soon resume a healthy, normal condition. The old potatoes, which suggested the week, are still occupying the unenviable position.

Some of the commission houses are practically giving them away, and charitable and public institutions are benefiting by the glutted condition.

An advance in the price of onions is expected in a few days for the reason that supplies are being drawn from California. It is claimed that the extreme heat has been hurting the quality of onions and the present supply in the market is not as good as the supplies that will be pulled following rains. In fact, this may be applied to the vegetable kingdom in general.

Pineapples are much firmer in price. Receipts have been light and the demand good. Oranges are firm also. Lemons are becoming firmer in price as the demand created by warmer weather at other points affects the whole market.

For the present, at least, there is no change in the prices of butter, eggs and cheese. However, it is announced that a change may be expected momentarily, and that change will be upwards.

Poultry, too, is at a stationary price. Receipts have been moderate and so has the demand. A lower grade of prices may be expected next week. So far as frozen poultry is concerned, hens are entirely out of the market. Frozen turkeys and geese and a few spring chickens are still to be obtained, but in general the supply is low. Meats are unchanged, and there is no present indication of any difference in price.

Illinois Senate Passes Two Bills Restricting Liquor.

Springfield, Ill., June 20.—The "drys" won signal victories in the Illinois legislature when the senate yesterday passed two measures restricting saloons in cities. Both bills will now go to Governor Dunne for action.

The other enactment, known as the "residence district" bill, makes it possible for the voters of a residence territory containing not fewer than 300 nor more than 1,000 voters to define the boundaries of the district by streets and alleys and vote at a regular city election upon the proposition whether such property shall be anti-saloon residence district. A second vote on the same proposition cannot be taken for a period of three years.

PROBING MURDER.
St. Paul Authorities Trying to Clear Killing of Mrs. Gyarmati.

St. Paul, Minn., June 20.—Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Joseph Gyarmati, 24 years old, whose body was found in bed at her home here early yesterday by her husband and John Osk, a roamer. Both men, together with two other suspects, are being held by the police.

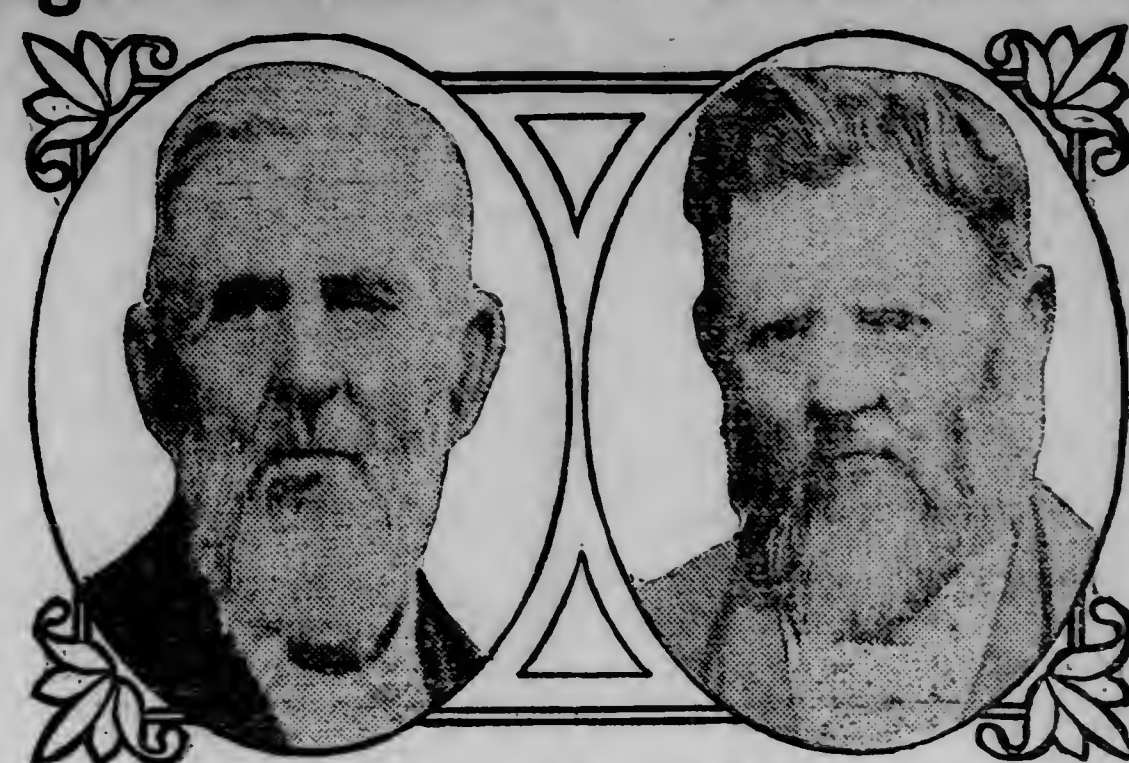

Coroner D. C. Jones conducted an examination late yesterday and found that death was caused by strangulation. Nearly $300 in cash is said to have been taken from the house.

The face and hands of Gyarmati were marked with scratches when he was arrested. In discussing the crime with the police he said:

"Osk and I were sleeping in the front yard. Shortly before daylight we went into the house. When I entered my wife's room and found her dead in bed I fell upon my knees and terror-stricken I madly scratched my face and hands."

Gyarmati calmly discussed the at-

Mr. Wm. Henley writes: "I take pleasure in recommending Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to all old people. I have been using it for 11 years. I am 85 years old and I find it a great blessing and I intend to use it as long as I live."

CONFERENCE OF GRAIN MEN

Secretary of the Duluth Board Returns From Cincinnati.

Country Will Be Organized By Counties for Crop Improvement.

Charles F. Macdonald, secretary of the Duluth board of trade, is back from Cincinnati, where he attended the midsummer session of the Council of Grain Exchanges, which has just closed there. President W. J. McCabe, who attended the meeting also, and his wife are visiting their old home at Shandon, Ohio, and are expected back tomorrow.

This council deals generally with the business of grain exchanges of the country, taking no specific action regarding any particular exchange, but merely looking after the business in general. The chief feature of the session just closed, according to Mr. Macdonald, was the report of the committee on crop improvement, which was appointed about two and a half years ago.

The committee," said Mr. Macdonald today, "has made wonderful strides in its work of getting interested in crop improvement, and is now at work on a plan for organizing the United States by counties. The committee is a sort of clearing house for the various organizations which have been working for crop improvements, and aims to harmonize efforts in this line rather than having the work carried on in a haphazard and unorganized way. It is meeting with great encouragement, and the various interests that have been working independently are taking steps to work with this committee.

Mr. Macdonald said that on the second day of the session a most notable meeting was held jointly with the Ohio and Indiana state associations, which were meeting together at the time in Cincinnati. Many views and suggestions were exchanged, and it is believed that the gathering will prove profitable to each. This afternoon, Mr. Macdonald will be in Milwaukee on June 27-28, where he will attend the annual convention of the National Association of Farmers. He is on the program of this convention for an address on the Duluth market, its transportation facilities and outlet.

at the cost of good milk, but it is not so easy to learn the necessity of cleanliness of milk from its production until it reaches the baby.

Dr. Henry F. Helmholz of Chicago told of the role that certified milk is playing in the infant welfare campaign, and urged the importance of good milk.

Discussions of purely technical questions were made by Dr. W. L. Rodman of Philadelphia, Dr. Nathaniel Allen of St. Louis, Dr. Barney Brooks of St. Louis, Dr. Bertram Allen of Baltimore and Dr. J. J. Hogan of San Francisco.

Doctors and Tuberculosis.

Charges that the medical profession is to blame for the poor results in the fight against tuberculosis caused an argument in the section of preventive medicine and public health on Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Mary Lapham of Highland, N. C., said people were being not from tuberculosis, but from blunders, mistakes and ignorance and that the medical profession is indifferent to the education which the public needs.

"Tuberculosis is a disease which demands education," said Dr. Lapham. "The people must be taught not to be afraid to go to a doctor, but to be afraid not to. Too many physicians make no early diagnosis. They wait for physical signs which would indicate to any fool that the patient has tuberculosis. The raising of the standard of medical profession. Tuberculosis is not all caused by transmission. It is a universal infection."

Dr. A. Adolph Knopf of New York city decried the medical profession, and said he did not like Dr. Lapham's pessimistic view.

public, but we do not understand the meaning of the word. There is a difference between learning and education. To fight tuberculosis we must go back three generations. We must change the habits of the people. Ten per cent of the deaths are in children less than one year old. Unless we change the habits of the parents more children will die every year."

Lee Bone on Spine.

What the physicians said was one of the most sensational operations of modern surgery, was performed at a private clinic at a local hospital by Dr. Fred H. Albee of New York, in the presence of a large number of the visiting doctors. A piece of bone was taken from a man's leg, transferred to his bent and tubercular spine, the result being to correct the curvature and to cure the tuberculosis. The bone taken from the patient's leg was too small to be missed, and was grafted by the use of strands from a kangaroo tail to the spine.

The visiting physicians and their wives last night were entertained at a social function by the doctors of St. Paul, at the Auditorium in that city.

CONGRESSMEN STUDY CURRENCY BILL.

tem by using the machinery now in existence.

The bill is expected to be the subject of liberal amendment even by its authors. Provision for the retirement of 2 per cent bonds by which $700,000,000 of national bank notes now are secured, so as to provide against depreciation, will be one of the foremost problems.

The provision for note issue, administration quarters, hope, will not be changed. It is said to be the result of a careful canvass not only of prominent bankers, but business men, who thought it practicable and sound.

Operation Explained.

The operation of the plan is explained in this way: The Federal reserve bank in each district, accompanying its application with a tender of collateral security. The security thus offered must be notes and bills adapted for redemption under rules laid down by the Federal reserve board, which may issue up to $500,000,000 in notes.

The Federal reserve banks must hold 33 1-3 per cent in gold of the amount of notes advanced. The notes also become a first and paramount lien on all the assets of the Federal reserve banks.

The element of elasticity is obtained, according to administration officials, in the levying of an interest charge on the note issue. This rate is to be established by the Federal reserve board with due regard to the prevailing charge in the money market. It is calculated that a fall in the demand for money, accompanied by a decline in the market rate of interest, would furnish an incentive for the retirement of the treasury notes.

As Clearing House.

In permitting the Federal reserve board to direct the transfer of funds among Federal reserve banks, the board may, at its own discretion, act as a clearing house for the reserve banks, and can require the Federal reserve banks in turn to act as a clearing house for shareholding banks. Attention was centered today in the redoubtable feature as one of the fundamentals on which the entire plan is based. The power of the regional reserve bank is specifically broadened to discount notes and bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions.

It is this power, which in times of stress administration officials think will alleviate money stringency. While the Federal reserve board, through its agent in the Federal reserve bank, would have the right to determine and define the character of the paper eligible for discount, that definition will not include notes or bills drawn for the purpose of carrying or trading in stocks and bonds or other investment securities, except notes or bills having a maturity of not exceeding four months and secured by United States, state, county or municipal bonds. Notes and bills generally arising out of commercial transactions must have a maturity of not more than forty-five days.

Effective in Ninety Days.

The Glass bill proposes that the new currency law shall become effective ninety days after its passage, though a period of thirty-eight months is allowed for shifting of present reserves to the new Federal banks. Representative Neaseley of Kansas, a Democrat of the house banking and currency committee, in a long speech in the house today advocated a renewal of the money trust inquiry. He emphatically announced, however, that he favored immediate currency reform.

No person conversant with present conditions, he said, "will dispute the necessity for this action. I have full confidence that this Democratic congress, acting in conjunction with President Wilson, will be able to devise a plan free from the control of special and profit-seeking interests. The good faith of the Democratic party is pledged to do this as soon as we may, even though it be necessary to remain here the entire summer and until the regular session convenes in December."

Bankers Talk of Bill.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 20.—The reserve fund feature of the proposed currency bill was the principal topic of discussion at the final session here of the currency commission of the American Bankers' association. The report of the sub-committee, embodying replies to the thirty-three questions submitted to the commission by the senate finance committee, was approved and forwarded to Washington. The answers will not be made public until they have been received by the senate committee there.

WINS TWO-YEAR
LEGAL BATTLE

Judge S. W. Gilpin, William E. Boeling and Rudolph Ortman, executors and trustees under the will, and William E. Boeling and Caroline Boeling, as devisees and surviving heirs, appealed to the district court.

In district court, Judge Dibel reviewed the case and listened to arguments presented on both sides. He decided in favor of Dr. Owsley and filed an order affirming the decree of Judge Gilpin. From this order, the case was appealed to the supreme court.

Since September last, the case has been in the hands of the supreme court. In the fight for the division of the fortune, a formidable array of legal talent was employed. For the executors and heirs other than Dr. Owsley, Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell and W. W. Gurley were attorneys. Dr. Owsley was represented by Attorneys Frank E. Kellogg, C. A. Severance, Robert E. Olds and Bryan Y. Craig.

A fine legal question was involved in the fight. It was whether or not the surviving spouse of a non-resident testator owning lands in Minnesota may renounce the provisions of the will and instead take the one-third interest which is allowed under the Minnesota statute to the surviving spouse of a resident testator.

The case was hard fought, both sides submitting a mass of authorities and turning in to the court lengthy briefs on the proposition. Considerable interest has been attached to the case owing to the vast fortune involved and to the prominence of the principals concerned.

CREDIT MEN TALK OF BANKRUPTCY LAWS

Faction Is Said to Oppose the Present Statutes.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 20.—Election of officers and discussion of Federal bankruptcy laws were the most important subjects on the program of the eighteenth annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men today. Before the bankruptcy law was taken up it was feared by some that there would be a split among the delegates. It was stated that there was a certain faction of credit men who are opposed to the present bankruptcy law, while the rest are in favor of it. Harry Now of Cleveland, chairman, presented the report of the bankruptcy committee. H. G. Moore of Kansas

SAN FRANCISCO MEAT INSPECTORS WRONG

Order Regarding Inspection of Imports Was Mis-constructed.

Washington, June 20.—Notice to the department of agriculture that San Francisco meat inspectors had construed orders from Washington to mean that every piece of meat in cartons from Australia had to be examined separately, resulted in immediate action to clear up a misunderstanding. The inspectors were notified specifically that they were required to make "sample inspections" only, selecting pieces at random for examination.

THE HOMECROFTERS' CORNER

Conducted by C. E. ROE.

Questions will be answered by Mr. Roe in this column.

Both time and soil conditions are right for planting the late fall and winter use. Plants set immediately after a good rain or during a gentle rain are far more apt to thrive than those planted in dry soil and on bright hot days. It will require only a few days for the plants to become thoroughly rooted, and then they should be carefully weeded and watered. Lettuce for heading should be set about six inches apart each way. The soil should be rich and loose. There is still time to provide for a basal supply of turnips and rutabagas. These can be sown broadcast or planted in drills. When plants are well started they should be thinned so as to stand at least ten inches apart. Many people do not give root crops room to develop properly. Parsnips and carrots should stand from four to six inches apart in order to have room for proper growth.

In fact, hoeing and thinning should be the order of the day. Corn will do better with but three or four stalks to the hill than when more are left. When five or six inches high, this thinning should be done, and the weeds pulled out. Parsnips and carrots should be carefully drawn up about the roots of each hill. Peas will grow much faster and give far better results if hoed and brushed at this time. In hoeing beans, be careful to the fruit has been picked they should be thoroughly weeded and cultivated. Watch for a second crop of carrot and rose worms and keep the white bollworms ready for use if they appear. Many plum and apple trees are now infested with aphids or the green fly. Spray with kerosene emulsion. You can purchase a can at the local hardware store for 25 cents which will make ten gallons of spray. That unused will keep indefinitely. The green cabbage worm is beginning to appear. Spray with arsenate of lead. This preparation is perfectly safe for cabbages and cauliflower until they begin to head. One should act promptly whenever insect pests appear. A day's time often means a loss of crop, and prompt action usually means no further trouble for the entire season. Arsenate of lead works better for the potato beetle than Paris green, because the rain will not wash it off, and it never burns the foliage. Keep it away from the children.

BREAD VAT FOR WASH BASIN

New Duluth Baker Arrested on Complaint of Former Employee.

Claimed to Have Washed and Maybe Bathed in Vat.

Evidently wash bowls are scarce in New Duluth.

This deduction is drawn from the arrest this morning of William Nickolas, the proprietor of a bakery in New Duluth, who is charged with having washed his hands and face, when through mixing his bread, in the same bowl or vat used to prepare the mixture.

The arrest came about through a warrant sworn out by Chris Vasa, who formerly was employed in the shop. Vasa claims that Nickolas was in the habit of using the mixing bowl when he wanted to "do" himself up a little and that this practice had been one of the causes leading Vasa to quit the shop.

Vasa also stated that in his opinion the proprietor probably also took his bath in the bowl, but this he could not swear to.

Nickolas was brought before Judge Lannan this morning. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and was released on $50 bail and the trial set for this afternoon.

SAY HEALTH LAWS ARE VIOLATED

Business Men Charge City Inspector With Neglect of Duties.

Laxness in the enforcement of health ordinances is charged against the city health department by some of West Duluth's citizens. They claim that the inspector in this end of the city has not made people clean up their premises and that the department also is not insisting on property owners connecting their homes with the sewers where possible.

"Some of the districts are a disgrace," said Charles Kauppi last evening. "People can at least keep their alleys in a shape bordering on cleanliness but in some of the districts the rear alleys are nothing but dumping ground for refuse. The health department does not appear to pay any attention to this."

On many of the streets where sewers run through the alleys houses are not connected with the sewers, making necessary outhouses which it is claimed send odors through the district. People residing in these homes throw much refuse in the alleys, it is claimed.

It is proposed to call the attention of Commissioner Hicken to these conditions in the hope that he will have the department get busy in this end of the city. Mr. Kauppi stated that he intended bringing the subject before members of the Commercial club this evening.

RAILROAD AND BRIDGE PROBLEMS

West Duluth Commercial Club Members After Several Improvements.

The West Duluth Commercial club will discuss railroad and bridge matters at the meeting of the club this evening at its rooms on Central avenue. The principal discussion will be over the Soo line which the business men believe does not intend to operate passenger trains through this end of the city.

It is proposed to ask the city commission to make a thorough inquiry into the franchise held by the company, which it acquired from the Wisconsin Central railroad. This, the merchants claim, provides that the road shall operate its passenger trains through West Duluth and also that the road establish and maintain a passenger and freight depot west of Forty-eighth avenue.

The members will also discuss the bridge on Grand avenue west of Seventy-first avenue. This is said to need strengthening before street car traffic can be operated over it.

MERRITT FAVORS PROPOSED ROAD

Commissioner Will Work for Highway Along Dales of St. Louis.

A highway along the dales of the St. Louis river will be realized in the efforts of Commissioner Leonidas Merritt can accomplish it. Mr. Merritt is an ardent supporter of the proposed highway which will in time become the Duluth terminal of an automobile road between here and the Twin Cities.

Mr. Merritt stated that he would not only give the project his support as a private citizen, but also as a member of the city commission. The county has recently been asked to expend $35,000 on a highway which will run through the western suburbs and along the St. Louis river, crossing it a short distance below the Tjomsen dam of the Great Northern Power company.

On entering the city the proposed road is planned to follow the property boulevard at Fairmont park. A plan of a roadway between Fairmont park and the present terminal of the railroad at Onondaga cemetery has been made. It is proposed to extend this stretch, along with the proposed scenic highway along the river shore of Duluth, will have one of the longest stretches of scenic driveway in the country.

SHOT TOWERS THE RESULT OF A DREAM

London Answers: Two hundred and fifty feet high, a giant brick column, uncommonly like a lighthouse minus its lantern, rises amid a wilderness of sheds and stacks of leaden ingots. A shot tower it is—or, to be precise, place where small shot or pellets are cast in molds. And why, you may ask, is such a tower indispensable to a shot factory? Because shot is made by dropping molten lead through the hollow space inside.

During its passage through the air it separates like raindrops, and, falling into a well of water at its base, is instantly hardened into spherical form.

The origin of this method of shot-making is somewhat obscure. Some chroniclers assert that it was the invention of a Bristol man named Watts, who is said to have dreamt that the heavens rained lead till the ground was covered with shot.

So impressed was he with the vividness of the dream that he experimented from the top of the church of St. Mary Redcliffe, in Bristol. The truth of his idea being proved, he built the first shot tower, and acquired a fortune.

In modern practice, shot making is a dirty but interesting business; dangerous, too, owing to the fumes arising from the molten lead. By the world's wharf stevedores, equipped with a cargo of lead ingots. These come ready prepared with arsenic or antimony. Each ingot weighs a hundredweight, or a little more. From the barge they are conveyed on tiny trucks to the foot of the tower.

Before tackling the ascent, notice the great waste trough into which, with a curious sucking sound, a fine shower of lead is falling constantly from the mysterious heights above. The iron trough is a shining mass of shot, the apparatus above turning them out at the amazing rate of more than 25,000,000 an hour—more than 400,000 a minute.

A circular staircase with 230 steps confronts you. Up you go, circling round and round the steadily falling lead, the shot gleaming all the while where the shafts of light from portholes in the tower fall upon it. The heat increases as you ascend. The atmosphere becomes like a furnace.

At last, almost breathless, you emerge into a circular chamber at the tower top. Be careful how you tread, for a yawning hole opens in the floor dangerously near you. Now, in a glance, you see the secret of the molten shower. Above the opening is a frame surmounted by a perforated pan, resembling, in some respects, an ordinary domestic colander.

Enveloped in a stout leather apron and wearing thick gloves—for it is a deadly business working amongst lead—a sweat begrimed smith is lading the molten liquid out of the glowing furnace and pouring it into the colander, when it drops through the opening down the tower. A layer of dross—the scum which forms on the top of molten lead, like cream on milk—is placed in the bottom of the perforated pan before the lead proper is poured in.

Which feeds a wheel perforated with different sized holes.

This cylinder, continually revolving, distributes the shot through the different holes, each shot automatically finding its way into its proper channel.

After being thus sorted the shot are then packed in twenty-pound bags, each containing about 50,000 shot, sewn up and made ready for sale or export.

A MUNICIPAL LIBRARY.
Indianapolis News: The city of New York, on the solicitation of President McAneny of the borough of Manhattan, Mayor Gaynor, President Finley of the City college and Controller Prendergast, have just established a library of municipal research. The aim of this institution is to gather and arrange information bearing on the administration of other municipalities the country over. The library starts with about 5,000 pieces of printed matter, most of which are reports of New York city's business affairs. Some of these reports go far back, but most of them are recent. The city administration, anticipating the library's rapid growth, is preparing to house it properly and to provide for its financial support. At present it is being cared for in Controller Prendergast's department.

THE SENATE.

"If it fails," says the Philadelphia Telegraph of popular election of United States senators, "the next step may easily be an agitation for doing away with the senate and intrusting legislation to a single house of congress."

We think nobody need worry about that for awhile.

And yet, why not? The senate was intended to be a bulwark of property interests, removed from the direct influence of public opinion.

It has been precisely that under the old system.

It can be that no longer, under the new.

Why, then, a senate, when it can no longer serve the purpose for which it was formed?

Our legislative system was based on the British plan. Our senate was designed upon the model of the house of lords. It was created to do for this country what the house of lords did for Britain: to permit vested interests to impose a veto upon the acts of the popular branch of the national legislature.

There is no fact in American history more easily demonstrated than that.

But England has taken away all the real powers of its house of lords. No longer can it veto the acts of the house of commons when they are backed by a popular demand.

Yet England retains its house of lords, chiefly because it always has had one and is content to let it remain so long as it is powerless; just as it suffers the shorn of real power.

Is there really, when you get down to brass tacks, any more reason for retaining the United States senate than there is for retaining the impotent house of lords?

But custom is a hard chain to break, and the senate will persist for a long time yet, even if the seventeenth amendment does forever forbid its performing the function for which it was created. It is easier to predict that than it is to say why it should be so.

Some more suffragettes have started on a hunger strike. Wonder if candy and ice cream are included in the tabu list?

THE BOURNE GOOD ROADS PLAN.

Senator Bourne wants the government to spend three billion dollars in the next five years helping the states build good roads.

He would raise the money by three per cent bonds, the states to give four per cent bonds in return for it.

He figures that the one per cent difference will create a sinking fund which at compound interest will pay off the principal, so that the states will never be called upon to pay the face of the bonds.

The nation should participate in the work of making good roads, and the Bourne plan is worth studying. The nation, the state, the county and the township ought to be co-operating systematically in the construction of good roads.

But neither nation, state, county nor township should overlook the fact that getting a dollar's worth of roads for each dollar of taxes collected is quite as important a thing to study as the problem of how to get more money to spend on roads.

If the nation takes up road-building, as it should, its first duty is not to devise a scheme of raising money, but to devise a scheme of road supervision that will insure that the people will get the full value of their investment in good roads.

Here is a thing for road enthusiasts to think about: that where road expenditures are resulting in only fifty cents' worth of roads for each dollar invested, a reform that brings in a dollar's worth of roads for each dollar invested is even better than it would be to double the road expenditures.

Not all the states would go in under the Bourne plan, and some of them couldn't without amending their Constitutions. Minnesota is one of these, as its Constitution declares, in Section 5 of Article 9, that "the state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement."

The Constitution could be changed, and even if Minnesota couldn't participate the Bourne plan might accomplish much good. Good roads advocates, however, never should put less emphasis on better methods of spending public road money than on large appropriations of public money for roads.

The members of the American Medical association are talking about cutting out the split fee evil. It would be an operation more heartily appreciated than most.

THE HORSES IN FLY-TIME.

A writer in the Open Court calls attention to the fact that horses were left unprotected against flies at an outing resort in the woods where flies are thick, and pleads for greater consideration for man's dumb but faithful servants.

It was thoughtlessness, of course, not wanton cruelty. But the effect was as cruel as though it had been deliberate.

A little more thoughtfulness for dumb brutes with the capacity for suffering but not that of complaint would become most of us.

A speaker at the State Federation of Labor meeting wanted to abolish one house of the legislature. He evidently didn't get enough excitement out of the reapportionment matter.

BOTH ARE CONSISTENT.

The News Tribune, observing Congressman Hammond actively working for a duty on wheat, which his district produces, can find nothing worse to charge him with than inconsistency.

It says: "Congressman Hammond of this state has seen the light of his own personal advantage. He voted for Canadian reciprocity. He did this every time it was before the house. Canadian reciprocity carried free wheat from the only country that is a possible competitor in the American markets. * * * Hammond wants a tariff on wheat. He changes his coat."

Congressman Hammond voted against Canadian reciprocity at every opportunity. He was one of a handful of Democrats to do so. He is consistent, at least; even though, as The Herald believes, he is wrong in his stand in both instances.

The fact is that both the News Tribune and Mr. Hammond are consistent: Mr. Hammond in his advocacy of protection for his own local interests and the News Tribune in its distribution of misinformation.

Now comes a suggestion that goats be imported into the Yukon. But who'd want its goat taken away off there?

A STAY-AT-HOME MERCHANT MARINE.

American shipyards, it is related, are so busy that it is difficult to get a boat built, and orders are taken only with the understanding that they will be filled when it is possible.

Some of this business is for the lake marine; a good deal of it is occasioned by the Panama canal, and the vessels being built are designed for the inter-coastal trade which the opening of the canal is expected immediately to develop.

The Boston Transcript dwells happily on these facts, but it is saddened by the fact that while the American merchant marine is growing thus rapidly, it is not growing "in the direction that promises our regaining the position we once held on the international trade routes."

"Our merchant marine is home-staying," complains the Transcript. It is hanging around Washington, probably, lobbying for ship subsidies that it never will get, and plotting to preserve the immunity from canal tolls which was granted by congress through the flat violation of a treaty.

Since that Stamford wreck, it is said the New Haven Mellen is all cut up.

GOOD JUDGMENT.

Cleveland is about to vote on a new and up-to-date city charter, which includes the fundamental and vitally necessary feature of non-partisan elections.

The Socialists of that city, after careful thought and study, have decided to support the new charter. There are things about it they don't like—particularly the non-partisan feature—but on the whole they recognize it to be a distinct improvement and a long step toward better things in city government.

That's a wise and public-spirited decision, and very becoming.

We have a notion that if the rank and file of the Socialists of Duluth had it to do over again they would choose as wise a course as their Cleveland comrades have done.

And of course it isn't necessarily a choice between being a June bride or none.

St. Louis has a telephone strike. At least it will minimize the number of "line's busy" aggravations.

THE OPEN COURT

FLIES TORTURE HORSES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last Sunday at Pike lake many parties had drives out with their park benches, and tied the horses under the trees for several hours. The animals were very hot and tired from the four-mile drive, and should have been made comfortable for their rest, but instead were left to suffer from the flies which stung them. They were without blankets, and being tied, could not defend themselves.

Is this the fault of the livery stables for not providing blankets or the drivers for failing to ask for them? For many summers this has been going on and although the horse-drawn vehicles are fewer on Sunday parties going out with horses for the day. With a little forethought much suffering could be spared by taking blankets, using fly nets on the way, and allowing the horses some freedom while out.

The flies for the next month are maddening to all animals and everything possible should be done to protect them.

Duluth, June 17.

A CITIZEN.

ONE VIEW OF IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the Open Court in last Saturday's Herald in regard to the city of Duluth, it is supposed to be a great menace to health and property of the city, and understand that Duluth is going to send a smoke agent to Chicago to learn how they keep the city clean.

I think that Chicago can take off its hat to Duluth for its clean city. I think if some people who are making a "holier" about black smoke had to work around Black Rock street they would have a different opinion for where all the garbage is hauled and dumped there is more disease flying about in one place than black smoke will do in Duluth for the next five years. It looks to me as though you had a friend in Duluth that wanted a job which would pay him $2,000 or $3,000 a year. You would be doing more good by giving a poor man with a family a job of sweeping some of the streets of Duluth instead of sending anybody to Chicago to learn how to keep the city of Duluth clean.

A FIREMAN.

Duluth, June 18.

SAYS IT WILL COME SOON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In regard to the communication from A. M. Balfany in last night's paper concerning a municipal electric lighting plant, I believe I can state with some degree of assurance that Duluth will own its own plant before very long.

As Mr. Balfany states, our five commissioners upon their own written and signed promises that they would work for the municipal ownership of an electric lighting plant. Four out of five of them have since then been in municipal ownership of public utilities, and the fifth, the mayor, while opposed to municipal ownership, as a principle, nevertheless believes that the people of Duluth know better than anyone else what they want and that it is the duty of the men that the people have hired to transact their business for them to obey the commands of the owners of the city—the people.

This is what public servants are elected for, and every one of the commissioners believes this, and thus far they have been proceeding on these lines.

And to their everlasting credit it can be truthfully said of them that they are doing the best that is in them to do, and that they are doing it for the people, and to earn, not only their salaries, but the respect of all good citizens.

They must, however, have a little time to get things to running smoothly, to rearrange obsolete methods of doing business, to put their heads together, before tackling the municipal ownership problem.

But they will tackle it before long now, and when they get into the fight it will be behind them, and backing every move they make, the great congregation of fighting bear cats that ever came over the pike.

They will be like the Scottish soldiers who, with the enemy in front of them and the bagpipers behind them, have no choice but to annihilate the enemy, for between two evils the far better to be shot or cut down with the sword than to face a healthy Scotch bagpiper's "mair."

Our commissioners have made some mistakes, and will make some more—but they would own them. But the government they are handling out to us now is so far ahead of anything we ever had during the reign of the "big men" and their political associates, that we should offer up a vote of thanks every time we mention city government.

There is such an atmosphere of efficiency and honesty and good business around the city hall these days that I can never believe that our commissioners will ever make the mistake of ignoring their promises to the people concerning a municipal electric lighting plant.

The Municipal Ownership league has, and has been, the fighting bear cats haven't been out of the city for one minute, and our five commissioners are a pretty wise bunch of public servants who know who elected them, who are paying their salaries, and who will elect them again when their terms expire.

So I believe that Mr. Balfany and the 8,373 other voters who decided that they would own their own electric lighting plant, will soon see their ambitions realized. Very sincerely yours,

DAVID HENRY DAY.

Duluth, June 18.

A Real Sport.

Herbert Corey in Kansas City Star: Ed Gaines did broke the other day. Old bookmakers remember Gaines well. He spent his life on the roller coast of fortune. One day he would have so much money that he couldn't carry it. Next day he might be without a penny. He would bet on any proposition if the odds were to his liking, and he usually offered better odds than any other bookmaker.

"Ed woke with a hangover, three pennies and a 2-cent stamp one day," said one of the older generations of gamblers. "He didn't want to write to anyone, he knew of nothing he could buy for three cents, and the hangover wasn't an asset. So he went into a saloon and laid his wealth on the bar."

"Be a sport," he said to the bartender. "Get out the dicebox and roll one flop for a nickel."

"He won. And he won again. Others came in. By noon he had $50 in his pocket. That afternoon he went to the races and cleaned up $30,000. The next day he had $500,000. He was a modicum of a gambler and gave him a diamond pin. A week later he walked into the saloon and called the mixer to him."

"Lend me the pin I gave you," said he. "I want to pawn it."

In the Wilderness

By David Starr Jordan.

I stood as in a dream within a wood.

A forest of tall, straight, slender trees, of tall-grown oak trees and stunted, gnarled pines.

With sunlight dune and huddling sassafras, Enmeshed with brambles rude and tangling vines.

Its mossy brookside blue with violets, Its red soil ever redder with men's hurt.

Men named this forest once "The Poisoned Woods."

"And was poisoned by the wrath of man."

"Twas treble poisoned by the flames of hell."

It burned through every corner of the wood.

Out from the forest, as in nightmare dream, Out from its straggling trees and struggling vines.

Out from its red soil, redder with men's hurt, From withering venom of its flames of hell.

Full seven miles of maimed and broken men, Full seven miles of ghastly shapes of men.

Post like a vomit from the Wilderness: Out from the pious shapes of Salem Church.

Out from the Catherine Furnace on the hill, From sparse farm-houses saturated with dread.

Field hospitals of gruesome awfulness, Where women, war-crazed, neither knew nor recked.

Of the ghastly children if alive or dead, From Sunlight's enfolding where Sedgewick fell.

From the old roadside in whose awful name Men spoke in bated whispers—Chancellorville!

In its green paddock, leading toward the ford Of Rappahannock and of Rapidan, Amidst the peach trees' rosy blossoms.

About the whitewashed shanties of the slaves, The ground was piled three deep with wrecks of men.

Living and dying—things which once were men, The Blue—the Red—commingled with the Gray!

The blazing inn an awesome funeral pyre.

Men tell us how the angry sun went down, A bloodshot disc upon a shrinking sky, And then arose the great white Maytime moon.

Flooded the forest with her patient light, Till Horror paled in dumb forgetfulness.

Shall we not ask in contrite humbleness, Can we give praise to Lord of Heaven, or Hell, For aught men did here in the Wilderness?

Down in your sombre hollow Jackson fell, His red hand raised in worship, to the last, Austere, devoted, of his Duty sure.

For such makes Duty of the wrath of man, Imputing Righteousness to deeds abhorred.

"The soldier has no duty save to die," And this is Duty, that he thus should die, Are nations built on bones of mangled men?

Have wounds of union no cement save blood? "Obedience to the Law before all Time!"

But then is such obedience supreme, Brought to fulfillment through red-handed rage?

"The brave makes Danger Opportunity." Is there no danger save from cannon's roar, Is there no harder, craftier foe than this Whose strength is measured by his trust?

The path to Justice between man and man, Must lead through strife, but not through pools of blood, The clash of will, but not the crush of men.

But war's fierce furnace melts the chains of slaves; Its bitter bitterness old wrongs; Four battles crumble at its trumpet call, And tyrants gasp at serried hosts of war.

War's furnace heat the bond of union welds, Shall not war bring the great Emancipation, The freedom from all shackles of the Past?

He reaps the harvest who sows dragon's teeth! When law is silent, anarchy murder rules!

Law, humanity's consummate flower, And Love is the fulfillment of the Law. Its blind and brutal denial, that is War. The Laws of War! In war, there is no law.

Where war is not, there and there only—Law.

Where armies quarter, thorns and thistles spring; New wrongs spring ever in the wake of war, From their hot ashes mount up fresh bands.

The Sutter camps on the Avenger's trail; The blood that is but a burglar's tool; Gross cities swell with loot of great campaigns, The Vulture gorges where the Eagle strikes.

And each fresh slaughter dwarfs the blood of men; The Unreturning ever were the Brave! Nothing enduring yet in wrath was wrought; No noble deed in hatred; in all time The Master Builder works in soberness.

A world which reeked with wars, and reeks again, The Path of Peace in patience rears.

Oh, take away the rippling of war, Its host for glory, its mouth-dilating lies, Its rippling colors and resounding drums.

Its chargers, banners and bugle calls, Its heady wine of music and acclaim, Take make a slaughter seem a holiday.

Oh, take away the sanction of the State, That haloes murder with a holy light.

That makes our common hate seem Wrath Divine, And thunderous shoutings as the Voice of God.

III.
I do remember in the far-off years Through the long twilight of the August nights (The nights of half a century ago.) I waited for my brother whom I loved— I waited for my brother, and he came— Came but in dreams and never came again.

For he was with the Sisterhood of Fate; Man is; Man is not; Man never shall be.

IV.
How light a chasm yawns our history! Still figures pour out from the Poisoned Woods; I seem to see them on their fated way. I seem to see them creep from death to death.

Full seven miles of crushed and wasted men, Full seven miles of tattered shreds of men.

Some dazed with blood, not knowing what they do, Rising to fall and falling not to rise. Whither they go—What matter? They must go!

If this be ghosts, they hover o'er this road, If they be ghosts, they fill this Poisoned Wood! Perchance no spirits wander of the slain, For these are sleeping in the woodland.

The Blue for aye unsevered from the Gray, Under that Flag where Hatred dies away, They rest as men may rest whose work is done.

The Horror lost in blest forgetfulness, For they are with the Sisterhood of Fate; Man is; Man is not; Man never shall be.

Yet there be ghosts here, ghosts that haunt for aye, Rising from the Poisoned Wood, The Slain Unnumbered; those who, still unborn, Through wistful ages never to be born, Never may answer to their country's call!

The long, sad roll! that lengthens with the years, The sweet life wasted, widening with those who have lived not, never yet can live; Their fathers slumber in the Wilderness, While these are with the Sisterhood of Fate—

Man is; Man is not; Man never shall be. Shall God fill another universe With life we waste in wicked wantonness?

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Good Roads Are Needed.

More times: Good roads is what Northern Minnesota needs. Our land may be fertile and produce an abundance of all kinds of crops, but unless we have roads farmers cannot be persuaded to settle on our lands or if he does, he will soon give up the farm and become discouraged and leaves.

Fortunately Kanabec county now has very good highways to nearly every part of the county—thanks to the enterprise of our county and town boards. We are, perhaps, more favored as to road conditions than any of our neighboring counties, but there is still work to do, so let us continue the good work.

They Don't Agree.

Princeton Union: Governor Eberhart ought to talk to the Sturteup club of Duluth and the Saturday Lunch club of Minneapolis. The obnoxious members of these select organizations do not seem to quite understand the governor.

Recalling J. Adam.

Cuyuna Miner: J. Adam Bede's slogan "Let us love one another" But J. Adam was sidetracked—Superior Telegram.

Adam wasn't sidetracked because of his slogan, but because he didn't live up to it.

Likes the Town.

Crosby Crucible: We never thought it worth while to live more than a hundred years until we came to Crosby.

Day Not a Candidate.

Fairmont Sentinel: Col. Frank A. Day is slated, so the knowing ones say, to succeed Fred You Baumbach as collector of internal revenue, a place good for at least $5,000 a year—Winnebago Press News.

"States" are n. g. under the Wilson administration. The Sentinel has inside information to the effect that the party mentioned is not a candidate for the collectorship or any other position. Dear old Fairmont and the dear old Sentinel look awfully good to him.

The Real Test.

Fergus Falls Journal: The New York papers are unable to decide whether Minnesota won or lost the rate case. Out here, where the fare is to be reduced from 3 cents to 2 cents, no one is asking any questions.

Good Work!

Hinckley Herald: The Northern Dakota association, at its recent meeting in Hinckley, started several good movements. One is for devising ways and means whereby aid can be extended to settlers who are clearing their land. On with the good work!

Aid for the Settler.

Little Falls Transcript: There is talk of organizing land-clearing companies to operate in the northern part of the state. The assistance rendered by such company or companies would be invaluable to the northern settler who, in opening up land for cultivation, is obliged to encounter many difficult obstacles. The field is open wide to the organization of a company of this sort and one of the most useful of activities would be served by it, if organized.

Our Curious Civilization

Kansas City Star: Peter Charlton, who confessed to a particularly atrocious crime in the murder of his wife in Italy three years ago, is said to have shown signs of derangement since his freedom. A grandmother died of alcoholism. An uncle was a paranoiac. His wife was highly intelligent. Yet this sort of a couple was permitted not only to go unrestrained, but even to marry. Wouldn't a man from Mars wonder at a civilization that permitted this sort of thing?

The Effect.

Brooklyn Life: Mantell—I had no idea that Banks was worth more than $100,000.

Dunlop—He wasn't until the government dissolved his trust.

The Best Reason.

Boston Transcript: Gibbs—I suppose they serve wine at banquets to make the speakers witty.

Diggs—No. They serve it to make the other people think the speakers are witty.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Ambassador James Bryce of Great Britain on one of his last visits at the capitol allowed himself to be drawn into a casual conversation with a young man here who dashes off pieces for the newspapers.

The young man made some remark about Mr. Bryce's book, "The American Commonwealth," which he went on to say, he had used

MAY BAR CIGAR STORES FROM FRONT OF SALOONS

Amendments to Liquor Code Would Prohibit Side Doors.

Would Result in Many Alterations Along Superior Street.

Cigar stores in front of saloons will have to seek other locations or so out of business and all side doors to third parlors will have to be nailed up, under amendments which Commissioner Hicken promises to offer when the new liquor ordinance comes up for final passage at the council meeting Monday afternoon.

The only exception made is for hotels with fifty rooms or more, which are permitted one entry from the lobby in addition to the street door.

away with all screens and curtains during the closing hours prescribed by law. This is in conjunction with the change requiring all saloons to face streets or avenues, cutting out the cigar stores.

The barring of the cigar stores in front of saloons will cause many alterations in front of the licensed liquor dispensaries, particularly along Superior street. Many saloons have rented most of their frontage for cigar stores in order to help pay the heavy rentals to which they are subjected. This feature has become common in the last two or three years. Not only will the loss of rentals be considerable if the ordinance and the proposed amendments are carried out, but much expense will be entailed by the alterations which will be necessary. Commissioner Hicken would have the feature of the ordinance become effective May 1, 1914, in order to allow the saloon men and cigar store proprietors time in which to make arrangements to comply with its provisions.

Stores as "Blind."

In the free and easy days of lax enforcement of the laws, amounting at times practically to total disregard of the regulations, the cigar stores in front of saloons were a strong ally of the saloon men and cigar store proprietors in their efforts to keep the saloons effectively shut off from all view of the interior of the bar.

The cigar store, for which there are no closing regulations, would act as the best kind of an innocent blind, allowing dry patrons to enter or leave the bar with small chance of detection and without attracting undue attention from the public or the police. The saloon men were quick to appreciate this feature and after the first cigar store had been installed in this manner, others followed in rapid succession. Superior street is now lined with them and a number of saloons are arranged as located in the suburbs. Many of them will be unable to find suitable locations if the ordinance and the amendments are passed. In substance, they will be driven out of existence.

Commissioner Hicken has announced the amendments several days in advance in order that those who wish to appear before the commission may do so. The commission will meet Monday afternoon. The meeting Monday promises to be the liveliest yet held by the commission. A number of interested persons, among them several prominent attorneys, intended to appear to protest against the new liquor ordinance in its original form. Knowing the nature of the amendments which are proposed, this number will be greatly augmented.

The indications are that the council chamber will be crowded and that the saloon men will be all that the most ardent lover of excitement and "scraps" could desire. The ordinance is a combination of all previous liquor ordinances, with several additions. Among the latter are the elimination of the brewery control of saloons, free lunches, music and gambling devices. The control limits are changed to limit all saloons in New Duluth to a corner lot, and to bar any saloon west of Twenty-third avenue west, barring the saloon of the right which was put up last year to get a saloon near the corner of Twenty-fourth and west and Superior street. Dumb waiters or similar contrivances are specially prohibited.

Penalty Rooms Only.

Another amendment refers to the penalizing of rooms in which convictions have been had. The entire building is not penalized, the head of the saloon division not wishing to punish other saloonists who may have had no convictions. The amendment is to have the saloon in the same building have more than one saloon. The ordinance did not provide for them all of them would have to close their doors if one of them were found guilty of breaking the laws. The room occupied by the saloon is to be used for saloon purposes for the period of one year and the penalty cannot be evaded by transferring the saloon to any other room in the building.

Section 2 under the head of "License, When Not To Be Granted," is amended by adding:

"Provided further, no license shall be granted to any person to sell intoxicating liquors in any room in any building wherein there has been a violation of the provisions of this ordinance or of the laws of the state of Minnesota for which conviction has been had, until more than one year after the date of such conviction, and until more than one year after the termination of any license for selling liquor in the room in which such violation occurred; provided, however, that this shall not apply to other rooms in said building wherein the sale of intoxicating liquors was licensed at the time of such violation."

"Provided further, that after the last day of May, 1914, no license shall be granted to any person to sell intoxicating liquors in any room which is a front room facing on a street or avenue, the floor of which said room shall not be four feet above or below the surface of the street and the width of which shall not be less than six feet and more than six feet greater than its width in front."

Section 14, under the head of "Eviction of Liquor Laws," is amended by adding:

"It shall be unlawful to operate or maintain any so-called dumb waiter or contrivance of the kind for the purpose of serving liquors in any room other than that described on the license."

Women in Saloons.

Section 15, under the head of "Women in Saloons," is amended by adding: "Nor shall any license under the provisions of this ordinance permit any minor to enter or remain in the room wherein intoxicating liquors are sold."

To Section 16, under the head of "Wine Room Prohibited," this amendment occurs as an addition:

"And it shall be unlawful after the first day of May, 1914, for any person to maintain in any room wherein the sale of intoxicating liquors is licensed, any screen, blind, shutter, partition or stained, painted or ground glass window or mirror or any other obstruction which shall or may interfere with or prevent a clear view of the bar or saloon from the street or from the sidewalk on any day after the hour of 11 p. m. or before 5 a. m. or on the Sabbath day or any general holiday or election day, or Memorial day, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. or shall there be any adjoining room of any kind, except that hotels or fifty rooms or more may maintain one entrance from the office or the lobby thereof."

REST FROM LOBBY HUNT

Senators on Committee Adjourn Subject to Call.

Frank Lowry Tells of Campaign for Free
Sugar.

Washington, June 20.—The senate committee in pursuit of the "lobby" turned over a new leaf in the story of sugar yesterday and heard the details of the nation-wide and long-continued campaign the advocates of free sugar made to remove the duty on that article.

Frank C. Lowry, sales agent of the Federal Sugar Refining company, secretary and organizer of the "committee" of wholesale grocers, wrote the free sugar chapter for the committee, while Senator Cummins acted as guide through the smoke of battle of arguments, and Senators Nelson and Walsh lent assistance when the issue seemed to become obscure.

The committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair. The three Democratic members will be required to attend the Democratic caucus on the tariff bill, and Chairman Overman did not know when the hearings would be resumed. Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific board of directors, had not been summoned to appear, and his subpoena may not be served until the inquiry is taken up again.

Told of Campaign.

Lowry's examination featured the closing session of the committee. He told of his attempt to accelerate public opinion and to persuade congressmen and senators, and spoke frankly of his efforts in the national campaign of last fall. He said he furnished most of the sugar information which appeared in the Democratic campaign text book; that he prepared data on free sugar for a Democratic campaign document which the present secretary of the party, Mr. Daniels, said would get a circulation of a million in pamphlet form; and that he had wired urging every member of the resolutions committee at the Baltimore convention to put a free sugar plank in the Democratic platform.

DULUTH'S PROSPECTS NEVER LOOKED BRIGHTER THAN NOW

"Duluth's future never looked half as bright to me as it does just now."

In this way J. B. Eustis of Minneapolis expressed his confidence in the city which he says is destined to be one of the most thriving in the country. Mr. Eustis has considerable realty interests here and has made a thorough study of conditions. At the Hotel McKay today he said:

"Duluth is looking fine, and I tell you it is always a pleasure to come here. On every hand I find the people optimistic, and I believe they have every reason to be. This optimism doesn't take the form of a fanatical boom, however. It is substantial and built upon tried and true conditions. I was surprised at the number of big developments in progress here. Why, I know of many number of towns that would be going wild with joy if they had a single one of them, and still Duluthians accept them as a matter of course."

Danville, Ill., June 20.—Dudley Delany and Gladstone Flaherty, aged 21 each and brothers-in-law, were drowned while bathing in the river near here last night. SCHOOLS TO HAVE GARDEN EXHIBIT Children Will Show Products After Commercial Club Prize Awards.

A great deal of interest is being taken in gardening in the West end this year and it is probable that each of the four schools, the Ensign, Adams, Lincoln and Monroe, which have children entered in the West End Commercial club's contest, will have an agricultural exhibit shortly after the opening of the school term in September.

There are entered in the contest nearly 700 children in the four school districts. Nearly every one of these districts has a garden patch in the rear which is under the special care of a boy or girl in the family.

It is proposed following the exhibit held in the high school last year, to have a similar exhibit where the best of the four exhibits will be displayed. Members of the Commercial club's committee intend to arrange with some local merchant to allow the exhibit to be placed where it may be viewed by the general public.

The committee has already secured $100 for prize money which will be distributed equally to each of the four schools. The $25 to each of the schools will be apportioned as follows: $10 for the best general display; $5 for the best kept garden; $5 for the best flower garden; and $5 for the best potato garden.

MAY NAME IT "MERRITT PARK"

Oneota Club Will Discuss Proposed Improvements for Community.

At a meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club to be held at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street, this evening a number of local subjects will be brought up for discussion. The club will select a desirable name for the new park at Fortieth avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets and also discuss street improvements and the proposed gas extension. Many suggestions have been made for the name of the park. Prominent among these is suggested "Merritt Park" in honor of Oneota's oldest settler. Others have suggested the name of "Keene Park" in honor of a late Civil war veteran. The club members will also discuss the housing ordinance, which they claim is handicapping building in this section of the city.

Seattle's Claims Outshadowed By Duluth's Health Showing.

If Seattle is "the healthiest city in the world," Duluth is healthier.

The death rate is lower, the climate more healthful and as far as the water supply goes Duluth can stand up on a royal flush.

The Westerner a few months ago, basing its claims upon statements made by Seattle's health commissioner, Dr. Critchton, at the International Congress on Hygiene, tried to picture Seattle as "The Healthiest City in the World."

Dr. Critchton gave Seattle's death rate for 1911 at 19.1. Duluth's death rate for the same year was 2.5. The Duluth health department regrets that this valuable advertising feature was not brought out prominently at the meeting of the health department.

Seattle's health department makes this opportunity of calling the public's attention to the fact that in the case of Duluth, that is no "Healthiest City in the World."

Mr. and Mrs. Vigneaux of Rudyard, Mich., were in the city this morning trying to secure more information regarding their son, Louis, who left home nineteen years ago and has not been seen since. The aged parents have visited a number of cities in Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan in the hope of locating their boy.

Louis, if living, will now be about 35 years of age. He left home at the age of 17 while the family was residing at Lake Linden. A year ago the parents claim to have lost all track of him. Since then only rumors of his whereabouts have been received by them. They ask that if anyone has seen or heard of their son to send them the information.

Mr. and Mrs. Vigneaux were in the city about two weeks ago on the same mission.

HOPE FOR BETTER TAXING METHODS

North Dakotans Trust There Will Be Improvement in Valuing.

Fargo, N. D., June 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Now that the state supreme court has upheld the tax commission law citizens of North Dakota are praying for some equitable system of taxation.

Many thinking men advocate the better assessed valuations being placed at the actual value. They insist there would be more taxes because the levy would be proportionately less. They point as two of the great advantages the advertisement of the state would get from the ground of assessed valuations and also from the low tax levy. The latter proposition especially in cities has frightened away prospective investors who were not familiar with the low valuations placed on property.

Farmers Get Off Easily. The farmers of the state at present, outside those people who escape payment on mortgages and loans, cope with the least taxation according to the value of the property. The methods of assessing personal property and buildings in the rural districts would be humorous were they less tragic for the residents of towns. Realty values are almost the same. The state taxed fixes that by counties and the valuation placed on farm lands is frequently under 10 per cent of the selling value. In the Red River valley where $50 and $60 per acre is paid for farms, the assessed valuation is $5 and $6.

The railroads and the corporations are taxed more heavily because it is easier to soak them than the farmers who have so many more votes.

DULUTH BOY RETURNS AFTER NEARLY FOUR YEARS IN NAVY

William J. Donaldson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Donaldson, 215 Palmetto street, Duluth Heights, returned yesterday the possessor of an A. B. seaman's certificate from the United States navy. The young man has spent three years and seven months in the service of Uncle Sam, most of which time he was on the U. S. S. New Hampshire.

William was only a little over 17 years old when he enlisted. He enlisted under the minority enlistment which gave him his discharge when he reached the age of 21 years. During his time on the battleship he visited nearly all the ports of Europe, the islands of the West Indies and ports in Mexico and South America.

It's a great experience for a young man," said Mr. Donaldson, in speaking of the trip. "The officers and crew were especially agreeable and the food good and wholesome. Our recreations were such as to keep our minds busy all the time."

The battleship was under the command of Capt. J. H. Oliver. Mr. Donaldson said that he had not made up his mind to re-enlist and probably would not do so. Naval life, while very good for a training, he said, was not what he would like to follow for the rest of his life. The young man has four months in which to make up his mind to re-enter the service.

RAP FOR REAL ESTATE MEN

Health Officer Say They Respond Slowly to Clean-up Appeals.

Spotless City Is Declared to Be Great Commercial Asset.

Real estate men are not on the job when it comes to making Duluth a "spotless town," according to officials of the health department. It is claimed they are the slowest to respond to the clean-up appeals, apparently failing to recognize the business asset which a clean city develops. The department asserts the slower action has been had from them than others in the city.

The co-operation of the public is asked in making Duluth the cleanest city of the country. "We much prefer moral suasion to coercion," reads a statement from the health department. "Let us all be decent and boost for a clean Duluth."

"Good people of Duluth, arouse your dormant civic pride and help the health department to make this the cleanest city on the continent. We can do it if you help. Talk to your neighbor; get him interested in the clean-up campaign, to the end that your residence district may be the most attractive in the city. Real estate men should be the quickest to respond to our appeals, but apparently they do not recognize the business asset which a clean city develops, and we have slower action from them than from most others. It ought not to be necessary to appeal to any one's pocketbook to aid us in this work, but there are some whose artistic soul is subordinate to the desire to catch the dollar in sight."

No one could make a greater mistake than to neglect the welfare of his neighborhood in this respect, not only his own immediate personal comfort, but also because it enhances the value of his property."

GRAPE JUICE IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Reuben Stafford of Cloquet Dies of Ptomaine Poisoning.

Ptomaine poisoning brought on by grape juice caused the death shortly after 9 o'clock last night of Reuben Stafford, 26 years old, at the St. Luke's hospital, where he was brought Tuesday from Cloquet.

Information was received this morning from Cloquet that Stafford had attended a picnic Sunday afternoon and that he was taken ill the same evening. A physician was called the next day and on Tuesday he was brought to Duluth.

It was taken at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon over the road to Oakdale, Iowa, the home of his parents. Interment will be at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, a short distance from Oakdale. The young man had been a resident of Cloquet for some time, having been employed as a superintendent of the Rathbone, Hair & Ridge-way company box factory. He is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Stafford of Oakdale and two brothers, C. A. Stafford of Chicago, and C. R. Stafford of Muscatine, Iowa. "I go on the stand voluntarily and the government takes every advantage of me on cross-examination, as if I had already been criminally convicted, and by every means of insinuation and innuendo attempts to reflect on my integrity and cast doubt on my testimony."

"There is in this country I have been prosecuted by my government," Mr. Perkins continued. "Just to show the difference in its attitude as compared with other governments, let me say that last year in Massachusetts a Harris company of Toronto, a Mr. Jones, was knighted by the king of England for doing the same thing I have done in this country, the building up of an immense foreign field of sale for harvesting machinery."

"One would think that the attitude of the government that where we went a blight followed, where, on the contrary, wherever we have gone the land has bloomed and we have increased the compensation of our laborers in the foreign field 25 per cent."

Replying to questions asked by government attorneys, Mr. Perkins said at the hearing he knew of no particular reason why the company had been incorporated under the laws of New Jersey rather than those of Illinois.

"Wasn't it because there had been several decisions in Illinois against these big combinations?" asked Mr. Grosvener.

"I recall no such thing. It could not have come up, because we have no illegal motives in mind."

The House of Melody Announces a Sale of Slightly Used Pianos!

JULY 1 marks the completion of our first year in business in Duluth. We wish to thank our patrons for the support received which has enabled us to achieve a degree of success that has been somewhat in advance of our moderate estimate. In the course of the year we have accumulated a number of fine pianos taken in exchange for Steinway and Pianola Player pianos. Most of these instruments are practically new. For the purpose of disposing of these odd styles and reducing our stock to the lines of new pianos regularly carried, we propose to offer the stock at very low prices, quality and condition considered, FROM NOW UNTIL THE TAKING OF INVENTORY AT THE END OF THE MONTH. We are not making these offers because we are going out of business. On the contrary, we have cast our lot with Duluth and expect to stay. Our lease on our present quarters still has nine years to run.

Here is a PARTIAL List of the Pianos We Offer. Other Pianos of Exceptional Value Are Not Listed. The Sale Lasts Until July 1.

Harvard Walnut. Here is a piano that will appeal to you. The case is a blended walnut of rather simple lines. We got this piano in exchange soon after the original purchase and offer it in almost perfect condition. $165

Fischer Open design, in light mahogany case. This instrument has been thoroughly overhauled, tuned and polished. $198

Hallet & Davis One of the old original cases. This makes, used some years, but still in fine condition; ebony case. $90

An arrangement can be made so that purchaser can exchange this piano later on for any new piano in our stock. $148

Chickering Comes from parties who knew how to care properly for a piano, and is good value although used several years. $100

Steinway Ebony case, in fair condition, action used the same length of time. This is an unusual opportunity. $285

Baby Grand There is a distinctly easier financial feeling and the banks are taking a more cheerful view of the outlook. Now is the opportune moment to buy that Baby Grand. We offer a desirable instrument for this sale. $575

WINONA FAR AHEAD OF SOX IN THE SEASON'S SERIES

Seems that they have been unfortunate in the way of managers up that way. Last season the Winnipeg team was without doubt the best in the league, and yet when the race was run it was found that this best team was extremely unfortunate in not coping the hunting. On paper the team looks all to the fortissimo this merry semester, but ball games are not Minneapolis, Minn., June 20.—Jarnigan and Sherrin had a pitching duel here yesterday and the Minneapolis pitcher won out, the Bronks defeating the Elks by the count of 10 to 1. The game was one of the best of the season and was also one of the fastest. Both pitchers were given some gilt-edged support, several sensational plays being pulled on both sides. The catching and throwing to bases of the game turned out to be the features of the game.

IS FREE IF HE GETS JOB

Telegrapher Will Be Sent to Prison If He Fails.

Fred Trombley's chance of keeping out of state's prison depends upon whether or not he is successful in getting back to work on his old job as telegrapher for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway at Pelly station today.

Trombley, a paroled prisoner from the district court, was called "on the carpet" at the superintendent's office at Proctor yesterday. It had reached his superiors that he had been drinking and that of course was not to be tolerated.

Before Trombley had an opportunity to report at headquarters, he was arrested on a bench warrant issued by Judge Cant in district court and brought into court to explain why he had violated his parole.

When he was placed on parole on April 22 last, it was with the understanding that he was not to touch liquor again, and that he was to find employment. Trombley is a telegraph operator and work was found for him with the railroad company.

In court this morning, Trombley insisted that he was the victim of a frame-up and declared that he could satisfy the superintendent of the railroad company as well as the court in five minutes time that there was "nothing to it."

The court gave him the chance. Judge Cant directed Deputy Sheriff Stevens to take the prisoner to Proctor and give him an opportunity to get the job back again. If he goes to work tomorrow morning he will escape prison. If he fails to secure his job, he will be sent to Stillwater on his sentence.

Trombley was convicted at the March term of court on a charge of forgery. He passed a $40 check on Buchanan & Hogan.

NAVY AVIATOR KILLED IN FALL.

Washington, June 20.—Ensign W. D. Billingsley of Mississippi was killed at a West Superior street saloon, was seriously hurt by the collapse of their airplane while flying over Chesapeake bay, near Annapolis, this morning.

The volume of the automobile business and its allied accessories in this country will amount to $3,000,000,000 during the present year.

NEW CONTEST CASE BEGUN

Farrell - Murchison - Hicken Dispute Is Now Before the Court.

Constitutionality of Preferential System May Be Tested.

The Farrell-Murchison-Hicken commission election contest came on for trial this morning in district court before Judge Cant.

It involves the dispute between James A. Farrell, defeated candidate for the office of short term commissioner at the first election under the new city charter and the successful candidates, Roderick Murchison and W. A. Hicken.

Baldwin & Baldwin appeared in court this morning as attorneys for Farrell, contestant. Crassweller, Crassweller & Blü represented Hicken, and Attorney James A. Hicken was in court for Murchison.

It was announced at the beginning of the trial that a number of stipulations would be made in order to shorten the proceedings as much as possible. One of the stipulations which was made was that all evidence introduced by any one candidate would be considered as against the other two.

In all, 436 ballots are in dispute. With the exception of sixteen, these have been divided into sixteen different classifications. One of the classes is, for instance, a ballot where the voter votes for more than two men for first choice.

It is expected that the constitutionality of the preferential system of voting as set forth by the new charter may be questioned in this contest.

CUSTOMS REFORM ORDER IS ISSUED.

Washington, June 20.—The first step toward the sweeping reorganization of the customs service which goes into effect on July 1 was taken when Secretary McAdoo sent instructions to collectors and officers of customs throughout the country to govern the collections of duties under the new system on all importations in the United States.

With the reduction of the number of customs districts from 132 to 40, the keynote of the new regulations is a concentration of customs administration in the hands of the collector at the headquarters of each district. Final appraisal of importations will be made by the appraiser at each port, an estimated amount of duties deposited, and the merchandise immediately released. The appraisal will then be sent to the collector at the headquarters of the district, where final liquidation will be made, the collector deciding whether an appeal should be made to the board of general appraisers.

By the reduction in customs districts 113 collectors automatically will lose their jobs on July 1, and other changes in personnel will be made to effect a large saving.

TROUSERS

Ancient Britons were among the people whose wearing of trousers was noted by the more civilized ancients, who eschewed them.

"Breeches" seem to have been introduced by the Romans, and very much as Chinese pigtail did the modern West.

Paul beyond the Alps was one time known as Gallia Braccata—Trousers-land; and Cicero taunts a man with having sprung from "trousered" ancestors. As Roman ways degenerated, the use of trousers began to creep in, and it is recorded that Alexander Severus wore white ones, previous emperors' trousers having been crimson.

HUBBY GETS HIS REVENGE

Where Divorced Wife Was Staying.

Determined to Prove She Is Not Entitled to Alimony.

Determined to prove that his former wife, to whom he now pays $15 a month alimony as the result of Judge Cant's decision in her recent divorce suit brought against him, was living in a house of ill fame, Thomas Jefferson last evening caused the arrest of William Lass Jefferson, along with Louise and Martin Carroll and Devere Blakely, all of whom were found together in the house at 115 North First avenue west.

The raid was made at 12:15 o'clock this morning by Sergt. Burchart and Patrolmen Orlinger and Monahan, who took the quartet to the station, where Carroll and his wife were charged with conducting a house of ill fame and the Jefferson woman and Blakely with visiting a house of ill fame. They all pleaded not guilty when arraigned this morning and their cases were set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Bail was fixed at $100 each.

The Jefferson woman secured a divorce from Jefferson on Feb. 6 last in Judge Cant's court, he being ordered at that time to pay her $15 a month alimony for the support of herself and her 7-year-old daughter. The small child was found asleep on a pile of old clothes when the raid was made last night. She has been taken in custody by Humane Agent McKeeher, who was with the police officers when the raid was made.

Husband Watched Her.
Ever since Mrs. Jefferson secured her divorce, her former husband has been watching her, determined to show that she was not leading a respectable life, he attempted to prove this at the time of his divorce trial, but was unable to show evidence enough to convince the court.

Jefferson is a colored Civil war veteran and runs the Willis club, 25 East Michigan street. His former wife is about 35 years his junior, he had charge of the ladies' check room at the Orpheum theater. Mrs. Jefferson declared she refused to act as a "drawing card" for her husband's club or to allow him to bring in men from other men, that she loved her husband and always taken care of her. He denied the allegations she made regarding conducting a house of ill fame and said that she was out collecting at one time, she claimed, made advances to her and offered to "furnish a nice little flat for her."

Jefferson yesterday informed Mr.
McKeeher that he had been watching his wife and also gave the police orders the tip. He told them how to locate the house and also gave the police order arousing suspicion. The officers followed out his suggestion successfully and the arrest of the quartet followed.

SUFFRAGETTES BURN MANSION.

Birmingham, Eng., June 20.—A large, unoccupied mansion at Solihull, near here, was burned by an arson squad of militant suffragettes today.
A number of suffragette placards were found in the house. One of the women demanded the release of the women suffering imprisonment for the cause. A second bore the words "Votes for Women." Another was addressed to Sir Walter Phillips, the judge who sentenced three suffragettes to imprisonment in London for conspiracy. It read: "Judge not that ye be not judged."

AUSTRALIAN CABINET QUILTS.

Melbourne, Australia, June 20.—The Australian Federal premier, the Right
Hon. Andrew Fisher, and the cabinet resigned today as a result of the recent elections in which the Liberals obtained a majority of one over the Labor party in the Federal house of representatives.

WILL CHANGE NAME OF ST. CROIX AVENUE

An ordinance will be presented to the city commission at its meeting Monday afternoon changing the name of St.
Croix avenue to South First avenue east. A petition to that end was presented to the commission at its meeting and was referred to Commissioner Murchison, head of the division of public works.

It has been suggested that the name be changed to "Culver" avenue in honor of a former mayor, while others have stated that the most appropriate name would be "Hill" which the city perpetuates the name of the head of the safety division, who has given Duluth the most realistic "hill" which the city has ever worn.

SCHEDULE FOR SAILORS

Sailing Races as an Added Attraction to Lark o' the Lake.

Complete Summer Schedule Is Announced By Captain C. D. Brewer.

The sailing schedule of the Duluth Boat club will be made to conform to the "Lark O' the Lake" program, and the races will be in the nature of an added attraction to the "Lark O' the Lake" program.

The schedule was announced this morning by Charles D. Brewer, sailing captain of the club.

In addition to the regular program
there will be a seaman's contest.
This will take place on the 21st and be decided upon by the judges. No notice will be given in advance and all boats, regardless of class, must compete. A suitable prize, probably comprising of good food, will be given to each member of the winning crew. The captain has notified the owners of boats in the 24-foot class to get their sails measured at the first opportunity and thus avoid delaying the judges.

COMMERCE COMMISSION WILL STUDY PROPOSED ADVANCES IN RATES

Acts on Its Own Initiative on Eastern Railroad Plan.

Petition to Reopen Former Proceedings Is Denied.

Carriers Claim 5 Per Cent Increase Is Necessary to Them.

Washington, June 21.—On its own initiative, the interstate commerce commission today began an inquiry into the application of the fifty-two eastern railroads for increases in freight rates. The commission denied the application of the roads to reopen the old "advance rate case" of two years ago. Hearings for the railroads and shippers will begin this fall. Announcement of the commission's purpose was made today in the form of two orders, based upon the petition of the railroads to advance freight rates, both class and commodity, 5 per cent.

Asked for Reopening.

In an effort to avoid the necessity for new tariffs which would have cost the roads at least $250,000, their officials requested the commission to reopen the old advance rate case, which they might have opportunity to demonstrate the necessity, as they view it, of the proposed increase of 5 per cent.

This application was denied because the commission prepared to consider the present application as entirely new. In the old case only class rates were affected by the proposed advance, in the pending application it is proposed to increase all rates 5 per cent. (Continued on page 4, sixth column.)

AUSTRIAN CRITICIZES BRITISH COMMANDER

Says Health Conditions in Scutari Are Being Neglected.

Vienna, June 21.—An interpellation was addressed to the Austrian government in parliament today asking for information about health conditions in Scutari.

The interpellator asserted that semi-decomposed and half-mummified corpses of Turkish soldiers were lying unburied in the vicinity of the fortress, and asked the government to take steps to compel the negligent commander Scutari to fulfill the duties demanded of him by consideration of civilization and humanity.

The attack was aimed at Vice Admiral Cecil Burney of the British fleet, who is senior officer of the international fleet which blockaded the Montenegrin coast since the outbreak of hostilities between the international force occupying Scutari.

WATERSPOUT IN PANAMA BAY.

Panama, June 21.—A waterspout was observed today in Panama bay. No damage to shipping had been reported.

STATION IS UNHEALTHFUL

Health Department Inspector Reports on Its Lack of Sanitation.

Lacks Proper Lavatories; Veal and Live Poultry Kept There.

Further report of the unhealthful conditions at the Duluth Union station was made today to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, by Leo Bernhardt, meat inspector, whose duties bring him there daily.

Not only are about twenty-five men employed in the offices of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Express companies in the union station, but in each of them a man sleeps every night. The offices themselves are without proper lavatory facilities, and after 12 o'clock the main station is locked, preventing them from using such facilities as are located there, according to the meat inspector.

In the basement under the express to a dozen coops of chickens are kept every night, sometimes with several veals which may not be in the best condition, particularly during the warm weather. The odors are wafted into the express offices through the medium of the elevator shaft. Keeping the men who sleep in them a certain kind of company.

The health director said today that he hopes conditions will be remedied in the near future. He explained that other officials, some of whom are in the station, have taken the matter up with the head office at St. Paul and that they believe they will be able to get action. The health director has threatened that he would close the station if no improvements were made in the near future, but trusts that no radical steps will be necessary.

RENEWS LONG LEGAL FIGHT

I. K. Lewis, Bankruptcy Trustee, in Suit Against A. J. Shea and Wife.

Another Step in Effort of J. L. Washburn to Collect Judgment.

Another round has been started in the long, bitter and almost famous legal fight in which J. L. Washburn, attorney, and Andrew James Shea, better known as "Jim" Shea, his judgment debtor to the amount of several thousand dollars, have been engaged for the past four years.

The new turn in the litigation came yesterday, when Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, and Wilson, Morgan & Morgan, attorneys for I. K. Lewis, trustee in bankruptcy for the estate of Andrew James Shea, bankrupt, filed suit against Mr. Shea and his wife, Abbie A. Shea, charging that through connivance, conspiracy and fraud, assets of the estate are being withheld from Shea's creditors.

The claim made is that Mr. Shea turned his property over to his wife in order to evade his debt to Mr. Washburn. Mrs. Shea, it is alleged, has refused to transfer the title and suit is brought to compel her to do so.

Began in 1909.

The history of the case is a long one. The litigation began back in 1909 when Mr. Washburn on March 4 of that year obtained a judgment against Mr. Shea for $21,748. It is claimed that Mr. Shea, who was then residing in a Federal house at Cedar Island lake, conveyed that portion of his property which would not be exempt from the judgment to his wife.

"TOO HOT TO LIVE," MAN TAKES POISON

St. Louis Real Estate Salesman Commits Suicide While With Friends.

St. Louis, Mo., June 21.—Charles H. Serbeck, a real estate salesman, committed suicide shortly after midnight "because it was too hot to live."

He was sitting at a table in a cafe, discussing business with a fellow real estate dealer when he suddenly arose and said:

"This weather makes me tired of living."

He went to the rear of the saloon, and a few minutes later returned with a bottle of poison, the contents of which he drank.

Heat Kills Peoria Man.

WRECK HAS KILLED NERVE OF ENGINEER

Doherty Says He Will Never Run an Engine Again.

Stamford, Conn., June 21.—Charles J. Doherty, engineer of the locomotive which crashed into the Pullman car Skylark here a week ago, makes a pathetic statement about his feelings regarding the wreck.

"I am through," was one of Doherty's declarations. "I wouldn't run an engine again if you put a hundred dollars bill in my hand every time I got near the cab."

Every night when I get to bed I feel as if some one was hitting me with a hammer from the inside. The gray-haired woman I saw at the wreck—I see her all the time. I saw her in the wreck when I got down from the engine, and it seemed as if everything began to go around. I couldn't stand it and I came home away."

I haven't a cent in the world, but I'll do anything to get to go, and work to forget railroading and for my two little children."

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR VISIT TO GETTYSBURG

Minnesota Veterans Will Leave Twin Cities Saturday, June 28.

Seventeen Residents of Duluth and Nearby Towns Are Eligible.

Capt. T. H. Pressnell, a member of the Gettysburg commission, will leave Thursday evening for St. Paul. The final meeting of the commission to arrange for the transportation of Minnesota veterans to Gettysburg will be held Friday afternoon, Judge John Day Smith of Minneapolis, who was recently appointed to succeed Gen. L. A. Grant, is president of the commission.

Capt. Pressnell has not yet decided whether he will make the trip to Gettysburg. He will make up his mind during the week, and if he decides to go, he will remain in St. Paul and join the other members of the Duluth party there. Capt. Pressnell will also attend the reunion of the First Minnesota next Saturday.

The personnel of the Duluth party to make the Gettysburg trip has not been definitely determined. The only eligible who is certain he will not make the trip is Franklin Palmer. The other Duluth eligibles are Charles H. Safford, Charles E. Harris, Charles E. Holt, William P. Strickland, Edward P. Follett and Thomas H. Pressnell. James Meyer of Virginia, Otto H. Dyer of Barnum, George H. Duffee of Grand Marais and Charles McNamara of Eveleth will join the Duluth veterans here.

Other Northern Minnesota eligibles whom Capt. Pressnell has on his list are Harrison Lyons of Verndale, Jeremiah Chant of Brainerd, David Archibald of Bay Lake, N. H. Paine of North Brainerd, Edmund Soper of Nickerson, Hugh McKenzie of Sandstone and H. O. Phipps of Wellington, Ohio. Mr. Phipps served in Capt. Pressnell's company of the First Minnesota and will board the Minnesota special at Cleveland.

Most of the veterans from Duluth will leave here next Saturday morning, but some will go earlier. The special train to Gettysburg will leave Minneapolis at 8:30 and St. Paul at 9:13 Saturday evening, June 28. It will arrive in Chicago Sunday, June 29, at 9:10 and leave at 10:35 a. m., arriving at Gettysburg at 10 a. m. Monday, June 30.

Veterans who wish to take their wives on the special train may do so by paying the fare, which will be the station fare paid by the state for the veterans. Members of Minnesota regiments who were not at Gettysburg may also travel on the special by paying their own expense.

BONFRE OF OLD HULKS

Duluth's Harbor Front Actually to Be Cleared at Last.

Dismantled Boats Will Be Either Covered or Burned.

Duluth's harbor front is actually to be cleared of the historic, but unsightly hulks which litter the shore line.

Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the division of public safety, has taken the matter in charge, and has practically completed the arrangements which will greatly improve the appearance of the water front.

The opening operations will be marked by a gigantic bonfire started and watched by the local fire department in order that adjoining property will not be endangered.

The flames will consume the bulk of the old sidewheeler Balcon which has been lying for years and years near the foot of Eleventh or Twelfth avenue west. The owners have notified Commissioner Hicken that they will start at once to remove the machinery which they wish to save. They expect to be through with their work the latter part of the coming week. Immediately afterwards Duluth's freighters will apply the torch and the flames will do the rest.

The Balcon is one of the oldest vessels in the local harbor. Until she went out of commission she was used as an excursion boat, plying the bay and running up and down the river. She will be remembered by many of the old-timers.

Several others, among them a couple of dismantled and rotting tugs, will meet the same fate where their hulks are above the water line for any material distance. The others will be covered, becoming a part of the made ground of the shore line. They will be filled in by those who dump dirt and refuse at the dump.

The cleaning process will cost the city practically nothing, but will result in the elimination of eye-sores which have been the subject of much unfavorable comment for many years. Other city officials have talked and talked, but never did anything of a definite nature.

CORNELL IS FAVORITE IN BIG RACE ON THE HUDSON RIVER

ILLINOIS SOLONS END THEIR SESSION Will Meet June 30 to Receive Message From Governor.

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—It was broad daylight today when the two houses of the Illinois legislature adjourned the sessions which they began Friday morning, practically ending the work of the forty-eighth general assembly, and recessed until June 30, when a special session will be held before the adjournment for the purpose of receiving any communication which Governor Dunne may have to transmit.

The house adjourned at 4:20 a. m., the senate at 4:45 a. m. Both concluded their sessions in an extremely orderly manner compared with other last nights.

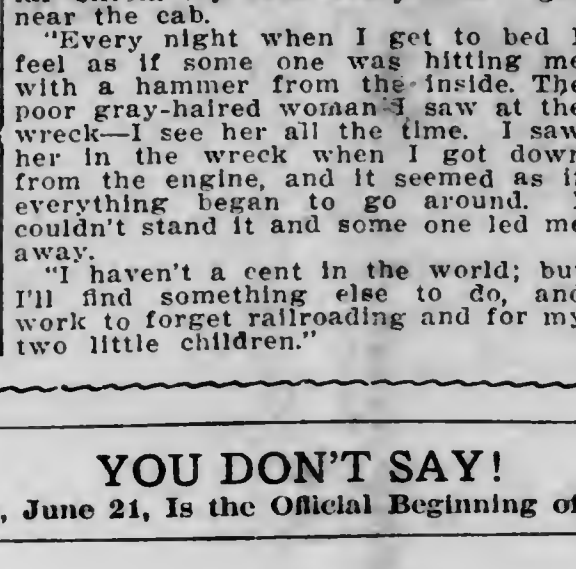

Dry Law Bill.

Representative George H. Wilson, the "dry" leader, remained in the house until the final fall of the gavel, hoping to be permitted to call up the residence district bill, which was upon the speaker's desk for concurrence in the senate. The house having failed to concur in the amendments, the bill is dead.

The anti-pass bill also died in the house, after passing the senate some days ago. Its defeat was a part of the program on the house side in retaliation for the defeat in the senate of the bill increasing salaries of members from $2,000 to $2,500 for the two-year term.

KEEP BUSY ON TARIFF

Senate Democrats Resume Caucus, With Chemical Schedule Up.

Republican Leaders Study How to Attack the Bill.

Washington, June 21.—Senate Democrats resumed consideration of the tariff bill in caucus today, as revised by the majority of the finance committee, further reducing duties and enlarging the free list. Discussion began on the chemical schedule, of which the Underwood rates were reduced on certain dyes used in the manufacture of cotton and woolen goods, while other articles, such as creosote oil, aniline and cyanides were transferred to the free list.

Chairman Simmons of the finance committee said he anticipated few if any changes in the chemical schedule by the caucus. Neither did he anticipate much discussion over the earthenware and glassware schedule which follows, though there was a disposition on the part of some members to urge certain increases in the rates on pottery.

Republicans Busy.

Republican leaders were studying the changes and adjusting their plan of attack. Senator Penrose, ranking Republican member of the finance committee, (Continued on page 4, fifth column.)

CITY CERTIFICATES TO BE SOLD OVER COUNTER TO RAISE NEEDED MONEY

Issue of 5 Per Cent Bonds Will Be Offered.

Money To Be Used for Water and Light Extensions.

Will Be in Denominations of $50, $100 and $500.

Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss proposes to hold a bargain counter sale to dispose of $100,000 of certificates of indebtedness to raise funds for needed improvements of the water and light department.

The certificates will be offered to the public at the office of City Treasurer Grant McLean in denominations of $50, $100 and $500 each.

Wherefore, come one, come all, who have $50 or more which isn't working. The opportunity offers a chance to make an absolutely safe investment on which a return of 5 per cent is assured.

Those who have money in savings banks can place it where it will give them at least a 2 per cent more, than they are getting now. There is positively no risk, the certificates being a specific lien upon the $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 water and light plant owned by the city of Duluth.

The bond market is so unfavorable that Commissioner Voss does not believe that it would be advisable to attempt to sell the $100,000 of water (Continued on page 4, fourth column.)

ILLINOIS SOLONS END THEIR SESSION

Will Meet June 30 to Receive Message From Governor.

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—It was broad daylight today when the two houses of the Illinois legislature adjourned the sessions which they began Friday morning, practically ending the work of the forty-eighth general assembly, and recessed until June 30, when a special session will be held before the adjournment for the purpose of receiving any communication which Governor Dunne may have to transmit.

The house adjourned at 4:20 a. m., the senate at 4:45 a. m. Both concluded their sessions in an extremely orderly manner compared with other last nights.

Dry Law Bill.

Representative George H. Wilson, the "dry" leader, remained in the house until the final fall of the gavel, hoping to be permitted to call up the residence district bill, which was upon the speaker's desk for concurrence in the senate. The house having failed to concur in the amendments, the bill is dead.

The anti-pass bill also died in the house, after passing the senate some days ago. Its defeat was a part of the program on the house side in retaliation for the defeat in the senate of the bill increasing salaries of members from $2,000 to $2,500 for the two-year term.

TRAIN KILLS MAIL CARRIER

Charles Peterson Loses Life Near Waldo Riding Track Velocipede.

Looking at Ore Train on Another Track and Did Not Realize Danger.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Peterson, a mail carrier, was struck by a southbound ore train and instantly killed yesterday afternoon on the Iron range railroad near Waldo station, three miles north of here.

Peterson had been to this city and was returning to his destination at Drummond on his track velocipede when the accident happened. Instead of using the northbound track which he should have done, he took the southbound track and apparently did not realize the danger until it was too late. There was an ore train going north on the north bound track at the time which no doubt attracted his attention so he did not see or hear the southbound train until it was too late, although according to the story of the crew, he had stopped his machine and was endeavoring to get it off the track when he was hit. The engineer tried to stop, but owing to the extremely heavy train which he was pulling and as it was on a down grade he could not stop in time to avoid the accident.

Dragged Under Pilot.

Peterson was dragged under the pilot for several car lengths. When picked up by the crew he was badly bruised and mangled and soon died. The train was in charge of Engineer Dan O'Leary and Conductor Edward Gallagher, both of this city.

The coroner was immediately notified of the accident and the remains were brought here.

Peterson was well known in this city, and had carried mail between here and Drummond for several years. He had a small farm near Drummond which he worked between mail trips. His exact age is not known, but it is estimated that he was in the neighborhood of fifty years of age. He was married, but his wife did not live with him. One son, Roy, has been living with him for the last few months, and arrived here to take charge of the remains. He is reported to have a daughter who is married.

CORNELL IS FAVORITE IN BIG RACE ON THE HUDSON RIVER

Every One of 112 Oarsmen Is Reported in Fine Condition.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 21.—Uncertain weather conditions for the annual regatta for the intercollegiate races over the Poughkeepsie course, on the Hudson, this afternoon, faced the oarsmen of the seventeen crews representing Cornell, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Wisconsin, Washington and Syracuse when they arose early this morning. The weather man promised brightening skies by late afternoon.

What little betting was done this morning did not change the odds of last night, Cornell still ruling favorite in the big race by 8 to 10 against the crews of Columbia, Washington and Pennsylvania. Slight odds were given Cornell against Syracuse and Wisconsin.

Crowds of college men who had been at New London to witness the Yale-Harvard races began to arrive early and the later special trains brought additional thousands of spectators.

Practically every seat on the forty cars which will make up the observation train has been sold. Tickets in the hands of speculators brought fancy prices.

All Oarsmen Fit.

Not a case of sickness or indisposition was reported in any of the six training camps today. All the 112 oarsmen were reported in fine condition. The 2 man in the Wisconsin varsity shell who has been suffering from boils, was much improved and the scores of cases of sore hands in the various crews practically disappeared.

Some of the crews had a light row this morning in taking their shells to the rendezvous at the one-mile mark. Cornell's senior crew had a pull of two miles and half to this point. Washington and Syracuse had a pull of two miles and Pennsylvania and Wisconsin one and a half miles.

First Race at 4 o'clock.

The oarsmen returned to their respective quarters in their launches and were ordered to report at the one-mile mark an hour before the big race, which is scheduled for 6 o'clock.

The four-oared and freestyle crews, except Cornell, were ordered to row to the start of the two-mile course from their respective boat houses. Cornell's four and freshman crews stored their shells in the Pennsylvania boat-house this morning. The four-oared race was programmed for 4 o'clock and the freshman contest at 4:45 p. m.

WOULD DRIVE MANY CIGAR STORES OUT OF BUSINESS

Proprietors of cigar stores located in front of saloons do not take kindly to the proposed amendment to the liquor ordinance compelling all saloons to front on streets or avenues.

To say that they do not like it is putting it mildly—very mildly. As a matter of fact they are very much wrought up about it and decidedly bitter in their expressions.

They point out that if the amendment becomes law, it will drive them out of business, even though it is so drawn that it does not become effective until May 1, 1914. They assert that it will be confiscation, as scarcely any of them will be able to locate in suitable locations. They add that they have established a trade in their present stands and they feel that the required majority of the commissioners will vote for it.

NOT WORTH THE EXPENSE

Abatement Proceedings Will Not Be Begun Against Carroll House.

There is no likelihood of abatement proceedings being started against the house at 118 North First avenue west, which was raided early yesterday morning by the police plan to enforce the new ordinance passed at the last session of the state legislature.

Chief Troyer stated this morning that nothing has been done regarding the securing of an injunction, and that probably no action will be taken. The furniture, he said, would not bring enough to pay for the abatement proceedings.

In case of a regular house of prostitution being raided and the inmates convicted, where the furniture is costly and might possibly bring a good sum on the sale, the police plan to enforce the new ordinance.

Abatement proceedings were started for the first time in the state last week, when an injunction was secured against the house at 253 St. Croix alley, where Maud Grant and Emma Meyers were arrested in a raid. The former has been ordered to pay the full term of the grand jury, while the latter was found guilty and fined $50 and costs.

The house at 118 North First avenue west has been used by the proprietors, Martin and Louise Carroll, who were arrested in the raid, as a rooming house. The furniture would bring much in a sale.

The owners of the house, who are expected to move and will in the future be more careful as to their tenants, should an arrest occur, the police will start proceedings just to close the place.

MODIFIES HIS ORDER

Hicken Will Permit Corner Stores to Sell Milk and Bread.

The recent order of Commissioner W. A. Hicken relative to the sale of food products has been somewhat modified in response to appeals that it has worked much hardship.

The small stores will hereafter be permitted to sell bread and milk on Sundays, in such quantities as may be necessary to supply the needs of the families in their respective vicinities.

When the closing order relative to the small stores was enforced many families found themselves in embarrassing if not uncomfortable predicaments. They had neglected to take precautions in providing themselves with their Sunday supplies. They had always been able to get them at the corner store but when they followed the usual procedure they learned that there was "nothing doing." Wherefore they had to get along the best they could but they gave ample vent to their feelings.

Commissioner Hicken said this morning that he does not want to be unreasonable or work undue hardship upon any one, for which reason he said that the small stores will be permitted to sell bread and milk, but must observe the other requirements of the state closing law.

Many inquiries have been made as to whether the head of the safety division intends to close the theaters and moving picture houses on Sunday. Asked about the subject this morning he announced that he had no such intention so long as such places of amusement are conducted along orderly and decent lines.

STEAMBOAT MAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

St. Paul, Minn., June 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. J. Mangano, general agent of the Stearns Steamboat line, pleaded not guilty in police court today to a charge of maintaining an unlicensed drinking place on the steamer St. Paul. The complaint was made by W. D. MacLeod of the Social Service church. The case will be tried by a jury on July 15.

MANY WANT PENSIONS

Merely Being a Widow With Children Is Not Sufficient.

Court Has Granted But Two Out of Fifty Applications.

Merely being a widow and mother of dependent children does not qualify one to receive aid under the recent "mother's pension" act and the answer to that is understood among the majority of applicants for pensions the less shoe leather will be worn out on useless trips to the courthouse, according to Mrs. Margaret Forgy, deputy probation officer of the juvenile court who has been receiving applications at the rate of two a day for the past three weeks.

Mrs. Forgy declares that the general impression seems to be that any widow may receive aid under the new law. The idea is erroneous and should be corrected, she says. The purpose of the law, she contends, is to give a pension to a competent mother for the support of children, which would under ordinary circumstances be taken care of by the father in the state public school. The court has received about fifty applications and Judge Ensign has granted but two pensions out of that number. A few are still under advisement.

Mrs. Forgy related an instance of a Superior woman who moved to Minneapolis to be nearer her children. She established a residence here she would come in for support. She was out of work and her husband had left because she could not find a job. She had a $10 pension every month if she had stayed.

The woman upon receipt of the letter packed up her household goods and had them sent by freight. When she arrived here she was told that the place to get the pension was in Eveleth. After moving to Eveleth she wrote her husband that it was "too bad" she had left because she could not find a job.

Another applicant for a pension was a woman who had been $40 from her present employment and another who owned a small business and had some mining interests on the iron range.

E. W. BOHANNON IS REAPPOINTED

Head of Duluth Normal Remains in Charge for Next Year.

The state normal school board at a meeting yesterday re-elected E. W. Bohannon president of the Duluth school. Other presidents re-elected are President G. E. Maxwell, Wagona; President C. H. Cooper, Mankato; President F. A. Weld, Moorhead.

Annual reports showed an enrollment in the four schools of 4,181 for last year, an increase of 184 students over the year before.

Mrs. Milne, wife of the former pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church of Duluth, has been appointed dean of the dormitories at the Duluth normal by Director Washburn and President Bohannon. Mrs. Milne has assumed her duties for the summer school.

MUST BE OF GOOD MORAL CHARACTER

Reputation and Record of Saloon Men Will Be Investigated.

The character of all applicants for licenses to sell intoxicating liquors will be carefully investigated by Commissioner Hicken.

This is required by the state law, which provides that the office of the official responsible for such investigation shall become vacant upon his failure to do so. Another part of the same law makes it a misdemeanor for any official to wilfully vote to grant a license to a person reported to be of immoral character or of being present, falls to vote against it. It is also a misdemeanor to cause a person making application for a license to make a false statement. If the new liquor ordinance carries it will be a more serious offense as the applicant must file a sworn statement before he can get a saloon license.

Nineteen Men Have Share in Five-Acre Tract Worth $250.

A fine problem is afforded the lover of mathematics who is fond of delving in lengthy long division, and decimals, in connection with a lawsuit which was filed in district court this morning by Mortiz Helm, St. Paul attorney.

The suit is brought on behalf of Johannes Grunow, German consul at St. Paul, who represents nine of his countrymen, who with ten others own varied interests in a 5-acre tract in section 22, 51-14, town of Rice Lake. The action is brought to secure a division of the property. The German consul wants the land sold and the proceeds divided among the owners. No one of the owners has title to more than a 1-15 interest and none owns any less an interest than a one-eighth share.

The property is estimated to be worth $250. The German consul wants to pay $50 attorney's fees out of the proceeds of the sale and after other costs of the action have been deducted divided the rest among the several owners in their proportionate shares.

The title of the suit is Johannes Sigmund et al., Henry J. Sigmund et al. It is an action in which certain of the owners who wish the property divided are made plaintiffs. The others who are indifferent or object are made defendants. All of the plaintiffs named are residents of Germany.

The land involved is described as being the west half of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 22, 51-14.

EQUIPMENT TRUST IS HELD VALID.

Albany, N. Y., June 21.—The legality of the New York Central lines equipment trust of 1913, authorized by the public service commission and the railroad commission of Michigan, is upheld by Supreme Court Justice Chesler.

Minority stockholders of the New York Central and Michigan Central railroad companies attacked the validity of the equipment trust certificates, of which $12,547,000 of the $24,000,000 authorized have been issued, on the ground that the equipment trust agreement is in effect a guarantee by each of the railroad companies interested in the debts or obligations of

No Interest in Fourth.

Plans for the celebration of July 4, which has been under way by the Civic Center club, will probably be dropped from lack of interest. Miss Neal, whose father was United States district attorney at Kansas City, was working here on a newspaper. While a safe number of delegates were pledged to Taft, there were many among them who would not have been surprised at a stampede for Roosevelt and the aerial flight of the "Teddy bear" was all that was needed to start a demonstration.

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION

Mindegave Committee Completes Arrangements for Holiday Observance.

Automobile Parade to Be Followed by Meeting at Curling Club.

Preliminary arrangements for the Mindegave Fourth of July celebration were made last evening by the executive committee. The meeting was held at the office of Dr. Hovde, 221 New Jersey building.

The celebration will start on the afternoon of Independence day with an automobile parade, the line of march beginning at the courthouse, going to Superior street, Twenty-fourth avenue and then east to the curling club. A living flag of 200 school flags will be one of the features.

At the curling club a program of addresses and musical numbers will be given. President George E. Vinson of the University of Minnesota and Prof. Omer Olson of Wisconsin universities will be the principal speakers. It was announced this morning that Dr. Hovde will be the chairman of the day's festivities and that he will preside at the program. Mayor Prince and the commissioners will also be present, the former making the address of welcome.

John J. Moe, chairman of the decoration committee, announced that for 1,000 yards of bunting, 300 flag costumes and 250 flags have already been ordered. The entire curling club building, both exterior and interior, is to be decorated for the occasion.

Odin Halden, Jens Flaaten and George Thrana were appointed on the program committee. The latter is in charge of the numbers at the curling club. It was announced at the meeting that a union male chorus of 250 voices from all the organizations of Duluth and Superior will be one of the features during the program.

Business Men Give Support.
It was reported by the executive committee chairman that the celebration promises to be a gala affair and that the business men throughout the city are contributing liberally to the fund. Over $500 tickets have already been sold.

The Mindegave celebration is being given by the Norwegians of the city for the benefit of the $1,000,000 fund, which the Americans are attempting to raise as a gift to their mother country, when the centennial of Norway's freedom is to be celebrated. The fund is to be invested and the income used to loan money to the farmers of the country.

The officers of the local Mindegave society, which is in charge of the celebration on Fourth of July and the campaign to collect funds, are: Dr. Hovde, president; John J. Moe, vice president; and L. A. Simonsen, secretary. The executive committee consists of the following: Dr. Hovde, chairman; H. Holmboe, secretary; John J. Moe, chairman of the decorations; A. O. Anderson, chairman of the sports; Odin Halden, chairman of finance; George Thrana, chairman of tickets; J. O. Wessberg, chairman of the public committee; and L. A. Simonsen, chairman of refreshments. J. J. Wangelstein, Mayor Prince, John Moe and Odin Halden are in charge of the automobile parade.

The last meeting of the executive committee will be held next Friday evening, when the final program for the celebration will be announced.

ORDER OF MOOSE WILL GIVE CARNIVAL

Shows Will Be Located at Old Fair Grounds for Week of June 30.

"The Moose" carnival, which will be held on the old fair grounds, Thirty-fifth avenue west and Third street, during the week commencing June 30, will undoubtedly have a record-breaking attendance (weather permitting), as the shows that they have engaged to furnish amusement for the public during that week are evidently of the best, cleanest and largest now traveling.

The following description of them is an excerpt taken from one of the daily papers of Waterloo, Iowa: "It would be hard, indeed, to name the best attractions at the carnival grounds. Worcham & Allen have certainly the best attractions ever seen in this section. The shows are all clean and meritorious, free from objectionable features. The water circus and congress of international diving girls had a crowd that almost taxed the capacity of their pavilion. Esther Donahue, the young lady who holds the champion American lady diver, Chubby Whitney, Edith Cooley, Edith Whitaker, and 'Buster' Eva May, the famous woman clown, are some of the principals in the water show.

"The animal show also was well patronized last night. Miss Berne, a Rose, who has completely recovered from her injuries inflicted by the big Barbary lion, Brutus, is again in the arena with her well trained group of lions. Capt. Dyer, of the wild animal show, Pharaoh's Daughter, where the statue of the sphinx and the famous miracle painting, the 'Shadow of the Cross,' are exhibited together with a number of clever illusions and spectacular dances, and make a performance that delights the women and children.

The educated horse, Sarah, trained and worked by Thomas West, is certainly a marvel. He adds, subtracts, spells his name, in fact, does almost everything but talk. He is ably assisted by some of Maxine, the original 'Good Night' male, that goes to bed in a mammoth brass bedstead. This show, particularly, pleases the women and children.

The cabaret show, which, by the way, is new in this section, pleased the numerous patrons. Twelve pretty young women sing and dance their way into the hearts of the audience. Their musical comedy numbers were well received. Princess Carla, the 'doll lady,' was visited by hundreds and the universal verdict is that she is the thickest and cutest bit of humanity that was ever seen here. She is very busy with her sewing machine, making some new gowns to wear at her daily receptions. India, a dancing and mystery show, is being well received. The Motorhome, Crazy House, Drowsy Gorgie and several others were well attended. In fact, there is amusement for everyone. An attempt will be made to feed a monster South African python this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the slide show. This snake has not eaten anything since Nov. 23. 'Bobby' the crawfish boy, is drawing large crowds each evening. His hands and limbs are webbed and greatly resemble those of a crawfish. A visit to this show will prove very entertaining.

56-CENT PICTURE GENUINE RUBENS.

Vancouver, B. C., June 21.—A picture which recently sold for 56 cents, is on its way to the national gallery in London from Melbourne, Australia, for confirmation of the belief of the owner that it is a work of Rubens. Experts in Melbourne say a cablegram from there, have declared it a genuine Rubens.

The canvas, known as "Thibe," is the property of Mr. S. J. Summers, an Australian who purchased it from a Melbourne vendor recently for $250. The vendor said he had paid 16 cents for it originally. Dr. Summers was so much impressed with the work that he placed it before the experts, and now seeks ratification of their report.

CONGRESSMEN TO GO TO GETTYSBURG.

The house formally accepted an invitation from the state of Pennsylvania to participate in the reunion. The speaker appointed a committee headed by himself. Later the committee was announced and included Representative Burke of South Dakota and Mondell of Wyoming.

BISHOPS REJECT CARNEGIE MILLION

Veto Acceptance of His Gift to Vanderbilt University.

Nashville, Tenn., June 21.—Nineteen members of the college of bishops of the Methodist-Episcopal church, South, by resolutions have vetoed the recent action of the board of trustees of Vanderbilt university in accepting Andrew Carnegie's gift of $1,000,000 for the medical department of the school. The bishops held that the board had exceeded its authority and had committed a breach of the trust vested in it. Acceptance of the gift, with Mr. Carnegie's plan of its administration, constituted, they held further, a diversion of a large portion of the endowment and property of the university from the trusts under which the property was held.

In an explanatory address to the church, the bishops said that the gift without the conditions, "which must be fulfilled in good faith to the donor," would be welcome, and added: "We are unwilling that at Mr. Carnegie should be deceived as that the university should be dishonored and the church of God dishonored."

The question as to whether the college of bishops or the board of trustees shall exercise final authority over the university, which is a Southern Methodist institution, now before the supreme court of Tennessee.

MILITANTS DISGUST SUFFRAGE ALLIANCE

English Women Make Fiery Speeches and Mrs. Belmont Cheers.

Budapest, June 21.—Militant suffragettes nearly caused a serious row at the international suffrage alliance meeting. Mrs. Jane Cobden-Sanderson and Mrs. Charlotte Despard, both English women, delivered fiery harangues, accusing militant tactics and protesting against their exclusion as fraternal delegates from full participation in the proceedings. They claim that as fraternal delegates, they were entitled to the same rights as the official delegates.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont manifested great indignation at the attitude of the militants by standing up at the conclusion of Mrs. Despard's speech and making a long and waving her handkerchief. The non-militant delegates, however, resented the abuse of the courtesy extended by the congress in permitting Mrs. Sanderson where the statue of the sphinx and the famous miracle painting, the 'Shadow of the Cross,' are exhibited together with a number of clever illusions and spectacular dances, and

IMPROVEMENTS FOR ONEOTA

Paving, Fire Hall, Park and City Dock in Prospect.

The paving of West Third street to Forty-ninth avenue west, building of a fire hall for the Hazelwood park district, a park for this section and a city dock at Thirty-ninth avenue west are the civic improvements needed for this end of the city and will be secured in their order made according to a statement made last night by Mayor Prince before the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club at the Merritt school.

The mayor stated that the limited amount of money made it necessary for the commission to go slow in its expenditures. He said that there was not enough money on hand to purchase the full amount of the improvements, but that the full amount of ground asked for a park in this section, but stated that later on the ground could be added to. He informed the members of the club that there was a small amount on hand which would be available to be used in the purchase of seats and tables for this park.

The club voted to call the park the "Merritt park" in honor of the present commissioner of public utilities. A resolution was also passed asking the street railway company to change the name on its East Fourth and Grand avenue cars to East Fourth and Sovereign street. The club also voted to hold its next meeting on July 18 instead of July 4 which is the regular date of the meeting.

The firm has chosen an admirable location outside of the "high rent" district, while at the same time convenient to the shoppers. The class of furniture shown by the firm bears the mark of superior quality manufactured by factories of Grand Rapids, Mich., Rockford, Ill., and other well-known furniture centers.

The members of the firm are well known at the head of the Lakes. The firm has been shipping its product to many points surrounding Duluth as well as giving daily deliveries in the two cities.

and light bonds yet unsold. About the whole lot which would be secured would net the city only $92 or $93 on each $100 par value.

To save the city paying such a high premium the head of the finance department has decided that the city should issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness as follows:

PART I.
"1. To pay, fund or refund any debts of the city.
"2. To purchase, construct, extend, improve and maintain public utility plants, such bonds or certificates of indebtedness so issued shall be a specific lien upon such plants named in the ordinance authorizing the issuance of said bonds or certificates of indebtedness."

The improvements desired for the water and light department include: The construction of a new pumping station, together with the installation of pumps, force mains and reservoir tanks for the Woodland system, estimated at $25,000.

The construction of a 5,000,000 gallon reservoir for the middle of hillside system, estimated to cost $40,000.

The installation of an 18,000,000 gallon pumping unit at Lakewood, estimated to cost $20,000.

The erection of a shop and office building at West Duluth, and office cost $5,000.

The aggregate of the estimated cost of the improvements is $91,000.

The finance commissioner plans to have the tax levy for the water and light department credited to the sinking fund and used for the payment of the certificates and the interest.

In the past one-half of the certificates issued for the water and light department and used by the department for extensions and improvements. This way the certificates will not add to the bonded indebtedness and the certificates will be paid off in a manner practically equivalent to taking the money from its own earnings.

The resolution which has been prepared by Commissioner Voss, and which will almost undoubtedly pass at the Monday meeting is as follows:

"Whereas, the water and light department of the city of Duluth is in need of funds to build a reservoir and make other needed improvements, and whereas, the city council of the city of Duluth deem it advisable to issue $100,000 certificates of indebtedness under section 55 of the city charter to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, in denominations of $50, $100 and $200, payable as follows: $20,000 in one year, $20,000 in two years, $20,000 in three years, $20,000 in four years and $20,000 in five years, be it therefore

"Resolved, That the city treasurer be and he is authorized and instructed to advertise for proposals to buy and receive subscriptions for said certificates and if a sufficient amount is subscribed, to issue his receipt for funds received, and to pay interest on same at 5 per cent per annum pending the delivery of the certificates."

"Resolved further, That the tax levy for the water and light department be credited to the sinking fund and used for the payment of these certificates and the interest thereon."

Commerce Commission Will Study Proposed Advances in Rates

horizontally. The questions involved are quite different.

To Satisfy People.
As the proposition stands, it is a question to be determined by testimony and argument. The senate's petition says that they are prepared to show the necessity for the expenditure of many millions of dollars for many purposes, "among which are enlarging tracks, block signals, additional shops, improvements in stations, changes and eliminations of grade crossings, new locomotives, new passenger and freight cars and other equipment; that these large expenditures of money are demanded by existing and future transportation conditions, and must be made if our petitioners are to satisfy the needs of the public, for improved and additional facilities."

It is declared further, "that the great sum of money needed for these improvements must be largely provided by the issue of new securities, and that such necessary capital cannot, under existing transportation rates, be obtained except on terms which would be prohibitive or which the carriers generally would not be justified in assuming."

Credit Is Impaired.
"The net earnings produced by existing rates are not sufficiently large to furnish that margin of surplus which will afford the carriers the credit necessary to enable them to secure the additional capital required for such necessary purposes, and it is only through an increase in freight rates that this can be accomplished."

In its order the commission directed that the inquiry should cover two points, viz:

"Do the rates of transportation imposed by common carriers by railroad in official classification territory yield an adequate net return?"

"And if not, what plan shall be adopted to increase such transportation charges?"

Abbie A. Shea for the express purpose of evading the debt.

On Aug. 9, 1911, Mr. Shea was adjudged a bankrupt in the United States district court and I. K. Lewis was appointed by the court as trustee in the proceedings. In the bankruptcy court, Mr. Washburn renewed his attempts to have the judgment satisfied.

Mr. Shea was brought before the district court on supplementary proceedings. It was disclosed at that time that the proceeds of the sale of timber from Mr. Shea to the Cedar Lake and Lake Iron company amounted to about $20,000. The money was tied up in stocks and other securities in the hands of the company.

The court during September, 1909, ordered Mr. Shea to turn over the property and he refused. He was sent to the county jail and languished there for some weeks. Finally Mr. Shea paid $6,533.35, one-third of the $20,000, and was allowed his freedom.

The bankruptcy court then ordered Mrs. Shea to turn over the remainder. From this order made by Judge Page Morris an appeal was taken to the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Louis, and the order was reversed except in a few particulars. H. W. Dietrich of Superior and John B. Arrand of this city were attorneys for Mr. Shea and they won their point.

Lower Court Reversed.
The circuit court of appeals held at the time that Judge Morris of the bankruptcy court was powerless to order property turned over to the trustee in bankruptcy in cases where questions of title were affected. The higher court's opinion stated that the question affecting the title had to be fought out in a plenary suit brought by the trustee to set aside the fraudulent transfers, if there were any. This is what the trustee is now doing. The question of whether the transfer was made from Mr. Shea to his wife for the purpose of defrauding his creditors will now be left to a jury to decide.

The action filed yesterday afternoon, Mr. Lewis as plaintiff, alleges that the property in question is being withheld by "Sham, colorable and fictitious" title in the name of Mrs. Shea. Among the property mentioned is 100,000 shares of stock in the Cedar Lake and Lake Iron company, a judgment of $23,333.33 against the same company entered Jan. 10, 1911, ten acres of land, $2,000 in cash, and certain other securities.

The trustee petitions the court to compel Mrs. Shea to assign to him the judgment against the iron company, the stock and other property exempt in bankruptcy proceedings. This is asked for in order that claims against the bankrupt estate may be satisfied.

WANTED! A MAN TO SHOOT CROWS
"Wanted—Somebody to shoot crows. No tallors need apply."

The reason for this is that tallors are popularly supposed to be poor marksmen. Anent that belief Reginald De Koven and Harry B. Smith wrote into their "Robin Hood" the famous "Tallor Shot" in which it was recorded:

"The tallor shot and he missed his mark,
And the crows flew wide and far—
Um, caw, caw," etc.

At any rate, there are marksmen needed for crows on Park Point and at the lake shore of the East end, for the crows are pirates and maraud and rob the nests of other birds, eating the rob the nests of other birds, eating the young of the fledglings. Humanitarians are protesting to the city commission that something should be done. The park board has already, however, destroyed nests of crows wherever found.

It is said that the crows are attacking the nests of sparrows rather voraciously, but that when parent birds are present the crows have about all they get up much sympathy for the sparrows, for they are considered public pests anyway.

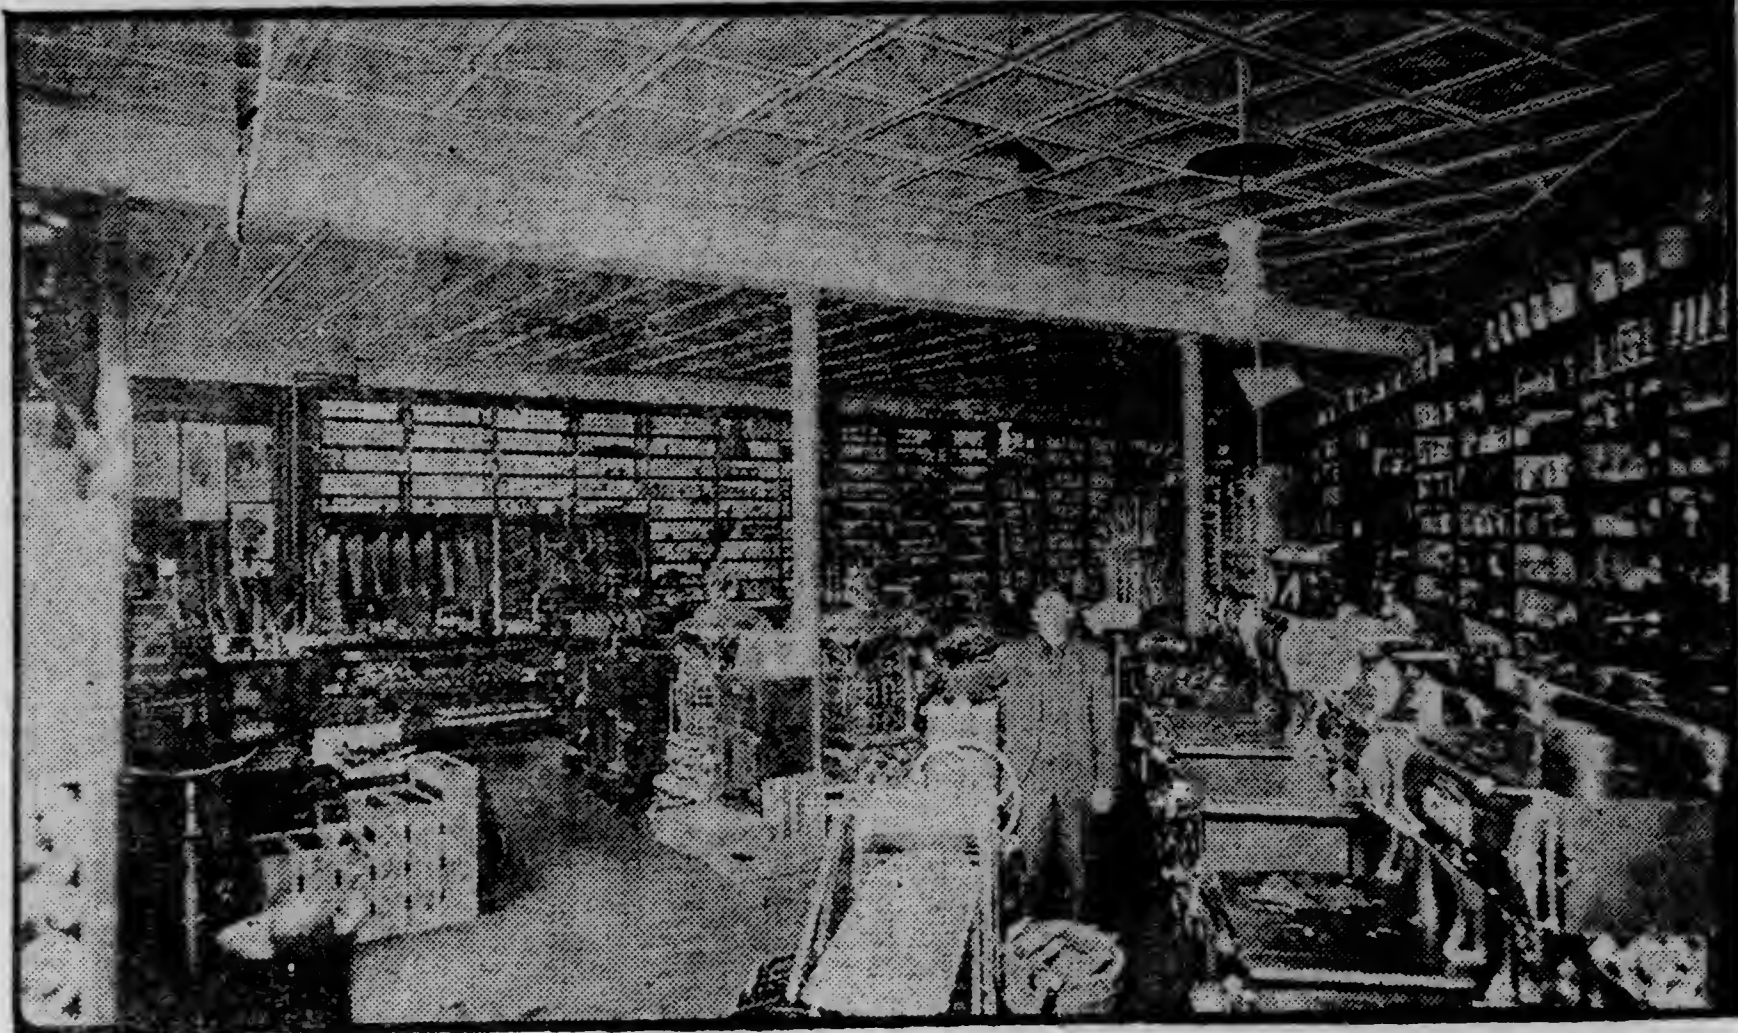

To the Fishermen.
The "South Shore" evening train of Saturdays and Sundays stops at Lake Millicent, Cusson and Delta. The west-bound morning train of Sundays and Mondays will stop at same points to Bilton and local points, returning in the evening. Leave Duluth 7:45 a. m., Superior 8:12 a. m., returning, arrive Superior 8:40 p. m., Duluth 9:20 p. m. A golden opportunity for capturing the fishy tribe.

SLOW TRAIN; NO HOUSES

Combination Makes It Difficult to Secure Workmen at Steel Plant.

New Duluth and Gary Crowded; Train Service Poor.

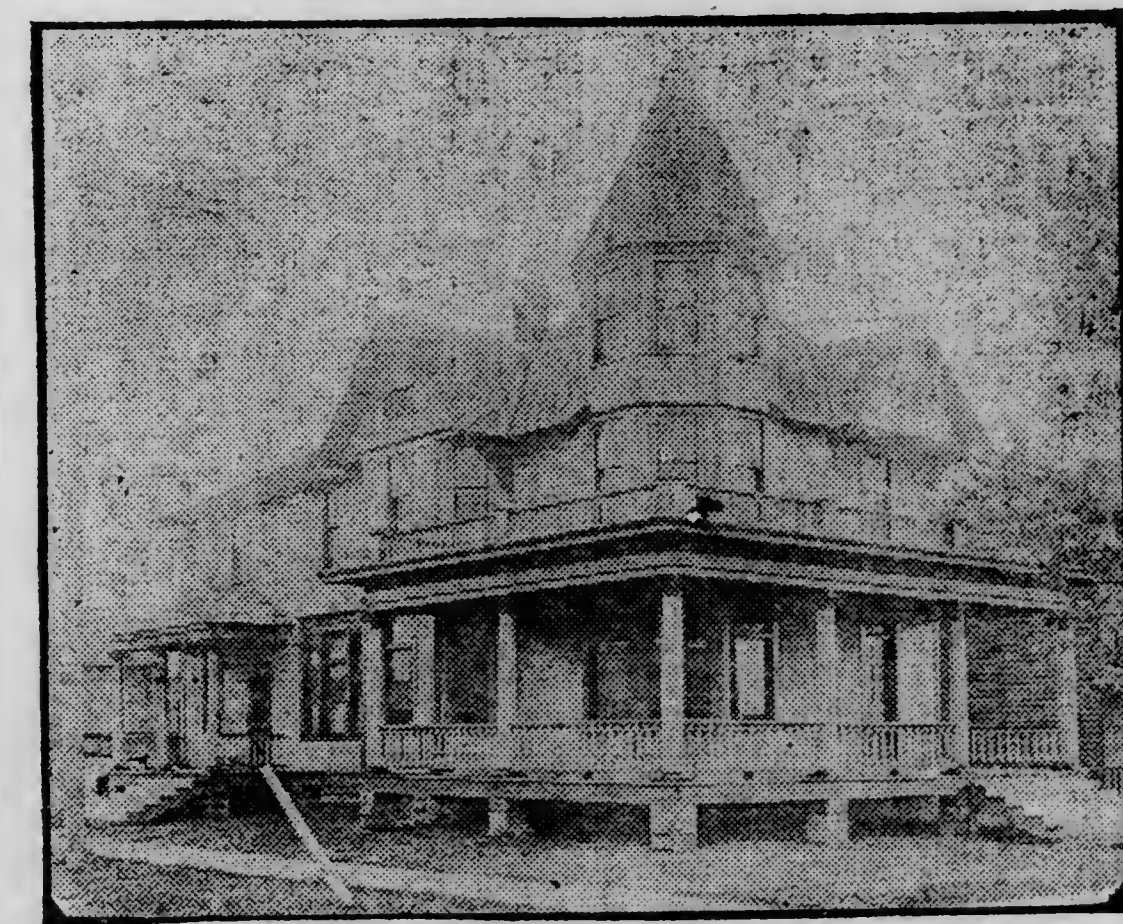

Lack of housing accommodations at New Duluth and Gary and poor passenger service by the Northern Pacific railroad are causing officials of the Minnesota Steel plant a great deal of worry, because they are unable to keep good workmen. It is claimed that the Northern Pacific train is always late because of necessity to collect every fare within a short space of time and that the train is purposely run slowly to give the conductor time to get to all the men.

It was stated this morning that nearly fifty men had quit working at the plant yesterday because of poor accommodations on the train, and the inability to find good quarters in the suburb. It is proposed by West Duluth business men to place the matter before the Northern Pacific officials asking that an assistant to the conductor be placed on the train in order that they might be operated on time.

The train is due to leave the plant at 6:17 and arrive at West Duluth at 6:35 o'clock. The train is usually a half hour late getting to West Duluth at about 7 o'clock. This time is lost they claim because of necessity of collecting about 400 fares between the two points. A similar experience is had in the morning the train arriving at the plant with only just time enough to allow the men to get to work, although it leaves West Duluth at 6:35 and the men do not go to work until 7:15.

Although it is now a week since the expiration of the time when the contract for making the fill at Eighty-first avenue and Grand expired, it is claimed that at least two months' work is required to complete the job. The

ONE OF MANY MODERN HOMES BEING ERECTED IN WEST DULUTH

C. M. BROOKS' RESIDENCE.

C. M. Brooks has just completed rebuilding and remodeling his home on Fifty-ninth avenue west and Wadena street, making the residence one of the handsomest in this end of the city. It is a type of the many modern homes being built in West Duluth.

Mr. Brooks purchased the property two years ago for $3,500. Last winter he commenced remodeling the place, putting a basement and stone foundation under it. The cost of the remodeling, which amounted to rebuilding, has been about $5,000. Recently moved his family into the new home.

Interest in the work and that what was being done was handed out as though it was a present to this end of the city instead of its just due. The city is spending little money for this highway and what little it spends is being done with a grudging hand, said Mr. Frey. The price to be paid for some of the property to be condemned was raised by a property owner because it took a part of his house, which he did not know before. The difference is only nominal, but still there is the kick by the commissioner. He says that the city would furnish the money if the road was built and the county has already promised to start the work when the condemnation proceedings are completed. I know that the county is ready to begin the work.

Mr. Olson stated that the highway along the St. Louis river to connect with the state road to Wrenshall and the Twin Cities was practically as-

WANT CITY TO RECLAIM ROAD

West Duluthians Say Highway Should Never Have Been Abandoned.

Residents of West Duluth will ask the city commission to inquire into the legality of the abandoning of the old county road between New Duluth and Smithville. The purpose of making the inquiry will be to find out if the highway can be legally reclaimed. The action of the old city administration in abandoning this roadway to the steel company was an outrage, said John J. Frey last night. "A lot of lawyers who have given casual opinion on the subject state that there is little doubt but that the road be given away have not carried out their part of the agreement in planning timely avenue in shape for traffic although nearly three years have elapsed since the road was abandoned."

It is the opinion of West Duluth men that because of the failure to provide a passable highway in the place of the one given away that the order granting the right to the steel company can be rescinded. It is proposed to ask the commission to have a thorough investigation of the matter made by its legal department.

The old road had been established for nearly fifty years, first being used as a trail between the old fort at Fond du Lac and the settlement on the lake shore and Oneota. The old road was also about a half mile shorter between Duluth and New Duluth than the new route.

COLORED CIVIL WAR VETERAN WANTS TO BE DETECTIVE

Thomas Jefferson, colored, 63 years old, veteran of the Civil war, a resident of Duluth for the past thirty years and one of the best known negroes in the state of Minnesota, would be a detective on the local police force. Mr. Jefferson was the one who caused the raid on the house at 118 North First avenue west early yesterday morning and the arrest of the inmates, one of whom was his divorced wife.

Mr. Jefferson stated this morning that he is well acquainted with all the negroes of the city and is positive he would prove a valuable asset to the police department. He was a detective on the St. Paul force for four years and was health officer later for two years. When a detective in the Sault Ste. Marie he secured the arrest of the notorious Tom Howard after the latter had shot one of the policemen.

Although 63 years old, Jefferson is positive he can still make a good detective. He fought at the battle of Gettysburg and is positive he can still "face the fire." When Chief Troyer was informed of Jefferson's desire he stated that the veteran of the war is a little too old, however, proposes to take the matter up at once with the chief.

NOT SIR WILLIAM, BUT JUST PLAIN BILL TO HIM

Pete Spragg of Lachene Loaned Sir William $3 to Pay for Cedar Poles in Old Days on "C. P."

A big, raw-boned man in woodsman's garb entered the ticket office of the Canadian Northern railway a few days ago. His grizzled face was tanned to a deep brown; his huge hands with gnarled, knobby fingers showed that he had more than a passing acquaintance with hard work. Uncouth in dress and speech, yet every one of his six feet two inches a man.

He looked about hesitatingly, then made for the counter. "Yes, sir; what can I do for you?" said the man behind the counter, politely. "Bill McKenzie's road, eh?" "Sir William McKenzie is the president of the Canadian Northern," answered the ticket man.

The big man let out a roar of laughter that sounded like a fight in the elephant tent. "Sir William! Ha, ha!" he yelled. "Say, you're feller, it may be Sir William with you, but it's Bill McKenzie with me. Why, Bill and me was old friends; yes, sir, partners almost for many years. Member—suppose you come you know, 'cause you was only a little shaver then—when the Canadian Pacific was built. Well, Bill and I helped to stick down that streak o' rails."

Bill had a small sub-contract—guess it wasn't more than a couple of miles in the hull pie. I was foreman. Rec'ct how one day Bill needed a few cedar poles and sent fast freight from the Twin Cities, giving Duluth the same service as is given the Twin Cities. The extension of the time for receiving freight to 5 o'clock means a great deal to Duluth shippers as practically all shipments for the day can be delivered to the freight house by that time.

CONGESTION IN SOO LOCKS

Mishaps in Channel Checks Movement of Other Boats.

Revenue Cutter Tuscarora in Serious Condition on Shoals.

A series of marine mishaps within the past few hours has caused considerable traffic congestion at the Soo. The steamer Clarence A. Black, which ran ashore at Gros Cape in the fog yesterday, was released last evening. She was undamaged. The Choctaw stranded early this morning at a point opposite Irons light in the upper river. Tugs have gone to her assistance.

The Northern King, which came up St. Mary's river last night, reported fifty boats ahead of her. Traffic through the locks both ways is slow. A wrecking outfit was sent from the Soo this morning to aid the revenue cutter Tuscarora, which is aground on Vidal shoals, Mich., in Lake Huron. The boat is said to be in a serious condition. The crew was rescued by the revenue cutter Morrill, which was on her way to meet her sister ship. Dispatches say that the cutter was making twelve knots an hour through the dense fog when she hit the rocks. Her forward hold filled with water. The Tuscarora has been in the revenue service twelve years.

REVENUE CUTTER IS ON THE ROCKS

Tuscarora Runs Ashore During Heavy Fog—Crew Rescued.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 21.—The revenue cutter Tuscarora, bound from Milwaukee to meet her sister ship, the Morrill, struck the rocks off Vidal shoals, Mich., in Lake Huron, early last night, and is in a serious condition, according to dispatches received here. The crew of sixty-five was rescued by the Morrill after a wireless appeal for help had been sent out, and received at Detroit, Mich., from where it was relayed to the Morrill.

Reports state that the cutter was proceeding under full steam and making twelve knots an hour through the dense fog in Upper Lake Huron when she hit the rocks. Her forward hold is filled with water. The wives of Capt. John P. Barry and Second Mate William Desha, received a telegram from their husbands last night saying that the ship ran aground but that the crew were saved.

The Tuscarora has been in the revenue service for twelve years. She left Milwaukee early Thursday morning to meet the Morrill and was due back here on Sunday night.

Table d'hôte dinners will be served there all summer, and tents and cottages will be rented for the use of the members for long or short periods. The Twentieth Century club is planning a large reception to be given on Friday afternoon or next week in honor of Miss Maud Adams, who will play in Duluth at the Lyceum on that day and Saturday. A formal invitation has been sent to Miss Adams, who is now at Winnipeg, and the club is awaiting her answer before completing arrangements. Miss Adams has declined acceptance of such invitations in the past and may not do so now to avoid establishing a precedent.

In case of her acceptance the reception will be arranged for at the Spaulding hotel during the afternoon and an invitation will be extended to the members of the Drama League to be guests of the affair.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Summer Joys That Seem Afar, Often Found Near Home.

While some of us are sighing for the joys of seashore or mountain, woodland or lake, and have not the where-withal to satisfy our longing in this regard, we might find a measure of summer happiness right at home, if we would but look for it.

Several summers ago I happened to be of a crowd living in a small city, none of whom had made any plans for the summer, part because they could not afford to take a trip, and others for various reasons. One day some one suggested a camping party, and the idea took at once. There were several in the crowd who could not consider leaving home, so it was decided to establish a camp in the vicinity of the city, along the river.

This was done, and a more enjoyable two weeks I never spent in my life, though it has been my good fortune at various times to spend a part of my outing at lake and seashore.

Some of the men in the party were unable to leave their business, but the camp was so close that they could get out to it at the close of business each evening in plenty of time for dinner and to spend the after-dinner hours about the campfire or in the big tent, and to stay over night and to breakfast, in fact, nearly all the men did this, and the women were alone throughout the day.

A merrier party there never was. We were all old friends, knew and understood each other, had everything in common and were all in for the same things at the same time. Our amusement took various forms. We made light of the ordinary inconveniences of camp life—the mosquitoes and other insects—and the women read and sewed and talked during the day, and in the evening the men smoked and played cards, or all together indulged in some form of amusement in which all could share alike.

We employed a cook and each couple paid their share of the expense. We lived well and yet cheaper, if anything, than we did at home. By the time our two weeks' stay drew near an end we realized that we did not care to leave the crowd who could not consider leaving home, so it was decided to establish a camp in the vicinity of the city, along the river.

At the Lyceum

Charles Frohman will present Maude Adams in James Matthew Barrie's play, "Peter Pan," at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday matinee and night. There is probably more excitement in the announcement of the coming of Miss Adams than there would be in the coming of any other star on the American stage, for the young woman is undoubtedly the most popular actress that this country has ever known. While it would be a pleasure to see Miss Adams in any one of the works which she has helped through her art to make successful, it is unquestionably true that the great mass of her admirers like "Peter Pan" best of all. Barrie's whimsical play has become a little classic and time refuses to rob it of its humor or blur the charm of its delightful story.

The admirers of "Peter Pan" are countless for most of us have been young, have dreamt of subduing redskins, killing pirates and conquering ourselves bravely in the land of Make-Believe, for there is where the scene of Barrie's play is laid. It is only the to-be-pitied man who never was a real boy that the play fails to appeal. It is not to be taken, however, that because the work is one dealing with children it is intended solely for them; Barrie wrote the play for grown-ups and filled it with the things that appeal to the understanding of men and women.

There is much charm to Barrie's story. "Peter Pan" was the boy who wouldn't grow up. He lived in the Never-Never, Never Land, but one day while he was sitting on the window ledge looking to Mrs. Darling telling stories to Wendy, John and Michael, Mrs. Darling, who was as neat as she was a pretty mother, put the shadow away in the top bureau drawer just as though it were a dress, pattern or something, but Peter got very unhappy and lonely without it, and one evening when Mr. and Mrs. Darling had gone out to dinner and the children were asleep in their three beds, he flew into the open window and rummaged around until he found it again. The children awoke just as Peter was trying to stick the shadow on again by rubbing it with a piece of soap, and Wendy positively scolded him for disturbing them. Then Peter taught them how to fly and away they all went out of the window, back to the Never-Never, Never Land. Here they met Peter's band—his boys who had fallen out of their perambulators while their nurses were looking and grown up without any motherly care. Peter, who was very brave and drank the poison the chief pirate left for Peter and nearly died for it, and the crocodile that swallowed the alarm clock. Capt. James Hook, the one-handed pirate chief, whose other hand the crocodile thirsted for, always knew that he was in danger by hearing the clock's approaching tick, and Smee, the pirate, and the redskins and the pack of wolves and all of the rest. They had many wonderful adventures, and when they finally decided that their mother must be getting exceedingly anxious about them and went home, Mrs. Darling wanted Peter to stay, too. Peter wished he could, but he had made Wendy his little mother while in the Never-Never, Never Land—but when he was told that he would grow up and be put in office and probably soon be president, he had to go.

So he made Wendy promise to come every spring to do his house cleaning and flew back to the Never-Never, Never Land, where one is always young.

The spirit that pervades the play is that of youth. To Miss Adams' admirers her depicting of the boy as Peter is one of her most finished pieces of work. Mr. Frohman has surrounded Miss Adams with a strong company. The production is an elaborate one. One scene shows the deck of a pirate ship, another a cave underground with Indians on guard overhead, and another shows Peter's house in the tree tops.

One of the most important announcements of the theatrical season is that just received of the appearance here in the near future of David Belasco's presentation, on a date to be announced, of Miss Frances Starr, unquestionably one of the most beautiful and accomplished young women on the American stage.

The coming of Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys to the Lyceum theater in July, in the new musical play, "Over the River," brings back this popular comedian and his very successful troupe. It has been said that Eddie Foy could sing a church hymn and set an audience roaring with laughter. In his latest New York success, he has

All over the vaudeville circuit the numerous admirers of Sam Miley are delighted to hear that his brightest and breeziest and tunefullest song show, "Johnny Wise," has left Chicago and taken to the road, after it delighted the Windy City for the last four weeks. Sam Miley had "Johnny Wise" written as a piece in which to present himself as a popular comedian in his very first season in Chicago. He worked so hard for himself that the piece could remain indefinitely in the metropolitan if the bookings of the theatrical syndicate permitted. After the present tour, "Johnny Wise" goes back to Chicago for another long run.

In "Johnny Wise" Sam Miley is seen and heard at his most versatile best. First and best of all there are no less than fifteen song hits and musical numbers in this lavish production. The plot is one that would make the reputation of an out-and-out drama. Mr. Miley has staged the production personally and made it the fastest thing yet seen on the vaudeville stage. It has to be fast to get all the laughs and to remain during the entire show. The footlights in one and a half hours, and to remain during the entire show. The footlights in one and a half hours, and to remain during the entire show.

For three days, commencing Thursday matinee, June 26, the following program of vaudeville acts is booked: He Witt Young and sister, presenting "The College Boy" and "The College Girl" and the "Cock" and "Adler," a clever team of singers, dancers and comedians; Sol Burns, a Hebrew comedian, this will be the first Hebrew comedian to visit the Empress since the first of the year, and the much talked-of sister act, the Jewell sisters.

There are eleven songs in "Johnny Wise," one of the best of the Adams, Hoch and Howard musical supply of "catchy" comedy songs to keep his admirers applauding through all three acts of "Over the River." Mr. Foy, in addition to his numerous family, will also bring with him a big company of singers and dancers, including the famous "Berlin Madcaps," an octet of expert dancers who were starred at the famous Winter garden in Berlin before being imported for this production.

The Lyceum's new policy of playing feature pictures in between the large attractions is meeting with big success as Duluthians seem to appreciate seeing the best of motion pictures in a well ventilated, absolutely fireproof theater, in connection with an excellent orchestra. Among the early feature pictures to be shown at the Lyceum will be "From the Manger to the Cross," "The Balkan War and Panama Canal Pictures" in Kinemacolor, "The Battle of Gettysburg," "Blanche Walsby in Resurrection" and many others. These pictures will be shown at different times varying from three days to a week each between the large attractions.

"A Daughter of the Confederacy," a fine spectacular offering, with Gene Gauntier in her well-known role as Nan, the girl spy, will be shown at the Lyceum for the first time in Duluth tomorrow. The scenes are all laid during the Civil war and show a number of splendid battle scenes besides some excellent pictures of the engines and trains used at the time, also some magnificent riding by a regiment of cavalry. There is also a fine picture of the war time river steamboat with a back wheel that kicks water. "A Daughter of the Confederacy" will be shown tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday.

On Wednesday and Thursday Miss Gauntier will be seen in a three-reel special feature "When Men Hate," a strong dramatic story of a feud in the Kentucky mountains.

At the Empress plays, among which "A Stubborn Cinderella," "The Golden Girl," "The Prince of Tonight," and "The Whirling Pinwheel." The latter named a long moon trail, under the management of Mort H. Singer, is the attraction at the Empress theater July 6, 7, 8 and 9, and the table of its songs with their titles is as follows: "When I Feel Like Loving," "You Can't Be a Friend to Every Body," "One Little Boy Had Money," "Nothing to Be Scolding," "Johnny Wise," "I'm Going to Steal the Moon," "I Don't Want a Million Dollars," "Whose Little Girls Are You," "The Golden West," "Little Brownies."

"The Girl From Luxembourg," said to be the most entertaining of the numerous musical comedies on the road this season, comes to the Empress July 10, 11 and 12. It is said to be the best of the kind. The advance inquiries indicate a widespread interest in the coming engagement.

Mort H. Singer, the manager of "A Stubborn Cinderella" company, which will be seen at the Empress in the near future, tells the secret of how they secure the prettiest and brightest chorus girls of any aggregation on the road.

At the beginning of the season, there were over 2,000 applications for the chorus, and since comes direct from Chicago manager asked Mr. Singer one day why the girls preferred to go with his attractions rather than with any other company. "Well," said Mr. Singer, "it's just like this, I give them more salaries than any other stage producing manager. In the summer time I have a school for acting at Chicago, and the girls come there absolutely free. They learn to dance and sing; they are free to go anywhere they want to after they are through. I give them my confidence, and they appreciate it. I treat them roughly to a chorus girl. I pay them more money than they make anywhere else. If a girl runs short of funds, I never turn her down. This year, if all our attractions are successful, I will give each one individually the girls never lose anything by it. We cut a 'watermelon' in it. I mean, if a girl comes in for a good time. If a girl is sick or hurt, I look after her. If anything happens to any of them, I am here to assist them in all possible ways. I have choruses back with me, show looking after them. That is the secret. I treat my employees well and they will always reciprocate. That's the secret."

In "A Stubborn Cinderella" company are fifteen show girls, the pick of the western metropolis. Over 700 applicants wanted to join this aggregation.

Mort H. Singer, the musical play, "The Golden Girl" will be one of the offerings at the Empress theater in the near future.

The present week witnessed the

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Sophyie Barnard is to make a visit to London this year, accompanied by Lou Anger, who has been engaged to present his German monologue in that city.

Minnie Dupree has called "30" on her present season and will rest for the next few weeks at a delightful country place at Belport, N. Y., until August.

Olive Briscoe, who entertains the vaudeville audiences from New York to San Francisco with songs and stories, is resting at Atlantic City and will rehearse a new combination of music and comedy during her idle moments.

Bide Dudley, a prominent dramatic writer in New York, contributed a new play to the waning season when his "Temperament" was produced last week at the Harlem opera house by a cast embracing June Mathis, Avita Sanchez, Charlotte Lambert and John Parks.

Jose Collins scored one of her most emphatic artistic hits at Atlantic City last week when she assumed her first role in "The Folies of 1912," under the Zigfeld management. This success assures Miss Collins a big America for the summer. In the fall she is to return to light opera.

Thomas Dixon, Jr., is writing a new play in which he will personally appear next season. Mr. Dixon has great success as a dramatic actor in his own play last season when Earl Wright, the Canadian actress, was his leading woman. Miss Wright has been invited to join Mr. Dixon in a similar capacity this season.

If one may judge from the preliminary announcements of the producers, revivals will be the order of the day, and, strange to say, these revivals will include many "extravaganzas" that were popular more than a decade ago. "Evangeline" is one of the old style musical plays, of the kind that produced a similar character and are composed. One big firm of producers is planning to present an extravaganza amalgamation of two Chicago's foremost feature film exchanges, the Alamo Feature Films and the Moore Feature Films, into the Alamo Feature Film company. The new company received its incorporation papers this week for a capitalization of $50,000. While both the Moore and Alamo firms were located in the Straus building, the Alamo Feature Film company has opened a most sumptuous suite of offices on the second floor of the Delaware building.

The offices of Boyle Woolfolk, Inc., are also connected with those of the new Alamo Feature Film company.

Florence Rockwell's season at the Colonial theater, Salt Lake City, will extend until the latter part of July. At that time she returns to New York for preparation for the next season. Miss Rockwell is to be associated with one of the largest and most extensive repertoire companies to be formed for the new season. The personnel of the company and the identity of the management have not as yet been announced.

The role of "Mary Turner" in "Within the Law" is what is known in stage parlance as an "actor-proof part," yet the American Play company, producers of the play, have encountered considerable difficulty trying to find actresses who were fitted to play this part. After months of consideration the producers have finally selected from hundreds of applicants the "Mary Turners" who will head the six original cast members of the play. The play's melodrama on the road next season. Miss Turner will return to the Eltinge theater, New York, about Aug. 1 to remain until the play has concluded its run, when she will head the company playing the larger cities. The Western company, which will open in Chicago sometime in August, has Helen Ware, who is playing "Mary Turner" during Cow's absence, and will head the company which is to journey to the Pacific coast. Catherine Tower will head the special company that will be seen in any of the principal cities of the Middle West. Miss Tower has already established herself by playing in the road company this season. The Eastern, Middle West and Southern companies will be headed by Jane Gordon, Alen McDermott and Clara Joel, and they will open on Labor day in the respective cities. During the summer run of "Within the Law" at the Eltinge theater, each of the "Mary Turners" will play the role one week before rehearsing the organizations they will appear in during the coming season.

Fuller Melish has abandoned his plan to produce for a revival in New York Gilbert's "The Palace of Truth." His engagement as a principal member of Jessie Bonstelle's stock company at Toronto makes it impossible for him to return to New York until late in the fall. Constance Collier and Marie Dorvo were mentioned as two of the principals.

Pastor, the remarkable prima donna soprano, will in all likelihood be a member of the newly formed grand opera company in New York for the coming season. Mme. Pastor, who is a Hungarian, is one of the most beautiful women on the operatic stage and possesses not only a voice of remarkable beauty and strength, but is a dramatic actress of considerable ability.

Charles Frohman, the cable dispatches say, has decided to present Sir James Barrie's new play, "The Legend of Leonora," first in London at the Duke of York's theater, with Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Sir John Hare

LILLIAN ERLER
As Dolly White With the "Johnny Wise" Company at the Empress Sunday.

In the leading roles, Maude Adams is to play this piece in America, and will be seen in it probably after the conclusion of her next Christmas holiday engagement in "Peter Pan" at the Empire theater, New York. Mr. Frohman proposes, when he produces the piece at the Duke of York's theater in London, to follow it with a complete cycle of the Barrie plays.

Louis N. Parker, author of "Joseph and His Brothers," "Moses," "Pomander Walk" and other successful dramas, is now at work on a new play with Napoleon as its central figure.

A cable dispatch from London announced that when the reigning comedy success of the present London season, "General John Regan," is produced in America in the fall, Joseph Coyne is to enact its principal role.

Mr. Coyne, it will be remembered, is an American actor who, years ago, won much popularity through his droll characterizations of "silly ass" parts in musical comedy. In 1907 he went to London, and since has become an actor of considerable distinction, both in musical and legitimate comedy. He created the chief roles in the London productions of "The Merry Widow," "The Dollar Princess" and "The Quaker Girl," and in 1908 Charles Frohman reimported him for a short season to play the role originated by Sir Charles Windham in "The Mollusc." In "General John Regan" Mr. Coyne is to play the part first acted by Charles Hawtree.

The Irish Players, now back at their home theater, the Abbey, in Dublin, have added two new plays to their repertoire, "Broken Faith," by Miss Day and Miss Cumming, and "Maggie Glasheen," by George Fitzmaurice. The former is described as a strong drama of debt and sacrifice in one act and a prologue, the latter as a one-act fantasy of rare quality.

Augustus Thomas has gone to his country home at New Rochelle to complete the play he is writing for John Mason. Mr. Thomas has agreed to hand the manuscript to Charles Frohman, Mr. Mason's manager, on July 1.

Viola Allen returned from her annual trip to Europe on the Olympic this week. While she saw little of the year's dramatic output on the other side, she is disinclined to agree with those who report that the foreign stages are barren, for she says the little she saw was interesting. She was especially enthusiastic over George A. Birmingham's Irish comedy, "General John Regan," which has had a year's run at the Apollo in London.

"Juliet" the singing comedienne who has been one of the new headliners in vaudeville, is to be the star of a new musical comedy, under the management of a prominent Broadway producer next season.

Charles Frohman announces from London that he intends to present John Drew with an American company in "Much Ado About Nothing" in England next spring. Mr. Drew will play at the Duke of York's theater in London, to follow it with a complete cycle of the Barrie plays.

H. H. Frazee has engaged Frank Lator for the principal comedy role in "Toll," the Robert W. Chambers story, which, with music by William Fredrick Peters, will be produced in the Longacre theater next season.

"Little Miss Fix-It" will go on tour again next season—this time under the management of Will H. Marble, who has acquired the rights from Werta and Laesscher. The company will be sent on a tour of the South and Northwest. It will be headed by Lucille Farish.

There will be two companies playing "Fanny's First Play" on tour next season.

LATEST HAPPINGS

LONG TOUR IS PLANNED

Glidden Trip to Glacier Park Has Nation-Wide Interest.

"Motor Car" Correct Term; Twin City Road Very Bad.

Who from Duluth is going to take in the Glidden tour to Glacier National park, beginning July 11?

It will start from the Twin Cities and many from all parts of the Northwest will take it in. The Great Northern road, which is favoring the tour, is making special arrangements for sleeping accommodations for the tourists at the various controls, a special train being arranged for on which the participants of the run will take their right repose. The road is also arranging for special transportation for returning the cars. So far nobody has been heard of in Duluth who proposes to take the trip. The stops during the tour will be at the following places: St. Cloud, Minn.; Alexandria, Minn.; Fargo, N. D.; Grand Forks, Minn.; Lake Itasca, Minn.; Stanley, Minn.; Poplar, Mont.; Glasgow, Mont.; Havre and Selby, arriving at Glacier park on Saturday, July 13.

The following is in part the forecast of the run and what will be experienced, as given out by the committee in charge:

The distance is 1,233 miles. About

REPUBLIC TIRES

It is now time to retire with Republic Tires and be tire (d) for the balance of the year.

Our repair department has been enlarged and improved and now is the most up-to-date tire repair shop in the Northwest.

Our service cannot be equaled. Try some of our Free Air.

DULUTH AUTO SUPPLY CO.

thirty entrants already have filed application with Dr. C. E. Dutton, chairman of the touring board. The Boston team, to consist of C. H. Metz, C. Walter Metz and George E. Votter, all driving Metz cars, is the first team to represent a municipality.

Woman Enters.
Mrs. Lillian Mendel, a Mount Vernon, N. Y., enthusiast, was the first woman to make reservation. Letters have come to the touring board from five other women from various sections of the country requesting information and assuring their entry. Among these is Mrs. Dudley Hershey, who drove a Packard touring car in the Twin City-Helena tour of 1911.

One Fort William, Ont., motorist has filed his application and it is understood that he will be the first Canadian to ever compete in an American national tour. It is probable that Dr. H. G. Blanchard, of Waseca, Minn., a familiar figure on the northwest tour of recent years, will this year enter a national tour for the first time. He writes that the pleasant experience of the Helena contest renders his going to Glacier park this year a virtual necessity. Among others who are to have cars in the contest are H. H. Hill, chairman of the board of directors Great Northern railroad; Reuber Warren, chairman of the board of directors St. Paul, J. A. Bailey, Alexandria, Minn.; C. E. Christman, Ironville, Minn.; M. J. G. Grady, Rapid City, S. D.; Raymond, A. A. Paine, Charles Gates, Minneapolis; F. C. Legg, E. M. Mapes, C. E. VanDusen, Minneapolis; O. R. Brickett, Brookings, S. D.

President Endos of the American Automobile association, A. G. Baichelder, chairman of the executive board, and Charles J. Glidden, donor of the original Glidden trophy, which will be contested for, will ride in one of the official cars.

Two Indians, Long Time Sleep, a Blackfoot brava of Glacier Park resort, and Horse Ghost, a Sioux of Fort Peck reservation, will be contestants driving their own cars. The hotel train on the Great Northern road will run ahead of the tourists, stopping at control points while lunch is served, and again at night. A night of the controls will occupy sleeping cars, composed of a solid state room and as many sleepers, with compartments, as will be required. The best and fastest engines of the railroad will haul the train the entire distance.

Besides the sleeping, dining and observation cars, all of which will be electrically lighted, there will be a combination baggage and dynamo supply car, and garage and repair car which will virtually be a garage on wheels. In these automobiles supplies of every description, tires and a welding machine will be carried. A welding outfit will be in charge of an expert and will repair any cars which may meet possible accident, without charge. There will be a full quota of repair men, electricians, car inspectors and physicians accompany the contest all the way.

Comfort has been hit upon as the watchword and every plan has been made with that end in view. At night parties, music, vaudeville acts, motion pictures and other entertainment will eliminate any monotony. A daily newspaper giving the latest news of the world will keep the travelers informed of what is happening. Varied entertainment will be given the tourists. Nearly every where a control has been established has extended cordial invitation with information that a routing welcome will be given. Wild scenes of the Old West will be part of the program to be staged in Montana, such as bronco-busting, cat-fighting, holdups and other things long to be remembered by a first-time traveler. Two Indian reservations will be visited, one at Fort Peck and the other at the Blackfoot reserve. Tribal equipment will take place at each of these and will include wild dances.

After reaching Glacier park, riders will be taken by horse-drawn stage into the interior. It is probable that they will avail themselves of the usual opportunity to get a look at the "top of the continent."

The Flathead Motor club, through its president, E. E. Givens, has extended cordial invitation to visitors to visit the famous Park-to-Park highway which will take them over thirty miles of the famed Park-to-Park highway which passes through a scenic, mountainous territory most of the way.

The tour will be run under Class B, as a Grade IV contest, as prescribed by the International Automobile rules, with penalties for time only.

The daily mileage will be as follows:

First day, July 11, 124.4
Second day, July 12, 122.8
Third day, July 13, 122.8
Fourth day, July 14, 124.4
Fifth day, July 15, 124.4
Sixth day, July 16, 124.4
Seventh day, July 17, 124.4
Eighth day, July 18, 124.4
Ninth day, July 19, 124.4

"Motor Car."
You may now say "Motor-car" instead of "automobile" with impunity. It has been indicated as the better and more economical expression. It is more than a fact, according to N. E. Blake, manager of the Electric Service & Repair company, Duluth, representative of the Hudson motor car. He says that the name can undoubtedly be traced to Europe. In England it has always been customary to use the term "motor-car," in place of the more cumbersome name.

Tourists brought the name to America, where it had not been much favored, though of course the term has always been used to a limited extent. But now it has almost assumed the dimensions of a settled habit. This is particularly noticeable among society folks, who affect this use of the word "motor-car" as something a little different from the average.

The name has much to recommend it, and bids fair to become widely used. It has at least the advantage of being free from the liability to mistake in pronunciation which has always attended the word "automobile."

By the way it is worthy of remark that the word "automobile" should be pronounced with accent on the first syllable; au-to-mo-bile, not au-to-mo-bil. Mr. Blake says, however, that for his part it makes no difference to him whether people call the Hudson a motor-car or an automobile.

"For," says he, "What's in a name? Hudson is good enough for most people."

Truck vs. Horse.
The frequent statement that a motor truck must be kept moving to prove its superior efficiency over a horse is but a half truth and particularly misleading because it inspires the false inference that the motor is more dependent upon motion than is mechanical power. A horse in its stable or on the track in its stable is worse than useless because neither makes use of its power. Suppose a delivery outfit, consisting of two horses and wagons and one Kiesel Kar. On reflection, it must be perfectly obvious that the value of animal power is more dependent upon motion than is mechanical power. A horse in its stable or on the track in its stable is worse than useless because neither makes use of its power.

Endurance or Speed Run to Range May Also Be Held.

A number of the enthusiastic autoists of the city are planning a number of novel contests which will take place during the Fourth of July, and during such as dates, etc., will be announced later.

The first will be a "blind time contest." Those entering it will be permitted to start on the day of the contest—some bright Sunday morning—at any time during the morning that they wish, and go to some favorite lake or picnic ground to be decided upon, a distance, say, of forty or fifty miles from Duluth. There luncheon will have been prepared for the contestants and will be served when they arrive. The return trip will be made at any time they desired, individual initiative governing.

A committee of three disinterested people will have fixed the blind time for return, and the autoist who arrives last will be the winner. The time set will be given a suitable and substantial prize.

No breakneck speed will be necessary either way, for nobody but those on the committee will know the time set. For instance, the one returning first, the one returning last, or somebody arriving in between, will be given a prize. There will be a given point for registration before leaving, and the arrival of the contestants will be in person or by telephone. E. J. Filiault of the Mutual Auto company has offered the first prize, which will be $10 in cash.

It is believed that contests of this kind will afford more than ordinary pleasure to those taking part. It is mostly the most striking criticism of the bill. The most striking criticism of the measure came from Senator Nelson out of the offices and a group of correspondents met them they were out about discussing the conference. Just as Representative Glass had smilingly received the correspondents to the president, Mr. Wilson himself walked to the door of the office and talked with the newspaper men—a procedure unusual at night conferences at the White House.

The president explained that the meeting was chiefly a get-together of fair; that naturally some of the details of the bill had caused considerable discussion, but so far as he knew observed there was a friendly feeling of administration measure.

Senator Attacks Bill.
Commented on the measure by senators are guarded, but several expressed the belief that the provision made by Senator Glass for the retirement of national bank notes and the refunding of the 2 per cent government bonds now securing that currency with a 3 per cent issue should have been left in the bill. The most striking criticism of the measure came from Senator Nelson out of the offices and a group of correspondents met them they were out about discussing the conference. Just as Representative Glass had smilingly received the correspondents to the president, Mr. Wilson himself walked to the door of the office and talked with the newspaper men—a procedure unusual at night conferences at the White House.

The president explained that the meeting was chiefly a get-together of fair; that naturally some of the details of the bill had caused considerable discussion, but so far as he knew observed there was a friendly feeling of administration measure.

Senator Attacks Bill.
Commented on the measure by senators are guarded, but several expressed the belief that the provision made by Senator Glass for the retirement of national bank notes and the refunding of the 2 per cent government bonds now securing that currency with a 3 per cent issue should have been left in the bill. MONEY BILL DISCUSSED

President Has Get-Together Meeting With Committeemen.

Senator Nelson Calls Plan "Temporary Make-shift."

Washington, June 21.—President Wilson has secured from a majority of the Democratic members of the house banking and currency committee expressions of harmony and acquiescence in the administration program of enacting a currency bill during the present session of congress.

During a two hour conference held in the White House last night, where earlier in the day the heads of the government departments had sat as advisers to the president, the congressmen were asked their views on the administration currency bill as it was to be introduced by Representative Glass, chairman of the committee.

Some of them had not yet thoroughly examined the measure, but those who had expressed opinions were favorably inclined toward it.

Wilson Breaks Precedent.
As the fourteen committeemen filed out of the offices and a group of correspondents met them they were out about discussing the conference. Just as Representative Glass had smilingly received the correspondents to the president, Mr. Wilson himself walked to the door of the office and talked with the newspaper men—a procedure unusual at night conferences at the White House.

The Saetesdals, Organized
Five Years Ago, Have Fine Meeting.

Reunion of Northwesterners Who Came From Sae-tesdal Province, Norway.

Thief River Falls, Minn., June 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the best meetings since the Saetesdals organized five years ago took place in this city Wednesday and Thursday. About 300 persons attended, although only about 200 members registered. On Wednesday a fine meeting was held in the Auditorium and was very largely attended. The Brage chorus of this city rendered some very fine songs in the Norwegian language and Elvend Aakhus played several pieces on the violin. After these preliminaries Mrs. Hilda Garborg of Norway, a novelist of no mean repute, gave an illustrated lecture on the national and other costumes of Norway. The pictures were a splendid reproduction on the screen of the different kinds of attire worn in the land of the Midnight Sun. The descriptions given by Mrs. Garborg of the various dresses were very illuminating and carried a good many in the audience back to the land of their birth.

Two-Fold Purpose.
The Saetesdals have a two-fold purpose in holding these meetings. First, these meetings serve as a reunion of those who came over from the province of Saetesdal in Norway, and second, they are endeavoring at these meetings to raise a fund of $5,000 with which to endow the province of Saetesdal in Norway with a home for the poor people.

Fargo, N. D., June 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Increased business is one of the immediate results of the splendid rainfalls in North Dakota this week. Following the recent rains there was almost an instantaneous recovery in business. Increased activities were apparent in the state in almost all lines, but it probably was more evident to the machinery men. Orders for harvesting and threshing machinery have been pouring in, some of them by wire.

SUBMERGED SCOWS EXPOSED ON SHORE.

Eagle River, Mich., June 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Due to the action of the waves on the exposed shore of Lake Superior, many scows have been washed from the beach west of the river. Two scows that have been submerged for more than four decades have been uncovered. In the case of the Keweenaw peninsula the craft were used to transport freight from steamboats unable to cross the sand bar out from the shore. The scows are in a remarkable state of preservation, and it is probable that some of them were long ago forgotten.

NEW STYLE OF CAR.

To Be Operated on Interurban Between Ironwood and Bessemer.

Waukegan, Mich., June 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A specially designed car is to be put into service on the Gogebic iron range interurban electric railway, now nearing completion. It will operate between Ironwood and Bessemer. The car was built at Philadelphia and has some unique features. A woman cashier in a little office will receive all fares and make change. By pressing a button she opens the doors of the car and makes the step; when the car is ready to start she reverses the process, raising the step and closing the door. This makes it impossible to get off or on the car except when it stops. The car is forty feet long.

posal of her children enormous deposits of iron ore, called non-merchantable today but surely bound to come into use in large quantities as the years go on, so that the fear of exhaustion of our store of iron may be put far away from us. In fact, our superabundance of these ores is such that we cannot only supply our own wants, but the wants of the world for prove it; when, nevertheless, we are able to utilize all the information procurable, not only from our personal knowledge, but also largely from the maps of the United States Geological Survey, whose work has been most accurate, as a rule, and has covered such a great area of country that but few, if any, private concerns could have undertaken the work.

There have been, however, some of the latest maps and tables furnished by the Geological Survey, supplemented by other maps with cross-sections of various localities. You will notice by tables furnished that we have confronting us a great mass of material. The thought arises: What is to be done with it all?

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

as shown by Gayley in the remarkable work performed by his Dwight-Lloyd Foundation. It is not only important that among the possibilities of aid lie utilizing our lean ores, metalizing by direct process, as by the Jones process, but that the latter will be so important. To whatever person or process, no matter the name it may go under, a welcome will be extended for the existing and the future economic greatness of our country.

At the point where the Eastern seaboard crosses into Canada and for some distance preceding erosion has taken place quite largely. And, for that matter, the same thing may be said of the erosion of the West. Work is marked at many points. While I am not especially familiar with the

In certain instances, water again will aid in their conservation, eliminating the silica quite largely. Where one of a character suited to merely washing exists, it may be possible to use such ores without further treatment. But

It would not surprise me were it to be doubled by actual work. The oddity of it all is that, except at a few points, our geological maps do not show this formation. Being off the beaten trails

A Neglected Ore.—These ores are magnetic, very uniform in character and without doubt can be separated from their gangue by it being simply a question of fine grinding; how fine, is yet to be determined. This is a neglected ore—that is, neglected as far as the Lake Superior district is concerned a major factor in the development of its future needs. Referring to our future needs, Mr. Wacker says that he will not see the day when 100,000 tons of iron ore are compared with present standards. Yet, looking at the record of Vickers-Sherman, he says that the company is convinced that their work has given us, at least, a basis for comparison. He has seen that a brief future advance in the iron ore industry is possible, especially so where it is possible to have a high percentage of iron ore which may be minimized. The Eastern Mesabi districts seems to be principally concerned with the future of the iron ore industry. It would seem that metallizing after concentration would be the solution to the problem. That is, if this can be used either by metallizing or by concentrating, it would be the best of both worlds. Either method would do the work.

Is There a Difference Between Sintered Ore and Metallized Ore?

There is but little question that metallized or sintered ore has greater value than ordinary iron ore. The average raw ore can possibly have a value of $1.00 per ton. If it is sintered, the iron content of sintered ore is higher and the moisture lower. The phosphorus content is lower and the phosphorus content. It is promised, and expected that a standard ore will be produced in the future. This will be the product derived from

LOCAL REALTY MARKET CONTINUES ITS ACTIVITY

Total	149 $154,834.80

Trading continues active on the local realty market. While there has been a lull in some branches of the real estate business, occasioned by the mid-summer lull in other lines, buying and selling in suburban and nearer-in residence properties have shown no slump. The rental market is showing no particular activity. Most tenants who had contemplated a change have already moved or rented and little will be done in this line until fall at least. Gardens, vacations and many other things keep people from moving during the heat of the summer.

One dealer explains that another natural cause for the present inactivity in the rental market is that there are quite a number of furnished houses for rent while the owners are away for the summer. It has not been very long ago that there was little or no demand for furnished houses for such a limited space of time, but now there appears to have sprung up quite a demand and people who have never before considered renting their houses while away now have them offered for the summer months. The demand for furnished houses during the summer months has even induced many to go away for summer vacations, who would not have felt that they could afford a long vacation provided their house stood idle. Others do not care about the money they receive as rent, but desire to have some one in the house to guard against dampness, fire and burglars.

Good Volume of Business.
The real estate transfers of the week indicate that a healthy volume of business is being transacted. The most notable transfer put on record during the week was the filing of a deed from A. J. Agatini, as special master of the Northwestern Trust company and the Interstate Traction company to Robert R. Dunn, conveying all of the property of the Interstate Traction company on Minnesota point. The consideration involved was named at $80,000. Mr. Dunn is taking over the property as a bond holder of the company.

The most notable deal in residence property for the week was the sale of an entire block between Seventh and Eighth streets and Twenty-sixth avenue east and Clover street to Mrs. Marcus L. Fay, through the Richardson, Day & Cheadle agency. This block is one of the finest in the restricted district, not yet improved. Mrs. Fay, it is understood, purchased the property for improvement and expects in the near future to erect between East and West streets a four-story building with four class rooms, a large assembly hall, rest room for teachers, principal's office, library and gymnasium. The plans for the building were drawn by Kelley & Williams, local architects.

LARGEST GATHERING OF REAL ESTATE AGENTS EVER HELD

Definite arrangements to attend the big real estate convention at Winnipeg next month will be made by the local real estate exchange at a meeting to be held on July 1. At that time reports will be made by the entertainment and exhibit committees. It is expected that about forty from Duluth will attend. The call of the sixth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges at Winnipeg, July 23 and 24, will be responded to by the largest number of real estate agents ever gathered together in the world. The national association has grown from fifteen affiliated boards to the present membership of eighty-three boards in five years. This has been a remarkable record; but, in addition, it has made it possible for the real estate men from all over the country to know each other, and to learn the value of co-operation. This body of men has developed a modern method for conducting the real estate business that has safeguarded the investing public and made hundreds of thousands of happy home owners.

The splendid support real estate boards are giving to all civic affairs, in addition to purely real estate matters, has created a great interest on the part of the public in general in the deliberations of the annual real estate conventions, which is greater this year than ever before.

The Winnipeg convention has added interest, and those so fortunate as to attend will take part in planting the Stars and Stripes alongside the Union Jack in this, the one hundredth year of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

The Winnipeg Real Estate exchange, which is preparing entertainment, is celebrating its tenth anniversary, and assures all members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange who attend, that its birthday party will be one long to be remembered.

OPPOSE SECTIONS OF INCOME TAX AND FAVOR CHANGE IN BANKING BILL

At the recent annual meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, opposition was shown to certain sections of the income tax bill and endorsement was made of the Smith amendment to the national banking bill which will give national banks the privilege of making loans on real estate.

Resolutions with regard to the income tax bill were adopted and copies will be sent to congressmen and real estate agents throughout the country. The resolutions are as follows:

See Unjust Burden.
Whereas, it is believed that certain provisions of the income tax portion of the tariff bill, which has passed the house of representatives and is pending before the senate of the United States, will impose an unjust burden upon real estate owners for the following reasons:

1. Tenants are required to withhold from landlords the tax on rents in excess of $4,000, while the landlords may be entitled to reductions for indebtedness to such an amount that there is nothing due the government. Under this arrangement the least responsible party is made responsible for the payment of the tax allowing the difficulty of collecting rents is likely to be largely increased.

2. Mortgages are required to withhold the income tax from the mortgagees, while there they may be offset out and architects are turning out but little new work. In most of the offices a quiet season is reported. It is nothing unusual for the annual full building line and Duluth is now experiencing a lull.

The situation is one which is quite general all over the country. A current issue of the annual full building line and Duluth is now experiencing a lull.

"Building has been upon a scale of much activity in this country during the past ten or twelve years in order to care for the natural growth in population, the marvelous influx of immigrants from other countries, and the tremendous expansion of industry. The building industry has been expected that it should now undergo a moderate check, adjusting itself to the give and take of commerce prior to going ahead upon an era of greater development. There were losses in forty-one cities and gains in thirty-two. The table reveals the fact that in the cities having the greatest losses building has been most active heretofore; in fact, these cities are the backbone of the industry of the country, but a let-up at this time should cause no serious apprehension, as the falling off is only temporary."

Building activity is quite pronounced at Gary, where between fifty and sixty new houses are under course of construction at the present time. Among the more notable buildings are a hotel to be erected for Charles Strand, a $20,000 store building at Ninety-ninth avenue west and Gary street for F. T. Gerlach and a boarding house at Reis street and Ninety-ninth avenue west.

Jacobson Brothers, contractors, are lowest bidders on a contract to construct an office building for the water and light department at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Grand avenue. The building will be used as the West Duluth branch office and will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000.

W. A. Hunt, architect, will receive bids up to July 5 on the plumbing, heating and wiring contracts for the two-wing addition to the Nashvauk high school.

The following permits to build were issued during the past week from the office of the city building inspector:

STRAWBERRIES AND SMALL FRUITS ARE MONEY MAKERS AT SUNNYSIDE.

Come with us and ride out over the fine auto road to Sunnyside Gardens. Strawberries and small fruits are going to make Sunnyside a famous and their growers wealthy. Sunnyside strawberries ripen after the Bayfield berries and every berry is out of the way leaving us with a clean market and no competition. Do you realize what this means to the grower? In addition to our home markets, we can ship our berries in the afternoon and deliver them in the big cities of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis early the following morning. The profits to Sunnyside berry growers are going to be tremendous. There is no pioneering, the small farms at Sunnyside, as we have every convenience, such as good wagon roads, three railroads, daily mail, schools, etc., and only four miles from County limits of Superior.

$150 per acre is a fair average for clearing and then a small lot of no rock or waste land at a low price. A monthly payment of $10 or $15 will secure a 5 or 10-acre tract. Free literature telling all about Sunnyside will be sent on request.
